HINTS TO FARMERS!

AGRICULTURE IN KENT COUNTY, MARYLAND.

COTTAGE HOME Kent Co., Md.,
January 6, 1849

To the Editor of the American Farmer.

Inasmuch as you seem to have no correspondent from among the farmers of "Old Kent," I will, for want of a better, endeavor to give you an inking of her state, &c., in relation to Agriculture. Our county, as you are no doubt well aware, possesses superior advantages (to her farmer sons invaluable) for agricultural improvement—advantages given by nature, such as innumerable creeks and water courses, affording means of communication by water for grain and lime boats—stores of manure in the shape of oyster shell banks and deposits, (aboriginal) and creek mud and grass; together with a kind soil, readily improved. Yet, with all these advantages, it has been but a short time since any general step towards improvement was made; and even yet there is great room for further efforts. However, the right spirit is abroad, and the result of what has been done, only acts as a stimulus to further exertions. Kilns have been erected, and the shell banks made to aid in enriching our worn-out land. Lime is now the cry; in fact, almost a mania relative to the procuring and use of it. This is not to be condemned, though it is a mania, for it is a healthy disease, and one which, though a medical man, I would not offer to cure, but rather assist in spreading. There are here among the farming community, men of means and enterprise, and those who are anxious that their county, famous for hospitality, should be famous for agricultural improvement. We will strive to be first among our sister counties in the noblest pursuit of man, and I trust the day is not very far distant. Prince George's and Montgomery have led off, and we will follow in their footsteps. I have been much gratified with the perusal of the prize essays, published in your paper, on the renovation of worn-out lands, and hope the perusal of them will be the means of causing the renovation of many an acre of worn-out land. These essays, as remarked in your number of this month, by a correspondent, suit full pockets; but where pocket needs renovation as well as land what course is the best to improve both?

So much has already been said upon this subject, that I am divident in offering my humble opinion. The truth is where such a condition of things exists with a farmer as above mentioned, there must either be gross negligence, laziness and ignorance, or an untoward train of events happening, to produce it. Farmers of but moderate means, as well as of those better off, run into error of cultivating too much land, keeping too much stock, and talking too much politics. First too much land in cultivation. A farmer owning one hundred acres of arable land, undertakes, without suitable provision, to till the whole of it, with but a modicum of poor manure, exhausted of nearly all its fertilizing properties by soaking rains and scorching suns. He plants and sows all of his land, spreading his manure in a scanty manner to make it eke out. What is the consequence of this? Why, of course poor crops, and of poor quality, giving much labor and little return. In the second place he has too much stock—half fed and ill housed, yielding manure deficient in richness, milk and butter thin and poor.—Third, and last, talks too much politics, which leads him from home, consequently from his business, and encourages, intemperance, two deadly enemies to frugal farming. I dare assert that such has been, for now is, the course pursued by three-fourths of the Maryland farmers, and one which I hope, the march of improvement will root out and destroy. This is the evil, the disease. What is the remedy? I will give it you. Let that same owner of one hundred acres cultivate but fifty, or even twenty-five only, and do it well. No skimming no robbing the mother earth without repaying her, but bestowing the manure liberally, (of course over less ground) plough deep, and attend well to the crops, remembering that as we give, so shall we receive. Pay that attention to the gathering and keeping his manure that it needs, and it will prove as good a mine as those of California, and enrich land and pocket too. Take care, good care of his horses, that they may, by being properly treated, yield him good service, and make him rich manure, and shed or house his cattle, that he may have them, with the aid of wholesome food, good milkers. Let him keep no more stock, of any kind, than are sufficient to supply his wants. This will enable him to feed better those that he keeps.

In censuring the practice of talking politics, so common among farmers, as well as others, I would not wish them to neglect entirely the welfare of the country but avoid, as much as possible, the useless discussion of political subjects, giving them no more time and attention than they lawfully demand. By this means, due attention may be given, at home, to things demanding the farmers presence.—If the farmer does not find the result of a year's labor, after following my suggestions, yield him as much, if not more, than his old plan of treating all of his land in an improvident manner, I will pay his subscription for life to the "Farmer." Each year's increase in crops will afford means of cultivating a corresponding increase of acres. I would strenuously urge him to cultivate an acre or two in roots for his stock. After once doing so, he will want no further urging. Carrots are best for horses and milch cows; though beets and turnips also do well for cows.

I have, unawares written more than was my first intent Mr. Editor, the subject being interesting to me. If you deem it too lengthy for your columns, leave it out. Several farmers in my district have promised me to subscribe to the American Farmer, and I shall see that they fulfil their promise. With the compliments of the season,

I remain your friend,
MEDICUS.

50,000 VICTIMS EVERY YEAR
Fall a Prey to Consumption, Asthma and Raising Blood, Hectic Fever and night Sweats.

Mrs. Adams, 126th st., Harlem, suffered a year with a cough, pain in the chest, night sweats, and all the aggravated systoms of Consumption, nothing relieved her till she tried Sherman's Balsam—half a bottle cured her.

Ulcerated Lungs and Liver.

Mr. E. T. Lawrence, Jackson st. Brooklyn, after years of suffering, and treated by various physicians, was pronounced incurable from ulcerated lungs and liver. Dying, as was supposed, he tried the Balsam; its effects were most miraculous; two bottles cured him.

Pleurisy and Consumption.

Mrs. Baggas, resided at 88 Rheriff-Street, 70 years old, has been subject to attacks of pleurisy and consumptive coughs for years. This Balsam has saved her from very great suffering.

Asthma and Consumption.

L. J. Beats, 19 Delancey-street gave it to his sister-in-law who had been an invalid for years from Asthma; to another 88 in consumption. It relieved them at once, so that they travelled several hundred miles.

Spitting Blood

Is always alarming. It leads to the worst kind of Consumption, and unless arrested in time is generally fatal. Shermah's All-Heeling Balsam is the best remedy known; it heals the wounded or ruptured blood vessels of the lungs, and thereby effects a permanent cure, while other remedies only stop the blood for the time. A few doses of this Balsam will satisfy the most skeptical that it is the medicine required—It has been successful in many cases, and that too where they had run into a rapid decline, or, as mord generally expressed, "Hasty Consumption." Young persons, or those of middle age, are morh subject to these attacks than the aged.

Price 25 cents and $1 per bottle.

Dr. Sherman's Bough and Worm Lozenges, and Poor Man's Plasters, sold as above.

Genuine INDIAN MEDICINE

Russelsville, Putnam co.; Ind.,
July 1, 1847.

Dr. Wright: Some time since your agent left me a supply of your Indian Vegetable Pills. I have found said Pills to be in great demand lately for the cure of Fever and Ague. Mr James Boyd has a son who has a son who has been laid up with Fever and Ague, and had tried other remedies, all of which proved of no avail. He determined to buy your Indian Vegetable Pills, and by using one box is now sound and well. Mr. T Spencer had a daughter, Mr. Hugh Groves a son, and Mr. Charles Nicolas and three of his family, were all down at the same time with fever and ague, and had also tried the various other remedies without effect. Your Indian Vegetable Pills soon restored them to perfect health. I can assure you, from what I have seen, your Indian Vegetabler Pillsmay be relied on for perfect cure of Fever and Ague. Yours respectfully,

JACOB DURHAM, P. M.

Also an acting Justice of the Peace.

This is to certify, that I was enturely cured of the chills and Fevers of several months' standing, by the use of four doses, of four pills each, of Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills, after taking medicine from a regular physician for some time, and have had no symptoms of them since, which has been about one year ago.

THE NIAGARA SHOWER-BATH
AN ENTIRELY NEW ARTICLE FOR SHOWER BATHING,
With old or Warm Water.

A great and important improvement is made in this Shower Bath over all others, by throwing the water immediately on the body without wetting the head unless at the will of pleasure of the bather; but greater point is gained by being enabled to bathe with warm water, which no other Shower Bath is adapted to—and most important of all, the Bathcan be medicated without injury to the hair.

Many persons cannot take a cold bath—their case is met in this, as they can regulate the temperature of the water to suit their wish and commence bathing at any season of the year without any unpleasant result. Ladies can have the advantage of bathing without wetting the head or covering the same.

The arrangements are simple and complete, and not liable to get out of order.—The Bath can be adjusted to suit any heighth, from a small child to the tallest person. When the door is closed, the fixtures are hid and the outside appearance is that of a neat piece of furniture.

They have received the approbation of several midical gentlemen—others are requested to call and examine them.
