FEDERALSBURG

Miss Jefferson Becomes Mrs. Handy

The wedding on Tuesday, December 26, of Miss Rachel C. Jefferson and Mr. Roland C. Handy, tho a quiet home affair, was one of much local interest. The bride, the daughter of the late Thomas O. Jefferson and of Mrs. Lena M. Jefferson, is a favorite member of the town's younger social set, and both she and the groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Handy, of near here, have countless friends.

The wedding took place at 1:30 o'clock at the bride's home, being witnessed by relatives and a few close personal friends. The spacious old home was rendered festive within and without by a profusion of fragrant Christmas greens and in the living room, amid such a green setting, the ceremony was performed by Rev. F. C. MacSorley, pastor of Union M. E. Church, Miss Myrtle Messick furnishing appropriate music throughout.

The bride looked particularly attractive in a gown of dark blue Canton crepe-satin, very simply and gracefully made, the sole garniture a cut-steel buckle confining the drapery. She carried a bouquet of white roses and sweet peas. This she afterward tossed from the stairs among the clamoring maidens.

Almost immediately the bride and groom made ready to depart while refreshments were served the guests, and used various wiles to elude their persistent pursuers. For her wedding journey the bride was becomingly attired in dark blue tailored dress of duvetyn, top coat of same color and a becoming small satin hat of harmonizing shade. Their departure was finally effected amid a deluge of confetti, streamers and other manifestations of the well-wishers. They motored to Dover, accompanied part of the way by friendly auto parties; from there they left by rail for Philadelphia, and will spend several days at Atlantic City before returning to Dover, where they will reside. Mr. Handy, who is a graduate of Delaware College, Newark, and who for two years has been an instrustor there in the vocational department, is now employed at Dover in agricultural extension work.

The bride is a graduate of Federalsburg High School, was a student at Cornell UnUiversity two years, and last year taught in the local high school.

A Christmas party for the children of the M. E. Sunday School was held at The Temple Tuesday afternoon, when a large assembly of assorted ages enjoyed the merry-making and received a box of fine chocolates as a souvenir.

A mammoth star blazes from the top of the community Christmas tree, a tall cedar, luminously lovely, in the center of the town.

The quiet of the dawn of Christmas day was broken most melodiously by a group of carol singers, who at 6 o'clock began an itinerary through the town, stopping at different places and singing the beautiful old Christmas carols.

Mrs. F. C. MacSorley returned last Friday after spending a month with her daughter, Mrs. William F. Metten, at Wilmington.

Miss Ethel Cade of Wilmington is the Christmas guest of her sister, Mrs. F. L. Williams.

Mr. Charles P. Wright, of Washington, D. C., is spending the holidays here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Wright.

Mr. Alderson Mowbray, who teaches music in a school at Charleston W. Va., arrived home Thursday of this week to spend several days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Mowbray.

Miss Eva Wright and sister, Mrs. Ellwood Allen of Wilmington, accompanied by the latter's children, Josephine and Jane are visiting at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Wright.

Mr. and Mrs. Dana Lane of Norfolk, Va., spent Christmas here with Mrs. Lane's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Goslin, as did also Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Goslin, of Chester, Pa.
