MORGAN COLLEGE IN HEALTH WEEK

The entire student body of Morgan College organized for National Negro Health Week. The students have been divided into four equal groups. Each group worked under teacher and student leadership; and each will strive to win the banner for best year.

On Sunday afternoon, April 19th, at 3:30 o'clock, the Cosmopolitan Club composed of students from Hopkins and Morgan, will have charge of the vesper services. The public is invited.

Mr. James H. Carter gave the Pi Chapter, Omega Psi Phi Fraternity, a banquet on Friday evening.

Dr. William Pickens, former Dean of Morgan College, now Field Secretary of the N. A. A. C. P., visited the College Wednesday, of last week and addressed the student body at Chapel exercises. He was warmly greeted by students and teachers.

SOCIAL NEWS

The Misses Griffin and Washington surely had no idea of the series of parties that they would suggest by the delightful entertainment that they gave for the Young Hall girls not so long ago.

On Saturday evening at 7 p. m., Mrs. James H. Carter entertained the girls at cards. Mrs. Carter is adored by all the girls and the prospects of having her as hostess inspired them so much that an onlooker would have been shocked to behold the beauty and taste of apparel displayed by the guests, shocked not because the girls appeared at their best, but because they appeared so bewitchingly attired when they knew that none of the male contingent of the co-educational institution world be present.

The first feature of the evening was a word's me, won by Miss Roxie Pinkett. The most successful card played proved to be Miss Vandola Henderson who was awarded a photograph Album. Miss McCraken was least successful, receiving a nice white bar of soap. The collation was especially appetizing. The menu consisted of chicken salad, saltines, tea, fresh strawberries and cake, almonds, mints and peanuts.

Those present other than the upper-class girls were Misses McCracken, Moore, Mary Wilson, and Ethel Waters. Miss Waters was considered by the girls as being a special treat. She gave the party extra life and unsurpassed enjoyment by her playing and singing.

Misses Hearns Wellman and Claire spent Sunday afternoon visiting relatives in Govans. They reported happy reunions and a good dinner on their return.

Miss Sadie M. Moore, a teacher in Morgan Academy, spent last week-end in Chestertown, Md., visiting friends and relatives.

Miss Enulice Hutchins, a member of the Junior class in Morgan College, spent last week-end in Chestertown, Md., with her parents and friends.

Wouldn't Know What To Do Without the AFRO.

I surely have enjoyed your paper and don't think I could get along without it as I look forward with pleasure every week for it to come and should I miss it a week I would be lost as I learn of so many things I wouldn't know otherwise.

JOHN WHITE,
Salisbury, Md.

Couldn't Be Without AFRO

Dear Sir: I like the paper so well and I don't think I can hardly do without it.

J. H. SMITH,
Salisbury, N. C.

Starts Reading Afro and is Loath To Put It Down

Allow me to congratulate you on your paper for the good wholesome intelligent news. I think you have got all the colored papers beat. I read your paper every week. Your paper seems to be filled with such good news when I commence to read it I loathe to put it down. I have heard so many people speak of your paper. Wishing you greater success.

Dr. RICHARD S. SMITH,
Chicago, Ill.

Advises Good Care of Old Timer

Dear Editor:

I have been reading and enjoying the contents of your valuable paper since I was a pupil in the lower grades.

Now that I am a regular subscriber, I very carefully read each copy of the AFRO and then send it to different friends. Take good care of "Old Timer."

Very truly, yours,
E. M. W. DAVIS.
