from Gerry to Washington—It is surprizing to see how great men will sometimes descend to littlethings—Whatever may have been the party motives for this partial change, we can have no objection to this new cognomen; believing, that whilst the people of America adhere to GEORGE Washington's maxims, the Republic is safe.

FROM THE FLOTILLA.

In addition to Com. BARNEY's letter, we learn from one of his officers, "that Com. Barrie's force consists of the Dragon 74, Acasta frigate, Jaseur brig, three schrs. rocket boat, &c. He had pledged his word of honor, he would either capture or destroy the flotilla; we have seen he has failed, but to excuse himself he now says, he did not expect to take us; he only wished to draw us down to the guns of the frigate and brig, the latter carrying 32 pounders and the former probably the largest in the British navy; yet we were for near an hour within their reach and not a shot struck us.

"We are strengthening our position, have erected a small battery, and the mouth of this branch of the Creek being very narrow, we have obstructed its entrance so as to prevent any thing getting in without our consent; our guns all bear upon it at short cannister distance or long musket shot, so that an assault by night, of no matter what force, would meet with defeat; in the day time they dare not look at us.

"Stuart had a fire or two at two boats yesterday, but they were not disposed to remain; after night, some of them returned and threw four shot at his quarters; whether injury was sustained or not, we have not heard. Our galley which received a shot, is repaired and ready for action, and we have repaired the barge injured by the bursting of her gun, and have given her a long 24 from the gun boat, so that she will be more formidable than ever. Com. Barrie has said he believed Com. Barney would fight, but his men would not; alas, how sadly was he mistaken!"—Patriot.

LAUNCH of the Frigate Guerriere—Owing to the inclemency of the weather, the Launching of this Ship is postponed until Monday next the 20th inst. at 4 o'clock P. M. when it is intended she shall move into her destined element, the weather on that day permitting.—Phila. paper.

AMERICAN MARINE LIST.

Boston, June 12. Ar. fishing Boat Pilgrim, from the Bay—This morning was taken alongside the Nymphe frigate, still at anchor off Scituate, in co. with the Bulwark, and was permitted to proceed. About 11 o'clock, 3 miles SE. of the Light house, was boarded from a sloop, tender to the Bulwark, which put on board 5 men and 4 women taken out of the schr. Betsey, Nickerson, hence for Provincetown, which sailed this morning, which vessel she had captured and ordered down to the Bulwark.

The prisoners inform that 3 ships and a sloop were alongside the Bulwark, which were captured last night, also that the schrs. Nightingale, Atkins, from Provincetown for Boston Bay, Galagher, from do for do. Beauty, Holmes, from do for do. were all capturlast night by the barges and tenders.

Two tenders and 5 or 6 barges were out all last night, scouring the shore from north to south, in fact so numerous are the barges and tenders in the bay, that it is almost impossible for a vessel to escape capture, bound in or out.

A Swedish ship bound out from this port was boarded yesterday afternoon by the Nymph, and permitted to proceed.

The skipper of the Pilgrim informs, that he saw ten or twelve small schrs. standing for the Bulwark, shortly after he left the Nymphe supposed to have been captured by the barges and tenders last night.

Schr. Two Friends, Fowley, hence for the Ed. was captured yesterday afternoon off Cape Ann, by the Shannon privateer and sent to N. S. The Shannon also chased a schr. on shore.

Extract of a letter to the Keeper, of the E. C. H. Books, dated Scituate, Saturday, June 11th 11 o'clock.

"This morning about sunrise, we were visited by the enemy, and every vessel in the harbor soon in flames, 5 were burnt to the water's edge, 2 extinguished, and 2 carried out, one of them laden with hay and produce. Captain Dunbar was standing on the wharf with his son, and the commanding officer first asked for a pilot, and then told the old man to step on board and pilot out the schr. and if he attempted to run her on shore he would blow his brains out. The officer then told him he should set fire to the vessels, and if they made any resistance he would lay the town in ashes.

"He then inquired for the man who fired at them at the time they took the rice out of a vessel near the harbor. (Bates, the keeper of the Light House at the time they were unloading the prize, jumped out of his bed, went to a 4 or 6 pounder which he had loaded, and fired two shots into the mast of the prize) which is supposed to be the cause of this day's frolic."

The Scituate packet laying above, with her sails unbent and in the hold, had them soon bent by the enemy, and went out with the other schooners.

There were 5 barges from 2 frigates at anchor abreast of the harbour, filled with men, 3 of them had each a brass carronade, and 2 of them a long brass 4 pounder. The officers were civil to the inhabitants, but told them if they extinguished the fire of the vessels, they would be there again and see them burnt.

British ship Cod Hook, prize to the late privateer Diomede of Salem, has arrrived at Castine, Me. She has a cargo, of salt, dry goods, crates, flour, bread, iron, &c.

Gloucester, June 11. The report that the commodore sunk a fishing boat on Wednesday, is not correct, she was taken alongside, and afterwards given up. A 74 and a frigate are now off the point.

Salem, June 11. The British squadron was in sight from this town yesterday.

New Bedford, June 10. On Saturday last, several gentlemen from this town went on an excursion to the Islands in Pilot boat No. 1; but on their return were overtaken by a barge of the Nimrod, and detained: The barge had 22 men, and was propelled by 18 oars; the wind being light, rendered it impossible for the pilot boat to escape. Two of the men (captains Price and Potter) are detained, the others are released. On the foresail of the boat, the words Pilot Boat No. 1, is painted in large characters. She was seen on Wednesday afternoon, near Wood's Hole, at anchor.

The Spanish brig Catharine, from St. Domingo for NBedford, had ar. at Halifax June 1, sent in by the Superb 74.

New York, June 13. Ar. the New Haven revenue cutter Eagle Lee, 1 day from New Haven, having under her convoy the packets Astrea, Harrison; sloop Allen, Reynolds; sloop Rising Planet, 3 other sloops, and a schr. all 1 day from NHaven.

Captured on the 28th April last, by a Carthagenian privateer. the Spanish brig Talavera, capt. Joseph Sandres, being out four days from Trinidad in Cuba, bound to Boston, with a full cargo of sugar. She was taken off Cape Coreantes and the crew put on shore on the Island of Cuba, entirely destitute.

Charleston, June 11. Ar. schr. Charleston Packet, Martin, Georgetown, inland 8 days; schr. Nonsuch, Howren, do.

The vessel mentioned a few days since as having been burnt at Morrall's Inlet near Georgetown, proves to be the schr. Friends, Captain Danley, from this port bound to Elizabeth City, NC. A letter from the captain, mentions, that the Friends struck upon the bar, attempting to escape, and that the barges of the enemy continued by her until she was entirely consumed.

We have not been able to ascertain the name of the British schooner which arrived in this port on Monday evening last, as a prize to the letter of marque cutter Hero, fr France. Indeed, the circumstances attending her capture and re-capture are so imperfectly related by those who have arrived in her, as to render it impossible to form a correct opinion on the subject. She had no papers on board when she arrived.

The men who arrived in her, are Mr. John Down, of Beverly, (Mass.) Jean Piero and Jer. Provost, (Frenchmen) and John Handley and Richard Sisk, of Cork, (Ireland.) Provost states, that he sailed from L'Orient in the letter of marque cutter Hero, on the 9th of April—that early in May they captured the British brig Recovery, but were obliged to let her go, after taking out her crew, in consequence of being chased by a frigate. They then took two schooners, one of which (the British sch. Contract) was liberated, and the other ordered to a port in the United States.

On the 21st of May, they captured the above mentioned schooner, which this informant understood was from Barbadoes, and 7 men were put on board her, including Down, Handley and Sisk—the same evening they fell in with and were retaken by a schooner prize to the British frigate Niemen; the prize master put on board from the Hero and two of the prize crew taken out; and Jean Piero put on board as navigator, with orders to keep in company with the capturing schooner. After getting on board, Piero advised the above named who were left on board the schr. not to follow the British prize schooner, as she was not armed, and could not compel them to do so; and they accordingly bore away and shaped their course for the United States—John Down states, that he was captured in an American vessel on our coast, some time since, and his vessel destroyed; he was afterwards put on board the British schooner Contract, bound to Bermuda, which vessel was captured on the 20th May, by the cutter Hero; who put on board the Contract the crew of another schooner she had captured, and allowed her to proceed for Bermuda—he remained on board the Hero, and the next day they fell in with the schooners which has arrived here, and that he was put on board her to assist in bringing her into port, but does not know her name, or any other particulars of her—Jean Piero says, that he was taken by the Niemen frigate out of the Baltimore sch. Hound, capt. Forrest, from Philadelphia, bound to St. Bartholomews, on the 8th of May—and that he was afterwards put on board this vessel, but does not know her name—Handley and Sisk confirm the statement of their being taken on board the British brig Recovery, belonging to Dundee, and state that she was bound to Newfoundland. They are fishermen, by occupation. These are the only particulars which we have been able to collect.
