POISONOUS MATCHES SEEING LAST DAY

Washington, Dec. 31.—"A godsend to humanity" was the way Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Sherman Allen today described the Esch law, prohibiting the use in this country of the white (poisonous) phosphorus match after January 1.

The new law prohibits the manufacture of the poisonous phosphorus match. It also phohibits the importation of poisonous matches and after January 1, 1914, will exclude from export the same commodity.

When the Esch bill was passed Congress was convinced that the old-style match was not only dangerous from combustion but causes many deaths from "phosy jaw." So all matches used in the future must be nonpoisonous and will ignite only from friction against the box in which they coms.

"The new law will be a godsend, as it will not only prevent 'phosy jaw' but stop the source of hundreds of fires and lessen other dangers that accompany the use of the old-style match," sand Secretary Allen today.

Today the Treasury Department notified customs officers that the old-style match no longer will be entitled to importation, requesting them to guard against the same after Wednesday.

William W. Chenowith, 32 years old, of 2209 East Preston street, Baltimore has been arrested charged with the larceny of $577.60 in railroad tickets, mileage books, stamps, etc., from the Western Maryland Railroad in 1906. Chenowith is a former ticket supply clerk.

According to Warren B. Cross, chief of the Western Maryland, operatives, auditors are now hard at work on the company's books trying to figure out how much in tickets, etc., is missing. Chief Cross says before the auditors are through it is expected that a shortage of between $10,000 and $15,000 will be found. The specific charge entered on the docket against Chenoweth is:

Larceny of 7,100 packages of stamps $355; 219 packages of stamps in book form, $219 and one extra dater, $5.

According to Chief Cross, his men have recovered nearly $15,000 worth of property from an auctioneer. According to the police, Chenoweth after taking the tickets and stamps, stored them with P. Morton & Sons, 327 N. Howard street. Several days ago they were put on the block to be auctioned off by E. T. Newell & Co., because of unpaid storage. One of the boxes accidently fell breaking open, revealing its contents. As the tickets fell out, one of the clerks of the auctioneer read the name of the railroad on them and General Passenger Agent F. N. Howell was notifield. Chief Cross began an investigation with Captain Mead and it was learned that Chenoweth had stored much stuff there. It was all in his name.

The slips are known as duplicate ticket orders, and it is alleged were taken while Chenoweth was employed as chief clerk to the ticket supply clerk of the Western Maryland Railway.

MANCHESTER

(Isidor Stricklin found dead)

The friends of Mrs. Leonard Kreitzer and step daughters attended her burial on Monday evening in the St. Paul's cemetery, Arcadia, Baltimore county. She died on Saturday morning at the home of her daughter in Baltimore. High Mass services were hold on Monday morning and the remains brought to the above place and laid away to rest. She was aged 75 years. A year or more ago Mrs. K. closed her home here on North Main street and went to live with her daughter.

A company of parishioners of the Rev. J. B. Lau, that took the family by surprise on Monday evening, did not go empty handed but fully equipped for a creditable donation party and enjoyed several hours in the social circle.

Another sad hapening that aroused a general sympathy in this section was that to Mr. Isidor Stricklin at his home on Saturday evening. He was in town some time during the day and attended to his business as usual as well as his duties when he got home. About 3 P. M. he took a shovel and went to his ice pond to do some repairs but when he did not return as the shades of evening were gathering fast the family became uneasy and his father went to the pond to know why he delayed his coming home, when to his surprise he found his body in the water, all but one foot on the bank, with the shovel handle under his arm. Help was called and Dr. J. H. Preston hurried to the home but found that he had been dead for some time. The indication pointed that he was dead before his body struck the water as there was no water in his lungs. He had a bad heart and at times was subject to spells which held him unconscious for quite a while and it is supposed he was taken ill suddenly and fell into the pond. He was a noble, big hearted man who, at home or abroad, met his friends with a cheerful welcome, while his home hospitality always had the latchstring hanging out to his friends, which was evidenced by the large number of friends that attended his funeral. In his early manhood he was under our tuition. He was always manly in his deportment and cheerful in all the pleasures of his companions. Successor to his father, Mr. John Stricklin, as tax collector of Hampstead district, he performed his duties with credit. For a number of years he manufactured ice cream, having a fully equipped factory at the homestead with a large patronage in Baltimore county as well as at home. His remains were laid away to rest in a family lot in Greenmount cemetery. Besides the large circle of friends, members of Daniel and Jacob Lodge No. 23 and Carroll Encampment No. 17, I. O. O. F., and the P. O. S. of A. attended in a body and held service at the grave. Rev. S. J. Derr assisted by Rev. G. W. Strine, officiated. Rev. D. improved the occasion from James 4 chap. and 14 verse. Although the church was filled to standing room yet but one half present could gain admission. Mr. Stricklin was aged 42 years, 11 months and 23 days. He is survived by a widow who was Miss Mattie Hann, one daughter and three sons, his aged parents and four sisters. The different organizations were represented among the pallbearers and Jacob Wink had charge of the funeral.

The Christmas service in Emanuel Lutheran church on Christmas evening was largely attended. The church was in full dress for the occasion and the class exercises and recitions and songs were well given.

Mr. Chas. T. Warner and son Clinton were visitors at the home of Mr. Noah Shaffer.

Mrs. Dr. R. S. Wells and son Earl, of Gamber, were visitors at the home of Mrs. W's mother, Mrs. Musselman, several days last week.

Miss Julia C. Masenhimer entertained her friends, Miss Irene Pfitch, of Baltimore, and Miss Laura Panebaker, of Bachman's Valley, several days last week at her home on North Main street.

Mr. Eli Warhime, of Baltimore, spent Christmas with his mother on Foundry avenue.

Masters Robert and Harry Shaw, of Frederick, visited their uncle and aunt, Mr. John B. Lamotte and sister, this week. Robert is attending school at Lexington, Va.

The many friends here are in sympathy with Mrs. Colonel Peck, nee Miss Maggie Clingan, on the death of her husband, Colonel Peck, at their home in Washington, D. C. on Monday.

Dr. L. Trump was taken quite ill in the Lutheran church on Christmas evening with acute indigestion and taken home. After several days his condition improved and he is now about the house.
