MR. & MRS. HAMILTON'S

BOARDING SCHOOL,

FOR YOUNG LADIES.

THIS institution is situated in the most healthful and pleasant part of the city, corner of Saratoga and Courtland streets, Baltimore.

After having conducted an extensive Boarding School for young ladies, for several years, in North Carolina and Virginia, Mr. & Mrs. H. removed to this city in 1831, and opened a Seminary for young ladies, upon a scientific and liberal plan, which has received an almost unprecedented patronage.

Mr. & Mrs. H. have liberally provided their school with every apparatus necessary to illustrate their instruction. Their philosophical apparatus is equal to any other that can be found in private seminaries in this country, and their chemical is sufficiently extensive to illustrate any subject treated upon in the text books of the school. Their Cabinet of minerals, though small, yet contains upwards of 700 specimens. Their seminary is also furnished with an Armillary Sphere, Cary's, Wilson's and Gardner's Globes, several Pianos and a Harp. Mr. & Mrs. H. beg leave to remark, that the instruments they possess are the best they could procure in this country or in England.

The Library contains upwards of 1500 volumes of the best authors, as connected with the studies pursued in the school, to which the young ladies have general access.

In all the departments the most competent teachers have been engaged, whose instructions are given under the immediate eye of the principals.

The course of instruction in this institution, is carried on in a regular and continued system of academic studies, embracing all the scientific and ornamental branches necessary to a complete course of female education.

Parents and guardians who wish for more particular information, can obtain a Prospectus of the Seminary, by applying to the Editor.

TO THE FREE AND INDEPENDENT VOTERS OF DORCHESTER COUNTY.

Fellow-citizens:—I have been informed that an impression prevails in some parts of the county, I have not yet had an opportunity of visiting, that I have declined being a candidate for a seat in the next Legislature of Maryland. I avail myself of this mode of contradicting it. I am still a candidate and intend to be, and I return thanks to my friends for the flattering encouragement I have so far received. I expect between this and the election to be active in seeing my fellow-citizens in the different districts for the purpose of paying my respects to them, and apprising them of my leading views upon public matters. I will take occasion here to remind you that I was a candidate prior to the late Caucus or Convention that was held at Buck-town, and that my name was not handed in, my principles not allowing me to submit to such a proceeding, believing as I did that a convention was entirely uncalled for. It is too often the case that a few individuals undertake to dictate to a party, and whilst they talk largely of protecting the interests of the people, it is too often the case that they are seeking their own and the interest of their particular friends, and they care not if the people are made 'hewers of wood and drawers of water" for them. Believing if such a practice is tolerated it may infringe upon our rights as freemen, and gradually undermine our liberties and privileges, I am opposed to it. Entertaining these views, if my fellow-citizens see proper to elect me, I shall be thankful to them, and will endeavor, to the best of my ability, faithfully to promote the interests of the county generally, and to discharge the trust reposed in me.

I have the honor to be, very respectfully,
Your obedient servant,
SAMUEL PATTISON.

This will be followed, at an early day, by the Memoirs of Henry Masers de la Tude, who was confined for thirty-five years in the different State Prisons in France, now first translated into English.

The works published in the current volume, now on the point of completion, are the following:—

Good Sir Walter; a tale by the author of Family Portraits.

The Broken Heart; a dramatic sketch, from the Italian.

Rome in the Nineteenth Century; in a series of letters written during a residence in that city, by a Lady.

The Deaf and Dumb Page; a Tale.

Anecdotes of the Court of Louis the XIV.; by the Duke of St. Simon.

The Black Watch; an Historical Novel, by the author of the Dominie's Legacy, &c. &c. One of the best novels, say the London magazines, of the present day.

SECOND YEAR OF

Parley's Magazine.

THE unexampled success of this juvenile Work, which now circulates into every State and Territory of the Union, has encouraged the publishers to renewed exertions in making it all that judicious parents could reasonably expect for the amusement and instruction of youth.

It is important to remark, that this Magazine has become a great favorite in schools, and that judicious parents and teachers have discovered that its interesting matter, its spirited and appropriate engravings, its entire novelty, added to the circumstance of its coming every fortnight fresh from the press, in convenient and beautiful numbers, have all conspired to render it unusually attractive to young readers. It is read with avidity and pleasure; and the object of school education, so far as it relates to reading understandingly, acquiring at the same time valuable portions of knowledge, and an enduring taste for reading, is better accomplished by this interesting periodical, than by any means hitherto attempted.

There are now schools in every part of the country that take some twenty, some thirty, some forty, and some as many as sixty six copies of this Magazine; and the teachers, one and all, recommend its use and importance in the most unequivocal manner, and are exerting themselves to increase its circulation.

To such as are yet unacquainted with "Parley's Magazine," we would state some of the interesting topics that it presents.

I. NATURAL HISTORY—Of beasts, birds, fishes, reptiles, insects; plants, flowers, trees; the human frame, &c.

II. BIOGRAPHY—Especially of the young.

III. GEOGRAPHY—Accounts of places, manners, customs, &c.

IV. TRAVELS AND VOYAGES, in various parts of the world.

V. Lively Descriptions of the Curiosities of Nature and Art,—in each of the U. States, and in other countries.

VI. LESSONS on objects that daily surround children in the Parlor, Nursery, Garden, &c.

VII. PARTICULAR DUTIES of the Young—to Parents, Teachers, Brothers, Sisters, &c.

VIII. BIBLE LESSONS and STORIES.

IX. NARRATIVES—Such as are well authenticated; Original Tales.

X. PARABLES, FABLES and PROVERBS, where the moral is obvious and excellent.

XI. POETRY—Adapted to the youthful capacity and feelings.

XII. INTELLIGENCE—Embracing Accounts of Juvenile Books, Societies and Remarkable Occurrences.

Many of the above subjects are illustrated by numerous and beautiful ENGRAVINGS, prepared by the best Artists, and selected not only with a view to adorn the work, but to improve the taste, cultivate the mind, and raise the affections of the young to appropriate and worthy objects. We would make them better children, better brothers, better sisters, better pupils, better associates, and, in the end, better citizens.

This Magazine comes out every other Saturday, and is sent to every part of the U. States, by mail. Price, One Dollar a year, in advance.—6 copies for $5; twenty copies for $15; or twenty-five quarterly parts for $5. Postage, three-quarters of a cent, if under 100 miles; one cent and a quarter only for the greatest distance.

PROPOSALS

FOR PUBLISHING THE

EASTON GAZETTE

IN AN EXTENDED AND IMPROVED FORM.

BY the generous offer of a gentleman well known throughout the State, to superintend the Agricultural and Political departments of my paper, I am enabled to propose to publish a journal particularly devoted to Agriculture and Politics, which I flatter myself will merit and receive an extended patronage.

From the irritations long produced by political warfare, it has been hitherto thought best to separate these interesting subjects by giving them possession of distinct papers—as it was supposed that all parties would unite in the first, while none but partizans of one cast would be likely to take an interest in the other. Where political discussions and commentaries are marked with personal offence and rude intrusions upon feelings, there seems to be a necessity for this separation. But if a paper maintains its own principles and views of public men and things fearlessly and with decorum, the union of these interesting topics would only enable those of a different political way of thinking to hear the other side of the question.

Without meaning, however, to press this view of the subject, I must say, that the real design in uniting these two highly interesting topics is to give greater interest to the paper, and to make it more worthy of general attention.

How far the plan can be made acceptable to the public taste, must be left to the sequel, in case sufficient patronage is extended to justify the increased expenses to be incurred in wages for additional labor, type and other materials—as well as in procuring the most interesting papers and works relating to Politics and Agriculture, which cannot be had by the ordinary interchanges among editors—and the procuring which, cannot be risked until I can ascertain the public opinion in relation to the plan, and their disposition to sustain it.

That the plan can be rendered acceptable I have no doubt, if adequate encouragement is given.

It may, perhaps, be thought by some, that the depressed and reduced condition of our country at the present time renders it an unsuitable occasion to put forth proposals for a journal that is to require patronage from the hands of the people—The remark is obviously a plausible one, and would be irresistible, if the journal itself did not mainly contemplate an agency in furnishing to the people the information and the aids necessary to meet the crisis, and to enable them to restore that state of comfort and prosperity from which they have been so wantonly, so causelessly, and so lawlessly ejected. Pressed down as the people are in their pecuniary concerns by measures equally ruinous and absurd—excited and indignant as they ought to be at the high-handed, unconstitutional and arbitrary course that arrogant and stimulated power has adopted, patience for a moment under such suffering would be construed into acquiescence that would tend to swell the list of their grievances, and embolden daring ambition in its usurpations and abuses. The people must resist or they are degraded and ruined—the people must resist or their Republican Institutions, their Liberty and happiness will be annihilated—the people must resist now early, or they will have later to seek through blood and slaughter the reparation of a loss too great to be borne, involving all that is dear to the heart of man. The crisis calls forth the proposal—it is necessary to act—the loss of time may be the loss of all—the object is to prepare the means to make known to the people their real condition, the causes that have produced it, and the way to resist it.

Let not this language be misinterpreted—we speak in all we say in the spirit and under the sanction of the Constitution and the Law—it is the triumph of these we aim at as the means under Heaven's merciful behests, of restoration to happiness and peace.

$100 REWARD.

RANAWAY from the subscriber, on Saturday night, the 2d instant, a negro boy, named aged about 21 years, and of a chesnut color. John had his left leg broke in the early part of June last, and it is not yet entirely well. He has been raised as a house-servant exclusively, which business he well understands; and it is supposed he has by some means obtained a pass.

JOHN YOUNG,

If the above named boy is apprehended out of the county, and secured in some jail so that I get him again, I will give one hundred dollars, or fifty dollars if taken in the county; or I will pay reasonable charges, in addition, to have him delivered to me in Cambridge.

This boy is said to be attached to Mr. William A. Lake's girl, who has also runaway, and is, no doubt, in company with him. ARTHUR BELL.
