KEEPING RECORDS WEEDS OUT BOARDER COWS

Cecil County Dairyman Increases Annual Profit Per Cow $27.91 in Two Years.

G. E. WOLCOTT,
Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station.

In the spring of 1912, Mr. J. Harry Maxwell, of Cecil county, joined the Rising Sun Dairy Improvement Association, being one of the first to realize the great advantage that might be derived from knowing how much milk and butterfat each cow in the herd produced during the year; and how much feed was required to make the production.

A PROFIT MAKER.

The results which are given below prove that Mr. Maxwell was not mistaken in his opinion regarding the value of knowing the production of each cow in his herd.

At the end of the first year, it was found that the average production of a herd of 15 cows was 5,052 pounds of milk, containing 214 pounds of butterfat. The cost of feed per cow amounted to $42.71. There was a profit of $41.85 above the cost of feed. For every dollar expended for feed the average cow made a return in milk amounting to $1.98.

The best cow in the herd, the first year, yielded 5,938 pounds of milk containing 268 pounds of butterfat, while three cows were sold as unprofitable, one making a yield of only 2,610 pounds of milk.

During the first year, Mr. Maxwell studied the records carefully, and made plans to feed the herd for its highest and most economical production the next year. He found that the production during the months of July and August was very low, owing to dry pastures and a lack of green feed; also that the effect of short feed at this time could not be overcome during the remainder of the lactation period. The second year green corn was provided as a supplement to dry pastures. As a result, the records show that during the second year the average cow produced 7,142 pounds of milk containing 300 pounds of butterfat; she consumed $47.91 worth of feed, and made a profit above the cost feed amounting to $69.76.

The highest producing cow in the herd yielded 9,820 pounds of milk, containing 406 pounds of butterfat. Her feed cost $48.62; and the profit above the cost of feed was $115.72.

The following table gives a clear idea of the increased production, that resulted when a careful system of feeding was followed:

Average Production Per Cow.

Year.	Milk lbs.	Fat lbs.	Cost of feed.	Profit over cost of feed.
1st	5,052	214	$42.71	$41.85
2nd	7,143	300	47.91	69.76
Gain	2,091	86	5.20	27.91

This increase was made largely through feeding. Three cows were eliminated as unprofitable during the first year. This, of course, had a material effect in making the average production higher; but the larger factor was the individual feeding.

By keeping records the low producers can be discarded; and the remainder of the herd can be fed according to their production. These two factors will increase the average production of any herd; and make the yield at a lower feed cost.

WHEAT AND VETCH SEEDED NOW WILL PROVIDE NEEDED ROUGHAGE IN SPRING.

NICKOLAS SCHMITZ,
Maryland Agricultural Experiment Station.

After such a dry season as we have had this year, we may naturally expect a shortage in the supply of hay and roughage early in the spring. Hence it is quite important that we plan our farming operations this fall so that we will be provided with plenty of good feed while waiting on the next hay crop.

For this purpose there is probably nothing better than a mixture of winter oats and vetch or wheat and vetch. The vetch and wheat can be mixed and seeded with the wheat drill. A good mixture to sow is 20 to 25 lbs. of vetch and about 1 bushel of wheat or oats per acre. This will grow up early in the spring and can be used as a soiling crop or cut for hay when the grain is in the soft dough stage. It makes a good yield of an excellent quality of hay.

Vetch yields well by itself, but owing to its viney habit of growth, it is best to sow it with wheat or winter oats.

HELP THE RED CROSS

The National Red Cross Association has issued an appeal for aid in carrying on its work of humanity amongst the warring nations of Europe. Physicians, surgeons and nurses have voluntarily left their homes and country and crossed the ocean, facing many dangers and privations to help the Red Cross of Europe to minister to the sick and wounded and the suffering thousands, who, by no will of their own, have been forced into this cruel, useless war. The Maryland branch of the Red Cross, always ready and willing to bear its share, is already at work, collecting money and hospital supplies, and they appeal to the generous people of this Heaven blessed State, which we so proudly and affectionately claim as "Maryland My Maryland," for aid and sympathy. Shall we, of this banner county of Carroll, fail to respond willingly, promptly and generously? We never have done so, but whenever there has been occasion to give of our means; whenever there has been a call for aid in the hour of trouble and calamity, the response has been liberal, and we feel the record will not be broken now, when the call is so urgent and the need so great.

It is not sympathy alone that prompts this action on the part of the Red Cross Association, but, as the President of the United States has called for a day of prayer that the Angel of Peace may speedily spread her wings over the battle torn countries and that the nations of the world will again enjoy the blessings of Peace and tranquility, we owe a debt to Almighty God, that we are living in a land at peace with all the world; that we have been blessed with abundant crops; that we have been mercifully spared from calamities of any kind, and, that, as a nation we are united, and at the end of the year, can look back on one full of blessings and prosperity.

Some of the articles needed are men's underwear, woolen and cotton socks, slippers, pajamas, bath robes, mufflers, wristlets, woolen scarfs and caps, old linen and muslin for bandages and money to purchase necessary hospital supplies. A full list of articles needed will be given next week. In the meantime let us look over our household supplies and see if we can not find some article we can spare to comfort at least one of the sick and wounded. A committee is being organized to aid in the work. In the meantime any article can be sent to the care of Miss Mary B. Shellman, 206 E. Main street, Westminster, who has consented to receive and forward the same.

A Word To Tax-Payers

Carroll County receives $7,659.37 net, from saloon licenses. If this amount were lost to the County, it would increase the taxes less than 3 cents on a hundred dollars assessment, less than 30 cents on a thousand dollars assessment.

The saving to the County by abolishing the saloon will overbalance this amount.

The saloon is an expense to the County, not a thing of profit. Figure it out for yourself, on Carroll County's taxable basis of $26,709,290.
