POETRY.

The spirited stanzas which we subjoin form the "Banner Song" of the Natchez Fencibles, a company composed of the very elite of the young men of that flourishing city. They were written by Francis Baker, Esq., a gentleman of fine poetic talents, who, as may be remembered, was killed by the infamous Desha. These verses possess much merit. They have a fine lyrical flow of diction, the sentiment is impassioned, and the measure is well adapted to the spirit-stirring character of the subject. When sung by a chorus of manly voices, the effect is irresistible. To the correspondent who has politely furnished them for publication, we render our best thanks.

"TRY US."

Our maiden Banner courts the wind,
Its stars are beaming o'er us;
Each radiant fold now unconfined
Is floating free before us;
It bears a motto, proud and high,
For those who dare defy us,
And loud shall peal our slogan cry
Whene'er they come to "TRY US."

The hallow'd ray that freedom gave,
To cheer the gloom that bound us,
And shine in beauty o'er the brave,
Still brightly beams around us;
The day our fathers bravely won,
Shall long be greeted by us;
And loudly through our ranks shall run,
The gallant war cry—"TRY US."

Now fill the wine cup to the brim,
Fill, fill, the ruby treasure;
Pour one libation forth to HIM,
Nor stint the burning measure,
And o'er the board, or in the field,
His spirit will be nigh us;
The patriot's hope—the soldier's shield,
Whene'er they come to "TRY US."

Then give our banner to the wind,
Its stars are beaming o'er us;
Its maiden folds now unconfined,
Are floating free before us;
It bears a motto proud and high,
For those who dare defy us,
And loud shall peal the Slogan cry,
Whene'er they come to "TRY US."

A True Story.—The following story of "Love and Prudence," which we accidently met with as revived in a late Hagerstown paper, is an "o'er true tale." It first appeared, some time since, in the York (Pa.) Recorder, and the facts which it records occurred in a neighboring county beyond the Susquehanna. The way this beautiful and sprightly heiress treated her fortune hunting lover, should be "a caution" to the whole order.

Love and Prudence.—A young gentleman who was desirous of entering the holy state of matrimony, and who had turned his attention to the 'gilded' beauties of the day—selected at length, for his particular addresses, a lady, who was reported rich, as well in the "matter of lucre," as in personal and mental accomplishments. He felt the charms of his fair one, stealing over his senses and casting a "witching spell" upon his faculties. But like a discreet young man, before he was too far gone, he wanted to make assurance doubly sure—and to leave no "loop whereon to hang a doubt" touching the worldly possessions of his beloved. Fame, it is true, had spoken her wealthy, but fame had a cruel fashion of exaggerating in these matters. In a word, if the truth must be told, our lover was not so "madly" in love, but he was able to preserve some "method" in it. And before the glorious passion reached its crisis, he had the singular prudence to examine the records, and so obtain an exact knowledge of the wealth of his charmer! How happy was he to find that her estate was clear, and for once even more valuable than rumor had proclaimed it.

Flying then, on the wings of love, to the dwelling of his fair one—in good set phrase, he declared his affection for her—made a tender of his heart and hand—and besought her to smile upon his passion, and make him happy. But the "flattering tale" of Hope was not to be realized. The star of our lover's happy fortune, had alas! not yet cast its silver light above the horizon! By some means, it happened, the young lady had been apprised of the extent of her lover's curiosity—and in the midst of his descant upon flames, and darts, and cupids—she very composedly drew from her reticule a small piece of money, and approaching him, made this reply—"Although I may not profit by your very favorable sentiment towards me, still I cannot think of you being a loser on my account. As you have been at the expense of a "search," I must insist upon being allowed to replace the amount so expended." So saying, she put an eighteen penny piece in her lover,s hand, and he—— went his way.

Changes in Life.—When the late Lord Erskine was Lord Chancellor, he invited the gentleman who told me the following anecdote, to breakfast with him. While they were conversing a servant brought in a letter, which Lord Erskine read with considerable emotion. After a pause, he said it was from one of his French princes, without naming which, and added, that it was to solicit his assistance on the occasion of some embarrassment. He then remarked upon the very extraordinary changes which a few years have brought about in their respective fortunes. "The first time I saw the writer of this letter," he continued, "was at Versailles, I was then a poor ensign on my way to join my regiment, which was lying in Minorca As I was travelling to Paris in a public vehicle, one of the passengers who held some inferior station in the palace, offered to procure me an opportunity of seeing the court, and there I beheld this prince, figuring in the most brilliant manner, as one of the most distinguished men in Europe. I was then in the lowest rank of my profession, and am now at the head of another of a totally different nature, and he in exile and in poverty, is supplicating my aid."—The Origiaal.

PRENTICEANA.

From the Louisville Journal.

At the Galt House, on Thursday, an office-holder from a neighboring State, who is in the receipt of several thousands a year, from the General Government, proposed, in the midst of a company of gentlemen, to bet a thousand dollars that Mr. Van Buren would get Ohio, a thousand dollars that he would get Indiana, and a thousand dollars that he would get Illinois. A very modest and unassuming Whig, who happened to be present, fancying that he saw a fair opening for an honest speculation, promptly signified his readiness to accept the proffered wager, and at the same time put his hand in his pocket to draw forth the requisite funds. "Ah," said the office holder, with a look of sore mortification, "I left home in a hurry and unfortunately forgot my pocket book!"

Some years ago, as a couple of American vessels were cruising near the West Indies, a dispute arose between the two captains in regard to some little point of precedence. The controversy was conducted with entire moderation and decorum, and, shortly afterwards, when a large piratical ship hove in sight, they mutually agreed, that the old dispute should be decided in favor of him, who should do the greatest execution upon the common enemy. The example was a good one, and we are glad to see that the two sections of the Whig party of the pressent day are acting in a similar spirit and with a similar understanding. They do not entirely concur with each other in opinion as to whether Gen. Harrison or Judge White ought to be next President of the United States, yet both have expressed an entire willingness, that the high office shall belong to the candidate, who, in the approaching conflict, shall succeed in arraying the greatest number of States against the piratical flag of the spoils party.

The Mississippian thinks, that "the whigs would as soon see the Devil elected Vice President as Col. Johnson." Perhaps so. We cannot say that we should take sides in a conflict between these two worthies. We should rather stand off and see fair play, exclaiming with the boy in the story, "pull, Dick—pull, Devil."

"There is no doubt about North Carolina; she will go for Van Buren."—Globe.

That's a capital sign. The Tories have been so beaten in the late elections, that they are at last obliged to keep up the hopes of their party by resorting to the desperate expedient of claiming the vote of North Carolina. Nothing could more fully convince us that they feel the chills of death already coming over them.

A Minister's Misfortune.—A clergyman, says the Lowell Journal, received a call from a young lady and gentleman, belonging to a neighbouring town, last Sunday evening, about 10 o'clock, who politely requested him to make them "one flesh." After calling up his wife and a friend, who had retired, to witness the ceremony, and he had received satisfactory evidence that his visiters were fit subjects, he performed the desired act, and pronounced the happy pair "man and wife." This was all very well; but the last word was hardly pronounced before the wife snatched her bonnet, and the husband his hat, and quicker than a dart they were safely landed in the street, hastening to their night quarters, and leaving the minister, as payment for services rendered, the pleasure of fastening up his doors, and coolly reflecting upon the purity of the love and honor which animated the couple just departed.—Boston Transcript.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton's
Boarding School
FOR YOUNG LADIES,

Corner of Cortland and Saratoga streets,

BALTIMORE,

WILL BE RE-OPENED on Monday the 5th of September next. As the Institution, during the present year, has received the most extensive improvements and additions, the Principals feel a confidence in saying they believe it to be now superior to any similar establishment ever offered to the public patronage, both in the School and Boarding departments.

Although the character of this Institution is generally well known, yet for the satisfaction of those unacquainted with it, they give the following gentlemen as references:

Rev. Dr. Johns. Rev. Dr. Henshaw.
Rev. J. M. Duncan.

A prospectus of the School may be obtained by addressing (post paid) William Hamilton, Baltimore.

August 27, 1836.

☞The Whig and Gazette, Easton; the Cambridge Chronicle; Bugle, Chestertown; Princess Anne Herald, Annapolis Republican and Gazette; and Cecil Whig, Port Deposite, will publish the above to the amount of three dollars each, send one paper to the advertiser, and charge the Baltimore American office.

Notice.

THE subscriber has been disqualified for a considerable time by disease or mental weakness from attending to any kind of business; but having considerably recovered, intends to prosecute the settlement of his business with all the vigor his circumstances may allow. Having been treated in a shameless manner by many whose duty it was to have acted differently, he will hereafter publish specifically any such treatment derived from whatever source it may be, and will name the persons engaged in it, whether officers of justice or private individuals. The reports that I am about to leave my interest when I even travel from one neighborhood to another, are only kept up for the lowest and most selfish purposes, and to give an idea that I am broken, which is very far from being the fact. Although I have the influence of all those who have taken and divided my property between them without law or justice, to contend against, I still will use all the energy my circumstances admit of to see myself righted, and will expose any neglect or injustice attempted by officers of justice or any other persons.

1200 REWARD.

RANAWAY from the subscriber, in Washington county, Va., on Saturday night, the 28th May last, a negro man, named or, as he called himself, WATSON, about 30 years old, black complexion, about 5 feet 10 or 11 inches high, thick lips, quick spoken, rather a coarse voice, short face, low forehead, and weighing about 170 pounds. He had on when he left a blue broad cloth suit of clothes. It is probable that he is in possession of free papers and will change his name. He can read printing.

ADAM,

It is believed that this negro, the night before he ran off, stole from Mr. John Denison, of my neighborhood, a dark bay horse, about 16 hands high, black mane and tail, one white hind foot, (believed to be the right,) with a white spot upon his back about the size of a dollar, and 7 years old last spring. It is likely that he went off upon this horse. A reward of twenty dollars will be given for returning the horse.

A day or two before Adam ran off, a man by the name of Isaac Hutton left this neighborhood, as he said, for Alabama, but from circumstances which have come to my knowledge, I think it not improbable that Hutton went another course, and took Adam with him. Said Hutton is about 6 feet high, 22 or 23 years of age, slender form, and is much addicted to drunkenness and gambling.

I will give the above reward of one hundred dollars for the apprehension and delivery of Adam to me, and pay all reasonable expenses for bringing him home; or one hundred dollars for securing him in jail, so that I get him again. I will also pay the reward of $20 for the delivery of Mr. Denison's horse.

600 DOLLARS
Reward.

RANAWAY from the subscriber, on Monday last, the 12th of September, instant, three likely negro men, called

Dolph, Alec & Alfred.

Dolph is from 30 to 35 years old, about 5 feet 6 inches high, very black, round shouldered and walks clumsily.

Alec, aged about 25 years, is about 5 feet 10 inches high, spare made and of a brown chesnut color. He is slow of speech and is very much addicted to excessive drinking of ardent spirits.

Alfred, who generally stammers a little but at times considerably, is about 5 feet 4 inches high, well-formed, of a light chesnut complexion, and about 22 years old.

The above named reward of six hundred dollars will be paid for the apprehension of these negroes, if they be taken out of this county; or two hundred dollars for any one of them. But if taken in the county, three hundred dollars for all, or one hundred for each of them—Provided, in either case, that they be secured in Cambridge jail, so that the owner get them again.

The Cultivator

IS a monthly publication, of sixteen quarto pages, and comprises about two hundred pages in a volume, published at Albany, by the New-York State Agricultural Society. It is exclusively devoted to Agriculture and the Improvement of Youth. The publishing committee are J. Buel, J. P. Beekman and J. D. Wasson. The object of the publication is to disseminate useful information among the agricultural community in the cheapest practicable form; and the success of the undertaking, and the character of the paper, are indicated by the fact, that although it has been published but ten months, its subscribers exceed eleven thousand, and comprise residents of twenty-one of the United States.

The second volume was commenced in March. The pages are so enlarged, that each number contains as much matter as eighteen pages of the first volume. It contains many engravings and cuts, executed by good artists, illustrative of implements, animals and operations of husbandry. Price FIFTY CENTS per annum. The postage will not exceed 18¾ cents the year to any part of the Union.

The first volume will continue to be furnished at 50 cents a single copy.

Communications to be addressed to J. Buel, at Albany, N. Y.

Subscriptions received by A. Cowan.

The New-Yorker.
QUARTO EDITION.

THE publishers of the "New-Yorker," encouraged by the generous and steadily increasing patronage which has hitherto rewarded their exertions, propose to issue, from the commencement of their third volume, on the 26th of March ensuing, a new Double Quarto Edition of their journal, not instead of, but in addition to, the one now published. Advertisements, except possibly a few of a strictly literary character, will be entirely excluded; and, in addition to all the matter presented in the folio New-Yorker, the quarto will contain a page of popular music, &c.&c., and be accompanied by a handsome title page and comprehensive index at the close of the volume.

The general features of the New-Yorker will remain essentially as they have heretofore been. Its columns will contain—

I. General Literature. Original Tales, Essays, Reviews, Poems, &c., with corresponding selections from the Quarterlies, Monthlies, and all the best class of periodicals, foreign and American, with choice extracts from new works of substantial excellence. The Editor acknowledges with pride and gratitude his obligation to his regular contributors—and among them are some whose names have shed lustre on the cause of American literature—for the steadfast support hitherto afforded him, and the confidence with which he is now enabled to assure the public that it will not soon be withdrawn. He takes pleasure in recalling the fact, that, since the establishment of the New Yorker, no other journal has afforded an equal extent and variety, of the productions of all eminent American writers of whatever section or class—a characteristic which he hopes it may still preserve; while his selections from the best foreign works have been exceeded—in quantity at least—by those of but three or four among the myriad of the cis Atlantic periodicals.

II. National Politics. It has been the aim of the Editor to present a full and fair exhibit of the aspects, movements and struggles of parties in our country, including the meeting of Conventions, nomination of candidates for State and National offices, and all other significant manifestations of political feeling, with the general results of elections, as fast as ascertained, and the official canvass in each instance, as soon as it shall have reached us. This course is believed to be in many respects original with this journal; and it is considered that we have just cause of felicitation in the fact, that, pursued as it has been through two years of unremitted political warfare, the fairness and general accuracy of our statements and returns have very rarely, if ever, been questioned. The Editor reserves to himself the right of remarking, as circumstances may seem to require and justice to dictate, on the less exciting political topics of the day, as on all others, with calmness, deference and moderation; but he will strive—he trusts not less successfully than hitherto—to exclude from the columns of the New-Yorker every observation, reflection, or even argument, which may wantonly do violence to the sincere convictions of any well-informed reader, of whatever principle or patry.

III. General Intelligence. In this department we can only promise the most unwearied industry and patience in the collection, condensation, and arrangement of the news, foreign and domestic, which may be gathered from the weekly reception of four hundred journals, including some choice European periodicals, and which may be afforded us by by the attention of our friends abroad.

Literary Notices, Statistics, brief notices of works of Art, Amusements, the Diama, &c. &c., will from time to time be given. As a general rule, however, it will be the aim of the Editor to embody such articles, whether original or selected, as shall at least combine instruction with amusement.

CONDITIONS.

The Quarto "NEW YORKER" will be published every Saturday afternoon on an extra imperial sheet of the finest quality, comprising sixteen pages of three columns each, and afforded to its patrons in the city and country, at THREE DOLLARS per annum, ☞payable inflexibly in advance.☜ Orders from a distance, accompanied by a remittance, will necessarily remain unanswered. Any person or persons sending us $5, positively free of postage or other charges, will receive two copies for one year, or a single copy for two years, and in the same proportion for a larger sum. The few who may take the folio edition for immediate perusal and the quarto for binding, will be entitled to receive both for $4 50, in advance. We will cheerfully preserve their files of the quarto for any such who may desire it.

The subscribers are extremely solicitous that there be no misconception on the part of their patrons in regard to the editions of their paper. The quarto is commenced in deference to the solicitations of a great number of their friends, who have expressed a strong desire that the New-Yorker should appear in a form more susceptible of preservation than the present. It is neither anticipated nor hoped that it will receive a patronage at all commensurate with that of the folio edition. They would frankly express their conviction, that, for those whose interest in a journal expires with the week in which it reaches them, the latter will be decidedly preferable, aside from the difference in price. Accordingly, when an order for 'The New-Yorker' simply, without specification, is sent them, the folio will invariably be sent.

26,000 Subscribers.
Philadelphia Mirror.

THE splendid patronage awarded to the Philadelphia Saturday Courier, induces the editors to commence the publication, under the above title, of a quarto edition of their popular journal, so long known as the largest Family Newspaper in the United States, with a list of near TWENTY SIX THOUSAND SUBSCRIBERS. The new feature recently introduced of furnishing their readers with new books of the best literature of the day having proved so eminently successful, the plan will be continued. Six volumes of the celebrated writings of Captain Marryatt and sixty-five of Mr. Brooks's valuable Letters from Europe, have already been published without interfering with its news and miscellaneous reading. The Courier is the largest and cheapest family newspaper ever issued in this country, containing articles in Literature, Science and Arts; Internal Improvement; Agriculture; in short every variety of topics usually introduced into a public journal. Giving full accounts of sales, markets, and news of the latest dates.

It is published at the low price of $2. For this small sum subscribers get valuable and entertaining matter, each week enough to fill a common book of 200 pages, and equal to 52 volumes a year, and which is estimated to be read, weekly, by at least two hundred thousand people, scattered in all parts of the country, from Maine to Florida, and from the sea board to the lakes. The paper has been now so long established as to render it too well known to require an extended prospectus; the publishers, therefore, will do no more than refer to the two leading daily political papers of opposite politics. The Pennsylvanian says—"The Saturday Courier is the largest and one of the best family newspapers in the Union;" the other, the Inquirer and Daily Courier, says, "it is the largest journal published in Philadelphia, and one of the very best in the United States." The New York Star says—"We know of nothing more liberal on the part of the editors, and no means more efficacious to draw out the dormant talents of our country, than their unexampled liberality in offering literary prizes."

The Albany Mercury of March 16th, 1836, says, "The Saturday Courier is decidedly the best Family Newspaper ever published in this or any other country, and its value is duly appreciated by the public, if we may judge from its vast circulation, which exceeds 25,000 per week! Its contents are agreeably varied, and each number contains more really valuable 'reading matter' than is published in a week in any daily paper in the Union. Its mammoth dimensions enable its enterprising proprietors, Messrs. Woodward & Clarke, of Philadelphia, to republish in its columns, in the course of a year, several of the most interesting new works that issue from the British press; which cannot fail to give to it a permanent interest, and render it worthy of preservation. To meet the wishes, therefore, of such of their subscribers as desire to have their numbers bound, they have determined on issuing an edition of the Courier in the quarto form, which will render it much more convenient for reading when it is bound in a volume, and thus greatly enhance its value."

THE QUARTO EDITION,

Under the title of the PHILADELPHIA MIRROR, will commence with the publication of the Prize Tale, to which was awarded the prize of $100, written by Miss Leslie, editor of the splendid Annual the Token, and author of Pencil Sketches and other valuable contributions to American Literature. A large number of songs, poems, tales, &c., offered in competition for the $500 premiums, will add value and interest to the succeeding numbers, which will also be enriched by a story from Miss Sedgewick, author of Hope Leslie, The Linwoods, &c., whose talents have been so justly and extensively appreciated, both at home and abroad.

This approved FAMILY NEWSPAPER is strictly neutral in religious and political matters, and the uncompromising opponent of quackery of every kind.

MAPS.

In addition to all which, the publishers intend furnishing their patrons with a series of engraved Maps, embracing the twenty five States of the Union, &c., exhibiting the situation, &c. of rivers, towns, mountains, lakes, the sea board, internal improvements, as displayed in canals, rail roads, &c., with other interesting and useful features, roads, distances, &c., forming a complete Atlas for general use and information, handsomely executed, and each distinct map on a large quarto sheet, at an expense which nothing but the splendid patronage which for six years past has been so generously extended to them, could warrant.

TERMS:

The Philadelphia Saturday Courier is still continued in its large form, at the same price as heretofore. The Philadelphia Mirror, being a quarto edition of the Saturday Courier, with its increased attractions, and printed on the best fine white paper of the same size as the New York Albion, will be put at precisely one half the price of that valuable journal, viz: Three Dollars per annum, payable in advance, (including the Maps.)
