ments, the unavoidable consequence of the Government derangement of the currency, has made the Banks unpopular, and has swelled the number of those who never were friendly either to the Banks or to the credit system. Foremost in the pack that opens against the Banks, denounces them in no measured strain and rings the changes of hard money currency, is the worthy President of the United States, and his friend and councellor, the Editor of the Globe, and in the course of their denunciations and proscriptions, the vast accumulation of State Banks is bitterly complained of—the stoppage of specie payment is deemed and pronounced a great fraud, and the honest payment of the debt due by our merchants in Europe is considered a subservience to a foreign power. By this attitude the administration hopes to draw off public attention from the sole cause, the source and origin of all the evils we now suffer—to draw off attention from themselves. The cry is up—the clamor loud—the suffering deep and severe, and the loudest in the cry is the administration itself—like the common practice of the thief, when pursued, who cries "Stop thief!" the loudest. Are we wrong?—Not in a solitary point.

The administration party, with the hope of catching a few straggling Loco Foco, votes, drained the Banks of silver, by compelling them to pay in specie their notes of one, two and three dollars, —which specie was advisedly withdrawn and hoarded by the enemies of the credit system. This was the commencement of the evil.

The same administration withdrew the people's money, amounting to more than twenty millions, and deposited the same in pet Banks, on the ground that State Banks were just as safe as a National Institution; the Pet Banks have stoped payment, and the Government itself is compelled to issue, without authority, Treasury Drafts, to meet current expenses.

Is not this true.

The Bank of the United States had so regulated the Exchanges of the country that a merchant could place his money in every dircction, or receive his money from any State, at a small premium; the administration destroyed the Bank, and a merchant who has money laying in the West, cannot now obtain it without incurring a loss of twenty per cent.

Is not this true?

To carry out the doctrines of the administration that State Banks were preferable to a National Bank, the States attached to the administration incorporated Banks with a capital of seventy two millions three hundred and sixty five thoussnd dollars, in addition to those already in existence; the administration advocated and legalized this immense addition to the paper issues of the country, and the great anti-Bank patriot now at the head of the Government encouraged States under his political control to augment their Bank capital, in order to transact all the business which the United States Bank usually had transacted.

Is not this true?

With the view of introducing a hard money currency but in reality to encourge private speculations in the public lands, the Specie Circular was irregularly issued, which made a second drain on the Banks, carried the specie West, where a great part was lost in Pets that could not pay, and when Congress almost unanimously ordered that Circular to be repealed, the Usurper cooly pocketed the law and ran off with it to Tennessee, and his successor being pledged to his patron not to repeal the Specie Circular, refused in the face of an express will of Congress, to repeal it.

Is not this true?

In consequence of the acts of the administration in calling in the notes of one, two and three dollars, in their withdrawal of the deposites—in their destruction of the United States Bank—in their substitution of an immense number of State Banks—in their Specie Circular—in their derangement of the currency—in the distruction of the Exchanges of the country—in their land speculations—in their temptation to merchants to overtrade, by additional facilities from State Banks, national and individual bankruptcy have ensued—commerce is nearly ruined— foreign and local credit seriously injured—the staple of the country reduced almost to nothing in value—mechanics are without employment, business is at a stand, anb all the Banks in the country have snspended specie payment, and yet with all these facts undoubted, undisputed, staring them in the face, this administration has the impudence to go up to the polls and say to the freemen of this country, Give us your votes, we are innocent of all this trouble—it is the Banks—it is the United States Bank—it is the panic manufactured by our enemies, the Whigs. Give us your votes, fellow citizens. We are, indeed, honest men, but greatly slandered.

After all said there is in this a touch of human nature.

The culprit arraigned for felony pleads not guilty, and throws himself upon God and his country for trial—He knows that the evidence against him is full and comblete, but like Mr. Van Buren in his present position, he relies upon the doctrine of chances, and hopes to be acquitted by the Jury—depends upon a flaw in the indictment—prays that they may not agree upon their verdict, and thus let him lose again to prey once more upon society.

LAWS OF MARYLAND.

Passed at December Session, 1801.

CHAPTER 54.

An act relating to the Public Roads in the several Counties therein mentioned.

WHEREAS the present mode of repairing the public roads in Saint Mary's, Calvert, Charles, Caroline and Dorchester counties, is found by experience to be expensive, and inadequate to the purpose intended, and it has been found necessary that proper regulations should forthwith be made for keeping the roads of the said counties in due repair; therefore,

II. Be it enacted, by the General Assembly of Maryland, That the Justices of the Levy Court for the counties aforesaid, or a majority of them, be and they are hereby authorised and required to meet together on the third Monday of April next, and on the same day in every year thereafter, at the respective Court Houses in the said counties, and when so met together, the said justices, or a majority of them, shall be, and they are hereby auihorised and required to describe, ascertain, and distinctly record in a well bound book, to be provided by them for that purpose, the several and respective roads and public highways in the counties aforesaid, and to nominate and appoint capable and judicious persons as overseers of the several and respective roads aforesaid, according to the number and divisions of the said roads, as the same shall be ascertained upon their records; provided nevertheless, that the said roads shall be so apportioned, divided and described, as not to require a greater number of overseers than five in any one hundred of the said counties, and that the said justices, or any one or more of them, may adjourn from day to day until the said roads shall be duly ascertained, and overseers appointed as aforesaid, and in case neither of the said justices should attend as aforesaid, it shall be the duty of the clerk of the County Court to make said adjournments.

III. And be it enacted, that the clerk of the said county shall attend the justices of the Levy Court at their said meetings, and shall make fair entries and records of their proceedings in virtue of this act, and shall, within the space of ten days after the appointment of overseers as aforesaid, issue warrants to the said overseers, under his hand and the seal of his office, notifying the said persons of their appointments respectively as overseers of the said roads, according to the usual forms, having respect to the alterations required by this act, and the said clerk shall, within the time aforesaid, deliver the said warrants to the Sheriff of the several counties aforesaid, and shall take the receipt of the Sheriff for the same; and the said Sheriff shall be and he is hereby authorised and required, within the space of fifteen days after receiving the said warpants, to deliver the same to the respective arersons appointed overseers as aforesaip and to take their several receipts for the same; and if any of the said overseers shall refuse to receive their respective warrants, the said sheriff shall leave the same at their place of abode, and certify the justices of the levy court thereof; and if the clerk or sheriff of any of the said counties shall neglect or refuse to execute and perform the respective duties herein before required, within the respective periods limited as aforesaid, the said clerks or sheriffs so neglecting or refusing shall forfeit and pay the sum of fifty dollars for each and every offence.

IV. And be it enacted, That each and every person so appointed overseer as aforesaid, who shall neglect or refuse to accept of his appointment, after receiving his warrant as aforesaid, shall forfeit and pay the sum of ten dollars for every refusal or neglect; provided nevertheless, that no person shall be liable to be appointed as overseer of any road more than one year in every three years, without his consent.

V. And be it enacted, that it shall be the duty of the said overseers to keep all public roads in the said counties well & sufficiently cleared and grubbed, fit for travelling, twenty feet wide at the least, except in such parts thereof where the levy court shall allow or direct the said road to be of a less width, and to make and keep good and substantial bridges over all the heads of rivers, creeks, branches and swamps, where the same shall be necessary, for the convenient and easy passage of travellers, with their waggons, carts, carriages, horses and cattle, and to remove all nuisances which may obstruct or annoy their passage, and well and sufficiently to causeway all and singular such places in and upon the said roads as shall require the same.

VI. And be it enacted, That if any of the said overseers shall not well and sufficiently clear, grub, amend and repair, the said several and respective roads committed to their charge, within a reasonable time after the same shall be out of repair, or shall not make and keep in repair good and substantial bridges over the heads of rivers, creeks, branches or swamps, where the same shall be necessary as aforesaid, or shall not not remove all nuisances from the said roads, or shall not well and sufficiently causeway all and singular such places in and upon the said roads as shall require the same, or shall permit or suffer any fallen trees, or other obstruction, to remain in or across any of the said public roads for the space of two days after notice thereof, or shall neglect to fell, or cause to be felled & removed, all decayed or dead trees on either side of the said public roads, whose limits, or any of them, hang over the same, and may by their falling injure travellers, or shall not lop and cut off all limbs or branches of trees hanging or projecting over the said roads, within fifteen feet above the surface thereof, or shall in any other manner fail or neglect to perform the duties of an overseer of the said roads, according to the directions of this act, every such overseer, so failing or neglecting, shal forfeit and pay the sum of five dollars for every offence, except in time of wheat harvest.

VII. And be it enacted, That it shall and may be lawful for the several and respective overseers of the said roads, and they are hereby authorised and empowered, as often as need shall require, to dig, take and remove, any stones, gravel, or earth of firm quality, which may be found on any land adjoining the roads for which the same may be necessary, and to employ the same in the repairing of the said roads; and for the making or repairing of bridges over the heads of rivers, creeks, branches, swamps, or other low and miry places, through and over which the said roads may pass, to cut down, or cause to be cut down, any tree or trees growing on any of the next adjacent lands to such places where bridges may be necessary as aforesaid, and the same trees to maul and carry away from off such lands, and to apply the same to the making or repairing of the said bridges; provided, that it shall be the duty of each and every overseer aforesaid to render a true account; (certified under their hands and seals respectively,) of all and singular such tree or trees by them cut down and taken for the purpose aforesaid, with a description of the size and quality of such tree or trees, together with their estimation of the value thereof, to the owner, tenant or overseer, of the lands from whence the same shall shall have been taken, and to return a duplicate of such account, on oath, to the next levy court of the county, in order that the justices of said court may be enabled to estimate the real value thereof, to be allowed or paid to such owner or owners in such manner as said justices shall appoint and direct.

VIII. And be it enacted, That the said overseers shall have power, and they are hereby authorised and required, to call upon all and singular the free able bodied male inhabitants of their respective limits, above the age of eighteen years and under the age of fifty years, and upon all and singular the able bodied male slaves residing therein, above the age of eighteen years and under the age of fifty years, to labour and assist in clearing, amending, improving and repairing, the several and respective roads aforesaid, and to require such and so many of the said persons as they shall from time to time deem necessary, to assemble at such place within their respective limits as the said overseers shall severally appoint, with sufficient implements of labor, and thereupon to proceed in the execution of such work and labor upon the said roads, for the improvement and repair thereof, as the respective overseers shall order and direct; and the said overseers shall also have power to hire and employ carts and teams for the carrying and removing all such stones, dirt, gravel and timber, as may be deemed requisite for repairing and completing the said roads and bridges, and the expence of such carts and teams shall be levied upon the county.

IX. And be it enacted, That within one month after the receipt of their respective warrants, the several overseers aforesaid, under the directions of the said justices, shall repair to the house of every tenant or proprietor residing within the limits attached to their respective roads, and shall take down a proper list of the names of all and singular the free able bodied male inhabitants residing therein, above the age of eighteen and under the age of fifty, and of all theable bodied male slaves above the age of eighteen years and under the age of fifty years; and the said overseers shall justly and impartially call for and require the labor of all and singular the persons aforesaid, alternately, aud in such convenient numbers and classes as to place the burthen of their service equally upon all; provided nevertheless, that the labor of the said persons shall not be called forth for the purpose of this act during the season of wheat harvest, nor in such manner as to take more than half the number of laborers belonging to one family, in which there are more than one laborer at the same time.

X. And be it enacted, That as often as the said overseers shall judge it necessary to call upon the said inhabitants for their labor in and upon the said roads, they shall summon, or cause to be summoned, the number and class which they shall have previously arranged, having had regard to the quantity and quality of work necessary to be done upon the said roads, giving each person, and the master, mistress or overseer of each servant or slave, so to be summoned, two days notice at the least of the time and place appointed for their labor, except in such extraordinary cases which may require a shorter notice, and every person so summoned shall be obliged to attend in person, or to provide a sufficient substitute; and if any person, being so summoned, shall neglect or refuse to attend, or to provide a sufficient substitute, he shall forfeit and pay the sum of seventy-five cents for every offence; and if any person shall attend, and not perform the reasonable labor required of him by the overseer of the road, according to his ability, he shall be adjudged a defaulter, and shall incur the same penalty as if he had neglected to attend; and in case the master, mistress or overseer, of any servant or slave, upon being notified as aforesaid, shall refuse or neglect to send such servant or slave, such master, mistress or overseer, shall forfeit and pay the sum of seventy-five cents for every servant or slave so refused to be sent.

XI. And be it enacted, That it shall be the duty of the said overseers to keep a true and proper list of all and every person or defaulter, who, being summoned as aforesaid, shall neglect or refuse to attend at the times and places appointed as aforesaid, or if attending, shall not perform his reasonable labour, and of every master, mistress or overseer of servants and slaves, who call upon each and every of the said persons, and demand the payment of all and singular the sums of money by them, or any of them, so forfeited, and on refusal or neglect to pay the same, the said overseers shall proceed to recover the same before a single magistrate, by due course of law; and the said overseers shall, every six months, render their accounts of all fines and forfeitures received by them in virtue of this act to the justices of the levy court, upon oath, or affirmation, and pay the amount thereof in such manner as the said justices shall order and appoint.

XIV. And be it enacted, That any of the justices of the peace of the said counties, who, upon his own view, or on the information, oath or affirmation, of one or more credible witnesses, shall discover or be satisfied that any bridge, road or causeway, is out of repair, from neglect of duty of the overseer within whose limits the same shall be, except in time of wheat harvest, shall issue his warrant, in the name of the state, against such overseer, and if judgment shall be rendered against him for the fine or forfeiture imposed by this act, the same shall be certified by the justice rendering the same to the clerk of the said county, who shall thereupon issue process of execution, directed to the sheriff, for the recovery thereof, and the same shall be accounted for and paid to the order of the levy court; provided nevertheless, that nothing herein contained shall prevent any of the said overseers offending against the provisions of this act from being presented by the grand jury for any neglect of duty not before punished by any of the justices of the peace as aforesaid; and provided also, that any overseer of the road against whom judgment shall be rendered by a justice of the peace as aforesaid, may appeal to the next county court, who may hear and determine the same in a summary way, and such appeal shall be a supersedeas to the issuing execution on the judgment of such justice, until the same shall be heard and determined by the county court.
