LAURA FAIR'S DEATH SENTENCE—A Moving Scene in a Court-Room.—The telegraph has already advised that the death-warrant of Laura Fair, murderess of A. P. Crittenden, Esq., in California, has been signed by the Governor, and is in the hands of the sheriff of San Francisco. The San Francisco papers of the 5th instant report the scene in the court-room on the occasion of passing the death sentence. At the conclusion of the argument by Mrs. Fair's counsel on motion in arrest of judgment and for a new trial, the court remarked to the district attorney that reply was unnecessary, and proceeded to dispose of the points made in support of the motion, and in conclusion said:

The case has been carefully tried. The prisoner has had every advantage, in my opinion, that the law could give. The case, that should have been tried inside of ten days, occupied a month before a verdict was rendered. It is true, I am convinced that the jurors acted honestly and conscientiously. It now only remains for me to pass the sentence, the saddest duty of my life.

Mr. Campbell—I renew, if your honor please, my motion for judgment upon the verdict.

Mr. Cook—I wish to have permission on Monday to file my grounds of exception, nunc pro tunc.

The Court—Laura D. Fair: You were indicted by the grand jury of the city and county of San Francisco of the crime of murder, for the unlawful killing of Alexander P. Crittenden. That indictment was sent to this court for trial. You were ably defended by counsel. That jury pronounced you guilty. Have you any legal cause to show why the judgment of the court should not be pronounced?

A silence as of death reigned in the court-room, broken only by the sobbing of the ladies who sat by Mrs. Fair within the bar. Mrs. Lane, her mother, wept bitterly. The prisoner, who had sat with her head buried in her mother's lap during the first portion of the court's remarks, had partially recovered her composure, and now sat upright, with her eyes closed, and her face pale and emotionless as a marble statute. She made no response, and did not even appear to be conscious of the question asked her.

After a painful pause of a few moments the judge, whose voice trembled with emotion, said: "Your silence indicating that you have nothing to offer, the judgment of the court is that on Friday, the 28th day of July next, you, by the sheriff appointed, be hung by the neck until you are dead, and may God have mercy on your soul!

The scene in the court-room from the commencement of the remarks by the judge was one of intense interest. The prisoner watched the countenance of the judge with the most intense eagerness, and when he remarked that he could see no ground for a new trial, she buried her face in her mother's lap and sobbed bitterly. Her little daughter was not with her. As the judge proceeded she struggled against emotion, and succeeded somewhat in overcoming it. The sound of the judge's trembling voice was only broken by the sobs of the women in the court-room.

A MELANCHOLY RAILROAD CATASTROPHE.—The Wheeling (West Va.) Intelligencer reports that the Cincinnati and Pittsburg express, going west over the Baltimore and Ohio railroad on Tuesday morning, about a mile east of Glover's Gap, ran over and instantly killed a young man of perhaps eighteen, and a child of five or six years of age, which he was trying to rescue from danger. The young man was mending a fence not far from the track, and the child, whose brother he was, appears to have left the house with the intention of crossing the road and going to him. The child, when seen by the engineer, was walking along beside the road at a safe distance. When the brother saw the train coming he ran down towards the road, apprehending that the child might attempt to cross before the train.

As the train approached, the child, seeing its brother coming on the opposite side of the road, turned, with a strange fatality, and started to run across the track directly in front of the engine to meet him. The brother sprang upon the track to snatch it away, and in an instant the locomotive was upon them and they were crushed beneath its ponderous wheels. The train was stopped as soon as possible, and all went back to see the sad spectacle. The child's body was dreadfully mangled, and the upper portion of the young man's head had been crushed completely away. The father and mother had come out to the roadside and were bending over their dead children, and uttering heart-piercing lamentations. It was a scene to melt hearts of stone, and many were moved to tears.

GOOD NEWS FROM MARYLAND is the title under which the Boston Journal notes the fact that this State has lately provided for paying off its debt to the amount of $1,200,000 by the sale and exchange of assets in the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, in addition to $1,100,000 liquidated in the past three years. The Journal says:

"The fine old State of Maryland is hard at work in the right way, and has more than determined to wheel back into line financially as well as in other regards. Without talking much about it, it has instituted effective measures to secure the re-establishment of its old time credit, by the payment of its State indebtedness.—With this end in view the Treasury officers of the State "have given public notice to the holders of the Maryland bonds due in 1870 that interest will cease thereon after the first of July next, and that said bonds, with accrued interest, will be paid on presentation." This exhibit is certainly a very creditable one to the citizens and officers of the State of Maryland. When so many people, not to say communities, are puzzling their brains to see how they can get out of just debts, it is a refreshing thing to see a State come squarely out and exert its best abilities in the effort to honestly wipe away all its obligations. There is another State that could be mentioned, a good many hundred miles west of Maryland, that might profitably learn a lesson from her Southern sister in this regard, if in no other."

"GREELEY AND ONE TERM."—The N. Y. Sun discourses on this subject, approposes of Mr. Greeley's late letter indicating his willingness to be a candidate for the Presidency, and declaring for the one term principle. It says, "all the anti-Grant Republicans would go for him, and all the negroes, all the protectionists, all the scientific farmers, all believers in simple diet, plain clothes and universal salvation."

THE Radicals have lost every department of the State government of New Hampshire. The Democrats have the Governor, a majority of the Governor's Council, and the control of both the Senate and House of Representatives. This will do in a State, which for thirteen years remained under Radical rule.

New York of the Present Day.

A correspondent of the St. Louis Democrat, writing from New York, says:

Here are the same crowded thoroughfares, and the same appearance of commercial greatness as of old, but there is besides ample indication of universal luxury and extravagance. Prancing horses, liveried footmen, dashing equipages crowd the avenues and parks. Stately piles of marble line Broadway for miles. Palatial residences, furnished and embellished in the most superb and costly style, fill long, splendid avenues. Gay crowds of youth and fashion throng the streets. No ordinary business can sustain the fabulous rents of Broadway, the revenue of a prince is needed to supply the extravagant wants of a New York family with any fashionable pretentions.

Scores of cooks in New York receive larger salaries than the Governor of Missouri. Men roll down Broadway in costly carriages, with liveried drivers; old men and young, not a few, but many.—Ten years ago everybody walked down town, now it seems that fashion has invaded the counting-room and office. So extended is this spirit of extravagant display that it is not confined to the wealthy alone; the habits and style of one class are imitated by the next, and men who frequent fashionable circles, with moderate incomes, are called upon to exercise a surprising ingenuity. Fashionable coupes, with drivers in livery, surround the Brevoort House and other exclusive localities, and the young and old snobs, at a cost of $10 per week, ride down Broadway to their offices, and back again at night in equal grandeur with the nabobs of the metropolis. Dress suits and superb jewelry are hired for balls and parties by the night. Dinner dishes, attendants and guests are supplied by contract. Young men and snobs of mature years, who move about in faultless attire, and preserve the exterior of fashionable requirement, at night enter the doors of fashionable boarding houses, climb to the attic and repose on straw beds in seriously constructed pens.

The contrast between New York of today and New York ten years ago, in every description of extravagance and luxury, is marvellous; and sensible men with moderate incomes fly in dismay from the modern Babylon to the simplicity and security of the surrounding country.

But the poverty and crime of New York are the same. Five Points and other localities, which the congregated poverty, vice and crime had made notorious, have given way before the march of improvement and broad streets and business houses have supplanted vile, dark alleys, and the rickety gloom at these points. But their late occupants have only changed their quarters, and block after block, for miles and miles in narrow, stifling, filthy streets, stand the tall and unsightly tenement houses, or the smaller and still more squalid hovels of the poor. Among these lurk the murderers and thieves; here dark deeds are meditated, here vice and crime has its school; here is the vilest and most abandoned population on the continent. Men and women so hideous in form and feature that they hardly seem to bear the image of humanity. It is an element as vile and as dangerous as that which has just reduced Paris to ashes. And over this smouldering volcano the great city sleeps.

THE EDITORIAL EXCURSION lately made by the representatives of a number of northern papers is bearing fruits. With one exception, so far as heard from, these gentlemen bear testimony to the true temper in which Southern men accept the duties of the present and the future, and in so far as their influence extends, they thus qualify the bitterness of sectional feeling among their readers. In another aspect the influence of their trip may be estimated by the following sample of editorial remark selected from the Geneva (New York) Gazette:

"Lands (in Virginia) are offered very cheap—for from three to fifty dollars per acre, according to improvements—lands that will produce all crops and fruits peculiar to the North, and others that can flourish only in this milder latitude.—Still, to be frank with our readers, we advise them—be they farmers, tradesmen, professional men, mechanics or laborers—that if they are well circumstanced at home, engaged in business that affords them sure remuneration and reasonable profit from year to year, are blessed with good health and surrounded by peaceful, kind and genial neighbors, to remain where they are, to migrate neither to the South nor West; but if determined upon a change, we believe the South offers greater attractions than the West in cheap farms, a healthy climate, and intelligent, refined society among the white race."

MIXED SCHOOLS IN WASHINGTON.—In the House of Delegates of the Territorial Legislature a bill has been introduced providing for the reorganization of the public schools, which looks to a board of education, to be appointed by the Governor, in whose hands all matters pertaining to the public schools shall be placed, and provides that no distinction on account of race, or color or previous condition of servitude, shall be made in the admission of pupils to the schools. It also requires the instruction of every child between the ages of six and fourteen years in the elements of an English education for at least twelve weeks in each year, six of which shall be consecutive under a penalty of $20.

HIGH.—The New York World entertains its readers with a cock and bull story of the probable marriage of a son of General Grant to the youngest daughter of Queen Victoria. We shall next hear that the venerable Jesse Grant, father of the President, is about to form an alliance with the Queen herself.

DR. PAUL SCHOPPE, imprisoned at Carlisle for the murder of Miss Stinnecke, writes to Governor Geary petitioning for a personal audience, and he considerately suggests: "As my condition forbids me to appear before you at your residence, I take the liberty to respectfully ask you to do me the great favor to come and see me."

A Chapter of Facts.

Space is valuable in a newspaper, and it is therefore proposed in this advertisement to condense a variety of facts, important to the public, into a small compass. Those facts refer to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters—what that celebrated medicine is, and what it will do. In the first place, then, the article is a stimulant, tonic and alterative, consisting of a combination of an absolutely pure spiritious agent with the most valuable medicinal vegetable substances that Botanic research has placed at the disposal of the chemist and the physician. These ingredients are compounded with great care, and in such proportions as to produce a preparation which invigorates without exciting the general system, and tones, regulates and controls the stomach, the bowels, the liver, and minor secretive organs.

What this great restorative will do must be gathered from what it has done. The case of dyspepsia, or any other form of indigestion in which it has been persistently administered without effecting a radical cure, is yet to be heard from, and the same may be said of bilious disorders, intermittent fever, sick headache, mental disabilities to which the feeble are so subject. It purifies all the fluids of the body, including the blood, and the gentle stimulus which it imparts to the nervous system is not succeeded by the slightest reaction. This is a chapter of facts which readers, for their own sakes, should mark and remember.

BALTIMORE ITEMS.—The new hotel on Light street, on the site of the old Fountain Hotel, is under roof. The walls of the front building, on Baltimore street, are going up. The hotel is expected to be completed by November next.

The Maltby House, on Pratt street, is about to be improved by a new front, elevator and other modern conveniences, to render the hotel first-class in all respects. Mr. Maltby is determined that his house shall be second to no hotel in the city in everything that can contribute to the comfort of his guests. The hotel was never more popular than it has been since Mr. Charles R. Hogan has had the management of it.

The summer season at Holly Grove commenced on Monday with an excursion on the splendid steamer Samuel J. Pentz. The season will last three months, and every day (Sundays excepted) one of the Maryland Steamboat Company's fine boats will leave Light street wharf every hour for the Grove. Holly Grove is about three quarters of an hour's run from the city, and is certainly a most charming spot, embracing about 160 acres of lovely shade. The ground is covered with verdure. The Company have spent over sixty thousand dollars in building wharfs, small boats, bath houses, dancing saloons, dining saloons, restaurants, ice cream and soda rooms, velocipedes, roads, railroads, and other places of amusement. A band is in constant attendance. It is claimed that there is no such beautiful place of public resort near any city in the United States. During the excursion season not a drop of intoxicating liquor is allowed on the ground.—No notorious characters can obtain admittance. The best of order is preserved. As evidence of the popularity of the place, last season it was sometimes visited by over five thousand persons daily. It is believed that the business this season will far exceed that of last year, owing to the improved accommodations.

AN interview was recently held in Washington between General Grant and Governor Scott, of South Carolina, in relation to the Ku-Klux bill, and the means of its enforcement. The Governor said there had been no disturbance of the public peace in South Carolina, and mildly insinuated that the blood and thunder proclamation was as unnecessary as it was ineffective. Grant claimed that his action was necessary, because the Radical State Central Committee in that State had adopted resolutions favorable to his renomination to the Presidency.—The meeting was of a doubtful character, and Governor Scott went home with the opinion that the Radical party could have a better candidate for the Presidency in 1872 than General Grant.

THE STATE CONVENTION.—The Frederick Citizen says, it is understood that the democratic delegates recently elected in Washington county to the State Convention, are favorable to Hon. William Pinkney Whyte for Governor.

It contains about 60 Acres of LAND.

The soil is good and particularly well adapted to Peaches, Small Fruits and Truck.

The situation is most eligible for Fruit and Garden culture. It is not over half a mile from the near Rock Hall on the Bay, and not far from Deep Landing, the western terminus of the Kent county Railroad, now under construction. In other respects the situation is desirable, being convenient to Churches, Schools, &c., and also, our best Ducking points, fishing grounds and Oyster beds on Chester River and the bay.

THE IMPROVEMENTS
ARE A
Frame Dwelling
And the usual OUT-BUILDINGS, all in good order, and a PEACH ORCHARD
of good market varieties.
Also, a fine collection of Small Fruits.

This place offers rare inducements to purchase to any one who may desire to engage in canning fruit and oysters, and horticulture.

TERMS OF SALE:

The terms of sale prescribed by the Decree are as follows: Fifteen hundred dollars cash on the day of sale or on its final ratification, at the option of the Trustee; the residue or balance in equal instalments of six, twelve and twenty-four months from the day of sale; payment to be secured by bond of the purchaser with approved security, bearing interest from the day of sale.

R. HYNSON, Trustee.

By the direction of the Decree of the Circuit Court for Kent county, in Chancery, for the sale of the real estate of Thomas D. Burgess, late of Kent county, deceased, the Trustee to sell said property hereby notifies the Creditors of the said Thomas D. Burgess, deceased to file their claims, with the vouchers thereof, with the Clerk of said Court within four months from the day of the sale of said property.

250 SETS. 250 SETS.
Cultivator Teeth! Cultivator Teeth!

WE offer to the Farmers of Kent and the adjoining counties our well-known

Cultivator Teeth,

which have been used for some years with entire satisfaction. They have stood the test, and are considered far superior to the old three-cornered teeth. The old teeth always wear round and blunt, and have no point, while our tooth wears to a point. Their regular crook from the frame to the point makes them draw to the ground and run deep, while they run close to the plant without covering it up.

They are Made of the Best Steel, and can be bought as cheap here as elsewhere, having reduced the price on them as on the rest of our work.

OUR CULTIVATORS

are of greater length, which makes them run steadier than other Cultivators.

TO FARMERS.
"EXCELSIOR."

Containing Ammonia	6 per cent.
Super-Phosphate equivalent to Bone Phosphate of Lime	57 "
Poatsh and Soda	5 "

We again call the attention of the Farmers of Maryland and Virginia to our EXCELSIOR, composed of 700 pounds No. 1 Peruvian Guano, and 1300 pounds of Soluble Phosphate of lime (bones dissolved in sulphuric acid,) potash and soda, forming the most concentrated, universal and durable fertilizer ever offered to the farmer—combining all the stimulating properties of Peruvian Guano, and the ever durable fertilizing properties of Ground Bones.

Excelsior is in fine dry powder, prepared expressly for drilling, and can be applied in any quantity per acre, however small; and it is the opinion of many close calculating Farmers, after Twelve years experience in testing it side by side with other popular fertilizers that an application of 100 pounds of Excelsior is equal to 200 to 300 pounds of any other fertilizer or guano offered for sale, therefore is fully 100 to 200 per cent. cheaper.

☞ The very best evidence we can offer of the value of our Excelsior as a crop grower and fertilizer, is the fact of its being imitated and counterfeited in this and other cities.

☞ Farmers should see that the 'Analysis' and name of J. J. TURNER & CO., are branded on every bag in RED LETTERS. All others are counterfeits.

Ammoniated Bone Super-Phosphate.

ANALYSIS:

Ammonia	2.83
Soluble Phosphate of Lime	29.51
Bone Phosphate of Lime	10.67

For Corn, Oats and Spring Crops generally it has no superior. Composed of the most concentrated materials, it is richer in Ammonia and Soluble Phosphates than any other fertilizer sold, except our "Excelsior," and made with the same care and supervision—uniform quality guaranteed. Fine and dry, in excellent order for drilling. Packed in bags and barrels. PRICE $50 PER TON.
