Ho! Democrats--One Reason Why.

Messrs. Editors Kent News:—There are some Democrats who cannot find a single reason upon which they can possibly hang their votes for Horace Greeley. I am a Democrat, and have considered the matter somewhat, and have finally concluded that I see a most excellent reason why I not only can, but why I ought, in duty bound, vote for him. If the men of this country (like those of England at one time) were ever expected to do their duty, now is the time. I am naturally timid to appear in print, but having "taken it into my head" that my duty, just now, lies in that mode of performance, I unhesitatingly request you to "set up" this "piece." As I said above I have considered the question, "Can a Democrat vote for Greeley?" I have viewed it from two points, politically and otherwise, and upon the otherwise view I decided to vote for Greeley and Brown, should my days be lengthened to November next. It seems to me it would be hard, upon pure politics, to ask a democrat to vote for Greeley. The very "head and front" of the abolition party, he has devoted his best years and best energies to its cause, the bitter and unrelenting foe of democracy. He has dealt us hard, uncompromising blows. In language, anything but chaste, he has expressed himself; and in the overthrow of our party no cap was higher tossed, or voice rose higher in exultation than that of Horace Greeley. His bitter, burning pen, steeped in the ink of very hatred, wrote upon the Southern heart ineffacible words—time cannot erase them, memory cannot forget them. On politics, I say, a democrat can scarcely be expected to vote for Greeley. As well ask one to kiss the hand that smites, or grasp it with unfeigned affection. But happily we can rise higher to meet this great argument, and upon pure and patriotic motives decide our action; and we can do it consistently. It will hardly be gainsayed that the National Democratic Convention, which met at Baltimore in July last, was composed of representative men. If so, its decision should have weight—it should be respected. What does this indicate? For my purposes of reasoning it showed me that the people of the South desired Mr. Greeley for their candidate, their representatives being selected with a view to their support of the Cincinnati nominees. Upon what grounds do they wish for such a candidate? Political? Surely not; but rather from that impulse or nature which prompts the drowning man to grasp the arm stretched out to rescue him, even though it be his enemy's. In accepting the nomination of the Cincinnati convention Mr. G. accepted also its platform, and did so in a masterly letter, in which he unequivocally pledged himself; and to-day he stands, by every tie which honor binds, pledged to carry out its views. It is unfair, indeed, in us to deny him the possession of common honesty and honor—his bitterest enemy grants him this.

In that platform there are two planks upon which I think some democrats can squarely stand. Section 3 demands the immediate and absolute removal of disabilities imposed on account of the rebellion. Section 4 upholds local self-government; condemns centralization of power; proclaims the supremacy of the civil to the military powers; asserts the power and inviolability of that great writ of right—the Habeas Corpus; and for the States self-government—for the nation, peace. And further in his letter accepting the nomination of the Baltimore convention, he gives us weighty reasons why many democrats should strive with vote and voice to place him in the presidential chair. In it he reproves that species of legerdemain which deprived Vance of his seat in the Senate, and gave it to another, because New England so willed. In a word, Mr. Greeley promises to restore peace to the country, and the South to her rightful position in the government. To protect and defend her from the rule and ruin of men not of her own choosing—strangers even to her soil and people. He has pledged to lift from her prostrate form the mailed hand of tyranny. He has pledged to drive from her borders that cursed horde of leaches (carpet-baggers) which the terrible throes of the revolution cast there, and who are unwilling now, even though full to repletion, to "let up" on their poor victims. He has promised to dispel the dark cloud, which, since the terrible day of Appomattox, has settled heavily upon her. To her (our fair South) he proclaims "peace within thy land and prosperity within thy borders." For the South's sake, then, I say, let us vote for Greeley and Brown. It is useless to deny, nor should we wish to, that our beloved State deeply and honestly sympathized with the South in her heroic struggle. Let us prove now in her hour of almost sorer need that she still has our love and sympathy. As we then prayed that her day of calamity might never come, so let us now act that a day fraught with terrible consequences to her—the day of Grant's re-election—may never dawn. Democrats, friends of the South, we do not ask you to repudiate your politics. Tariff, finance, constitutional amendments, and such like as platforms are made of—these all are as elder-down when weighed against the rights and liberties of a mighty people—the peace and prosperity of a great land.—The sufferings of Ireland and Poland are as nothing to the great wrongs and sufferings which the South this day undergoes. Think again, ye who cannot vote for Greeley and Brown. Let every well wisher of the whole country declare for Greeley and Brown, and the joy-cry of an unenslaved and thankful people will be your full reward. The South wants Horace Greeley. Should her friends withstand her wishes? R.

THE RISING TIDE.—The most casual observer of passing events cannot fail to see that a heavy tide of popular indignation has set in against the administration of General Grant. The great uprising is not confined to the Democratic party, either, but honest men of all shades of political belief are aroused, and with one consent have determined to save the republic. The people will no longer tolerate corruption. They desire an economical administration of the government instead of an extravagant and wasteful expenditure of the public funds. They are tired of paying high taxes to support an army of useless office-holders, whose only claim to government support is that they are relatives of the President. They will no longer submit to the will of a President being substituted for the will of the people. They have determined that the people of the South, being equal citizens of a common country, shall be allowed to enjoy equal rights, and that the odious Ku-Klux laws, the object of which was to place power in the hands of the President for electioneering purposes, shall be abolished. They want men of integrity and patriotism to administer the laws, and they will have them. No power can stay the mighty tide which is rising higher and higher each succeeding day, and sweeping away, or overwhelming all opposition.

PLYMOUTH CHURCH, Brooklyn, celebrates its "silver wedding" to Rev. H. W. Beecher, October 8th to 11th next, and wants the old members, from the ends of the earth, to send their names and address to the "Clerk of the Church," so that all may have invitations.

A VETERAN OF 1812.—The Easton (Md.) Star has the following interesting narrative of a veteran now residing in that town. It says:

"We notice that our old friend, Capt. Robert Smith, has returned to Easton, having sold his farm in Caroline county, and rented the Mackey property, corner of the Bayside road. Mr. Smith is a most remarkable man. He was born in Smyrna, Delaware, in 1777, the year after the Declaration of Independence, and is consequently in the 96th year of his age. He is in good health and capable of attending to business as usual. He is a watchmaker by trade, and carried on business in Philadelphia in 1804, when there were but three watch-shops in that city. He was a member of the military company in Philadelphia called the Washington Blues, and volunteered for active service as soon as the war of 1812 was declared. He was in the engagement in the command of General Cadwalader, and was wounded in the hip at the time the British attempted to blow up the arsenal in New Jersey. He was on a visit to Kent county, Maryland, at the time of the battle of Cork's Field, volunteered for the fight, and fought by the side of the late Judge E. F. Chambers, who commanded a troop. He has never had a spell of sickness in his life, and never took a dose of medicine, except his own make, during his life. He has been married three times, and is the father of twenty-two children—all by his first wife. He has now living forty-four children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren. He was first married in 1808, and has not been without a wife but nine months since. He was in the war of 1812 nine months, but has never applied for or received a pension, bounty money or land warrant—although he was entitled to all, and should have received them. He looks good for several years longer. He voted for President Jefferson and all the democratic presidential candidates since, down to Horatio Seymour, and expects to vote for Greeley. He has spent the most of his long life in Kent county, Maryland, but came to Easton to reside in 1864, sold his house and went to Caroline in December, 1870, but has now returned and expects to spend the balance of his days in Easton. Mr. Smith is only one of many to show that people will live as long on the Eastern Shore as anywhere else. He is an excellent silversmith, and reads and repairs watches without the aid of spectacles."

FALL OF AN AEROLITE—A Solid Metallic Globe Plunges Thirteen Feet into the Earth.—A year ago this summer Mr. John J. Murdock, who lives near Laclede Station, mentioned casually to Mr. Frank J. Bowman that he had discovered a peculiar hole in the ground in a meadow near his house, and said that for the life of him he couldn't imagine what made it. It was twelve or fifteen inches in diameter and seven or eight feet in depth. Mr. Bowman suggested an aerolite, but that was laughed at. To mark the place a fence rail was thrust in it, and it enclosed eight feet of rail before the bottom was reached. This summer the matter was again discussed, and various speculations were indulged in to account for the peculiar opening. After the hay had been cut Mr. Murdock consented that the workmen should examine it. They immediately set to work, and, after digging down not eight feet but thirteen, came upon a spheroid globe of metal, which was evidently an aerolite. It presents the strange appearance of a miniature globe fashioned after the pattern of the earth, being flattened at the poles and encrusted in such a manner as to indicate that it was in flames as it passed through the air. The flattened poles are perfectly smooth, and bear no marks of heat. It is about the size of a large 12 pound cannon ball, fully fifty per cent. heavier, and is a solid metal, the nature of which has not yet been ascertained. It was brought to the city yesterday, and excited considerable curiosity. It is intended, we believe, to present it to the Mercantile Library.

The velocity with which it fell may be judged from the fact of its deep penetration into the earth—thirteen feet. The farthest that a cannon ball has been forced into an embankment is six feet, and this is a feat only accomplished at recent experiments by the British navy.—St. Louis Democrat, August 2.

A Perilous Season.

Glorious and delightful as the Summer weather is, its tropical heat is a severe trial to the vital powers. Even the strongest are sometimes prostrated by its effects. The common phrase applied to this condition of the body is "general debility." Now, general debility arises from, and includes a variety of ailments. The liver is more or less affected, the bowels are either constipated or too much relaxed, the stomach but half performs the work of digestion, the appetite is poor and the spirits depressed. This is what is called general debility. It is a general disarrangement of all the physical functions, and requires as a remedy a medicine that will regulate them all. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is specially adapted to this purpose. Its general operation is not confined to a single organ. If the liver is affected, it restores its tone. If the stomach is torpid, it regenerates it. If the nerves are tremulous and weak, it braces and reinforces them. If the mind, which ever sympathizes with the body, is gloomy and despondent, it relieves the difficulty, and soon brings the whole mechanism of the body into harmony with the laws of health.

There is no civilized nation off the Western Hemisphere in which the utility of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as a tonic, corrective, and antibilious medicine, is not known and appreciated. Throughout the Tropics it is considered, both by the people and the profession, the standard specific. While it is a medicine for all seasons and all climates, it is especially suited to the complaints generated by the weather, being the purest and best vegetable stimulant in the world.

Beware of the Bitters made of acrid and dangerous materials, which unscrupulous parties are endeavoring to foist upon the people. Their name is legion, and the public has no guarantee that they are not poisonous. Adhere to the tried remedy, Hostetter's Bitters, sold only in glass, and never in kegs or barrels.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION.

JAMES E. WATKINS AND WIFE
vs.
WM. T. MANN AND OTHERS.

On the Equity Side of the Circuit Court for Kent County, June 28, 1872.

THE object of this bill to procure a decree for the sale of certain real estate in Kent County, Maryland, of which Joseph Mann, late of Kent county, died seized and possessed.

The bill states that the said Joseph Mann in his life-time was seized of certain real estate in Kent county, consisting of a house and lot in the town of Millington, and also of a tract or parcel of land at Mann's Corner, in said county, containing about one hundred acres, and being so seized thereof, died in the year eighteen hundred and seventy, leaving a will in proper form and duly executed, devising all of his property to his heirs at law. That James E. Watkins and Mary S. Watkins his wife, William T. Mann, William T. Elbern, Georgeanna Elbern, William Palmer, Margaret Palmer, Samuel Mann and Rebecca Mann constitute the heirs at law of the said Joseph Mann.

The bill further states that it will be to the advantage of all the parties interested to sell said lands and distribute the proceeds among the heirs as entitled by law; and that the said William Palmer, Margaret Palmer, Samuel Mann and Rebecca Mann do not reside in the State of Maryland.

IT IS THEREUPON ADJUDGED AND ORDERED, that the complainants, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Kent county once a week for one month prior to the eleventh day of September next, give notice to the said absent defendants of the object and substance of this bill, and warn them to appear in this Court in person or by solicitor on or before the twenty-ninth day of October next to answer the premises, and shew cause, if any they have, why a decree ought not to pass as prayed.

A LECTURE TO YOUNG MEN.
Just Published in a sealed envelope—price 6 cts.
A LECTURE
on the nature, treatment & radical cure of Spermatorhœa, or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Seminal Losses, Impotency, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc.; also, Consumption, Epilepsy and Fits, induced by Self-Abuse, &c.—By ROBERT J. CULVERWELL, M.D., author of the 'Green Book,' &c.
The world-renowned author, in this admirable essay, clearly proves from his own experience, that the sad and alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.
THIS LECTURE WILL PROVE A BOON TO THOUSANDS AND THOUSANDS.
Sent, under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, postpaid on receipt of six cents, or two post stamps.
Also, Dr. Culverwell's "Marriage Guide," price 25 cents. Address the Publishers,
