KISSING NO ROBBERY.

"Oh, quit it—get out—now don't you—
I really wish you wouldn't,
Oh, quit it—will you? Oh, get out—
You know you ought to shouldn't.

There, now you've got it—oh, be still—
You shan't have any more;
You've got—oh! take your face away—
What no man's got before."

"One more—there—that will do." "Oh, don't;
You've rumpled up my hair;
If you'll but quit, I'll give you one—
Now take it—there—there—there!"

YANKEE SHOEMAKER.

"You hain't no occasion for a jour nor nothin' I 'spose;'" said a jolly son of St. Crispin from the land of wodden nutmegs as he entered a shoe establishment, with his kit nicely done up in his apron.

"Wonder if I haint," was the reply of the boss; "why, I should like a dozen if I could get 'em—but what kind of a shoe can you make??"

"As to the matter of that," said the shoemaker, "I reckon as how I can make a decent sort of a craft."

"Spread your kit then," said the boss, I'll give you a pair to try, and if your work suits me, I can give you a steady seat of work."

Crispin was soon hammering and whistling away, as happy as a calm at high water, and the boss was called away on some business, which detained him two or three hours meanwhile the tampering jour had produced a thing which bore some faint resemblance to a shoe, and feeling somewhat ashamed of it, hid it in a pile of leather chips that lay on the floor, and proceeded to make another which he barely had time to finish, when his employer entered and began to examine it.

"Look here, mister," said he, "I guess you didn't make the mate of this; it's the greatest botch that was ever made in my shop, that's a fact."

"P'raps you'd like to bet a trifle on that," said the shoemaker.

"Bet," responds the boss, "I'll bet a ten dollar bill against a handful of tobacco, that there never was a shoe made half so bad as this."

"Done," said Crispin at the same time casting a sly wink at his comrades; "but stop, let me see if I have that much of the weed about me Oh, yes, here's a whole handful of cavendish," and laying it on the board, he suggested the propriety of having suet skin laid along side of it, which was no sooner done than he proceeded to draw from its hiding place the other shoe.

"Here boss," said he, "you must decide the bet; say which of the two shoes is the worst."

"Well I'm fairly sucked in this time," replied the boss, pushing the cavendish and shinplaster towards its rightful owner, and throwing a ninepence to the youngest apprentice. The boy needed no further instruction as to his duty, and was off in the twinkling of a bed post, and soon returned with a quart of black stap, with which they regaled themselves.

After all had drank, and Crispin had pocketed the money, he returned to the boss and said, "boss, I'll bet ten dollars that I can make a better shoe than any jour in the shop. P'raps you'd like the ten dollars back—will you take the bet?"

"To be sure I will," the boss replied, producing another X, and laying it on the lap-stone, the Yankee, puttin his with it.—Crispin was again soon at work, and made a shoe which the boss was forced to acknowledge could'nt be beat. The boss, however, consoled himself with the idea that he had got a first rate workman, if he was a wag, and told him to go on and make a mate to the shoe, when the shrewd Yankee, being well satisfied with his day's work, significantly replied, "Let some of your jours make a mate to it, IF THEY CAN!" and putting his sticks together, and bidding the boss a hearty good bye, again started on a tramp.

A DEAD SHOT.—A physician, who resides in the southern part of a city; upon visiting a patient who resided at the extreme north, was asked by the sick man, "if he did not find it inconvenient to come such a distance!"

"Not at all, sir," replied the son of Esculapius, "for having another patient in the next street, I can kill two birds with one stone."

"Can you, sir?" replied the invalid; "then you are too good a shot for me"—and immediately dismissed him.

KING JAMES AND WILLIAM PENN.—It is a singular historical fact, that a confidential intimacy subsisted between King James II, and William Penn, the Quaker, the founder of Pennsylvania. James once condescended to use a playful reproof to the peculiarity of the Quaker, who, the first time he entered his presence after he became king, did so with his hat on. James immediately took off his own.

"Friend James," said Penn, "why dost thee uncover thy head?"

"Because," replied his majesty, with a smile, "it is the fashion here for only one man to wear his hat."

"SUGAR COATED" PILLS,

BEWARE! CAUTION!!

The increasing popularity of Dr. G. Benj. Smith's improved Indian Vegetable Sugar Coated Pills, has induced a number of persons to make something they call pills, and coat them with sugar, in order to sell them for the genuine, while they do not possess a particle of the goodness, nor even assimilate in appearance the original, Dr. Smith's Pills. In short, they are an intended fraud upon the community. A minister who at first had an interest in an imitation Sugar Coated Pill, manufactured at Albany, N. Y. has given them up, as he says, on account of the miserable dishonest parties concerned in manufacturing them. The same party are now industriously circulating reports calculated to injure Dr. Smith and to affect the reputation of his valuable pills; but rather than notice them in public, Dr. Smith is about to institute legal proceedings against them for their slanders, as he has in another case against a similar party, in which he recovered a large amount of damages. These miserable imitators have to resort to the most abominable means to palm off their counterfeit pills as the public know that Dr. Smith's are the original and genuine. Several instances have come to public notice in which life has been endangered by the unfortunate use of the counterfeits.

REMARKABLE CURE OF COLD,

New York, March 2, 1846.

I very imprudently went out last week with a pair of shoes on, having sent my boots to the boot-maker for repair, and I took a very severe cold, which settled in my limbs, stiffened my neck, and rendered me wholly incapable of attending to business. On the following night I took six of Dr. Smith's Indian Vegetable Sugar Coated Pills, which entirely relieved me, and the next day I felt as well as usual.

I know they are the best medicine that can be used for colds.

COMPLICATED DISEASE CURED.

[From the Rev John Kellett.]

Brooklyn, 127 Myrtle St. Oct 1, 1846.

Dr. Smith—Sir, It is with great satisfaction I acknowledge the benefit my wife has received from the use of a few boxes of your pills which she used at the recommendation of a friend. Having fallen into bad health early in winter, she used them with perfect safety, even in that cold season. Shhas at times, used Morrison's Moffat's and others, but states she has received more benefit from them than all the others. She believes they may be used with perfect safety by females, without changing either their employment or diet, and that at any season of the year.

Yours respectfully, JOHN KELLETT,
Wesleyan Methodist Minister.

AGUE & FEVER CURED.

Mr G B Remson, (Grocer, Middle Village, L I) says he sold Dr Smith's Indian Vegetable Sugar Coated Pills to two persons there for the fever and ague, and a permanent cure was, in both cases, speedily effected. For headache, colds, fevers, dyspepsia low spirits, &c. there is not their equal to be found in the whole range of pharmacy Be careful of imitations, base counterfeits, and mind that the written signature of G Benj Smith is on the bottom of each box otherwise spurious pills will be palmed on you

DYSPEPSIA CURED

Portsmouth, N H Feb 28, 1846

Dear Dr Smith—I have been afflicted for the last five years with dyspepsia, unable most of the time to attend to my business. I have tried every thing that was recommended, but without any good effects By chance I saw a notice of your pills in the N H Gazette, and determined once more to try something that might restore my health, and to my unspeakable joy I found that they had the desired effect; and feeling it a duty I owe my friends and the community at large, I make these statements. If you think it worth while to publish the above, it is at your disposal.

Yours very respectfully,

A new weekly paper, devoted to Polite Literature, Foreign and Domestic News, Science and the arts, Critical Essays, Philosophy, Satire and Humor.

THOMAS R. WHITNEY. Editor.

One dollar per annum payable in advance.

The undersigned has the pleasure to announce that he will issue on Sunday, the 6th of December next, a new Weekly Paper, to be called the SUNDAY EXTRA. The principal aim of the editor will be to make the "Sunday Extra" a complete mirror of the times, in which will be faithfully reflected, in an interesting and condensed form, the News of the Week; Cream of New Works, Tales of Fiction, Fact and Romance, original and selected; Gems of Poetry & Prose, Fetters on Science and Art, Reviews, satire, Wit, the Stage, &c., &c.,—in short to make it an acceptable Fireside Journal, complete in all its parts, and unexceptionable in point of morals. The "Extra will maintain a high tone in all its departments; and whilst eschewing politics, as such, reserve to itself the right freely and candidly to discuss all questions of acknowledged public interest and importance. A number of correspondents of known and approved talent, resident in different parts of the Union, have been secured, who will contribute their best efforts to the "Extra;" the aid, also, of an eminent Foreign Correspondent will add a valuable feature to its columns. The several departments of Literature, Science, and the Arts will be placed under the charge of experienced writers, and the editor will spare no exertions to make the "Extra" a complete Paper, while he confidently expects, as he intends to merit, the substantial endorsement of the public to his exertions.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR CONSUMPTION.

THE best medicine known to man for incipient Consumption, Asthma of every stage, Liver Complaints, side, oretis, Influenza, Coughs, Colds, Bleeding at the Shortness of Breath, pain and weakness in the ast, &c. and all other diseases of the PULMONARY ORGANS.

A very important disease over which this "Balsam" exerts a very powerful influence, is that of a "DISEASED LIVER." In this complaint it has undoubtedly proved more efficacious than any remedy hitherto employed, and in numerous instances when patients had endured long severe suffering from the disease, without receiving the least benefit from various remedies, and even when MERCURY has been resorted to in vain, the use of this BALSAM has restored the LIVER to a healthy action, and in many instances effected permanent cures after every known remedy had failed to produce this disired effect.

Besides its astonishing efficacy in the diseases above mentioned, we also find it a very effectual remedy in ASTHMA, a complaint in which it has been extensively used with decided success even in cases of years standing.

NATURE'S OWN PRESCRIPTION

A compound Balsamic preparation of the Prunus Virginia, or "Wild Cherry Bark," combined with the Extract of Tar, prepared by a new chemical process, approved and racommended by the most distinguished physicians, and universally acknowledged the most valuable medicine ever discovered

The universal celebrity which this medicine is rapidly gaining in every section of the country, and the many astonishing cures it has effected, have now established its efficacy beyond all doubt, but it should be remembered, that in diseases of the LUNGS or LIVER, as in all other chronic affections, a little time is always necessary to effect a cure. Although in most cases the Balsam will afford a most immediate relief, and often effect great changes in a few days, it cannot reasonably be expected to produce the same salutary effect in every case in so short a time; yet, from the high celebrity it has acquired, we find many persons are apt to expect too much at the commencement, while others expect a Single Bottle to afford them greater relief than all the medicine they had taken for months previous.

We will not assert that this BALSAM will cure consumption in its worst form, but it has cured many after all other means of relief had been tried in vain. And why not? It seems that the WILD CHERRY was destined by Nature to be our PANACEA for the ravaging diseases of this latitude. Let not the despairing invalid waste his money and lose time, to him so all important, in experimenting with the trashy nostrums of the day, but use at once a medicine that will cure, if a cure be possible—a medicine that serence ab proves, and many years of experience have demonstrated that it always relieves. "There is no such thing as fail" in the history of this wonderful Balsam. Evidence the most convincing—evidence that no one can doubt, fully establishes this fact.

In presenting this highly useful and valuable medicine to public notice as a remedy for Consumption and Pulmonary diseases in general, the proprietor has been actuated solely by the great success attending its use in his practice and a desire to benefit the afflicted, and would therefore wish particularly to impress upon the public mind that it is entirely different from the nostrums daily ushered into notice by boasting quacks, as it not only emanates from a regular Physician, but has also been well tested in all the complaints for which it is recommended. It is not my intention, therefore, either to cloak it in mystery or in any way deceive the public by overrating its virtues; on the contrary, I shall simply endeavor to give a brief statement of its usefulness, and flatter myself that its surprising efficacy will enable me to furnish such proofs of its virtues as will satisfy the most incredulous that CONSUMPTION may and "CAN BE CURED," if this medicine be resorted to in time.

NO QUACKERY! NO DECEPTION!

All published statements of cures performed by his medicine, are, in every respect TRUE.

☞ BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS AND IMITIONS:—The unparalleled and astonishing efficacy of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry in all the diseases for which it is recommended—curing many cases after the skill of the best physicians was unavailing—has effected a large and increasing demand for it. This fact has caused several unprincipled counterfeiters and imitators to palm off spurious mixtures, of similar name and appearance, for the genuine Balsam

Be careful and get the genuine DR. WISTE'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY. None genuine unless signed by I. BUTTS. Address all orders to SETH W FOWLE, Boston, Mass.

WE are authorised to announce BARZILLIA SLACUM, Esq. as a candidate for the next Sheriffalty of Dorchester County.
