EUROPE'S ARMED PEACE.

The Terrible Strain on the Nations—The Next War.

The whole continent seems to be under some horrible enchantment. The armed peace sits like a vampire at the bedside of the people, draining their life blood while they sleep.

As the armed peace is a nightmare fowler than the war itself, it is not to be wondered at that the nations are so weary of it.

In former days the mustering of a half million of soldiers was regarded as a mighty feat. Today Prince Bismarck adds to the ranks of the army of the fatherland, with one stroke of his pen, 700,000 fathers of families, and not a single voice is raised even in protest.

Europe fronts east and west with an available host of 3,000,000 trained soldiers. France will have between 2,000,000 and 3,000,000 ready to hand.

Not only will the number of the combatants be far beyond those which were raised even in the days of the great army of the fatherland, but the quality of the men is also superior to that of the men of the past.

At home the Bulgarian woman is a sturdy, honest housewife, helpful to her husband in all that the term implies. Beside attending to the care of the household, she performs not less of the hard, grinding drudgery of the field than her husband does, and often more.

When Lawyers Are Busy. Yes, lawyers frequently call upon clerks for information in pleadings and practice. In fact, scarcely a day passes but that some lawyer, frequently a successful practitioner, will call upon the clerk for information relative to the details of pleadings, and the suggestions given are generally of inestimable benefit.

Rare and Interesting Relics. There is a thriving industry at Niagara in Petersburg, where ornamental articles are made from rare woods in this country and abroad. The proprietor has in stock a wheel belonging to a chariot in Egypt which showed the workmanship of these times.

He Got There All the Same. The Republican organ is very much excited over the non-appearance of President Cleveland's letter of acceptance. We advise them to possess their souls in patience, for the Democrats are not worrying about the delay.

Grandpa's Grandson Will Be Heard. It is said that a man is practicing a kind of white lie in order to attract the attention of the Republicans. It is well known, however, that Brother Blaine had a calico concealed on his person.

That's What's the Matter with Stevens. This Mr. Charles E. Stevens, of Syracuse, who can't support Mr. Cleveland because of his message on the tariff, filed his application for the appointment of postmaster at Syracuse two months after the message was sent to congress.

Not Affected by Some Poisons. Poison for some animals is food for others. Hogs can eat henbane or hyocyanus, which is fatal to dogs and most other animals. Dogs and horses are not easily poisoned with arsenic.

Waste silk has been shown to be the most effective nonconductive covering for steam pipes. The price is high, but the demand is very great.

Artist Versus Cattle Dealer.

Artists can, in the course of a summer morning's work, do the country, find material for their best landscapes, and their training has been such that the knowledge so found can be applied to the best advantage.

It was overfording with knowledge of the different order. He filled the artist with details of the cost of raising cattle in every state and territory, and of the cost that each marketable steers represented, and of the cost of shipment of cattle from every section.

It was not for the climate. Quite would be in the midst of a perpetual pestilence; but notwithstanding the prevailing filthiness, there is very little to be feared from the diseases of the valley. Mountain fever, produced by cold and a torpid liver, is the common type of disease.

Melissier's Method of Study. Melissier, in order to study thoroughly the movements of the men and horses in the picture, he remained in the picture "1877," he pursued, as he told us, an entirely original method.

At home the Bulgarian woman is a sturdy, honest housewife, helpful to her husband in all that the term implies. Beside attending to the care of the household, she performs not less of the hard, grinding drudgery of the field than her husband does, and often more.

As a matter of course she then performs as much farm drudgery for her husband as she did previously for her father.

The "Canals" of Mars. At a recent meeting of the Paris Academy of Sciences there was presented a series of drawings of the planet Mars, made by M. Perrotin, director of the observatory at Nice.

Chinese Dog Skin Industry. The trading of dogs for their skins is pursued in China, just as the fur-bearing animals are in Australia.

It is a cruel political humorist who says that there is more bustle just now in the streets of New York than there is of any of her rivals.

That's What's the Matter with Stevens. This Mr. Charles E. Stevens, of Syracuse, who can't support Mr. Cleveland because of his message on the tariff, filed his application for the appointment of postmaster at Syracuse two months after the message was sent to congress.

Waste silk has been shown to be the most effective nonconductive covering for steam pipes. The price is high, but the demand is very great.

HAWKS AND HYDROPHOBIA.

The Theory Advanced by a Practical Observer—Is He Correct? Enclosed and raised a nest of young hawks. One female survived.

Her method with dogs was peculiar and must have been hereditary. She had had no training. When she observed a dog near her she would thrust out her hand, draw up one foot out of sight, and drop her wings.

It was not for the climate. Quite would be in the midst of a perpetual pestilence; but notwithstanding the prevailing filthiness, there is very little to be feared from the diseases of the valley.
