CHESTERVILLE AND VICINITY.

Messrs Editors:—The Buell Family gave concerts at Galena, Chesterville and Crumpton, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings of last week. At each place fair and appreciative audiences greeted them. After listening to the enchanting strains of these "sweet singers of Israel," we presume the assemblages whom they delighted, at the villages named above, are prepared to second all they may have seen in print, or heard, of the musical talent of the Buell Family. Unlike too many professionals, their ability was not overrated; indeed, they exceeded their reputation. Their singing was more chaste, devotional and entertaining than that of any concert we have ever attended and, in our humble opinion, more nearly perfect. Many of the pieces sung were most difficult to render, requiring exact time and complete control of the voice to prevent discord; and yet the delicate sense of the musical critic was not in the least disturbed by one inharmonious sound. Girtie has a bird-like voice, and charms all with her impassioned notes; Fannie possesses a full, clear, charming voice, which entrances every one with its sweet melody, whilst with master touch she produces music from the organ which thrills the soul and blends in sweet harmony with the strains of the singers. For one so young, Harry is hard to excel; his alto is excellent, and he renders his part perfectly and with apparent ease. And what shall we say of the father, the educator of the children?—Simply, that where the scholars are so thorough, the master must be a true artist. Mr. Buell has a soft, full bass voice, which he has adapted to the singing of the children, being in accord with the compass of their voices.—One of the distinctive characteristics of the singing of this family is, that they articulate so clearly. With the mrjority of vocalists, the articulation is so bad that one can scarcely distinguish one word from another, thus losing all the beauty of sentiment the words may possess; but with this family every utterance is distinct, even when singing in the lowest tone. Another pleasing feature is the entire absence of everything like airs or affectation, which too often characterizes and mars the performances of the public singers, as well as other professionals.

Returning from Crumpton on Saturday-night, the family spent the Sabbath in Chesterville, attending the churches during the day, and going to Galena at night, conducting the singing at each service, to the delight of the congregations. At the last named place the house was crowded. This was owing to three things—Rev. E. P. Aldred delivered his last sermon, as pastor of our church, the Buell Family were present; and there was a children's meeting held. The pastor preached a short but appropriate sermon to the children, from the text, "Remember now thy Creator," &c.; several voluntaries were given by the Buells; a little incidental was related by Prof. Buell; a short prayer was offered, the doxology sung, and the benediction pronounced, and then followed a protracted and universal hand-shaken and leave-taking.

The Sabbath-school of the Chesterville M. E. Church was re-organized on Sunday last by the election of the following officers for the ensuing year: Sup't, H. C. Layman; assistant sup't, Morris Davis; secretary and librarian, B. D. Quimby; choirister, W. H. Harrison.

On Sabbath last Dr. Sudler, of Sudlersville, preached in the M. E. churches both of Chesterville and Millington.—He is expected to occupy the pulpit in the same churches again on the 15th inst.

On Sunday last, Mr. Thornton, residing on the Westcott farm, between Chesterville and Millington was alarmed by the confusion among his poultry. Going to the door, he discovered a gray eagle just in the act of flying away. By the time Mr. T. had secured his gun, his eagleship was far out of range, but waiting a moment or two this aerial soarer changed his course and came directly over where his enemy stood. As he did so the piece was discharged, and the feathered monster came tumbling from his lofty flight. Mr. Thornton says he measured seven feet two inches from tip to tip of wings.

Some farmers in this neighborhood have seeded their oats, while others are now preparing the ground. WALTER.

LETTER FROM MORGAN'S CREEK.

MORGAN'S CREEK, March 4, 1874.

Messrs. Editors:—According to a call of the farmers on each side of Morgan's Creek, the Morgan's Creek Agricultural Club met at the Urieville school house on Saturday morning last at 9 o'clock. We accepted an invitation to attend the meeting, and on entering the school at a rather late hour we found there assembled the largest and most respectable number of farmers that we have ever met on such an occasion; and we were pleased to learn that there had been added to the said Club nine intelligent, energetic and improving farmers. After the object of the meeting had been stated by the President, and a set of resolutions had been offered looking to a better and more efficient manner of freighting produce on Morgan's Creek, we were greatly pleased to see the enthusiasm and hear the interesting discussion which took place on the resolutions, by the new as well as the older members; and although perhaps the Club did tread on the toes of our former and respected Captain a little, yet we do not believe that any of the members would throw a straw in the captain's way, much less to do him an injury. But the way the captain did come down on the club was like a thousand bricks, or a sin to David Crochet. However, we do not think anybody is hurt; and as the captain has always been very clever and accommodating to us, we hope he may succeed in getting a good boat suitable to run in Morgan's Creek and accommodate the farmer's club, which we think would use its influence to sustain him in compliance with the resolutions.

We were also pleased to see among the club some of the young farmers and farmers' sons, who we hope begin to think better of farming life. After the object of the meeting had been freely discussed in a harmonious and agreeable manner, the resolutions were unanimously adopted; and on motion the club adjourned amid unusual good feeling, to meet at Morgan's Creek school house on next Saturday morning, at 9 o'clock, to which farmers generally are invited. On that occasion the committee for the present year on the various parts of farming will be appointed by the President, and read out. We think we now see that farmers are awakening to their interests in Morgan's Creek as well as other places, and we hope that they are about to throw off some of the burdens that have been binding them down so long. Although the farmers have been called clod-hoppers and sand-scrapers, we have no reason to regret our choice and are glad that we were taught to believe that farming is one of the most respectable and honorable occupations in the world. It is and always will be the most pleasing business to us, and we hope our farmers' sons will soon see the beauty and feel the pleasure in successful farming life, and will give their time and talents to adorn the business and raise the calling to its proper place among the occupation of the land.

End of the Tichborne Case--Review of the Trial.

The trial of the claimant to the Tichborne estate in England, on charges of perjury committed during the trial for the possession of the estate, has been concluded with a verdict of guilty and a sentence to fourteen years of penal servitude. The trial has been a long one, having lasted one hundred and eighty days, and its result effectually extinguishes the pretensions of the claimant to the Tichborne estate. The case will live as one of the most celebrated in law records, and a popular interest will be long attached to the man himself, who has had the audacity to assume a title that did not belong to him in order to get possession of a vast property. Whether he be William Orton, the butcher, or some other person, it appears well settled that he is not a Tichborne. The following is a resume of the extraordinary case:

Roger Tichborne, oldest son of Sir Jas. Tichborne, after being educated in France and at Stonyhurst, and serving for a time in the army as an officer of carabineers, set sail for South America, in 1851, after which he was never seen again in England. His travels and his life ended, or were supposed to have ended, when the ship Bella, on which he set sail at Rio de Janeiro for New York, foundered at sea. His mother refused to believe him dead, and advertised for him for several years. At last she was rewarded by hearing from Australia that her son was alive and well; and she got letters purporting to be from him, in which he stated that he had been picked up at sea and carried to Melbourne In 1866 the would-be Sir Roger, in the person of the claimant, reached England. Robert's father was dead; but the claimant was recognized by Lady Tichborne as her son. In a year or two she died, before the case came to trial; meanwhile almost every other member of the family denied his identity. The suit instituted by him for the possession of the title and estates commenced on the 10th of May, 1871, and continued, with little interruption, until July 7, when an adjournment for some months was had. The case was resumed in November, and the claimant's case was completed on January 15. 1872. Sir John Duke Coleridge, then Attorney General, on that day began his opening address for the defense, occupying five weeks in its delivery. On March 4th the jury, having just listened to the testimony of Lord Bellow, to the effect that he had tattooed the real Sir Roger when at school and the claimant being unable to show any tattoo marks, were induced to state to the court that they had heard enough testimony. Two days afterwards the claimants case was withdrawn from before the court. Lord Chief Justice Boville, who had presided at the first trial, thereupon issued a warrant for the arrest of the claimant on the charge of perjury, and his bail was fixed at £50,000, but he was soon bailed out by his enthusiastic partisans. On April 23, 1873, he was put on trial before Lord Chief Justice Cockburn, Mr. Hawkins conducting the prosecution, and Dr. Kenealy the defense The testimony for the prosecution was closed on the 2d of December last. The defense was then opened and concluded on the 14th of January. The summing up for the prosecution was finished on January 28, and on the ensuing day Chief Justice Cockburn began the charge to the jury, which has proved almost as tedious as the speeches of counsel. The verdict of guilty was a very unexpected one, for there were two men on the jury who were regarded with great suspicion. The two trials of the case have cost the government alone fully $2,500,000, the counsel receiving enormous fees, and witnesses being brought from Australia and this country at great expense. Altogether the case has been a marvelous one.

The Great Antagonist of Disease.

What is the natural antagonist of disease? It is the vital principle. From the moment that disease is developed in the system this champion fights the intruder until it either conquers or is conquered. Which side should medical science espouse in this life and death struggle? Should it depress and cripple the physical energies of the patient, thereby helping disorder, or should it reinforce the the vitality of the patient and thereby assist in quelling the ailment? Of course the proper answer to this qestion must be obvious to every one above the grade of an idiot or a lunatic, and hence it follows that the weak and broken down invalid who chooses to dose himself with depleting slops, instead of toning, invigorating and vitalizing his enervated frame with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, must be either feeble minded or deranged. Surely nothing short of imbecility or insanity could induce a person laboring under bodily weakness and nervous prostration, to take day after day powerful doses of some drastic purgative in the hope of gaining strength thereby. Although charlatans may advertise preparations of this character as tonics, people in the full possession of their reason can not, one would think, accept them as such If they do the penalty of their credulity may be the shortening of their lives. The rheumatic, the dyspeptic, the bilious, the debilitated and nervous, and all who are subject to intermittents, or other diseases brought on by the inclement weather which prevails at this season, will do well to strengthen their nerves, tone their stomachs and regulate their bowels with the Bitters. The two-fold operation of the restorative as an invigorative and an aperient, in addition to its direct and specific effect upon the disordered liver, renders it a most efficient remedy for complaints of the digestive, secretive and excretive organs, at present in use. This fact is conceded by eminent members of the faculty whose testimony to that effect is published in Hostetter's Almanac for 1874.

PROTECT YOUR BUILDINGS!

Which may be Done with Less than Quarter the Usual Expense by the Use of GLINES' PATENT SLATE ROOFING PAINT!

A Roof may be covered with a very cheap shingle, and by the application of this Slate be made to last from 15 to 30 years. Old Roofs can be patched and coated, and made to look much better, and last longer than new shingles without the Slate, for

ONE-THIRD THE COST OF RE-SHINGLING

The cost of Slating new Shingles is only about the cost of simply laying them, and the Slate is a fire-proof coat against sparks and live coals falling upon it, as may be easily tested by any one, and as appears from the fact that Insurance Companies make the same tariff that they do for slated roofs. For tin and iron it has no equal, as it expands by heat, contracts by cold, and

NEVER CRACKS OR SCALES.

For Cemetery Fences it is particularly adapted, as it will not corrode in the most exposed places. Have covered with Tar Sheathing Felt can be made water-tight at a small expense.

The Slate or Paint is Extremely Cheap!

Two gallons will cover a hundred square feet of shingle roof, or over four hundred of tin or iron. Price of the Slate, ready for use, is $3 00, per gallon, $16 per half-bbl., or $25 per bbl. of about 40 gallons, with a liberal discount to the trade. We furnish and apply the material at $2.50 per 100 square feet in the vicinity of this city. We use therefore it does not affect the water from the roof, if turned off from the cisterns for the first rains or two rains. The Paint has a very heavy body, but is easily applied with a 4 or 6-inch coloring brush. On old and rotten Shingles it fills up the holes and pores, hardens them, and gives a new and substantial roof that will last for years. On curled or warped shingles, it brings them to their place and keeps them there. It fills up the holes in Tin or Felting Roofs, and stops the leak. One coat is equal to ten of ordinary paint. The color of the Slate when fresh applied is a dark purple; in about a month it changes to a light, uniform slate color,

NO TAR IN THIS COMPOSITION

And is to All Intents and Purposes Slate.

It is a slow dryer, but rain will not affect it in the least in one hour after it is put on. Samples sent to any part of the country by Express, C. O. D., at the following prices. If ordered to be sent by freight, the money must accompany the order:

DYSPEPSIN

A Certain Cure for DYSPEPSIA, LIVER COMPLAINT, Jaundice, Billiousness, Sick Headache, and Habitual Costiveness.

WHAT is life without the enjoyment of health? If you had the wealth of Crœsus, and afflicted with Dyspepsia, or its kindred diseases, you could not enjoy life. Dyspepsia is a prevalent disease in the U. States, brought about by our habits and irregularities. The Materia Medica has been exhausted to find a remedy, and the skill of the most learned Physicians has failed to effect a cure. Notwithstanding this declaration we unhesitatingly say—"MILLER'S DYSPEPSIN" is a Certain Cure for Dyspepsia and the many complaints incident thereto. It has been before the public a sufficient length of time to fully test its merits, and in every instance where it has been used according to directions, it has resulted in giving relief and effecting a cure. With each bottle is a Circular, describing the symptoms of the diseases named, and for which only we claim it as a specific.

☞ Give it a fair trial, and rest assured you will be benefitted.

Iron in the Blood

PERUVIAN AN IRON TONIC SYRUP

MAKES THE WEAK STRONG.

The Peruvian Syrup, a Protected Solution of the Protoxide of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures "a thousand ills," simply by Toning up, Invigorating and Vitalizing the System. The enriched and vitalized blood permeates every part of the body, repairing damages and waste, searching out morbid secretions, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or accompanied by debility or a low state of the system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution.

Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures, to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass.
