Neatness Wins a Man.

"Dearest Amy: A man we know has just proposed to and been accepted by a girl, and he came on to tell us all about being 'the happiest man in the world,' etc., etc. After some portion of his raptures had been exhausted I remarked as is usual in such cases, the contracting parties were the very last we should have imagined likely to single each other out from the rest of the world for a life partnership. Whereupon our friend observed that the first thing that had attracted him to the girl was her exquisite neatness. Now, Amy, I had always been under the impression that neatness, like cleverness and a love of plain sewing, was one of those respectable qualities that are excellent for making cages after marriage, but not of the smallest use in the manufacture of nets in which to secure one's prey beforehand. You see, I was wrong, or else this case is exceptional.

Our friend proceeded to say that he was sick and tired of untidy girls, nothing dainty about them, and no white lace, or linen or tape, or whatever it is called, round the necks of their dresses. "Tape!" Dead tired of girls whose gowns dipped into the mud or dust of the street at every step. Sick of girls with loose bags in the front of their bodices, which always reminded him of pelicans. Weary of girls with no neatness of finish either to themselves or their sleeves, and with hair like haystacks. Even if all wrists were white as snow, and rounded to perfection, he said, he could not admire them if they emerged from sleeves that ended in hard bands of stuff with no relief from the color of the gown itself.

I never thought that men noticed these little things much, but I suppose they do. The lady of his choice is certainly one of the neatest of human beings. Some people are born neat; others achieve neatness. Lucy belongs to the first category, and with constant practice she has achieved perfection in the art. She wears her hair coiled in the glossiest brown folds, with a little babyish fluff or fringe in front, each individual curl of which has its brilliant gleam. We have often asked her how she manages to keep her hair so beautifully, and she always laughs and says, "Yelk of egg once a fortnight, and a good brushing every night." Hers is one of those delicate tinted skins that convey the idea of purity to the mind, but she is not otherwise pretty. We often call her Jane Eyre, because she makes us think of Charlotte Bronte's heroine. I do not know what Jane wore around her neck, but I am sure that whatever the arrangement was, it was neat almost to primness. Lucy's collars and cuffs are always immaculate, glittering with the glassy gloss of ironed starch. I never saw a button missing from her gloves.

Happy Children's Home.

To all children home should be the happiest place in the world; the nurse should be a person of cheerful, sunny disposition, strong and active, as there is a great deal of hard work attending the care of a little child; and, while the mother should always remain head nurse, the assistant should be a vigorous person. Do not allow nurse nor any one else to terrorize your child with stories of any kind that will cling to them and make their nights a torment. It is useless to make them afraid of any of the domestic animals by telling them that everything will "bite." If a child is naturally nervous, it can be better controlled by a little judicious indulgence than by denial.

Little pleasures should be provided for them and the pleasure of anticipation given them. It will not hurt your carpets to have a few chalk rings on them, and any little boy would enjoy a game of marbles with papa or mama even better than with the boys down the street that you do not want him to associate with. [illegible] with children sometimes; it will [illegible] you nearer to them and keep [illegible] young. Spend less time on [illegible] clothes and more on their sweet se[illegible] The day will come only too soon [illegible] you can sit down with your t[illegible] house and they are away.

The whip as an emblem of auth[illegible] in the relations between driver [illegible] horses is by no means objection[illegible] but when it becomes an authority itself the driver is inferior to the whip.

Man is by nature sympathetic and hence does not, cannot live for himself alone. Is your life helpful or hurtful to those with whom you sympathize?

The old idea that young cattle and colts must winter at straw stacks in open fields, to make them tough, happily has gone, much to the comfort of the young animals.

The application of chloral hydrate in solution of five grains to the ounce of water, is said to clear the head of dandruff and prevent falling of the hair from the latter cause.

Some men would rather be rich than handsome, but every woman in the universe would rather be both.

ST. NICHOLAS.

The Century Co'r. Magazine For Young Folks. Enlarged and Printed in New Type.

SINCE 1873, when, under the editorial management of Mrs. Mary Mapes Dodge, the publication of "St. Nicholas for Young Folks" was begun, it has led all magazines for girls and boys. Nothing like it was known before, and to-day, as the Chicago Inter-Ocean recently said, "it is the model and ideal juvenile magazine of the world." Through its pages the greatest writers of our time are speaking to the youth of America and England, and the best artists and engravers are training the eyes of the boys and girls to appreciate the highest in art. Nobody knows how many readers "St. Nicholas" has. In the third largest public library in America—that in Indianapolis—more than 2000 people read each month's number.

Since the first issue Mrs. Dodge has remained as editor. Early in its history other young people's magazines, "Our Young Folks," "The Little Corporal," "Riverside," etc., were consolidated with it, and its history has been one of growth from the first. Tennyson, Bryant, Longfellow, Whittier, Miss Alcott, Mrs. Burnett, Charles Dudley Warner, W. D. Howells, and almost every well-known writer of our time have contributed to its pages. There is only one way in which its conductors can make it better, and that is by making more of it, and so they announce that with the beginning of the seventeenth volume (November, 1889) St. Nicholas will be enlarged by the addition of eight, and sometimes sixteen, extra pages in each number. This enlargement is absolutely required to make room for the rich store of new material which has been secured for the benefit of "St. Nicholas" readers. The use of new and clearer type will be begun with the November number.

During the coming year there are to be four important serial stories by four well-known American authors. Athletics and outdoor sports will be a special feature (contributed by Walter Camp, of Yale), and others, and there will be stories of character and adventure, sketches of information and travel, outdoor papers, articles of special literary interest, stories and talks on natural history, other scientific subjects, and the march of events. Both the December and January numbers are to be holiday issues.

The price will be the same as heretofore, $3.00 a year, 25 cents a number, and all dealers and the publishers (The Century Co., New York) take subscriptions. New subscribers should begin with November. no-9

PETERSON'S MAGAZINE

FOR 1890.

BEST AND CHEAPEST.

THE BEST STORIES.—Our stories and novelets are from some of the most popular authors, and are admitted to be the best published. For 1890, such writers as Mrs. Lucy H. Hooper, Alice Bowman, Frank Lee Benedict, Alice Maud Ewell, Ella Higginson, Howard Seeley, and others will contribute some of their best productions. Eight novelets and nearly one hundred short stories will be given during the year.

THE BEST HOUSEHOLD DEPARTMENT—embracing articles on health, nursing the sick, home dressmaking, the garden, kitchen, and other subjects invaluable in every household.

THE BEST FASHION DEPARTMENT—giving the latest and choicest styles of dress for outdoor and house wear, fully described, illustrated by handsome Colored Fashion-Plates and numerous wood-engravings. Also a full-size Dress-Pattern monthly.

THE BEST FANCY-WORK PATTERNS—many of them printed in colors—embracing the newest and most popular designs produced at home and abroad.

THE BEST STEEL-ENGRAVINGS—"Peterson" is now the only magazine giving these, the finest of all engravings.

THE CHEAPEST—as no other magazine gives so much of interest and variety for the same money. Its price is within the reach of everybody.

HARPER'S BAZAR.

ILLUSTRATED.

Harper's Bazar is a journal for the home. Giving the latest information with regard to the Fashions, its numerous illustrations, fashion-plates, and pattern-sheet supplements are indispensable alike to the home dress-maker and the professional modiste. No expense is spared in making its artistic attractiveness of the highest order. Its clever short stories, parlor plays, and thoughtful essays satisfy all tastes, and its last page is devoted to the delight of wit and humor. In its weekly issues everything is included which is of interest to women. During 1890 Grace Thorne Miller, Christine Terhune Herrick, and Mary Lowe Dickinson will respectively furnish a series of papers on "The Daughter at Home," "Three Meals a Day," and "The Woman of the Period." The serial novels will be written by Walter Besant and F. W. Robinson.

TOLEDO WEEKLY BLADE.

ONLY ONE DOLLAR.

The most popular Weekly Newspaper in the United States, the largest circulation, and the only strictly Weekly Newspaper that ever succeeded in obtaining and holding year after year a circulation in every State and Territory (and nearly every county) of the United States. All the news, better departments and more first-class entertaining and instructive reading than in any other dollar paper published.

Announcement Extraordinary.

In December we shall commence publication of the most powerful temp-rance serial story of modern times. The well known author of the Boy Traveler series of books, Col. Thomas W. Knox, is now engaged in writing this story, for which we pay a royal sum. We want this story to have the wide circulation it deserves. In the interest of humanity parents should see that their children read it, and especially the young men of every community in this broad land should be urged by those who have an interest in them to read this story. The other features of the Weekly Blade need not be stated here. They are well known. Send for a free sample copy and see for yourself.

Speaking of Specimen Copies.

We invite every reader of this paper and every reader of this county, to write us for two specimen copies. First, write us a postal card immediately for a specimen copy of the Weekly Blade that you may get a full description of Knox's temperance serial story, "Pectotaller Dick." Second, write us again about December 1st for another free specimen of the Blade, and we will send you a paper containing the opening chapters of the story. Send us the names and addresses of all your friends at the same time.

Confidential to Agents.

Anybody can earn TEN DOLLARS very quickly by raising clubs for the Blade. We are now paying the highest amount for clubs ever offered by any newspaper. We want agents everywhere. Write us for confidential terms to agents. Address,
