NO BACKING DOWN IN MR. TILDEN.—A New York letter says Congressman Blackburn, of Kentucky, was in that city several days last week, and tried his hand at healing the breach between the Tilden and Kelly factions in the interest of the party at large, but so far as can be ascertained with as little encouragement as rewarded the previous endeavors of other prominent democrats from other States. The trouble in the way of adjustment is the conditions which one faction is seeking to impose upon the other Mr. Kelly, it is understood, is willing at any moment, for the sake of peace, to resign his position as Tammany leader, in order to bring that organization into accord with the rest of the party, provided Governor Tilden will give some authoritative assurance that he is not again a candidate for the presidency. His response to all such overtures is said to be substantially this: "I have nothing to do with John Kelley or Tammany Hall, and I must peremptorily decline to enter into any negotiations on their behalf. My cause is the cause of the people of the United States, and, as that cause ought in justice and equity to be tried over again at the polls, it is not for any local politician or for any local faction, meanwhile, to stand in the way of the democracy of the nation carrying their appeal from the findings of the electoral commission to the ballot-box."

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE.

The annual message of President Hayes, which had been surreptitiously obtained and previously published in many of the city papers was transmitted to Congress on Monday. It being too lengthy for our columns a summary of its contents will be found in the following synopsis, which is copied from the Balto. Sun:

The annual message of President Hayes begins by congratulating Congress upon the success of the financial operations of the treasury and their good effects upon the business of the country. The public credit has been as greatly benefitted by resumption as the general business of the country, and the President thinks that the remaining 5 per cent, and 6 per cent. securities of the government can be refunded in 4 per cent. bonds, thus effecting a further reduction of $11,000,00 in annual interest.

The silver dollars coined under the recent acts of Congress now amount to $45,000,85 of which $32,300,344 still remain in the treasury. Upon the basis of this fact and of the current proposition for unity of action to effect a permanent system for the equality of gold and silver in the exchange between commercial nations, the President advises Congress to refrain from further experiments with the coinage and to suspend the coining of silver dollars now ordered by law.

He says that "the retirement from circulation of the United States notes, with the capacity of legal-tender in private contracts, is a step to be taken in our progress towards a safe and stable currency, which should be accepted as the policy and duty of the government and the interest and security of the people." The President expresses it as his "firm conviction" that the issue of legal-tender paper money by the credit and authority of the government, except in extreme emergency, without warrent in the constitution, is a violation of sound financial principles." He therefore advocates their retirement and the rigid maintenance of the sinking funds, in order to extinguish the national debt as soon as possible, in consequence of our traditional government policy. If more revenue be needed, it can be easily obtained by duties on tea and coffee.

The President refers to the continued deliberate violation of the laws suppressing polygamy by prominent citizens of Utah, and demands the strict enforcement of these laws which have been decided to be constitional by the Supreme Court.

He appeals to Congress and to the people of the country to unite in bringing general public opinion to bear in favor of the general observance of and respect for the laws enforcing the sanctity of the suffrage throughout the whole land, and launches into a long and earnest argument in favor of his views about the reform of the civil service, which have several times before been discussed by him. The President reports that considerable and satisfactory progress has already been made in these directions, but he thinks that much remains still to be done. He distinguishes clearly between offices which are simply executive and administrative and those which are more or less political, deeming it to be eminently proper for the President's official advisers to explain before he people the policy of an administration brought into office by the popular vote and advocates the providing of just and adequate means for examining candidates for office, so that the worthiest claimant may be certain of getting the appointment. The resumption of work by the civil service commission is recommended, and appropriation to that end is urged.

The foreign relations of the government continue peaceful. The difficulty with Great Britain growing out of the Fortune Bay (Newfoundland) outrages is being considered by Lord Beaconsfield's government. The fisheries question, only temporarily adjusted by the treaty of Washington, needs to be permanently settled as a whole, and negotiations to that end are now in progress. The message also touches upon the cattle trade restrictions, upon life-saving measures taken by the Dominion governments in connection with the commerce of the great lakes, and upon the Australian international shows, recommending an increased appropriation for American exhibits.

The late treaty with Japan, it is expected, will serve as a model for other countries. China has expressed willingness to discuss the emigration question with us in a dispassionate way, and negotiations to that end are now pending. Border raids on the Rio Grande frontier have been checked, and our diplomatic intercourse with the United States of Colombia is again restored. This is regarded as especially fortunate in view of the prominence which has just been attained by the interoceanic canal project. Our increasing trade between Mexico and South America suggests to the President the expediency of Congress providing means for regular and more frequent mail communication with those countries.

Additional legislation is claimed to be needed for the protection of the rights of people in Alaska, and a form of territorial government is recommended there. The President, after commenting upon the operations of the army and navy during the year, and showing that the Department of Justice has been obstructed by the lack of appropriations, and that the business of the Supreme Court is so largely in arrears as to demand the creation of intermediate courts and the appointment of additional circuit judges, considers with approval the propositions of the Postmaster-General in regard to increased facilities for domestic and foreign mail service.

The Indian problem is fully treated of in the message, and the President recommends specifically to Congress the suggestions of Secretary Schurz and Commissioner Hayt upon his subject, which have already been explained. He says that, while the Executive is determined to protect the Indians in their territorial rights, it would be unwise to ignore the fact that organized raids like that against the Cherokee country, which was broken up by Executive proclamation in last April, are liable to be repeated year after year as the land gets scarcer and more valuable, and hence the expediency of speedy changes in our Indian policy. At the same times the President deprecates the proposed transfer of the Indians from the Interior to the War Department.

The President renews his recommendations in favor of enlarging the facilities of the department of agriculture. He also calls the attention of Congress to the paramount subject of education and its progress, urges the completion of the Washington monument, and invokes a generous policy on the part of the national legislature towards the filled by a club in Columbia, its thoroughness as served two terms and one has drank its schools.

The message is an expansive dolt, whose written, and reviews all for him."

fairs in an exhaustive way. It will probably be read the subject of civil service reform it was generally supposed, still occupies the President's thoughts and his recommendations for treatment of the current welcomed and applauded as resting upon the soundest financial principles, and the tone of the message is throughout conciliatory and conservative.

JOSEPH FILES, a soldier in the Mexican war, in the first battallion of Maryland and District of Columbia volunteers, Col. W. H. Watson, commanding, died at his residence in Baltimore last Tuesday morning. At the battle of Monterey, September 21, 1846, Mr. Files lost his left arm while carrying the colors of the battallion after two other standard-bearers had been shot down. By the death of Mr. Files there now remain but thirteen of the original six hundred and eighty-six who left Baltimore for the seat of war.

Important Notice!

No More SICK HORSES or CATTLE.

The introduction of the English Condition Powders,

In our American market, exempt from duty, freight, &c., has proved to the thousands whose daily using them that they have been long felt want.

For the past half century they have grown in public favor and general use in all quarters of the Globe, until their name and fame is world-wide.

There is not an ailment (known in Veterinary practice) of the Horse, Cow, Sheep or Pig, but yield to their miraculous influence.

They radiate balsamic properties are conveyed to every part of the brute creation, and immediate relief is given.

They heal internal Ulcerations, banish all derangements, and give the stomach proper tone.

No Stock owner need despair a cure, whilst this never-failing remedy can be obtained; and the reputation they bear from all quarters of the Globe is fully borne out by the success they have attained—corroborated testimonials of all classes and countries.

They have cured Thousands of Cases conceded Incurable.

The many ailments of each class of animals and their various forms are too extended to discuss. But we guarantee in each case a tenfold renumeration for the small investment that places them within reach of the most humble who often have to rely on their stock for support.

The majority are more directly interested in Horses, and to them we say one trial will convince you that they work wonders; and no matter how doubtful the case is, you will invariably be benefitted, & your animals saved & kept healthy by their use.

English Condition Powders

are a certain and speedy remedy, no matter what the disease is, or how complicated. They are not a temporary, but have invariably proved to be a radical cure.

They restore health and produce flesh, milk and butter. They aid digestion and assimilation, and thoroughly renovate the system, and will be found invaluable and remunerative to every stock-owner.

TO CONSUMERS.—They are only one-third the price of all others, and are as superior in quality as quantity.

The following TESTIMONIALS speak of their merits:

Baltimore, June 17, 1879.

Mr. Warren—Sir: We have been handling your English Condition Powders for some time past, and find that their merits as compared with similar compounds, meet a ready sale seldom (if at all) found in goods of similar class. With Patrons of Husbandry they are growing into favor rapidly. Signed: H. O. DEVRIES, Ag't Maryland State Grange.

Ashland House, 24th St. & 4th Avenue, New York City, Mar. 10, 1879.

I have used the English Condition Powders and can recommend them to the turf professed as being pure and similar to the imported, and would use no other.—For purity and quality they are unequalled and invaluable to horsemen.

Sigd, HARRY HARTMAN, Late manager Budd Doble's Turf Stock.

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 6, 1879.

P. Warren, Esq.—Sir: The English Condition Powders are conceded by all my patrons to be the purest, cheapest and best on the market; and have worked wonders wherever used. I sell five times as many of them as all others combined.

Resp'y, &c., THOS. J. STACK, Feed & Grain dealer, 112 Linden ave.

Order of Publication.

George F. Dulaney versus Simon Mander, George Washington Mander and others.

In the Orphans' Court for Kent county. November 18, 1879.

THE object of this suit is to procure a Decree for a sale of the Dwelling House and lot of land situated in the First Election District of Kent county, near the town of Millington, to pay the creditors of the late Samuel Mander, who died seized of said property.

The petition states that the said Sam'l Mander died intestate, and was in his life-time indebted to the complainant in the sum of One Hundred and Twenty-five ($125.00) dollars, less the credits given, and indebted to various other persons in considerable sums of money, and in whose behalf this suit is also brought. That letters of administration were granted unto Thomas R. Quimby, who qualified as such administrator, and possessed himself of all the personal estate. That the personal estate was insufficient for the payment of the debts proved against said deceased.

That the Real Estate which descended to the heirs at law of said deceased is charged with and liable to be sold for the payment of the aforesaid debts & interest.

And the Bill further states that all of the defendants reside in the State of Maryland, except Simon Mander and Geo. Washington Mander, whose residence and whereabouts are unknown, and that all of the said defendants are above the age of twenty-one years.

It is thereupon adjudged and ordered that the Petitioner, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper printed and published in Kent county for one month prior to the 20th day of December next, give notice to the said absent defendants of the object and substance of this Petition, and warn them to appear in this court, in person or by solicitor, on or before the 20th day of March next, to answer the premises and show cause, if any they have, why a decree and order ought not to pass as prayed.

MANHOOD;

How LOST, How RESTORED.

Just published a new edition of DR. CULVERWELL'S Celebrated Essay on the radical cure (without medicine,) of Spermatorrhœa or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Seminal Losses, Impotency, Mental & Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc.; also, Consumption, Epilepsy & Fits, induced by Self-indulgence or Sexual extravagance.

Price, in a sealed envelope, only six cts.

The celebrated author, in this admirable essay demonstrates from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain & effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞ This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, post-paid, on receipt of six cents, or two postage stamps.
