SATURDAY.....JULY 17, 1880.

A Horse Over Twenty Hands High.

There arrived in this city last week by way of the Hudson river railway, from Albany, and was conveyed directly to his quarters in Houston street, what is believed to be the largest horse that has ever fallen under the eyes of anatomist or jockey—a veritable equine monster—beside which animals of the ordinary height are as dwarfs. The animal was bred in Ohio, from our native draught stock, and certainly no region except one of the limestone basis could have developed such an enormous equine anatomy. His registered height is 20 hands and 1 inch, or 81 inches, being a foot taller than an average man. His weight is stated to be 2,450 pounds, but all these points will probably be verified by competent veterinary surgeons. As standing in the stable, the color of the animal appears to be a uniform dark bay without spot or blemish. It should not be judged that this height, although extraordinary, is altogether unprecedented in horses. At the Centennial Exhibition in Philadelphia, in 1876, a span of horses was placed on exhibition, each of which was 18 hands and 1 inch high. The animals were bred in Canada, and became the property of a Philadelphia brewer when the exhibition closed. A veterinary surgeon in this city formerly owned a horse that was 19 hands and 1 inch high—a giant in anatomical structure—but he found it impossible to correct a certain tendency to emaciation, and the creature was useless for draught or road. The late Pope Pio Nono was the fortunate possessor of one of the largest horses in Europe—an animal 18 hands and 1 inch high—and the Hanoverian stables formerly contained another of nearly equal height. So far as can be judged, the Ohio monster is in perfect health and physical condition, and may live to a good old age, notwithstanding his abnormal proportions. One of the famous European animals mentioned was living at 36 years of age—a longevity not often attained by horses.—N. Y. Times.

A CATHOLIC VIEW OF THE CASE OF MRS. SURRATT.—There is one point in the career of Gen. Hancock on which it may seem proper that the Pilot should say a special word, albeit it is to refute as false and silly a charge as ever emanated from the brain of the wildest scribbler in all Bohemia. It is the assertion that Gen. Hancock has lost favor among the Catholic part of our population by his connection with the execution of Mrs. Surratt, opinion is based upon the fact that Mrs. Surratt was a member of the Catholic Church.

In the first place it is proper to say that Gen. Hancock's connection with the affair was solely that of an officer obeying his orders. Had we or any other Catholic in the world been in Gen. Hancock's place our duty would have been to do as he did, whether the condemned woman were Catholic or Protestant, heathen or infidel. A Catholic knows no distinction of creed in the performance of his duty; he quarrels with no man for the execution of his duty; he has no more sympathy for a man or woman put to death justly or unjustly because the victim is a Catholic than if he or she were of any other religion or no religion.

Herein the Pilot, though no organ, believes it voices the opinion of common sense and true religion. Catholics, of course, laugh at the foolish idea that they should bear ill-will on religious grounds to any one connected, however closely, with the execution of a Catholic woman; but there are a great many fools in this world, and a very common specimen is the man who supposes other people to be influenced by ideas and ties which would have no weight at all with himself in a similar case. While we have very little respect for any man who carries his religion into his politics, we should have nothing but contempt for the one who carried both into the sacred halls of justice and law.—Boston Pilot.

THE TILTONS.—Mrs. Elizabeth Tilton and her mother, Mrs. Joanna Morse, continues to live at 381 Macon street, Brooklyn. Mrs. Tilton is provided for by her husband, Theodore Tilton, who continues to live apart from her, and Mrs. Morse receives a support from her husband, N. B. Morse, president of the Union Ferry Company, from whom she has been separated for a number of years. Mrs. Tilton's two sons, Carroll and Ralph, continue to live with her. The former is studying for the ministry and the latter is just about to begin school life. Misses Florence and Alice Tilton remain in Stuttgart, Germany, where they are studying music and art. Their father sailed a few days since to pay his annual visit to them. Mr. Tilton's former home in Brooklyn is rented, and the occupants occasionally hold spiritualistic seances there. Mrs. Tilton leads a most secluded life.—New York Sun.

FROM WEALTH TO POVERTY.—Joseph Daws, now an inmate of the county poorhouse at Milwaukee, Wis., and decrepit and paralyzed, owned five banks before the war and was worth $6,000,000. He was the founder of the Pennsylvania Savings Bank in Philadelphia, and also owned a bank in Detroit. At the beginning of the war he lost $2,000,000 in a coal mine scheme in Logan county, Va. Other misfortunes followed until he lost everything.

SPEAKING of the Credit Mobilier the Cleveland Leader, Gen. Garfield's "home organ" says: "Gen. Garfield bought a few shares, and dropped them at a loss when he found out the nature of the concern." Yet Gen. Garfield under oath declared that he "never owned, received or agreed to receive any stock of the Credit Mobilier." How can these statements be reconciled?"

A NEW YORK temperance man of a practical turn has established a public fountain there for supplying the thirsty masses with ice water. Whether it results in diminishing drunkenness or not, the charity will undoubtedly prove a most grateful boon to thousands for whom a glass of cold water in this torrid weather is the most delightful of all beverages.

A BIG FLOURING MILL.—The new Washburn "A" flouring mill at Minneapolis, Minn., is completed, and said to be the largest and finest in the world. The floor space is 180,400 square feet of surface, or about four acres, and 2,735,000 feet of lumber were used in the structure.

WITH DON CAMERON "playing off," the old gent sitting squarely on his bar'l, Col. Forney writing Hancock editorials, and Gen. Pearson making Hancock speeches, the Republicans of Pennsylvania are in a very bad way.—Boston Post.

GEN. GARFIELD and Gen. Hancock are both to be invited to be present in Boston at the celebration of its two hundred and fiftieth anniversary on the 17th of September next.

GEN. HANCOCK is said to be a Democratic Valentine because he was born on the 14th of February.

PLOWS! PLOWS! PLOWS!

"Ohio Chilled" & "Gibbs' Imperial"

At KENNARD & CO.'S.

Read the result of the late Plow Contest as shown by the report of the committee to the Kent Co. Agricultual Club, together with the opinion of the plowman, and be convinced as to which is the best Plow in the market:

Synopsis of Report:—"The Ohio Chilled Plow was the lightest and the Advance was the heaviest. The Ohio Chilled was 27.03 lighter to the cubic foot than the Oliver Chilled; 33.57 lighter to the cubic foot than the Roland Chill, and 169.08 lighter to the cubic foot than the Advance."

Chestertown, Md., March 6th, 1880.

J. E. NEWCOMB, ESQ.,—Dear Sir: You having been elected by the Judges, as plowman in the late plow contest, held on the farm of Mr. Wm. Morris, Tuesday, the 2nd inst., we would be pleased to have your opinion of the "Ohio Chilled" and "Imperial" Plow, entered by ourselves. Respectfully requesting an early reply, we remain, very truly, KENNARD & CO.

Yours, &c.,

Worton Station, March 8th, 1880.

MESSRS. KENNARD & CO.—Gentlemen: In answer to your question of March 6, about the Plows tried at Mr. Wm. Morris', of which I was plowman, I will simply state to you what I said to the Kent Co. Agricultural Club this afternoon, that of all the plows I handled, viz: the Advance, Roland, Oliver Chilled, Ohio Chilled & Gibbs' Imperial, that the Ohio Chilled and Gibbs' Imperial, as sold by you, were the best I have ever handled. I state this in justicete your Plows; not being pleased with them at first, am glad to say I was agreeably disappointed.

J. E. NEWCOMB.

Very truly, yours,

We also intend carrying a full line of Agricultural IMPLEMENTS and are satisfied it will be to the purchaser's interest te examine our goods and prices.
