Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.

The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood.

If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work.

Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries.

It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

R. SNOWDEN THOMAS, Agent,
ap23-8m. CHESTERTOWN, MD.

Death Of David Hurlock.—David Hurlock, died at the home of his son, D. Thomas Hurlock, in Church Hill, about noon, Thursday January 12, 1905, aged 82 years. The deceased was a native of Kent county and came to Queen Anne's county when comparatively a young man and engaged in farming. Being an industrious and frugal business man he was successful from the start and some years before his death retired from business with a competency, which he handed over to the control of his children. Mr. Hurlock became a member of the M. E. Church when a young man and lived a moral, christian life to the day of his death. He was social in a moderate way, honest to a farthing in all his dealings, generous and true to his friends and acquaintances. The majority of his years were spent on a farm and there he found his greatest pleasure in improving and cultivating the soil and making it produce abundantly. He leaves three children, one son and two daughters, all adults. The son is Mr. D. Thos. Hurlock, formerly a prosperous farmer and business man, but at present residing in Church Hill, Mrs. G. C. Tatman and Mrs. W. C. Palmatary. Interment Sunday afternoon at 1 P. M., in Church Hill Cemetery.

A REASONING HORSE.

Hardly a day passes but the newspapers have something to say of the mental performances of "clever Hans," "der Kluge Hans," as Herr Van Osten's stallion is called. Indeed, some wordy controversies have been waged over him Some holds that he actually reasons; others skeptically assert that his intelligence is simply the result of ingeniously concealed trickery on the part of trainers. An investigation conducted by scientists, however, would seem to indicate that the horse is really what his owner claims him to be, an intelligent four-footed animal capable of making simple arithmetical calculations, and even of ratiocination. Dr. Heinroth, of the Berlin Zoological Garden, has this to say of Hans' wonderful feats in a recent number of the Illustrate Zeitung:

"For many years Herr Von Osten who was one time a tutor of mathematics has made it his task to determine the intellectual possibilities of a horse. His first stallion, with whom he succeeded in doing remarkable things, died at the end of eight years. Hans, his second acquisition, has been under his care for four years. Von Osten has no desire to sell the horse or to display him for money in public. He is instructing him in the interest of science alone.

"In my presence Von Osten asked the horse to add such sums as 6+2 and 4+3. The horse indicated the correct answers by stamping with his right four-hoof. It is to be remarked that during the calculations Von Osten feeds Hans with carrots. Von Osten declares that without the carrots the horse would refuse to work. Hans has never felt the touch of a whip. This, after all, is not very strange; for, as Von Osten puts it, carrots are to Hans simply what honors, titles, rank, and money are to men.

"I asked 'What are the multiplies of 12?" The answer came almost immediately. Sums such as 72 + 14 are correctly given. The actual words (in German) 'What is the difference between 43 and 5?' were read, and the answer immediately pawed. No materials appeared on the blackboard. Surely, this is more than the training. It should here be mentioned that questions can be put by any bystander. Hans is able convert common fractions into decimal fractions. He can also tell time by the clock. If he is asked, 'It is now 40 minutes after 12; how many minutes will elapse before one o'clock?' he immediately answers with twenty strokes hoof. These are simply a few among a great number of questions that were put.

"Hans knows the coin of the realm and the value of playing cards. King, queen, ace, and the like are differentiated by the hoof. He picked out a badly-worn German 50-pfennig piece from several coins. From a number of pieces of colored cloth laid upon the ground he will select any color he is ordered to choose. "Is it green?" you ask. Five strokes of the hoof is the reply; and the cloth proves to be green. The colors may be changed in any manner; still the horse will pick out the correct one."

Dr. Heinroth concludes his article by stating that he is quite convinced of the impossibility of any deception. He has questioned the horse in the absence of its owner, he has received answers as clear cut and as precise as those given in the presence of Vos Osten.

Is it right?

Is it right that a property-owner should lose $4.20 to let a dealer make 50 cents? A dealer makes 50 cents more on fourteen gallons of ready-for-use paint, at $1 50 per gallon, than our agent does on eight gallons of L. & M. paint and six gallons of linseed oil, which make fourteen gallons of the best paint in the world, at $1.20 per gallon; the property-owner loses just $4.20. Is it right?

It only requires 4 gallons of L. & M. and 3 gallons linseed oil to paint a moderate sized house.

ROBINS GATHERED BY HAND

The Carolina Sport of Plucking Them Off Bushes At Night.

They pick robins off trees in North Carolina. A young insurance inspector who has just returned from the South brings with him this queer story of this new kind of sport:

"I was in Ramsur, N. C., near Charlotte, on the Ashbury and Aberdeen railway," he said, "when one evening a young fellow about my own age asked me to go with him for a robin hunt.

"'That doesn't sound very exciting,' I replied. 'How do you hunt them?'

"'Why, you take a hack and a jug of corn whiskey and drive a little way out into the country and pick them off the trees.'

"'Back up, old man,' I said; 'you must be thinking of swallows.'

He insisted that he was serious, and the upshot of it was that I found myself in a rickety hack, with the inevitable demijohn of corn whiskey, and, sure enough, the fellows had a couple of torches and some bags to carry away the robbins. Two or three other similarly laden conveyances wore following us.

"We got out a little dip in the land and the torches were lighted. And there on the bushes were hundreds and hundreds of robins which had just migrated from the North and resting warm in a shelter of the dip in the land. Those of them that were awakened by the glare of the torches blinked sleepy and chirped impatiently at the interruption of their nap.

"The whole party fell to and actually picked them off the bushes with their hands and filled their bags as fast as they could. Talking about getting a bag of game! The fellows would gather 20 to 30 and then punctuate the performance with a swig of corn whiskey, which is the rawest, hottest stuff I ever tasted in my life.

"This continued until the booze began to get in its effects, and then a fellow fell down with a crash in the thickest part of the bushes. The whole flock rose with a sudden whirr and disappeared into the darkness. We had been moving softly hitherto, although some of the robins out of reach on the higher branches had been knocked down with sticks.

"That's about all there is to the story, except that it is the funniest sensation I ever felt to wake up in the mornig with my head on a bag of live robins."—New York Sun.
