Carrier pigeons joined the telegraph, telephone and Uncle Sam's Mail and Air Mail, in the "Order Shower" conferred upon Colonel Albanus Phillips, President of the Phillips Packing Company, Cambridge, Md., on his birthday, August 31st. Orders for over 300 solid carloads of PHILLIPS DELICIOUS Foods were received in the "birthday salute," and from the Pittsburgh area all orders were relayed by carrier pigeons. By a singular coincidence the first bird to arrive from Pittsburgh was the lone pigeon which successfully crossed Chesapeake Bay during last winter's storm bringing a message from marooned residents of Tangier Island. At the right above Vice-President Albanus Phillips, Jr., Director of Sales. and Edwin C. Hopkins, Jr., Assistant Director, are retrieving the written order from the bird's leg.

Tomatoes Come From Mexicao

In France the tomato, known as the "love apple," was long regarded as a token of courtship. Tomatoes were introduced to Europe from Mexico when the Spanish Conquisatador found the native tribes using the vegetable extensively. About 1600, Italian cooks began to make sauces and other cooked dishes of tomatoes. The earliest record of the uses of tomatoes in the United States is in 1834. For a long while they were never eaten raw.

He wanted to run away and hide. He wanted to go and sleep somewhere. His head ached terribly, and his fingers trembled.

Dark circles haloed his eyes which seemed to have sunken back beyond their normal depth. He had spent a great deal of money on cocktails, and that, too, bothered him.

He could sense, with every breath, the stale alcoholic residue of the night before. He lost his courage. His will seemed to desert him. There were so many things he had to do that day, and that meant so much to him.

But he wanted to run away and hide. Something inside him screamed for repose-cried out to him to rest. But he had no will left to fight it off.

Work to be done! Work to be done! But still he wanted to go and hide. He felt a surge of shame sweep over him. He sensed that others must notice how he felt.

No, he couldn't face those people today. He would go away and rest. Tomorrow would take care of the things that had to be done. And so, it was on such a day as this that his failure began,
