Speech of Mr. Evarts.

Referring to the eloquent speech of Mr. Evarts, in defence of the President, the correspondent of the Baltimore Sun says:

Scarcely half a dozen words had fallen from his lips, before the marks of interest and anxiety to catch every sentence was visible on the face of every one in the vast concourse. Like the venerable Senators of Rome sat the Senators, giving the utmost heed to that which was addressed them, and remaining fixed and immovable in their seats. The Chief Justice never once took his eyes off the speaker. The stillness of death was in that vast chamber, broken only by the impressive tones of the speaker.

In his exordium Mr. Evarts spoke, in such eloquent terms as can never be forgotten by those who heard, of the solemnity of the occasion, the dread responsibility which weighed on all the participants, the mighty issues for weal or for woe, that were bound up in the result, and never did man seem to realize more fully the force of what he uttered. His gestures were the poetry of motion, and his slight, attenuated form seemed to tremble with nervous energy, and ever and anon his one bony forefinger pointed in the air, shook with such solemn warning as to send a thrill to the innermost recesses of the heart. His voice was as melodious as that of the serpent charmer, now with a burst that swelled to the very top of the lofty chamber, sending the blood tingling through every vein, and again dying out softy as the southern wind. He spoke nearly two hours, but when he asked to stop for the day, the request was received with a feeling of regret, and all seemed loth to leave the scene. It is not too much to say that the burning words which leaped from the mouth of Mr. Evarts today produced a deep effect on the minds of those to whom they were specially addressed. So much engrossed were they that it was several minutes after Mr Evarts stopped before a motion was made to adjourn.

A Sensation Book on Mrs. Lincoln.—Elizabeth Keckley, "thirty years a slave and five years modiste and friend to Mrs. Abraham Lincoln," has written, or had written for her, a book, purporting to give many of the scenes and conversations at the White House which transpired within her view and hearing. Much of the book is trash, all of it is gossip, but some of the political personalities and opinions of Mrs. Lincoln may not be uninteresting. She is represented to have been very bitter against Mr Chase, classing him as a selfish politician instead of a patriot, and warning Mr. Lincoln not to trust him too far, which advice her husband playfully turned away and disregarded. On Mr. Seward she was especially severe, and rarely lost an opportunity to say an unkind word against him, Mrs. Lincoln, it would seem, was like very many other people in one particular, at least, and that was, in priding herself on her ability to read human character and to command armies. She always declared General Grant to be a great "boiler" and said he was not fit to be at the head of an army. When her husband instanced General Grant's successes, she replied:

"Yes, he generally manages to claim a victory, but such a victory! He loses two men to the enemy's one. He has no management, no regard for life. If the war should continue four years longer, and he should remain in power, he would depopulate the North. I could fight an army as well myself."

She is also reported to have declared that if Grant should ever be elected President of the United States she would desire to leave the country and remain absent during his term of office. The reputed extravagance of Mrs. Lincoln in "finery" is reiterated and her anxiety for her husband's re-election is represented as chiefly growing out of a desire for means to meet her large debts.

Radical Inconsistency.—The New York Times is hard on its Radical brethren for their "very strong determination" to force upon the South what they will not accept for themselves. In a review of the result of the election in Connecticut, occurs the following:

"The negro suffrage issue had less to do with the canvass in Connecticut this year than last. But it gave the Republicans apparently no strength, while in Michigan, where it was directly involved, the decision is distinct and emphatic against it. This result is somewhat surprising. Michigan is one of the most thoroughly Radical States in the Union. Its public officers of all grades; its Senators and members of Congress, are among the most ultra and decided of the Radical party, and they have hitherto been supported heartily and thoroughly by the popular vote, as we presume they would be again. But on the question of suffrage for the colored race, the people of Michigan seem to share the prejudices of other States to the fullest extent. It is a little singular that in spite of the very strong determination of the Northern States to impose universal negro suffrage upon the South, not one of them has voted as yet to accept it themselves. That they may be "educated" to do so in time, is quite likely; but it is clear that considerable training will be required meantime."

$1,000 Per Minute!—Is about the amount of taxation which the people of this country are paying to support the ruinous policy of the Rump Congress. One thousand dollars per minute! and for what? Not to promote prosperity—or a reunion of the sections—or the re-establishment of trade and commerce—or the encouragement of New England industry—but to enable a corrupt party to keep power in the Government, by oppressing white people and elevating negroes to be the ruling power in the States! But for this, there would have been long ago, a thriving trade, as of old, between the North and the South—peace, prosperity, and happiness. Instead of this, Northern labor is idle—but the taxation of Northern industry is active. Workingmen! if you like this state of things, sustain a corrupt Congress in keeping it up! If you do not, help us to put it down. This is your only chance. If you are put under the heel of the African, it is your own fault, and you will deserve no pity.—N. H. Register.

It is noted as a singular fact that during the elections now going forward in the South a great many of the negroes have voted the Democratic and Conservative ticket, in defiance of the Radical influences brought to bear upon them.

California Getting Crowded.—California is rapidly filling up with immigrants from the Atlantic States. The exceedingly low fares, caused by the competition of the rival lines of steamers to California, it is said, are flooding San Francisco with more people than can find employment, and the newspapers of that city are beginning to complain of the rapidly increasing surplus of population.—They say trade is dull, wages low and provisions high, and that persons with limited means, who are able to raise the money to get out there, find themselves unable to get back.

The Alexandria Gazette says the determination in Virginia among almost all the white people, who can vote, to vote against the proposed Constitution, is deep and settled. They now see and know what is designed for them, and they naturally feel not only resolved but indignant. In this resolution they are not only fortified by the publicly expressed opinion of General Schofield, the commander of the military district in which they live, but by the openly declared sentiments of some of the most prominent men who have heretofore acted with the Radical party, but who denounce this proscriptive Constitution.

Admission of Southern States to Representation.—The Constitutions of five of the Southern States will be before Congress for approval in a few days. It is thought all will be promptly approved and Senators and Representatives admitted.

AGENTS WANTED FOR The Official History OF THE WAR,

ITS CAUSES, CHARACTER, CONDUCT AND RESULTS.

By HON. ALEXANDER H. STEPHENS.

A book for all Sections and all Parties.

This great work presents the only complete and impartial analysis of the Causes of the War yet published, and gives those interior lights and shadows of the great conflict only known to those high officers who watched the flood-tide of revolution from its fountain springs, and which were so accessible to Mr. Stephens from his position as second officer of the Confederacy. To a public that has been surfeited with apparently similar productions, we promise a change of fare, both agreeable and salutary, and an intellectual treat of the highest order. The Great American War has AT LAST found a historian worthy of its importance, and at whose hands it will receive that moderate, candid, and impartial treatment which truth and justice so urgently demand.

The intense desire every where manifested to obtain this work, its official character and ready sale, combined with an increased commission, make it the best subscription book published.

One Agent in Easton, Pa. reports 72 subscribers in four days. One in Boston, Mass. 103 subscribers in four days. One in Memphis, Tenn. 103 subscribers in five days.

TO FARMERS!

Pacific Guano Company's SOLUBLE PACIFIC GUANO!

PRICE REDUCED TO $56.00 PER TON.

THE USE OF THIS GUANO in Maryland for several years for Corn, Tobacco and other Spring Crops, as well as for Wheat, has established its excellence. It possesses all the quickness of Peruvian Guano, with permanent qualities not possessed by that article.

Experience has shown that this Guano ripens the Wheat crop from five to six days earlier than the Super Phosphates. It also ripens Tobacco earlier, and produces a crop of better quality. The Pacific Guano Company has authorized the above reduction in consequence of the depressed condition of the farming interests in the Southern States. It is the purpose of the Company to furnish the best fertilizer at the lowest price, which they are able to do by reason of their large capital and facilities. The Guano is warranted same in quality as heretofore sold by us. For sale by dealers.

TO FARMERS and PLANTERS.

WE would call the attention of Farmers and Planters to our

Double Refined Poudrette.

It is composed of Night Soil, from which the impurities have been strained and extracted, after which it is dried, pulverized into a fine substance, and for Corn is the cheapest Fertilizer in the market. It is used in the hill, a small handful being sufficient to insure a good crop, and it will force the crop earlier, by two weeks, than any other Fertilizer. Hear what a few of the Farmers and planters say of the effect of it on Corn.

CERTIFICATES:

Extract from a letter received from Professor MARTIN, of Hampden Sidney College, Virginia, dated July 1, 1867:

The Double Refined Poudrette is operating like a charm on my crop and attracting universal attention from all beholders. I am already satisfied that it is the cheapest and surest renovator for our worn-out lands.

Extract from a letter received from F. HOLCOMBE, Savannah, Ga., Sept. 25, 1867:

I used the Double Refined Poudrette, bought of you last spring, on Corn, I think it increased the yield one-half. I consider it an excellent manure.

We are unable to give any certificates from Maryland, as it has not been introduced fairly into this market, but we feel confident that it will give general satisfaction, and we only ask of you a trial.

We have also for sale Bone Dust, Baynes' Fertilizer, Guanos, Phosphates, Ground Plaster, Lime, and all kinds of Fertilizers.
