BRYAN VS. ROOSEVELT

Radical vs. Conservative—A Very Forcible Article.

Many are proud of what they term their conservatism — their shibboleth "safe, sound and conservative." These have a horror of radicalism; regarding a radical as a species of outlaw near akin to an anarchist. This perversion results from ignorance and "covetousness, which is idolatry."

Most of the great men of the world have been radicals. The two greatest men of America to-day are radicals, Bryan and Roosevelt.

That the conflict between radicalism and conservatism is nothing new under the sun is aptly illustrated by the following extract from the Sunday School Journal for December, 1907:

"If certain persons now living had been dwellers at Jerusalem when the word came about the birth of Christ, they would have 'deplored' the news as likely to cause trouble in Jerusalem. They would have preferred that Herod rule on indefinitely rather than have any commotion. Such persons today blame the uncomfortable consequences which follow righteous agitation upon the agitators rather than upon the Herods who are responsible for the underlying evils themselves. One of the most practical lessons which citizens can learn is just the fact that the inconveniences that follow a new birth of righteousness are not to be charged against the righteousness, but against the unrighteous which the new spirit would correct."

RADICAL DEMOCRATIC PLATFORMS—1896: 1900.

For more than ten years I have been in the minority in Maryland, but have ever stood squarely with the great majority of the democrats of the United States who heartily indorse the undying principles enunciated in the Democratic National Platforms of 1896 and 1900, and who cheerfully and honestly strove for the election of Bryan.

To many of the leaders of Maryland both platforms and candidate were an unwelcome choice; openly opposed by many, while the shrewd, lewd fellows of the baser sort took only enough interest in the campaigns to enable them in the event of Bryan's election to "step up to the bar and clamor for sugar in their'n."

Deeply impressed with the similiarity between the principles of our great platforms and the last message of our great President, I have carefully compiled the parallel between them, that he who runs may read:

The Democratic National Platform of 1896—The absorption of wealth by the few, the consolidation of railroads and the formation of trusts and pools require a stricter control by the Federal Government of those arteries of commerce. We demand the enlargement of the Interstate Commerce Commission and such restrictions and guarantees in the control of railroads as will protect the people from robbery and oppression.

President Roosevelt's Message, December, 1907—The fortunes amassed through corporate organization are now so large and vest such power in those that wield them as to make it a matter of necessity to give to the sovereign—that is, the government, which represents the people—some effective power of supervision over their corporate use.

Democratic Platform of 1900—We pledge the Democratic party to an unceasing warfare against private monoply in every form. More stringent laws against trusts must be enacted providing for publicity as to the affairs of corporations engaged in interstate commerce and requiring all corporations to show, before doing business outside of the State or origin, that they have no water in their stock, and that they have not attempted to monopolize any branch of business or the production of any article of merchandise. Any attempt by corporations to interfere with the public affairs of the people or control the sovereignty which creates them should be forbidden under such penalties as will make such attempts impossible.

President's Message—There should be additional legislation looking to the great business concerns engaged in interstate commerce. To confer upon the National Government the power for which I ask would be a check upon overcaptilization. The anti-trust law should be made more efficient; this should be accompanied by provisions for the compulsory publication of accounts and the subjection of books and papers to the inspection of government officials.

No corporation or association of any kind should be permitted whose operations create a monoply.

Democratic Platform, 1896—We hold that tariff duties should be so adjusted as to operate equally throughout the country, and not discriminate between class or section, and denounce a tariff law which is a breeder of trusts and monopolies; which enriches the few at the expense of the many.

President's Message—There is an evident and constantly growing feeling among our people that the time is rapidly approaching when our tariff legislation must be revised. It is probably well that every dozen years or so the tariff laws should be carefully scrutinized so as to see that no excessive or improper benefits are conferred thereby, and that proper revenue is provided.

There must always be as a minimum a tariff which will not only allow for the collection of an ample revenue, but which will make good the difference in cost of production here and abroad, that is, the difference in labor cost here and abroad, for the well being of the wage worker must ever be a cardinal point of American policy. (The democrats have always favored this.)

Democratic Platform, 1896—We favor an income tax, so that the burdens of taxation may be equally and impartially laid, to the end that wealth may bear its due proportion of the expenses of the government.

President's Message—When our tax laws are revised the question of an income tax should receive careful attention. In my judgement this tax should be a part of our tystem of taxation.

Democratic Platform, 1896—We especially object to government by injunction as a highly dangerous form of oppression by which Federal Judges in contempt of the laws of the States and the rights of citizens become at once legislators, judges and executioners.

President's Message—Instances of abuse in granting of injunctions continue to occur, and resentment in the minds of those who feel that their rights are being invaded and their liberty of action and speech unwarrantedly restrained continue likewise to grow.

I earnestly commend to the attention of Congress this matter, so that some way may be devised which will limit the abuse of injunctions and protect those rights which from time to time it unwarrantedly invades.

Democratic Platform — We favor the arbitration of differences between employers and employees and recommend such legislation as is necessary to carry out this principle.

President's Message—Strikes and lockouts, with their attendent loss and suffering, continue to increase. I recommend that Congress favorably consider the matter of creating the machinery for compulsory investigation of such controversies. Arbitration.

Democratic Platform, 1896—The Federal Government should care for and improve the Mississippi river and the great waterways of the Republic.

President's Message—Our great river systems should be developed as natural highways. The National Government should undertake this work.

Democratic Platform, 1900—We favor an intelligent system of improving the arid lands of the West.

President's Message--Irrigation should be extensively developed. The Federal Government should seriously devote itself to this task.

Democratic Platform, 1897—We declare it to be the unwritten law of this Republic established by custom and usage of 100 years and sanctioned by the example of the greatest and wisest of those who founded and maintained our government that no men should be eligible for a third term to the Presidential office.

President Roosevelt's announcement when he was elected in 1904, and reiterated in December, 1907, was as follows: 'The wise custom which limits the President to two terms regards the substance and not the form and under no circumstances will I be a candidate for or accept another nomination. I have not changed and shall not change the decision thus announced."

A striking parallel indeed as viewed by one of the vanguard.—Major W. E. Stewart, in Easton Star Democrat, Easton, Md.

HOW HER LIFE WAS SAVED WHEN BITTEN BY A LARGE SNAKE.

How few people there are who are not afraid of snakes. Not long ago a harmless little garter snake fell on the wheel of an automobile which was being driven by a woman. The woman promptly fainted and the car, left to its own resources, ran into a stone wall and caused a serious accident.

The bite of a poisonous snake needs prompt attention. Mrs. K. M. Fishel, Route No. 1, Box 40, Dillsburg, Pa., tells how she saved her life when bitten by a large snake.

On August 29, 1906, I was bitten on the hand twice by a large copperhead snake. Being a distance from any medical aid, as a last resort I used Sloan's Liniment, and to my astonishment found it killed all pain and was the means of saving my life. I am the mother of four children and am never without your Liniment.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving rememberance of my mother, GEORGE ETTA COOPER, who died in Chestertown, on Monday, January 28, 1907, at half past twelve o'clock, aged 77 years.

Death has robbed us of our mother,
Of the one I loved so well,
Taken from this world of sorrow,
Safely home with Him to dwell.

Gone from earth, yes, gone forever,
Tear-dimmed eyes will gaze in vain,
I shall see her, nor hear her voice, oh never,
Never more on earth again.

Day by day I saw you fade
And slowly sink away,
Yet in my heart I often prayed
That you might longer stay.

Dear mother how could I give you up,
You whom I loved so well,
How could I drink of the bitter cup
And say the word farewell.

HER SON, JAMES E. COOPER.

BEWARE OF THE KISS.

Dr. Bosley, who guards the health of Baltimore, has solved the problem of how grip is transmitted. The terrible epidemic flies on the wings of the kiss. The doctor gives fair warning that when you kiss a girl who has symptoms of the grip you are taking your life in your hands. Perhaps one reason why the grip has spread throughout Maryland with such wonderful rapidity is that the Maryland girls are irresistible and you can't help kissing them if you get the chance. Therefore the grip germ has succeeded in invading the highest social circles. It has reddened the nose of Beauty and put Chivalry to bed in mustard plasters. When you have the grip there is a strong presumption either that you have kissed somebody or been kissed yourself. If you haven't had the grip we may as well conclude that you belong to the unfortunates who neither kiss nor are kissed.
