SEED WHEAT FAKES.

The NEWS is able today to give to our hundreds of farmers some important facts bearing upon several new kind of seed wheat. There is nothing so important to the farmer than seed and it is the purpose of the NEWS at all times to look to the interest of our people. It is for this reason we here publish an article from "The Rural New Yorker".

"The Saturday Evening Post of Philadelphia and many of the daily papers have printed the story of Abraham Adams and his wonderful "Alaska" wheat. This grain is offered for sale at $5 a pound or $20 per bushel, and dozens of our readers are waiting to ask if they should invest in it. The entire game appears to be one of the most extraordinary "fakes" ever attempted. The papers jump at this "big story" like a trout at a gaudy fly, and though the tremendous advertising thus obtained Adams will get rich and thousands of people will be made poorer.

Dr. B. T. Galloway, of the Department of Agriculture, promptly sounded a warning about this wheat—the following note being sent out:

A variety of wheat under the name of "Alaska" is being widely advertised as capable of yielding at the rate of 200 bushels to the acre "under ordinary soil conditions" and even better "under extra conditions." It is stated that this variety was found growing wild on the eastern coast of Alaska, and claims of the most extravagant nature are made for it. In consequence of this notoriety the Department is receiving many requests for seeds. This type of wheat has been known for many years, both in this country and in Europe. It has been tried at several State Experiment Stations in the western United States during the past 15 years, but nowhere have the yields been high enough to merit attention. The wheat has been grown to a very limited extent on certain heavy undrained soils in France for many years. In such locations it is said to yield rather better than ordinary wheat, but as it is one of the poorest wheats known for making flour, it is never grown where the ordinary varieties of wheat will thrive.

The first picture shows a head of the wheat as pictured in the Saturday Evening Post, while the second shows the same type of wheat known as "Miracle" as illustrated in a French seed catalogue 13 years ago. This type of wheat is of little value to either man or beast. It has been exploited at various times as "Miracle," "Seven-headed" and "Mummy," and under each name seems to grow a large crop of "suckers."

At 2 a. m. Tuesday the oystering fleet were wending their way to the many oyster bars of bay and river and put in a days tonging. There were few buyers and the price paid was 30 cents a bushel. There were no big catches but oysters were found plentiful and in fair condition though small in size.

At about 1 o'clock Tuesday night the dwelling of John Michelowski in Allen's Lane was discovered on fire, the alarm was given and neighbors responded but had too much headway and the building was entirely consumed. The origin of the fire is supposed to be from a defect in the kitchen chimney. The contents of the home were saved. Rich Colyer and Nelson Ryan did heroic service as a bucket brigade, saving surrounding buildings. Michelowski narrowly escaped being creamated as he was asleep in his room when the fire was well underway and was called out by the neighbors. We learn the property was insured in J. G. Beck's agency for $1,000.

Capt. Joseph B. Downey while in the city sustained a fracture of one of his arms. He was at his boarding place and fell from an elevation.

IN MEMORIAM.

In memory of JAMES H. MAUL, who departed this life July 5th, 1907.

We will not weep, my husband's toils are o'er;
We will not grieve, his faithful race is run.
God grant that we may rest as calmly
When our work like his is done.

Farewell husband, but not forever.
There will be a glorious dawn;
We shall meet to part, no never.
On the Resurrection morn.

Though thy darling form lies sleeping
In the cold and silent tomb,
Thou shalt have a glorious wakening
When the Blessed Lord doth come.

REV. DR. CUSHING DEAD.

Rev. Dr. Henry Caleb Cushing, professor of systematic theology in Westminister Theological Seminary and an eminent minister of the Methodist Protestant Church, died at 10.40 o'clock Wednesday morning on his farm near Mannassas, Va., where he was spending his summer vacation. His death was caused by paralysis. Dr. Cushing was nearly 80 years old.

Dr. Cushing grew to manhood on his father's farm in Prince William county, Va. In 1852 he entered the ministry and began itinerant work among the people of Prince William county. In 1853 he joined the Maryland Annual Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church. RELIGIOUS NOTES.

James W. Chapman, Jr., Esq., and wife brought their little son, Vannort, to Sunday school last Sunday for the first time. During the session Mr. Chapman addressed the school in a very appropriate speech in which he recalled his early teachers, viz., Mrs. Edwards, Mr. Calder, Mrs. Hubbard, Mrs. Bowers and others. While he was speaking Mrs. C. was unable to hold Vannort, who persisted in standing near his father, and finally climbed up on a stool and leaned over the pulpit desk alongside the speaker. It was a most affectionate as well as amusing incident. Mr. Chapman and family, after spending the summer at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Vannort, left for their home in Baltimore on Monday.

Dr. Henry B. Martin, the faithful rector of Emmanuel Church, is enjoying a month's rest by the seaside.

Shot In Crap Game.

William Davis, a negro from Wilmington, is charged with visiting a picnic near Chesterville Saturday and selling liquor to the attendants. During a dispute over a game of crap Davis was shot by John Chambers, a farm hand employed by Mr. E. B. Pennington. Officers Lockerman and Startt arrested Chambers and he is now in jail awaiting trial. S. Scott Beck, Esq., appeared for him at the hearing held in Millington Wednesday. He claimed to have been attacked by Davis. Dr. Jacobs does not think the wounded man can recover. This makes the fifth shooting affray that has occured in Kent county this year, and in each case the speakeasy seems to have been at the bottom. These cases will all come up for trial in October. Davis was carried to the University Hospital, Baltimore, and has a bullet hole in his chest and back. This would indicate that the bullet passed clear through his body. His condition is critical.

WALTER T. BRAMBLE is the "old regulator" in the harness business. He has taken the agency also for Buckeye horse, cattle and poultry powders See adv. next week.
