THE FRENCH ZOUAVES—Their Organization and Style of Fighting.—France possesses several special or extra corps entirely distinct from the regular army, the national guard or the marines. One of them, and perhaps the most peculiar and eccentric, are the Zouaves. There are two kind of Zouaves, the African or original Zouaves, who, in time of peace, are always stationed in Africa, and whose strength there is about 12,000 men, and the Zouaves imites, or imitation Zouaves, who are armed, equipped, and drilled like the original corps, but do not possess the same perfection in manouvring, &c. These latter are only stationed a part of the time in Africa, the greater part they are stationed in various parts of France. In their armament the Zouaves differ materially from the regular infantry, particularly in their bayonets, which have the shape of scythes, and their side-arm, which is the Algerian yataghan—that is, the peculiar short-sword of the Kabyles; also, in so far that they prefer to use their own private revolvers. No one can become a Zouave who is not a born Frenchman, and a very large number of them are recruited amongst the Paris loafers and gamins. Their drilling comprises, besides the military evolutions, more particularly also gymnastics, and no one can serve amongst them for any length of time who is not an accomplished and perfect swimmer, jumper and climber. Their style of fighting differs accordingly from that of the regular infantry. They make no bayonet attacks in closed lines, but spread themselves out so as to have more room for striking about with their bayonet, and they enter the enemy's lines on the full run with large bounds. One of their eccentricities is their love for cats, and they prefer as pets the large gray and black cat of Algeria. The training of these cats is remarkable. They know not only all the soldiers, but also their four-footed comrades belonging to the same battalion, and easily pick out their masters under all circumstances. They are very obedient to them, and, not only on the march but also in battle, take up their positions on their knapsacks—from which position they participate in the fight according to their own peculiar style, jumping into the face of the enemy and scratching and biting in a furious manner. During the Crimean war the wounds in the faces of the Russian soldiers from these cats were so serious and numerous that they had to establish at Odessa a separate ward in the hospital for the better healing of them.

In climbing up and attacking a rocky height the Zouaves command their cats to the front to lead the way, and carefully watching the way the cats take, they follow them closely, and take advantage of every foothold pointed out by their trusty and agile comrades.

DEPARTURE OF COLONEL BONAPARTE.—The American Bonaparte, Jerome Napoleon, son of of the late Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte, of Baltimore, left our shores on Saturday, in the steamship Layfayette, for France, for the purpose of joining the French army of the Rhine. An American soldier, educated at West Point, he has done some active service in the army of the United States, but as a French soldier he distinguished himself in the Crimean and Italian wars. The New York World says:

Colonel Bonaparte was on the afterdeck of the vessel several times before she was cast loose from her pier, but he was very reserved, and maintained a careful reticence towards the inquisitive. One question only of any importance did he deign to answer. When asked if he intended to take an active part in the war between France and Prussia, he replied:

"If his Majesty the Emperor pleases."

"But, Colonel," said his interlocutor, "you are an American."

"I am an officer of the French army, and a Bonaparte. Every Bonaparte owes a duty to his family and to France."

And then he walked away in a manner to indicate that further approaches would be useless. It will likely be the policy of the Emperor to play this branch of the family off against the Prince Napoleon, who is next heir of the Empire to the Prince Imperial. If the colonel shows any military genius he can scarcely fail to reach the highest position, and may come to be recognized by his cousin as in the legitimate line of succession.

THE HEALTH OF NAPOLEON.—A Paris correspondent of the New York Evening Post, referring to the health of the Emperor Napoleon, states that the physician of his imperial highness declares him to be an "impossible" patient, who is always in such a hurry to get well that his convalescence is regarded by his efforts to help nature in doing more than the doctors prescribe. At one time, in the midst of a severe attack of the gout, he was found by his attendants, applying lighted lucifer matches to the soles of his feet as counter-irritants. At another, when troubled with a headache, he put so much emetic ointment on the nape of his neck that he was blistered down to his shoulder blades. "I have overdone it, doctor," he said, in reply to a remonstrance from the latter, "and it is all very well for you to say that I had better wait for you, but you see, I haven't time to be sick." Indeed, his impatience has become quite feverish; he seems to think that he will die before he can establish his son on the throne, and directly he begins to benefit by a change of air or of medical treatment, overtaxes his strength, bodily and mentally, taking long and fatiguing walks and working with his secretaries, during all of which time a cigarette is never out of his mouth.

No PRIVATEERING.—There will be no privateering in a war between France and Prussia. It is forbidden by the "Paris Declaration" of 1856, which was signed by the Plenipotentiaries of England, France, Prussia, Austria, Russia, Sardinia and Turkey. The exact language of the four points then agreed upon is as follows: 1. Privateering is, and remains, abolished. 2. The neutral flag covers enemy's goods, with the exception of contraband of war. 3. Neutral goods, with the exception of contraband of war, not liable to capture, under enemy's flag.

4. Blockades, in order to be binding, must be effective; that is to say, maintained by such a force sufficient really to prevent access to the coast of the enemy.

The American Government, it will be remembered, declined to become a party to the above declaration.

THE COURT MOURNING FOR JEROME BONAPARTE.—A letter from Paris to the New York Post says:

To the great surprise of everybody, the court has received an order to go into nine days mourning for Mr. Patterson Bonaparte. Perhaps there would have been less amazement had this action been immediate on the announcement of the American cousin's death. The true reason for the delay, however, was that the Emperor waited the return of Plon-Plon from Switzerland before taking a step which might have been construed by that testy and disagreeable person into a slur upon his legitimacy. The story of the Patterson-Bonaparte branch is well known to all Americans, and the French papers are taking every pains to make it equally current among their countrymen. Plon-Plon apparently agreed at once with the Emperor, who put it on the ground that "this tribute of respect to a nephew of his uncle would be personally a satisfaction de coeur to himself;" but the Prince was seriously enraged, and, as he always does when in a bad humor, went on board his yacht and put out to sea.

This overproud, cowardly debauche, for such is his reputation, is frightfully jealous of his rights and prerogatives, but knows that his claim to rank and title were only countenanced because of the complications which might have resulted from a recognition of the American son of old Jerome, yet he lords it as though he were the heir apparent to the French throne, and as if there was no Prince Imperial in existence.

SUNSTROKE.—The mortality from sunstrokes during the last ten or twelve days has been almost without parallel. There have been as many as thirty-five deaths in a single day in the city of New York from this cause alone, which partially indicates the trying heat through which we have been passing. It must be remembered, too, that the actual number of recorded deaths, traceable directly to the heat, represents only a fraction of the injury to health and life which the weather has occasioned. The ratio of sunstrokes to sickness of a less decided type, but resulting from the heat, does not perhaps exceed one to a hundred, while the unfavorable effect produced upon persons already ill is incalculable. Startling as is the exceptional record of mortality then, it affords no criterion of the suffering endured or the injury which has really been inflicted. The effect of excessive heat upon the nervous system is always unfavorable.

THE DEATH RATE.—Philadelphia is alarmed about the enormous increase in the death rate since the hot season set in. For the week ending July 23 there were 601 reported deaths, being an increase of 251 over the mortality of the preceding week, and 135 more than during the corresponding week of last year. The causes assigned are the warm weather, the filthy condition of some of the streets, the foulness of the crowded tenement houses in narrow alleys and courts, the consumption by the children of unripe fruits which are sold from the street stands, the "excitement, haste and indiscretion with which men pursue the daily rounds of their business, heedless of exposure to the fierce heat of the sun, and careless of what they eat or how they eat it," and "lastly, by the vile, poisonous liquors sold all over the city." If like causes produce like effects, other localities should beware.

SMELLING THE SUN.—One of the curious effects of the intense heat which humanity has endured for the past two weeks has been to give to a gentleman residing in south Baltimore the singular faculty of smelling the sun. The gentleman alluded to was sunstruck a few days ago, and since his recovery he positively asserts that he can smell the sun when it shines upon him. He describes the smell as being very offensive, and the only way that he can find relief is to hurry into the shade; once there, his smelling faculties cease to nauseate him, but the moment old Sol smiles upon him he becomes intensely sick. So says the physician in charge of the case.—American.

THE COMMANDERS IN THE NEW WAR.—It is a remarkable fact that all the great generals in command on both sides of the conflict in Europe are over sixty years of age. The war opens as a military competition between old men, trained to arms; indeed, decorated with crosses and orders, and scarred, many of them with honorable wounds, but all past three-score.—Should the struggle be a prolonged one younger leaders will surely come to the front, eager for the Marshal's baton and the Black Eagle; but for the present the public interest is centred on a dozen figures more or less bent by the weight of years and the hardships of former campaigns.—N. Y. Evening Post.

THE present King of Prussia is 73 years of age, and has had long and large experience in both public affairs and warfare. He was educated a soldier, and as a youth served in the war in which the Frst Napoleon proved too strong for his father, and no doubt he cherishes unpleasant memories of the humiliations his father suffered in that struggle.

A SUIT of the School Commissioners of Wicomico county against the School Commissioners of Worcester county for one-third of the school fund possessed by the latter county at the time Wicomico was created out of it and Somerset, is now pending before the Somerset court.

THE HORSES.—Remember the horses in this prostrating weather. They should be lightly loaded, driven slowly, and their food and drink carefully attended to.

Health's Best Defence.

"The weak eateth herbs," says St. Paul, so that eighteen hundred years ago the value of medicinal plants was appreciated. In the Old Testament botanical remedies are repeatedly recommended, but in no passage of sacred history is man recommended to swallow calomel, or blue pill, or any other mineral preparation. The sick were directed to eat herbs to strengthen them, to purify them, to heal them, to restore them. In that day the art of making vegetable extracts was unknown. The herbal medicines were mere infusions.

It was reserved for a later age to unite the sanitary essences of tonic, apperient, and antibilious roots, barks and plants, with an active stimulant, and thus secure their rapid diffusion through the debilitated or disordered system. The crowning triumph of this effective mode of concentrating and applying the virtues of medicinal vegetables was achieved in the production of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Never before had a perfectly pure alchoholic stimulant been combined with the expressed juices of the finest specifics of the vegetable kingdom. Never yet, though eighteen years have elapsed since its introduction, has this great restorative been equalled. It is taken at all seasons, in all climes, as the most potent safeguard against epidemics, as a protection against all unhealthy exhalations that produce debility or beget disease; as a remedy for intermittent and other malarious fevers; as an appetizer; as a sovereign cure for dyspepsia; as a general tonic and invigorant; as a gentle, painless aperient; as a blood depurent; as a nervine; as a cure for bilious affections; as a harmless anodyne; and as the BEST DEFENCE OF HEALTH under unfavorable circumstances, such as sedentary pursuits, undue bodily or mental exertion, hardship privation and exposure.

COUGHS, SORE THROAT, ETC.

No Medicine or Treatment can excel the Powerful Curative Power of

DR. SIMMS'

WHITE PULMONIC BALSAM.

It cures with a rapidity unequalled by any other remedy offered for Throat and Lung diseases. It is recommended by over 2,000 persons in Wilmington, and hundreds in Philadelphia, Baltimore and other cities and communities throughout the country. Mr. Pennington, of Wilmington, Illinois, writes that there is not (with a few exceptions) a family in that city who will be without it if possible to procure it. Such is its popularity wherever it is known—and this popularity arises from the fact that it universally cures all who use it. There is no case of Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup, Blood Spitting, Hoarseness, and even Pulmonary Consumption, where the system is not broken down with the wear of the disease, or pretended medicine, or inexperienced advice that this Balsam will not cure if carefully used, according to directions. We guarantee it all we represent it to be, and invite a trial from the afflicted everywhere. Price, 50 cents, medium size, and $1 for large size bottles. Prepared only by

The Great Medical Discovery!

Dr. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands

Bear testimony to their wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY?

THEY ARE NOT A VILE

FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits, and Refuse Liquors, doctored, spiced, and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics" "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER, and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter, and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters, according to directions, and remain long unwell.

$100 will be given for an incurable case, providing the bones are not destroyed by mineral poisons or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, and Gout, Dyspepsia, or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent, and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

They invigorate the stomach, and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Copious Discharges of Urine, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms which are the offsprings of Dyspepsia, are cured by these Bitters.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE, and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed.

For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle, printed in four languages—English, German, French, and Spanish.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful stimulant to the Torpid Organs, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Viscera Organs.
