FAIRFIELD'S EGG PRODUCER

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect it.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a brick dust sediment, or settling, stringy or milky appearance often indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back are also symptoms that tell you the kidneys and bladder are out of order and need attention.

What To Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills almost every wish in correcting rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. Corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest because of its remarkable health restoring properties. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

Home of Swamp-Root.

You may have a sample bottle sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Mention this paper and remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

FALL AND WINTER STYLES

Broadcloth in Many New Shades—Diagonal Cheviots—Rough Mixtures—Tailor Suits—New Millinery and New Trimmings.

Sartorial authorities consider that broadcloth and other smooth-finished fabrics have had the supremacy long enough, therefore an effort is being made to introduce rough wool fabrics, with but little chance of success if we are to judge by the variety of colors displayed in broadcloths. The favored shades of last winter reappear and new tints of purple, blue, wisteria, brown, smoke, and crimson form an extensive list from which to choose. Diagonal Cheviots are the leading material for tailor suits, both in rough and smooth finish, but so far the satiny finish predominates in new Fall suits.

OTHER DRESS FABRICS.

Camel's hair, zibeline and Scotch mixtures, figure largely in the showing of Fall goods, and the ever-present dark blue serge is in strong demand—a color becoming to almost all complexions. Shepherd checks have been revived, the extreme novelty however is Jersey cloth in both silk and wool. The extremely tight costume has ceased to exist, and both sleeves and skirts are decidedly fuller.

TAILOR SUITS.

These have the long coat (which looks more or less solemn) and plaited skirts, the plaits set on a deep yoke at back and front, but the sides are plain. Coats may button diagonally or straight, and occasionally a little braiding is on the sides of the coat skirt. As all feminines do not want an entire suit, independent coats of black broadcloth are shown in large numbers, some having a simple velvet collar and cuffs, then again others are elaborately braided all around and closed at the throat by elegant passementerie tassels. Straps of braiding put on slanting with buttons in the centre at regular spaces on the fronts are a handsome addition. Blue broadcloth coats are brought out, but black is more stylish.

The above designs are by The McCall Company, New York, Designers and Makers of McCall Patterns.

NEW MILLINERY.

The large crown and turn-down brim comes up again in Fall millinery, and any hope regarding smaller hats that may have existed, is entirely dispelled. These turn-down affairs (which are a strong reminder of the "scrap-basket" hat of this Summer) are called toques, and come away down over the face, and it is said that the bank of false hair at the back of the head will now be displaced by the aforesaid toques. A large shape, turned up at one side should be the leading style for the Winter, but perhaps it is not eccentric enough to please popular taste. Hats of this shape are very attractive and inexpensive when made of checked silk, in black and white, or blue and white, drawn plain over the hat, with a generous draping of plain silk around the crown (matching the color in the check) and the brim faced by similar. Of course there is a very large bow at the front. Plain taffeta silk shirred on cords is used for an entire hat or for linings of brims and plain shirring is also favored.

GOWNS.

These are higher than ever and of varied shapes. Turbans are more endurable than toques, but very trying, as those now shown have severs, velvet brims and often bowl crowns of another material moire, or shirred silk, the harsh effect somewhat modified however by bunches of coq feathers and velvet bows. The demand for ostrich plumes is on the increase, and prices in proportion. Velvet, coq feathers and plumage of all descriptions are prominent in millinery and flowers are conspicious by their absence.

TRIMMINGS.

These are rich with metallic lace effects, and combinations of different kinds of braiding and cord are seen on all sides. Nets form the basis of many handsome trimmings done in embroidery and braiding, often rendered brilliant by metallic threads. Irish lace will probably be more fashionable than ever this fall.
