PARALYSIS FATAL TO THOMAS HILL

He Was Stricken Two Weeks Ago While Swimming, and Had Been in a Sanitarium Ever Since—His Wife and Son at His Bedside—His Remains Brought Home for Burial.

After having lain in a critical condition for more than two weeks, Mr. Thomas Hill, one of the best-known real estate dealers of Baltimore City, expired at 1 o'clock Tuesday at the New England Sanatorium, at Melrose, Mass. His death was caused by a stroke of paralysis, which he had suffered about two weeks ago while swimming at Beach Bluff, Mass.

Mr. Hill was born in Baltimore October 31, 1834. His father, Mr. Thomas Gardner Hill, was a first sergeant in the Fifty-seventh regiment in the War of 1812. On his death, his son Thomas, who had received a good education in the public schools of Baltimore, was practically thrown upon his own responsibility. The law at first called him and he entered the office of Brown & Brune. Although he was ready to pass the bar examinations, he failed to apply for a sheepskin, believing that he would make more of a success in the real estate business. For many years he was an agent for the late Mr. James McHenry, and built up one of the largest real estate firms in the city.

In 1898 he retired from active work in the real estate business, and confined himself to the management of his estate of which a large part is in Kent County, and his wide interest in local financial institutions.

Mr. Hill was president and founder of the old Real Estate Exchange; vice-president of the Title Insurance and Trust Company; vice-president of the Mortgage Guarantee Company; vice-president of the Title Guarantee and Trust Company, and treasurer and one of the founders of the Maryland Asylum and Training School.

Mr. Hill was an active worker in the religious field, and was a vestryman and registrar of St. Peter's Protestant Episcopal Church. He was also identified with the Boys' Home Society and the St. Andrew's Scotch Society.

Mr. Hill's marriage to Miss Harriet Louisa Westcott, daughter of the late George B. Westcott, of Chestertown, in November of 1862, was under rather romantic circumstances, and Mr. Hill was fond of telling how he had driven through a blinding snowstorm to his bride's home from the steamboat wharf on the return to Baltimore after the ceremony. Mr. Hill is survived by his widow, one daughter (Mrs. Anna Bryant Sadtler, wife of Rev. John G. Sadtler, of Baltimore,) and two sons (Malcolm Westcott Hill, an electrical engineer of Baltimore, and Norman A. Hill, an electrical engineer of Philadelphia.)

CHURCH NOTES.

State Superintendent George H. Nock, of the Maryland Evangelistic Association will hold a conference for Sunday School workers in the M. E. Church at Worton on Sunday, the 26th.

The King's Daughters are preparing to give an entertainment in Stam's Hall about the middle of October and Christ M. P. Church young people are planning a big thing a little later.

Chestertown M. E Church—Rev. L. E. Barrett, D. D., pastor—Services next Sunday, September 26, as follows: 10.30 a. m., preaching by the pastor—Subject: "Elijah Beneath the Juniper Tree;" Fourth in the Series on "The Prophet of Faith and Fire;" 2.15 Rally Day Services in Sabbath School—splendid program of singing, addresses, etc.—Contest for silk banner from Sunday school. Union; 6 p. m., Junior League. 7 p. m., Vesper Service with short sermon by the pastor.

The Methodist Protestant announces that Dr. D. L. Greenfield will preach at Wesley Chapel on the morning of October 17th, and at Chestertown at night of same day. He will represent the superannuate cause.

Dr. F. T. Little preached two strong sermons Sunday on the crying evils of today in which he spoke of the Sabbath desecration by boat, train, etc.

ROBBED AND MONEY RETURNED

At the circus in Chestertown recently two of our citizens were robbed of six or eight dollars in making change but when Officer Cooper appealed to the adjuster the money was refunded.

In Centreville last Monday Wm. Everett, employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and who also carries the mail between the depot and the post office, was robbed of $9 by a showman in making change. The showman requestsd that Everett give him paper money in exchange for silver. Everett did not pay attention as to the amount of change received until after the show. The man could not be found then. Mr. Everett in conversation with Postmaster Orrell the next morning told how he had been fleeced. Mr. Orrell at once got busy and wrote the management of the show telling how Everett had been parted from his money. Mr. Orrell on Wednesday received a letter from Chas. Hagman, adjuster of Howe's Show, enclosing a money order for $9, which he turned over to Mr. Everett, who is now wearing an extended smile and who has promised to leave his change at home when another circus hits town. Mr. Orrell is also receiving congratulations for the manner in which he secured the return of Everett's money. Charles Kirby, colored, is also said to have lost over $25.00 in the side show by a game of chance. This game was closed by States Attorney Keating and Sheriff Whitely, but Kirby's money was not returned.

TO AVOID COLDS.

Millions of people suffer every year from colds, sore throat, and catarrh, simply because they lack the knowledge or the gumption to have their homes properly heated.

And yet the heating problem is very easily solved, if one will but give a little thought. To make the study more interesting and profitable it may be truly said that it is easier to heat a house properly than to heat it improperly; and that it takes less time and tinkering to maintain an even, healthful temperature than to keep a house full of drafts and cold spots.

Too much heat is worse than too little. It saps vitality from the body and makes it sensitive to changes. Different degrees of warmth in different rooms, or in different parts of the same room, cause sudden changes in skin-temperature as one moves about the house, and gives rise to troublesome colds. Temperature that varies from hour to hour—sometimes hot and sometimes cold—has the same dangerous effect.

It is a fact not generally known that coal gas (which is an unfortunate but almost universal by-product of a hot-air furnace) irritates the delicate membranes lining the throat and bronchial passages making them extremely sensitive and troublesome, often contracting colds and sore throat which might have been warded off but for the irritation of the coal gas.

Strange to say, it costs less to warm a house properly and safely than it does to warm it irregularly, insufficiently, dangerously. This has been proven over and over. Yet most of the poor heating systems are installed with the idea of saving money. The trouble is in the choice of the plant.

Steam or hot water makes by far the most efficient heating medium. And the Model Heating System seems to be the most regular in its delivery of heat, and the most saving of coal. Its economy begins with the thorough combustion of coal—getting all the heat out of it. Then, by a unique plan of internal circulation, it heats water very rapidly and carries it (or steam in a steam heating system) to all radiators with perfect regularity and with practically no loss.

The makers state that this system will save from a third to a half of the ordinary coal consumption, because it thoroughly utilizes the coal. This claim is backed by letters from many people throughout the country who find the Model Heating System not only economical, but so regular and able that it banishes almost entirely that fall, winter and spring bugaboo—colds.

Coal is Money—Save It!

Every time you put coal on the fire, just remember that you are shoveling money. Don't waste it! If you have one of those old-fashioned hot-air coal eaters, you can save half of your usual coal bills, and at the same time have more heat, distributed evenly from first floor to attic, at all hours, no matter how cold the weather.

MODEL
Heating System

Saves coal because it burns it thoroughly and circulates every bit of the heat through the house. Saves your time, because it almost runs itself. Makes very few ashes, and those few are fine and white—no clinkers or black coals. The safest, ablest, most economical heating system, as proved in thousands of homes. Steam or hot water.

LEDOM Range
Makes a big fire with a little coal. Gets all the heat out of coal, leaving only fine white ashes. No need to sift ashes if you have a Ledom. Fire always fine for broiling, keeps the water tank hot, and has a big oven that keeps hot all through. The best range that can be made.
