THE THIRD DECADE OF A WANDERING BOY

[Written especially for the Kent News.]

So sad, so fresh, the days that are no more.

My few school days are about ended and I am notified to go to Chestertown. I packed all my belongings and a few books in an old cotton handerchief, but I do not want to go. Mr. Haines has offered to take me but I can't help myself. So we start to Chestertown; I am taken to Henry W. Ernest, my guardian who wanted me indentured; they carried me befdre that venerable Judge George S. Holliday, who always knew me afterwards and was very kind to me. I had to work hard but it was a good home and they were good people.

The first Sunday I went to Church in the morning, in the afternoon I went to Sunday School, a very large school, the Superintendants being the two Misses Perkins, aunts to that great man Dr. James Alfred Perkins who was their Secretary. Now of all those children that were there I know of but two who are living. I assure you I was very much pleased with everything; one of the first friends I knew and invited me to his home was that worthy man, John L. Ringgold, who was a great mechanic. I went to see him and he had an excellent and motherly companion. They had at their home a little girl, their son had gone to California, their daughter afterwarde married one of my boyhood friends who was sheriff of Kent County twice, and his daughter married a son of one of my father's friends.

The ex sheriff lives in the Second District now; he and I have lived over four score years. I hope sincerely when we are called, we will be ready to meet our Creator and go to our eternal rest. Now I soon got acquainted with Capt. John Russell and Wm. Frazier, the Rev. Nathan Wiley, the venerable David Arthur and John Dodd, who tried to do so much for poor humanity, who gave up his house one night every week that the people may come there and worship. That plain and wonderful man, George B. Westcott, who was one of my best friends in after life, which I will tell you more about.

I frequently saw a fine looking man with a fine looking team, I asked who he was and they told me he was a young doctor, he afterwards became a great counselor, finally he became a great judge for many years; I served on the jury for him with great pleasure, I remember instances that happened while he was judge; this one the jury was called and I was foreman; the case was: State vs. James Gooseberry; they had to take two talesmen, to make out the jury, the case was given to the jury a while before night; it was a case of stealing meat from Chas. Stanley.

The jury was out all night and the jury wanted to see the meat; their were five pieces brought to the jury room; it was the usual thing for us to occupy the courthouse at night, the next morning when court met we were ready to bring in the verdict, so the owner of the meat went to the jury room to get it and found there was but four pieces! He reported the matter to the judge and the judge sent for me; he said you will have to pay Stanley for that meat, sir. I said alright, I know nothing about it. I went down and found most of the jury at the courthouse door and I reported it to them. They appointed a committee to find it; they found it but it was cut in two already to be put in the pot. The man who was supposed to have done it, come along and he said he had let it out of a window by a string and hauled up something else, we said to him you better leave this town, so I kept away from the Judge as long as I could until I was called.

He called me to know all about the matter but someone had told him how it was, I told him I could not tell him, that I didn't want anything that was hauled up there, and never seen it afterwards. The next court I was on the jury, he had not forgot it and asked me again. I told him what was done and all about it. He said, "I will have him punished yet," Oh, no, Judge, He has gone since then, the way of all flesh.

The next instant, he again took me as his foreman, I can't remember the case now, the court was through with the case, and the jury retired Friday afternoon. We were out that night. Saturday afternoon before the court adjourned, the judge sent for us to come in, he wanted to know if we had agreed, we said "no." "Well" he said, "gentlemen I will have to send you back, it is a very plain case. So we started back and he called me and said, now I will give you a sealed verdict, and when it is signed you can go home. He then asked me what the trouble was, I told him the first vote we took Friday night stood 10 to 2.

He said to me I will come up hereafter night which he did, sent for the jury and we told him we could not agree. My old friend, Jacob Sutton was very much distressed about going to church the next day; he said to the judge "I would like to go to church, he said the bailiff, and the jury can go to church with you; my old friend Sutton said he had no clean linen, he looked up and said my linen will nearly fit you, and said if you send down I will send it to you. We filed back in the jury room, and the Judge went on out, in a very few minutes the verdict was signed and we were on our way home.

Now another instance that was told me by my good friend Dennis J. Noland, Years ago the judge had been a candidate for the constitutional convention; for some reason he and I were not as friendly as we were in after years He was cut in the Second District some votes, my good friend Dennis Noland and one of his neighbors not as good friend to me, went to town after the election, and met the judge on the street; the judge said to them you cut me up there, left the impression with them that I was the cause of it; they said no, he did all he could for you worked hard all day, and told him who did do it. It was a doctor who lived at Chesterville. A few days afterward I went to town and had a talk. We have always been the best of friends and hope he may live peaceful and be numbered among the blessed.
