THE PRESIDENCY.

Mr. Greeley's Letter Accepting the Baltimore Nomination.

NEW YORK, July 23.—The following is Mr. Greeley's letter accepting the Baltimore nomination in reply to the letter of the committee appointed to notify him thereof:

New York, July 18.—Gentlemen:—Upon mature deliberation it seems fit that I should give to your letter of the 10th inst., some further and fuller response than the hasty unpremeditated words in which I acknowledged and accepted your nomination at our meeting on the 12th inst. That your convention saw fit to accord the highest honor to one who had been prominently and pointedly opposed to your party in the earnest and sometimes angry controversies of the last forty years is essentially noteworthy. That many of you originally preferred that the liberal republicans should present another candidate for President, and would more readily have united in the support of Adams, or Trumbull, or Davis, or Brown, is well known.

I owe my adoption at that time, or at all, to the fact that I had already been nominated at Cincinnati, and that a contraction of forces upon any new ticket had been proved impracticable. Gratified as I am at your concurrence in the Cincinnati nomination, I would not have thus consented had you not deemed me upright and capable. I find nothing in the circumstances calculated to inflame vanity or nourish self-conceit, but that your convention saw fit in adopting the Cincinnati ticket to reaffirm the Cincinnati platform, is to me a source of the profoundest satisfaction. That body was constrained to take the important step by no party necessity, real or supposed.

It might have accepted the candidates of the liberal republicans upon grounds already its own, or it might have presented, as the first whig national convention did Harrison and Tyler, without any platform whatever.

That it chose to plant itself deliberately by a vote nearly unanimous upon the fullest and clearest enunciation of principles, which are at once incontestibly republican and emphatically democratic, gives trustworthy assurance that a new and more auspicious era is dawning upon our long distracted country. Some of the best years and best efforts of my life were devoted to a struggle against chattel slavery—a struggle none the less earnest or arduous because respect for constitutional obligations constrained me to act, for the most part, on the defensive in resistance to the diffusion, rather than in direct efforts for the extinction of human bondage.

Throughout most of those years my vista was uncheered, my exertions were never animated by even so much as a hope that I should live to see my country peopled by freemen alone. The affirmance by your convention of the Cincinnati platform is a most conclusive proof that not merely is slavery abolished, but that its spirit is extinct, that despite the protests of a respectable but isolated few there remains among us no party and no formidable interest which regrets the overthrow or desires the re-establishment of human bondage, whether in the letter or in the spirit.

I am thereby justified in my hope and trust that the first century of American independence will not close before the grand elemental truths on which its rightfulness was based by Jefferson and the Continental Congress of '96 will no longer be regarded as "glittering generalities," but will have become the universally accepted and honored foundations of our political fabric. I demand the prompt application of those principles to our existing condition.

Having done what I could for the complete emancipation of the blacks, I now insist on the full enfranchisement of all my white countrymen. Let none say that the ban has just been removed from all but a few hundred elderly gentlemen, to whom eligibility to office can be of little consequence.

My view contemplates not the hundreds proposed, but the millions who are denied the right to be ruled and represented by the men of their unfettered choice. Proscription were absurd if these did not wish to elect the very men whom they are forbidden to choose.

I have a profound regard for the people of that New England wherein I was born, and in whose common schools I was taught. I think no other people above them in intelligence, capacity and moral worth, but while they do many things well and some admirably, there is one thing which I am sure they cannot do wisely or safely, and that is to undertake the selection for States remote from and unlike their own of the persons by whom those States shall be represented in Congress. If they could do this to good purpose, then republican institutions are unfit and aristocracy the only true political system. Yet what have we recently witnessed? Z. B. Vance, of North Carolina, the unquestioned choice of a large majority of the present Legislature, a majority backed by a majority of the people who voted at its election, refused the seat in the Federal Senate to which he was fairly chosen, and the Legislature was thus constrained to choose another in his stead or leave the State unrepresented for years.

The votes of New England thus deprived North Carolina of the Senator of her choice and compelled her to send another in his stead, another, who in our late contest was like Vance a rebel, and a fighting rebel, but who had not served in Congress before the war as Vance had, though the latter remained faithful to the Union until after the close of his term. I protest against the disfranchisement of a State, presumptively of a number of States, on grounds so narrow and technical as this. The fact that the same Senate which refused Vance his seat, proceeded to remove his disabilities after that seat had been filled by another, only serves to place in stronger light the indignity to North Carolina, and the arbitrary, capricious tyranny which dictated it.

I thank you, gentlemen, that my name is to be conspicuously associated with yours in a determined effort to render amnesty complete and universal in spirit as well as in letter. Even defeat in such a cause would leave no sting, while triumph would rank with those victories which no blood reddens and which evoke no tears, but those of gratitude and joy.

Gentlemen, your platform, which is also mine, assures me that democracy is not henceforth to stand for one thing, and republicanism for another, but that those terms are to mean in politics, as they always have meant in the dictionary, substantially one and the same thing, namely, equal rights, regardless of creeds, or clime, or color.

I hail this as a genuine new departure from outworn feuds and meaningless contentions in the direction of progress and reform. Whether I shall be found worthy to bear the standard of the great liberal movement which the American people have inaugurated is to be determined not by words, but by deeds. With me, if I steadily advance, over me if I falter.

Its grand array (army?) moves on to achieve for our country her glorious, beneficent destiny. I remain, gentlemen, yours,

HORACE GREELEY.

To Hon. Jas. R. Doolittle, chairman.

Midsummer Maladies.

The hot solar rays that ripen the harvests generate many distressing diseases. If the liver be at all predisposed to irregularities, this is the season in which billious attacks may be anticipated. A weak stomach, too, is weakest in the summer months, and the loss of vitality through the pores by excessive perspiration is so great, that a wholesome tonic, combining also the properties of a diffusive stimulant and gentle exhilarant, is in many cases necessary to health, and under no circumstances should be dispenced with by the sickly and debilitated. Of all the preparations intended thus to refresh sustain and fortify the human frame, there is none that will compare with Hostetter's Celebrated Stomach Bitters. They have been weighed in the balance of experience and not found wanting; have been recommended from the first as a great medicinal specific, not as a beverage, and in spite of interested opposition from innumerable quarters, stand, after a twenty years trial, at the head of of all proprietary medicines intended for the prevention and cure of all ordinary complaints of the stomach, the liver, the bowels and the nerves. In the unhealthy districts bordering the great rivers of California, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters may be classed as the standard one for every species of intermittent or remittent fever. The people who inhabit those districts place the most implicit confidence in the preparation—a confidence that is increased every year by the result of its operation.

As bitters, so called, of the most pernicious character, are springing up like fungi on every side, the public is hereby forewarned against the dram-shop frauds. Ask for Hostetter's Bitters, see that the label, etc., are correct, and remember that the genuine article is never sold in bulk, but in bottles only.

EXCLUSIVE RIGHT.

Having the EXCLUSIVE RIGHT to sell the WARDEN & EVANS
Stave Peach Basket
FOR NEW CASTLE COUNTY,
We can offer great inducements to those who buy now, and would say to those who postpone it, we shall be glad to sell to them when they get ready to buy, but will have to make them pay for being slow.
This basket is undoubtedly the handsomest, cheapest and best basket ever made on this Peninsula, and some of our largest Peach Growers say they believe it to be the best basket to sell peaches in, and intend to use nothing else. We can prove that nice peaches, packed in nice, clean, new, even sized baskets will bring over and above what they would in dirty, uneven and unsightly baskets, enough to more than make it pay to burn the old baskets and buy new—especially in a season like this, when peaches will probably be high. Our Commission men tell us to have our baskets the right size, and bright and pretty, and they can always get enough excess to pay for the package.
Buy early and cheap and save money. Give me good paper, and I will not be so bold as to ask for cash. I offer you now just what has been needed for a long time, a cheap and handsome basket

Percival's Maple Wood
VENEER FRUIT BASKET,
PATENTED AUG. 18, 1868.
This Basket has already attained such popularity among berry growers and fruit dealers generally, as to require but little notice or commendation from us. For transporting all kinds of small fruits to market, their superior cannot be found; combining as they do, great strength, beauty, durability and facility for ventilation. Our acquaintance with the Berry Basket business warrants us in saying that no other style, yet offered, secures all the above advantages so fully and completely, as the PERCIVAL VENEER FRUIT BASKETS.
It is a well authenticated fact that during the past season berries marketed in these baskets presented a better appearance and uniformly brought better prices than those forwarded in the various other styles of baskets or boxes.
These baskets are double nailed at the bottom, making them the strongest and best baskets in the market.
These Crates are strongly made; Iron bound, and secured with hasplock and hinges, and Stencil marked without charge, when ordered.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION.

JAMES E. WATKINS AND WIFE vs.
WM. T. MANN AND OTHERS.

On the Equity Side of the Circuit Court for Kent County, June 28, 1872.

THE object of this bill to procure a decree for the sale of certain real estate in Kent County, Maryland, of which Joseph Mann, late of Kent county, died seized and possessed.

The bill states that the said Joseph Mann in his life-time was seized of certain real estate in Kent county, consisting of a house and lot in the town of Millington, and also of a tract or parcel of land at Mann's Corner, in said county, containing about one hundred acres, and being so seized thereof, died in the year eighteen hundred and seventy, leaving a will in proper form and duly executed, devising all of his property to his heirs at law. That James E. Watkins and Mary S. Watkins his wife, William T. Mann, William T. Elbern, Georgeanna Elbern, William Palmer, Margaret Palmer, Samuel Mann and Rebecca Mann constitute the heirs at law of the said Joseph Mann.

The bill further states that it will be to the advantage of all the parties interested to sell said lands and distribute the proceeds among the heirs as entitled by law; and that the said William Palmer, Margaret Palmer, Samuel Mann and Rebecca Mann do not reside in the State of Maryland.

IT IS THEREUPON ADJUDGED AND ORDERED, that the complainants, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Kent county once a week for three successive weeks prior to the twenty-ninth day of July next, give notice to the said absent defendants of the object and substance of this bill, and warn them to appear in this Court in person or by solicitor on or before the twenty-ninth day of October next to answer the premises, and shew cause, if any they have, why a decree ought not to pass as prayed.

ROSADALIS
THE GREAT SOUTHERN remedy for the cure of Scrofula, Scrofulous Taint, Rheumatism, White Swelling, Gout, Goitre, Consumption, Bronchitis, Nervous Debility and all diseases arising from an impure condition of the Blood.
The merits of this valuable preparation are so well known that a passing notice is but necessary to remind the readers of this journal of the necessity of always having a bottle of this medicine among their stock of family necessities.
Certificates can be presented from many leading Physicians, Ministers, and heads of families throughout the South, endorsing in the highest terms The Fluid Extract of Rosadalis.
Dr. R. Wilson Carr of Baltimore says "he has used it in cases of Scrofula and other diseases with much satisfaction.
Dr. T. C. Pugh of Baltimore, recommends it to all persons suffering with diseased Blood, saying it is superior to any preparation he has ever used.
Rev. Dabney Ball of the Baltimore M. E. Conference South says he has been so much benefitted by its use that he cheerfully recommends it to all his friends and acquaintances.
Craven & Co., Druggists, at Gordonsville, Va., say it never has failed to give satisfaction.
Sam'l G. McFadden, Murfreesboro, Tennessee, says it cured him of Rheumatism when all else failed.
Rosadalis is not a secret quack preparation, its ingredients are published on every package. Show it to your Physician and he will tell you it is composed of the strongest alteratives that exist, and is an excellent Blood Purifier. Did our space admit we could give you testimonials from every State in the South and from persons known to every man, woman and child either personally or by reputation.
Rosadalis is sold by all Druggists.
