TIT FOR TAT.

When the State Convention was over, light and medium soil; handy to village, close to have been put to great inconvenience the Organization crowd came back home school, 41/2 miles from R. The bayshore road has also convention, they heard Mr. Harry Davis, been greatly out of repair, and auto- chairman of the delegation, when he mobilists have been compelled to use arose and voted three votes for Woodthe Georgetown road to reach Tolches- row Wilson. What our delegates did do near R. R. station, village and school; agreeable ter. This is the busiest season of the was to ally themselves with the city orneighborhood; 7-Room Frame Dwelling, porches, year to farmers and the traveling pub- ganization in an effort to organize the poultry houses, some fruit, fenced with wire lic, and of all seasons of the year this convention just as they had a perfect is the most inconvenient to be working right to do, and the Beck crowd came our roads, especially the kind of work back home and sought to make political that is being done on them. There is capital out of our stand for Gov. Wilson great complaint from the traveling by deliberately telling a falsehood as to how Messrs. Kibler, Davis and Ayres voted for the presidential nominee. But now it is our time as to the National Convention. During the last primaries, the Organization at home were apparently for the nomination of Governor Wilson for president. Oh! Yes, at the State Good Roads Commission, the Board of home. But when they got to the Na-County Commissioners will not be responsible for tional Convention in Baltimore, every man of them who lays claim to leadership, and there are a lot of them who do that, you know, was whooping things up to beat the band for the nomination of Champ Clark for president, and were giving Mr. Bryan "particular thunder" for opposing the election of Judge Parker for temporary chairman. They have been with the moneyed interests against Beautifully situated on new State road one mile from Kennedyville, Md. Best of soil, shady lawn, and buildings in good condition. the people in every move, and have been doing everything they could in their weak way against the nomination of weak way against the nomination of Gov. Wilson. We dare them to deny Wilmington, Del. the truth of this statement. They are good boys at home, but oh, my, when they think that the people here won't hear about their actions, they can whoop her up, and praise Champ Clark, and berate Gov. Wilson and Mr. Bryan. We simply refer to this because we do not intend that our friends shall be placed in a false position by those who do the same thing they accuse us of doing when they think "nobody is look-

MR. BRYAN. The results of the great Democratic National Convention, which has been one of the most remarkable National gatherings in history, have demonstrated beyond question that William CHESTERTOWN, MD.

AMUSCINET Pion statesmen and one of the geous fighters that this country has ever produced. In the face of the mest tramendous odds, and against one the most powerful combinations known to political gatherings, Mr. Bryan has made a brilliant fight for the people's rights, and for the establishment of a great moral principle, and he has won a great moral victory. Mr. Bryan's acts have completely overshadowed all other acts of the great convention, and while those who are politically opposed to him are even more bitter in their denunciation of him, he has won the undying friendship of thousands upon thousands of the great mass of the people throughout the county and he is more than ever to-day the great Commoner, the champion of the people against the moneyed interests. Mr. Bryan's course in the convention has, in our judgment been exactly correct. He believes in a government of the people and for the people, and is forever opposed to the domination of the Democratic party by the same predatory influences which have controlled the Republican party for years. We admire Mr. Bryan because of his unquestioned sincerity and honesty. He is a man who has the courage of his convictions, and he is just brave enough to express his convictions even to the extent of calling names of persons when the necessity demands it. It has been said that Mr. Bryan killed Gov. Wilson's chances of nomination when he introduced his memorable resolution last week. That was the greatest thing that ever occurred in a National Convention and was simply the promulgation of a great moral principle. It was putting the Democratic Convention on record as to whether it was a convention of the people or of the moneyed interests and Mr. Bryan, as the champion of the people, has won a most remarkable moral victory. All honor to Mr. Bryan. Would that there were many more men in the country just like him. Then would the power of the great predatory interests be banished from the earth, and the people would come into possession of their heaven-born rights and privileges. THE MENACE OF NARROW-MINDEDNESS.

The monumental blunder of the political and business allies who have fought under the Clark banner in the Baltimore Convention was their insistence that the temporary chairman should be Judge Parker and no other. They knew they had the necessary majority and they used power for power's sake. People in "big businesss" are always making little-minded mistakes of this character. If the great corporate interests had their way, they would so inflame popular feeling as to invite dire consequences. It is the men who are denounced as "demagogues" who are often instrumental in saving the large business interests of the country from the calamitous results into which their lack of sagacity and breadth of view would plunge them. Let the chaplains Inn pray hard that the Lord may deliver the convention from the overreaching of self-interest disguised as conservatism-the greatest single menance to business prosperity in this country .-Maryland.
