AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

Paul Perkins and —— Bryan, chauffeurs for Cahill's autos between Centreville and Chestertown, while enroute to this town Friday afternoon met with an accident which upset their car completely and turned it right about, only facing in the opposite direction fr m Chestertown.

Perkins says he was going at about fifteen miles an hour when he reached the road that leads to Rolph's wharf, and that he lost control of the wheel, the car running up an embankment which caused it to turn over, he being thrown out and severely injured about the face and body, while his companion was also somewhat bruised. He was brought here and received medical attention from Dr. Simpers, returning to Centreville late in the afternoon.

POLYTECHNIC SWAMPED

Washington College Batters City Team Boys, 20 to 3.

The Washington College baseball team had easy going Saturday and swamped the Baltimore Polytechnic Institute ball-tossers, 20 to 3. The Engineers were accompanied by about 200 rooters, who made the trip on a chartered steamboat. During the first two sessions, when Poly appeared to be holding her own, its supporters were enthusiastic, but with the advent of the fatal third the visitors' charges became listless, and the local rooters were given full sway.

Washington scored first, but the lone tally was tied through three successive bingles. However, in Washington's half of the session the home boys began to get down to serious work, and after the entire team had batted Ritter gave way to Grace. He failed to stem the tide, as three additional tallies were made off of him. The majority of the runs were the result of clean hits, one of which was a circuit clout, but the tallying was aided by loose fielding on the part of the visitors. Washington's 14 bingles were aided by 13 passes issued by Ritter and Grace.

The locals fielded in excellent style, giving good support to each of its three twirlers sent to the box. After the midway period Washington began to send in substitutes until finally most of the second string was on the field. Enright, who took the box first for the locals, was effective and in all but one period kept the opposing batsmen guessing.

Bourland was the star of the contest, making a spectacular running catch in the field and getting a perfect record at the plate.

The Chestertown B. B. Club overwhelmed Still Pond at that place Saturday, winning by the score of 12 to 2. Davis and Robinson was the winning battery. Rolph and Blackway starred with the stick.

The Rich Neck team was defeated by the Chestertown boys Saturday at Ford's Field, the score being 9 to 8.

The Chestertown Base Ball Club has arranged the following games for the next week or two: Tuesday, at Easton; Saturday, at Ridgely; Monday, Easton, at Chestertown; Wednesday, May 26, at Centreville; Saturday following at Prices; Decoration day, Greensboro here.

Manager Blackway, of the Chestertown Club wants to hear from a strong team for a game on July 4 at Chestertown.
