SATURDAY - - - - MAY 24, 1873.

BALTIMORE FOREIGN COMMERCE.—The Philadelphia North American, in commenting upon the general increase of foreign commerce, says of Baltimore:

Formerly the foreign commerce of Baltimore was almost restricted to a few ships arriving with assorted merchandise from England and Germany, and a larger number with guano, that, when discharged, went in ballast to Mobile or New Orleans for cotton. Baltimore exported directly only breadstuffs to the West Indies and Brazil—tobacco to Germany and Holland. The Baltimore and Ohio road proved that greater business could be transacted with suitable ships, though unsuccessful with those employed. The North German Lloyds line accordingly followed the withdrawal of the Carroll and sister steamships, and its success brought along the Allen line to Liverpool. The former comprises the Lipzig, Ohio, Baltimore and Berlin, leaving semi-monthly, the latter the Hibernian, Morovian, Peruvian and Austrian, sailing as frequently. The steamships Cuba and Liberty also leave semi-monthly for Havana and New Orleans, and one steamship, the Ganges, plies to Liverpool independently.

Very much of the notable increment between the past and the present of the port as a port is, of course, due to the great facilties and admirable management of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, a corporation that has discharged its functions with singular ability and wisdom. Something is due to foreign enterprise. And, after subtracting all that is justly pertinent to these motives, it remains that the merchants and people of Baltimore city have shown a vigorous determination, unchecked by momentary failure, that is as creditable as it promises to be beneficial to them; that the business that may be concentrated there is being; that Western, and Southern, and coastwise and Gulf rivulets are turned in to augment the stream; and that, while demonstating by another emphatic example, the present prosperity of the country, they are contributing to augment it. Such foresight, vigor and good work must eventually enable the city to create its own lines of transatlantic as well as coastwise steamers, and secure their permanence and control.

CHIEF JUSTICE CHASE ON THE CONFEDERATE DEAD.—Chief Justice Chase, while holding court in Raleigh, North Carolina, in 1869, was invited to participate in the ceremonies of decorating the graves of the Union dead at Magnolia Cemetery. He wrote in answer a letter embodying sentiments of forgiveness and fraternity with the Confederates, and was taken to task for it by Mr. J. E. Williams, president of a national bank in New York, to which he replied, reiterating the sentiments expressed in the original letter. He said: "It is that true patriotism requires that the close of a great civil war should be marked not by proscription or disfranchisement, but by manifestations of sincere good will, especially from the successful to the unsuccessful, and by generous recognition of whatever was really brave and earnest and noble in those who fought on the failing side. I have no sympathy with the spirit which refuses to strew flowers upon the graves of the dead soldiers who fought against the side I took; and I am glad to know there was no such spirit among those who joined in decorating the graves of the soldiers of the Union who lie buried at Magnolia Cemetery. The Magnolia lavishes its perfumes freely, the pleasant air breathes as softly, and the warm sun shines as brightly over Confederate as over Union graves. In the letter which has incurred your censure I sought to put into the hearts of my countrymen something of the divine charity taught by the tree, the air and the sun, as well as by the precepts of our Saviour. I believe it has done some good, and I believe it will do more."

GETTING A JURY.—The London correspondent of the New York World, describing the proceedings in the beginning of the trial of the Tichborne claimant for perjury, says that what suprises him most of all was the facility with which a jury was obtained in a case on which, in America, much time would have been spent in getting a jury. In the Tichborne trial it was done in ten minutes. Forty-eight gentlemen had been summoned from the special jury list. All of them appeared; the names of twelve were drawn; one of the twelve begged to be excused because the Doughty and Radcliffe families were his customers, another was objected to because he had had something to do with the Tichborne defense fund. These were called out of the box, two others were put in their place, and the jury was complete.—Thus it would seem that there is much more honesty and common sense in getting a jury in England than there is in America—a fact we are sorry for.

A STRINGENT LAW.—The Virginia Legislature has passed an act punishing by fine or imprisonment "any person who shall pay or receive money or other compensations directly or indirectly for the purpose of securing the passage or defeat of any measure of the General Assembly." The act also makes it a crime, punishable by imprisonment for a term not exceeding twelve months, and a fine of not more than $5,000, for any person to "employ paid agents for the purpose of giving information which may be taken by the General Assembly, in order that such information may be used to secure the passage or defeat of any measure by the General Assembly." The wise purpose of this stringent measure is to protect innocent and honest legislators from the corrupting devices of lobyists. If such a law had been enacted by Congress some years ago and enforced, the incomes of a great many members of Congress would be considerably less than they are, and they would not be so lavish in the expenditure of money to get a seat in Congress.

THE TEA TRADE.—There is an unsatisfactory condition of the tea trade at present. The jobbing house which lately suspended in Wall street, New York—that of Gillett & Co.—has liabilities of less than $200,000, which would not create any special uneasiness were it not for the steady and heavy depreciation in prices. The decline in Oolongs is set down at from 30 to 50 per cent.; medium and lower grades of greens from 25 to 40 per cent.; Japans from 7½ to 15 per cent. The decline is due to excessive importations. The tea merchants of New York are among the wealthiest in the country, who declare that though heavy losses have been incurred, they can stand them.

THEY have a Farmers Club in the city of New York, which meets at the Cooper Union, and here is what they talked about at their meeting, on Tuesday afternoon last:—English sparrows and measuring worms, clearing soot from chimneys, sugar smoke for wounds, cultivation of bridges, Brazilian agriculture, and the preparation of dried fruits, were among the topics touched upon by the talkative savans assembled.

A GREAT BENEFACTOR.—Parton says, in his interesting history of the Sewing Machine, written for the Atlantic Monthly, and published in its May number of 1867: "In the year 1854, after a long trial, Judge Sprague, of Massachusetts, decided that 'the plaintiff's patent is valid, and defendant's machine is an infringement.' The plaintiff was Elias Howe, Jr., —the real infringer, I. M. Singer."—Judge Sprague further observed that "there is no evidence in this case that leaves a shadow of doubt that, for all the benefit conferred upon the public by the introduction of a Sewing Machine, the public are indebted to Elias Howe, Jr."—How great that benefit is we can form some idea when we consider the vast amount of work necessary to be performed by the needle, and remember that of all the various branches of labor it is the most wearing upon the human system.

The Howe Machine is now offered to the public on such easy terms that persons of the most limited means can procure one with but slight economy, and thus the benefit conferred by the great inventor, at first confined to a few, is now within the reach of the poorest.

Bear in mind the "Howe" is the only Machine offered at five dollars per month and at New York prices.

A. M. GUDGEN, Chestertown Md.

IF A MAN WANTS A BOTTLE OF WHISKEY, let him buy it and take it home like a man, and not sneak home with a bottle of "Bitters," or "Cordial," and pretend that it is medicine. If he wants a tonic that is something better than a temporary stimulent, he should get a bottle of Peruvian Syrup, (an Iron Tonic,) that will vitalize the blood and give durable strength to the system.

Kent Co. Commissioners' NOTICE.

TO FARMERS!

"EXCELSIOR."

1873 1873

Composed of 800 lbs. of No. 1 Peruvian Guano, and 1200 pounds of Soluble Phosphate of Lime, (bones dissolved in sulphuric acid,) Potash and Soda, Forming the most concentrated, universal and durable fertilizer ever offered to the farmer—combining all the stimulating qualities of Peruvian Guano, and the ever durable fertilizing properties of Bones. Excelsior is in fine, dry powder, prepared expressly for drilling, and can be applied in any quantity, however small, per acre; and it is the opinion of many close calculating farmers, after FOURTEEN years experience in testing it side by side with other popular fertilizers, that an application of 100 pounds of Excelsior is equal to from 200 to 300 pounds of any other fertilizer or guano offered for sale, therefore is fully 100 to 200 per cent. cheaper.

☞ Look out for imitations and counterfeits. The popularity of Excelsior has induced unscrupulous parties in this and other cities to copy our trade mark, and resort to other dishonorable means to sell their worthless compounds.

☞ Farmers should see that every Bag is branded as above, with ANALYSIS and OUR NAME in RED LETTERS. All others are counterfeits.

TO THE PUBLIC.

THE subscriber most respectfully informs the public that he has made arrangements with Dr. Thos. H. Whaland to carry on his near Chestertown, for the present year.

His long experience in the business and his reputation as a Miller warrants him in the belief that he can give universal satisfaction.—As soon as practicable he intends to keep on hand a good supply of

CORN MEAL,

WHEAT FLOUR of all Grades,

HORSE FEED, &c., &c.,

which he is determined to sell at reduced prices.

He only wants to make the regular toll, and will be compelled to sell for Cash only as his capital is small and he does not intend to keep books.

He will use all means to make the Mill a public convenience as well as a source of profit. A trial is all he asks.

Most respectfully,
SAMUEL A. ANTHONY.

THE EUREKA FANNING MILL.

THE GREATEST INVENTION OF THE NINETEENTH CENTURY!

Farmers Look to Your Interest

THE attention of Farmers and Mechanics is particularly directed to the combined economy, utility and practicability of the Eureka Mill, and to the many other advantages it possesses over every other Fanning Mill which has been introduced to the public.

It is the fruit of long and patient investigation by the inventor, who has made it his constant study for over twenty years. He has secured several patents for Mills, and has always been rewarded with the best of success. But not feeling satisfied with his former attainments, he determined to reach the climax, and he now believes that his new invention will warrant him in exclaiming in the joy of his heart, like the philosopher, Phythagoras—EUREKA!—signifying in the Grecian language, "I have found it." This has given the name to this new Mill.

In this Mill are all the former improvements to which have been added several more, adding still greater advantages than were at first anticipated, or even thought possible by the inventor himself. It embraces the three great essentials necessary in every invention:

It combines ECONOMY, UTILITY and PRACTICABILITY!

THE "EUREKA" MILL

Is small and lighter, and is capable of doing more and better work in a given time than any other Mill ever invented.

IT IS THE ONLY MILL

that will successfully remove from wheat all such pests as Cockle, Garlic, Oats, Rye, &c.

Should an extra quality of grain for seed or gristing purposes be required, it can be so arranged as to catch in one box perfect grain, and in the other, grain fit for market or mill. Here is made a great saving usually lost sight of: for nearly one quarter of the grain cleaned in the common Mills is lost when sown, on account of shrunken kernels and inferior grain. The Eureka Mill saves all this, and gives seed every kernel of which will grow when put into the ground, and this saving will, in a hort time, pay for the Mill.

HINES & BURCHINAL,

Chestertown, Maryland,

Owners of the Mill, are having them manufactured at the Sash Factory and Planing Mill of Noland & Co., Port Deposit, Md., which is a guarantee that they will be put up in the best manner. je17-tf.
