The Governor's Message.

Gov. Whyte sent his annual message to the Legislature on Thursday of last week, and it was read in both houses. As our space will not permit its publication entire, we give the following synopsis as compiled by the Baltimore Sun:

The message is confined to matters of more or less practical interest, and the views contained are succinctly presented. A larger number of topics than usual, chiefly connected with matters of State legislation, are passed in review, and are treated with brevity and clearness. Recommendations are made in more than a dozen instances for the amendment of existing laws, and one suggestion for an alteration of the State constitution in an important particular. All these are matters, however, of purely local and State concern, and it is to such topics only that the Governor addresses himself. All allusion, even the most distant, to questions of general politics or national interest is carefully avoided, while the message is commendably free from rhetorical and "glittering generalities."

The Governor excuses himself from any discussion of the State finances upon the ground that by the constitution such subjects are remitted to the care of the treasurer and comptroller, and that "the executive department (meaning, we suppose, the Governor) is relieved from their supervision." A condensed statement is given of the receipts and disbursements of the State treasury, and of the State debt, from which it appears that the entire interest bearing debt of the State on September 30, 1873, was $10,741,215 60, that the excess of indebtedness over and above productive assets was $9,219,172-14, and to meet this the State owns unproductive assets to the amount $21,608,-694 51. These last consist almost wholly of the State investments, with accrued interest (unpaid) in the Chesapeake and Ohio canal, which, within eight years, judging from present prospects, the Governor thinks will cease to be unproductive, and begin to yield the State some return. It will be high time. From the insurance bureau (tax on foreign insurance companies) the Governor notes an increase of revenue over the year '72 of $33,588 67.

The condition of the State school system is referred to as generally satisfactory, the attendance showing some increase, whereas the previous year it showed a decrease. St. John's College, the State Agricultural College, the State Normal school and the Colored Normal school, are all referred to and commended to the Legislative care, with some suggestions as to a modification of existing laws in regard to the two former. Further provision is suggested for the establishment of high schools in the counties, and further legislation in regard to the mode of appointing school commissioners in the counties. The appointment of a board to select a suitable site for a building for the State Normal School, and of a committee to investigate the application of the State appropriation for colored schools and of State donations to academies generally, is recommended.

The State Penitentiary is referred to as making a more satisfactory exhibit than at any time since its establishment, being now self-sustaining. Provision is suggested to be made for the transfer of insane convicts to the Maryland Hospital, and for the establishment of a House of Correction for vagrants and petty offenders on Sharp's Island, in the Chesapeake. The Legislature is reminded, however, that there is no lunatic asylum belonging to the State, though it has spent over $700,000 on the Spring Grove Asylum, whose property, including realty, was transferred to the Maryland Hospital, a private corporation, but as another appropriation is to be asked, he advises that no action be taken until the property is restored. Amendments to the laws for the punishment of public defaulters, and authorizing the Governor to pardon convicted criminals on condition of not returning to the State, so as to include those who refuse to leave, are suggested; also the need for some legislation to prevent "the shocking and indecent scenes which are so often attendant upon public executions." Uniformity in the infliction of punishment throughout the State is also insisted upon, and a necessity for a revision of the criminal laws with that view. A repeal of the act of 1870, ch. 45, increasing the number of magistrates in Baltimore city, is advised. The Governor adverts to "the temptation to increase business by unnecessary and vexatious trials." Why not remove the temptation altogether by the substitution of salaried magistrates for the corrupt and corrupting system of compensation fees paid by suitors. The defects of the present oyster law, the fruitful source of much trouble and complaint, are exposed, and the whole subject commended to the special consideration of the Legislature, though it is shown that the net revenues from that source amount to over $40,000.

Upon the subject of the controversy between the State and the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company, the Governor confines himself to a brief statement of the actual condition of the pending suit.

The Governor recommends additional legislation in regard to homestead and building associations organized under the general law, to prevent them from exacting exorbitant interest from borrowers, from issuing their own notes to borrowers instead of money, and providing for their being wound up in case of insolvency.

The most salient suggestion of the whole message is that in favor of an entire repeal of the present registration system, which will strike many people as a step backwards, though doubtless the present law could be greatly improved. To accomplish the repeal an amendment of the State constitution striking out section 5 of article 1 will have to be submitted to the people and adopted. The Governor also recommends legislation for the protection of State registration and election officers against false and malicious prosecutions under the acts of Congress in United States courts, a subject which will require careful treatment and handling, but some such provision may be found necessary in order to secure the services of citizens as officers under the State law.

Recognizing the value of immigration, the Governor earnestly recommends the creation of a board of immigration, similar to those of other States.

The Governor discusses briefly the need for further legislation in regard to lunatics and the inspection of lunatic asylums, the Maryland State Hospital, the establishment of a State board of health, the giving aid to the Inebriate Asylum in this city, the wants of the militia, the Chesapeake and Delaware ship canal, the disputed boundary line between Maryland and Virginia, coal oil and steam-boiler accidents, and recommends that Good Friday be included in the number of legal holidays, citing the growing observance of the day by financial and business institutions consequent upon its strict observance in London and elsewhere abroad. Altogether the message, as we have said, is unusually fertile in suggestions in regard to a vast number of minor subjects, many of which will no doubt be found useful. Weightier subjects of public thought and interest beyond immediate State concern he has not deemed it necessary to discuss.

WORTON AGRICULTURAL CLUB.

Messrs. Editors:—The Kent Co. Agricultural Club No. 1, held its annual meeting Thursday, Jan. 8th, and I think few legislative bodies could have done the same amount of work in the same time, and with the same order and harmony.—If there was any jealousies or disappointments they were not visible. It was gratifying to see the proficiency the Club has attained in the application of parliamentary rules. These rules, although hooted at by some as unnecessary, are the result of long experience and careful thought directed to one object—the expediting of business; and, Messrs. Editors, how many men are perfectly willing to preside on any occasion, who do not know how properly to "put a question." Our institutions of learning are making this a part of their curriculum, and any one anticipating ever being called on to preside over any meeting, would do well to obtain "Cushing's Manual" on parliamentary usages.

Reports from all the officers were read, showing the society to be in a very prosperous condition. These reports for exactness, fullness and brevity were models; and entitled the various officers to the thanks of the association. That of the treasurer was very encouraging in these times of financial troubles, showing a large unexpended balance in the treasury. Some persons have thought the Club was used by the members to make money for themselves, but this is a great mistake, as all the services have been gratuitous, not a member having asked or received a dollar. After deducting the small necessary expenses, all the receipts are strictly devoted to the general advancement of agriculture. In one sense it has been of great pecuniary benefit, in the dissemination of practical knowledge, and inciting to better and more economical farming.

After the reports were adopted, the constitution and by-laws read, and the transaction of some unfinished business, the Club went into an election for officers for the present year. As you have already printed their names I need not repeat them. The election was by ballot on nomination, and the result full of promise for the continued prosperity and usefulness of the organization. Although several names were nominated for most of the offices, yet all were elected on the first ballot for each office, and all the elections finally made unanimous for each officer. A unanimous vote of thanks was tendered the retiring board, and the newly elected officers having taken their chairs we were favored with a short inaugral by the new president, which was received with applause; and, on motion, the Club adjourned, to meet next Monday afternoon, Jan. 19th, at 2½ o'clock, Monday being decided to be a more convenient day than Thursday.

And now, Messrs. Editors, thro' your columns, I would like to say a word to some of our members who have become lukewarm in sustaining this institution. To such I would say we need you, every additional name is a source of strength, and you need us. There is enthusiasm in number, and farming has become so hedged round by obstacles to success that each individual farmer needs the power co-operation gives. Shoulder to shoulder, and hand to hand, we can successfully stem a current that would engulph the individual. Our programme for the future means work—earnest and persevering; we feel that we are just on the threshhold of our usefulness. To the ladies I would say, if you wish your husbands, brothers, fathers and lovers, to be better farmers, and the cause of agriculture to be exalted, urge them to join this association, for rest assured we will do them good, and good only. Our past experiences convince us that the Club has always had the bright smiles and best wishes, aye, and the efforts too, of this fairest part of creation, and we wish these same powerful incentives to continue.

Some may think there is antagonism between the Club and the grange movement, but there is none whatever, only the closest union, each working for the accomplishment of an object unattainable by the other, and both in perfect harmony in their efforts for the farmer's good. I hope to have more to say on the subject of granges in the future. Although it is what is called a secret society, yet it only is possessed of that element sufficient to make it cohesive, and to enable it to accomplish the object of its creation; and no one can be deterred from joining it on that account. Every farmer should join one. I will name a few of the reasons and close this long communication. The grange is intended to be a united brotherhood, a protection against imposition, an assistance in trouble, to give its members the advantage of the best markets both in buying and selling, with many other things of equal or greater importance that it would not be proper to speak of except to members.

Thanking you in the name of the Club for your kindness in the use of your columns, and wishing you the best compliments of the season,

I remain yours, PARTICEPS.

IN relation to the Chief Justiceship, the Balt. Sun, very pertinently remarks:

As the Senate has now disposed of a partisan nominee for want of capacity, and a capable nominee for want of partisanship, it now remains to be seen whether Gen. Grant can succeed in uniting the two in his next nomination.

Two Foes of Health.

Cold and damp are inimical to health, and we generally have an unwholesome combination of the two at this season. They penetrate the skin and integuments and affects the muscular, glandular and nervous organizations, producing rheumatism, neuralgia, chills and fever, and where there is a tendency to dispepsia or liver complaint, provoking an attack of indigestion or billiousness. The best advice that can be given under such circumstances is to keep the external surface of the body warmly clothed, and to keep the internal organs in vigorous working order with the most wholesome and genial of all tonics, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Gradually but constantly this famous invigorator is superseding the adulterated liquors of commerce, as a medicinal stimulant and corrective, in all parts of the country. It will be a happy day for humanity, and it will surely come, when this pure restorative shall have taken the place of raw spirits as a stimulant in all our public and private hospitals. It is not, however, merely a harmless substitute for the fiery stimulants referred to. Its stimulating properties are not its chief merits, although in this regard it surpasses all the unmedicated products of the still domestic or imported. The powerful influence it exercises over the torpid and toneless stomach, the disordered liver, the constipated bowels, and the relaxed nerves, render it a positive specific in dyspepsia, liver complaint, intestinal constriction, nervous weakness, hypochondria, rheumatism and sleeplessness. All chronic complaints are aggravated by a cold, moist atmosphere, and it is therefore particularly necessary for those who are afflicted with ailments of this nature, whatever their type may be, that this predisposing cause of sickness with a wholesome antidote. Hostetter's Bitters should be taken daily at this season by all persons laboring under chronic ailments that tend to weaken the system.

SALT by the bushel or sack. H. P. READING, Kennedyville, Md. n22-3m.

GEN. GORDON AND THE WAR.—In the debate on the salary bill in the Senate on Monday Gen. John B. Gordon, Senator from Georgia, proposed an amendment providing that the pay of officers of the navy whose pay is under $5,000 and over $3,500 be reduced ten per cent., and that the pay of the paymaster general, quartermaster general, surgeon general and other staff officers be fixed at $5,000; a commodore of the navy, $5,000; the vice admiral and lieutenant general of the army, $10,000. Mr. Gordon contended that the salary of no military officer in the time of peace ought to exceed that of the pay of a United States Senator, as a greater responsibility rested upon the latter. The dignity of the position was also in favor of the Senators, who were the creators, while the army officers were the creatures. The labor performed and services rendered by Senators were incomparably greater than those of officers of the army. He then proceeded to make a personal explanation in regard to motives which had been imputed to him. He would state here what he had often said privately, that if the country had been left to the armies at Appomattox much of the disturbance which had followed that event would have been avoided. He said he was a member of the conference which fixed the surrender, and that during all that long conference the federal commanders allowed not a word of exultation to escape their lips, nor during the whole time did they allude to an engagement in which they had been victorious, but only to those in which they had met defeat. Their courtesy and temperance had deeply impressed him.

The speech of General Gordon was listened to with great attention, especially that portion of it which referred to the surrender of Lee at Appomattox. Mr. Gordon made it because he said he had been charged with being influenced by personal prejudice against the administration. He for one appreciated the magnanimity exhibited on that occasion; it sank deep into his heart, and he mentioned the fact to prove that he was not personally hostile to Presdent Grant.

THE population of the island of Cuba in 1872 was 1,399,811, of which 238,927 were free colored, and 362,288 were slaves. The Coolies and other Asiatics are put down at 34,470. Havana is the principal city, and in 1862 contained a population of 200,000. Santiago de Cuba, the scene of the recent massacre, is the second city in population and commerce. In 1862 it contained 37,000 inhabitants. The other towns of importance are Pruer, Principe, Matanzas, Guanabacoa, Santo Epiritu, Cardenas, Guines, Clenfuegosto Trinidad and Villa Clara.

A RELIGIOUS SPECTACLE.—Grand Union Communion.—Possibly one of the results of the late evangelical alliance meeting was demonstrated in the coronation of the week of prayer in Brooklyn, New York, by a grand union communion of Baptists, Presbyterians, Congregationalists, Methodists, and Reformed Dutch, which took place Sunday afternoon in the Reformed church in that city.

DYSPEPSIN

A Certain Cure for DYSPEPSIA, LIVER COMPLAINT, Jaundice, Billiousness, Sick Headache, and Habitual Costiveness.

WHAT is life without the enjoyment of health? If you had the wealth of Crœsus, and afflicted with Dyspepsia, or its kindred diseases, you could not enjoy life. Dyspepsia is a prevalent disease in the U. States, brought about by our habits and irregularities. The Materia Medica has been exhausted to find a remedy, and the skill of the most learned Physicians has failed to effect a cure. Notwithstanding this declaration we unhesitatingly say—"MILLER'S DYSPEPSIN" is a Certain Cure for Dyspepsia and the many complaints incident thereto. It has been before the public a sufficient length of time to fully test its merits, and in every instance where it has been used according to directions, it has resulted in giving relief and effecting a cure. With each bottle is a Circular, describing the symptoms of the diseases named, and for which only we claim it as a specific.

Give it a fair trial, and rest assured you will be benefitted.

DR. RADWAY'S

Sarsaparillian Resolvent

THE GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER.

HAS MADE THE MOST ASTONISHING CURES: SO QUICK, SO RAPID ARE THE CHANGES THE BODY UNDERGOES, UNDER THE INFLUENCE OF THIS TRULY WONDERFUL MEDICINE, THAT

Every Day an Increase in Flesh and Weight is Seen and Felt.

Every drop of the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT communicates through the Blood, Sweat, Urine, and other Fluids and juices of the system the vigor of life, for it repairs the wastes of the body with new and sound material. Scrofula, Syphilis, Consumption, Glandular disease, Ulcers in the throat, Mouth, Tumors, Nodes in the Glands and other parts of the system, Sore Eyes, Strumorous discharges from the Ears, and the worst forms of Skin diseases, Eruptions, Fever Sores, Scald Head, Ring Worm, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Acne, Black Spots, Worms in the Flesh, Tumors, Cancers in the Womb, and all weakening and painful discharges, Night Sweats, Loss of Sperm and all wastes of the life principle, are within the curative range of this wonder of Modern Chemistry, and a few days' use will prove to any person using it for either of these forms of disease its potent power to cure them.

If the patient, daily becoming reduced by the wastes and decomposition that is continually progressing, succeeds in arresting these wastes, and repairs the same with new material made from healthy blood—and this the SARSAPARILLIAN will and does secure—a cure is certain; for when once this remedy commences its work of purification, and succeeds in diminishing the loss of wastes, its repairs will be rapid, and every day the patient will feel himself growing better and stronger, the food digesting better, appetite improving, and flesh and weight increasing.

Not only does the SARSAPARILLIAN RESOLVENT excel all known remedial agents in the cure of Chronic, Scrofulous, Constitutional, and Skin diseases; but it is the only positive cure for
