THE

Clearspring Schittie they think best, and give you on reason ly, and the consequence is all this."

AN INDEPENDENT FAMILY NEWSPAPER. 18 PUBLISHED AT CLEARSPRING, MD. EVERY FRIDAY MORNING, BY L. JEWETT GROVE.

TERMS.

- 1. ONE DOLLAR per annum, if paid in advance 2. If not paid within three months $1.25.
- 3. Il not paid within 6 months, $1.50. 4. $1.75, if not paid within the year.

Each square, or less. 3 insertions Each subsequent insertion For single insertion county and state, to which the paper has been of as hard as he could go. and is to be sent.

post paid, or they will receive no attention.

The World of Beauty.

There is a world of beauty Beyond this vale of death, Reached by the path of duty-Seen by the eye of faith-Where sets the King Eternal, On lofty throne and fair, Where flowers with blossoms vernal, Perfume the ambient air.

Where spirits pure and holy, In adoration bend-From humble hearts and lowly, To God their prayers ascend; Where breaths no note of sadness, No burning tear is shed-But crowns of joy and gladness Adorn his secred head.

Oh, in that world of glory, Where holy sunshine stays, Where time grows never weary, Through everlasting days, My long-lost friends are spending The Sabbath of their rest, Their hearts and voices blending In anthems of the blessed.

Who would not cease repining At suffering here below, Could he behold them shining, And all their raptures know-Assured that the great morning In which the dead shall rise, Shall find a crown adorning His brow in yonder skies?

THE QUICK-TEMPERED BOY.

AN ONLY SON.

whose life is a lesson to all the youth of teacher, and which gave him money to that when young girls fancy themselves her gratitude seemed to know no style. Our patience is easily exhausted the land, and whose story we are now support his family, if he had regulated in love, they are seldom if ever happy, if bounds. going to tell for their warning and in- his expenses with prudence, and re- they marry the object of their choice A day or two afterwards she announ- er visiters to our sanctum will please struction.

smarter than many others of his age have been kind to refuse him. But he imaginary object he had appeared as a now enjoyed. Clipper. with whom he was studying, he seemed had never been refused any thing. He lover. The imagination in most girls is promise of progress. John was known he wanted. gerous boy to meddle with.

to follow the soldiers through the streets, shut he killed him! they let him go. When he came to the He thought nobody would find it out. life to a man she detests, because she pleted. table he helped himself to what he lik- He hid the dead body, and went home fencies she has been deceived in him. and you cannot go there, when you a besetting six of my life. I was an cases generally sad enough. When the President Fillmore and all the mem ging at a goodly advanced age. But in have set your heart upon it, and you only child-much indulged-and I have first delusion is disispated, and the truth, be rs of his cabinet, happen to be lawyers good health at North Bend.

for it. Well, John had no such parents. He was hung on Friday last. They had but this one child, and so they let him do as he pleased. Often he came from school with a black eye or a bloody nose, having had a fight with some of the boys in the street and then his mother was so sorry talk of her choice? In hinety-nine ca- ing, and then, if repeated, rankles in the was another solitary companion, a young for her dear child, that some dreadful ses out of a hundred, haushe any choice? wound till it becomes incurable. wicked boy in the street had been beat- | Does not the man, probably the last she ing so terribly. She did not for a mo- would have chosen, select her?" 6. No paper will be discontinued unless all ar- ment think that Johnny had been in A very clever correspondent has sent Tearages are paid, unless at the option of the ed.

A touching incident took place a few men have such a dear, good boy, they be could not have made the first she makes out her case party ably. She days since, which is worthy of record, as take—but they believed his story, and they believe the first story and they believe that he was walking along the street, the match was considered a very good sity of a mother's love, and the imporbeginner, the secret of wondrous suctainly that he was walking about his lessons, when a great one, suitable in every respects—age, potant results that may spring from a trifling cess!' big boy came along and hit him in sition and fortune. Every one said I circumstance:

Communications for the paper must be telling to his parents, whenever he got by unwearied assiduity, succeeded in some time examined the numerous spec- Willingly,' replied the young man, into trouble. And they believed him, gaining my affections; but had 'choice' imens that decorate the walls of that el- hoping thereby to profit greatly by the truth; he was not slow in learning to have chosen him. As I look at him in beauty and guessing the names of many 'The secret of my success,' said Martell lies. He became a confirmed liar .- his easy chair, sleeping before the fire, a that they thought they recognized. On tin, 'may be discovered in this advice in his after life.

> to college. Here, in the midst of young his desertion. My next was a barrister; appearance.
> men of his own age, he was distinguish- a young man of immense talent, smooth, "Merciful heavens!" exclaimed she lin stood together at the bar, and demanhis companions. Such a young man my present husband chose me, and there- ert!" and, occustomed to being indulged in married folks of my acquaintance." every thing that he desired, he gave He returned home. His parents were is not our correspondent probably much is he?-can I not see him?" now dead, and they had left little or happier with her present husband shoot. The artist replied to all the eager ques-He married, and a family was gathered trouble and inconvenience of children are duplicate of the person. around him. But the habits of youth beginning to be felt and when (the most 'What was his name?" anxiously enwere stronger than his love for wife and trying time of all) the wife begins to ne- quired the old lady. children. He spent all the money he glect her husband for her children, un- 'I really do not know," replied Mr. sions. He had not been taught to res- attachment on the husband's side, there is out by referring to my register." train them when he was young, and little chance of happiness. who knew them.

his parents let him do as he liked. If his study at a certain hour, and he self in love with No wonder, then, if pear. Cutting them off in the spring or REFORM IN VIRGINIA.—The election he wanted to stay home from school, they would then pay him. His friend came, she marries she is miserable. The ob- early summer burn the bush upon these in Virginia for delegates to the State gave him leave to do so. If he wanted an there in the study, with the door ject of of her love is vanished, never to stude, and then remove these sprouts convention, has resulted in the re-parents must do as he said. Perhaps in the midst of his family, and shut up relations on both sides share in the same few weeks. It is owned and will b the boy, and wish that you could have and sentenced to be hung. He then they cry-"she married for love, and see supervision of a practical and experien low. your way in every thing. You dislike confessed his horrid crime, and added the consequence." to be told that you cannot have this, these words: "A quick temper has been The consequences are indeed, in such sometimes think your parents are very never acquired the control over my pas- in all its hard and reality, comes forth L. MARTIN AND THE LAWYER. hard when they require you to do as sions that I ought to have acquired ear- from the veil that has been thrown round

Choosing Husbands.

Orders for the paper, discontinuance, or the face, tripped him up, and then ran had made a good choice. Why, my An elderly, lady, with two young fe- dition, and that is, that you defray my charge of direction, must give the post office. dear Mr. Editor, I loved my husband male companions, stepped into White- expenses during my stay of a few days at These stories he was in the habit of when I married him, because he had hurst's Daguerreotype Gallery, and for Annapolis.' and never took any pains to find out the been my privilege, I certainly should not egant establishment, commenting on their communication. Perhaps if his parents had punished huge dog at his feet, a pipe peeping out the centre-table were a large number of which I now give you, viz: Deny exeryhim more severely for the lies that he of one of the many pockets of his shoot- pictures & among them that of a young thing and insists upon proof. told to hide his faults, they might have ing coat, I can but think how different man about 35 years of age, of fine, man On reaching Annapolis, Luther Marbroken up these habits, or at least res. he is from what I would have chosen .- ly features. The old lady happened by tin was not very self-denying in the entrained them in a measure, so that they My first penchant was for a fashi onable chance to open the case which contained joyments presented by a fine hotel; the would not have led to such sad results clergyman-a perfect Adonis. He was this picture, when her eyes became sud- substantial and general refreshments were a flatterer, and cared but little for me, dealy fixed upon the lifeless face, and dispatched in a manner quite Bratifying When he was old enough, he was sent | though I have not forgotten the pang of her features assumed an ashy, death-like to mine host. The time for return at to college. Here, in the midst of young his desertion. My next was a barrister; appearance. ed for his ungovernable temper, and oft- insinuating manners; but he, left me in still fastening her gaze on the picture ded their respective bills. en was seized and held fast when he the lurch. Either of these would have while the tears coursed down her cheeks Martin's was enormous, but on glancwas about to make an attack upon been my 'choice,' had I so chosen: but "look, girls-here is Robert-poor Rob- ing at it, quietly handed it to the young was in a fair way to ruin. He fore I married him; and this cannot help The girls eagerly examined the portravelled when he was out of college, thinking, must be the way with half the trait and agreed that it was the very im-now they governed him when he came A wife's affection, on the contrary, al- found. It was the son of the old lady, bly surmount more abstacles than any to be old. But his talents, his education, ways increases after marriage; and even and the brother of the two girls! He other class of men. One of the greatand his manners gave him a high stand. if indifferent before, no well disposed had left his family in Virginia at the o- est annoyances to which the knights of ing society. Those who did not know woman can help loving the father of her pening of the Mexican war, and joined the weapon which is "mightier than his secret character, respected him as a children. Children, on her side, are a those chivalrous spirits who fought and the sword" are subjected, is a frequent man of learning and of taste, and his bound of union, and though she may bled so bravely for the honor of our and bring-your-knitting-along-and-stayfamily were admired and loved by all appear for them, to neglect some of those country. Nothing had been heard of a-week visits from persons who have no little attentions which men seem natur- him since the day of his departure; and business of their own, and who presume To keep up appearances, and gratify ally to expect, it is only because the child the family had all believed him dead .- every one else to be in the same indolent all the desires of his bad heart, he wan- is the more helpless being of the two, The joy of the old lady was boundless, situation. Nothing is to private on the ted more money. He had a friend who and the true woman always takes the she kissed the picture over and over, and editor's table, in the opinion of these

it. both parties feel indignant at the false | We have heard an anecdote of this disposition in which they find themselves. | tinguished lawyer a few days ago, which Mutual recriminations take place, each we remember to have met with in print accusing the other of deceit and ingrati- but which is so good that it will do to tude, while the apparent injustice of tellagain. these accusations. which is felt by each | Martin was on one occasion riding to "When a girl marries, why do people party alternately, first wounds the feel- Aonapolis, in a stage coach, in which

· LOST SON FOUND.

age of Robert.

There is both sound sense and truth in "Sir," said the old lady, addressing himself up to the pursuit of pleasure, this; but is it not better that men should Mr. Whitehurst, "how did you come by and plunged into every excess of vice. | choose than they should be chosen? And this picture?-who is it taken for?-whee nothing for his support. He was obli- ing-jacket, pipe and dog inclusive, than tions by stating that some weeks previ- tel; ged to do something for himself. He she would have been with either the a young man called and wished to sit for I deny everything, and insist upon had had the best advantages for educa- fashionable clergyman or the clever his daguereotype, which he intended to tion, and his learning was now all that barrister? Men are provrobially incon- send to his mother sisters, whom he had proof. was left to him. He became a teacher. stant; and, after marriage, when the not seen for several years. This was a

could get in the indulgence of his pas- less there was originally a very strong Whitehurst, "but I think I can find it

About fifty years ago, a boy was born had helped him often, to whom he was side of those who are most feeble. offered all she was worth for it. White- bores, and a hundred frivolous, insolent in one of the cities of New England, indebted for the place he held as a It is a strange, but melancholy fact, hurst generously presented it to her, and questions are asked, in regular Paul Pry frained from the indulgenne of his sin- The fact is, in most cases, they find the ced to Mr. Whitehurst that she had found bear in mind. John was a bright boy, he was sent ful passions. But he wanted more mon- husband they have chosen quite a differ- her son, who resided in this city, and to school early, and although he was not ey. His friend lent him more. It would ent persons as an individual, from the again thanked him for the happiness she

----to take hold with quickness that gave always had his own way, and got what stronger than the judgment, and as soon To KILL ALL WEEDS.—The leaves part of Dove and Iowa counties. And as the first idea of love is awakened in a are the lungs; no plant can grow if it exploring party lately passed five days among his school-mates as a clever boy, By and by, this borrowed money semale heart, the imagination is set to cannot breathe; and if it is prevented in examined it. They passed over and but one who would get mad very quick- must be paid. He had no means to pay work to fancy a lover, and all possible from breathing, it must soon die. Some among large masses, which proved to be ly, and when he was mad, he was a dan- it. He promised to pay, but he always perfections are assembled together in the persons dig for feet into the soil to eradi- lead ore of fine quality, spread over an broke his promise. He had learned to young girl's mind to first man whose ap- cate roots; a much easier way is to keep extent of 3 miles. They found also fine John was an only child. One would tell lies when he was a boy, and it was pearance and manners attract a girl on the to ps buried, by repeated ploughing, copper ore, and 14 pounds of native silthink that he would on this account have easy to tell them now that he was a her entrance into society. is generally or by a thick coat of tan or sawdust. - ver. Crystals, stalactites, incrustations, been watched with greater care, and the man. But his friend insisted upon it invested by her with the halo of these Elders and willows may be very easily &c., were abundant, and waterfalls and habits of his early years corrected, be- that his debt must be paid, and that, secret thoughts and she fancies herself killed without grubbing, by merely a lake, which was explored in a canoe, fore they became so fixed and settled too, without any more delay. violently in love without the least real keeping them clotely cut to the surface, and found to be 37 feet deep. that they could not be broken up. But He wrote to his friend to come to knowledge of the man she supposes her- and pulling off all the sprouts as they apreturn; and she finds herself chained for during the season, and the work is com. turn of a large majority of members fa-

~~~~~~~~~~~~ ed, and if his father or mother ventured to his wife and children as if nothing On the other hand, the man who, with FILE FACTORY .-- . The Boonsboro to tell him that this was not good for had happened. But his friend was soon | very pardonable vanity fancied himself Md., Odd Fellow, notices the erection him, or that he had enough already he missed. He had been seen to go into loved for his own merits, and who was of a large Stone Factory, a short distance would fly in a passion, and then they that room, and had never been seen to perfectly unconscious of the secret delu- from Weverton, upon the property of would give it to make him quiet. In leave it. The room was searched, and sions of the girl, becomes, when he finds Mr. Lewis Bell, intended as a Manufacthis way, he soon found out that he the mangled body of the murdered man her changed after marriage, quite indig- tory of Files. The building is undery was master of the house, and that his was found. The murderer was arrested nant at her caprice. The friends and roof, and will go into operation in a ver you think this was all very pleasant for in juil. He was tried and convicted, feelings. "What would she have?" - conducted by a gentlemen, under the ced File maker.

lawyer, just commencing the practice of law: After some familiar conversation, the young lawyer said: rou have been remarkably suc-

'I'll do it, young man, upon one con-lawyer who running his eye over it lazily, returned it with the utmost gravity. Don't you intend to pay it?' said Ma

'Pay what?'said the young lawyer. Why, pay this bill. Did you no promise on the route downward, tha you would defray my expenses at the ho-

'My dear sir,' said the young lawyer,

Martin at once saw that he was caught and eyeing his young friend a moment or two, he said, plesantly, 'You don't need any counsel from me, young man;you don't need any counsel from me.

~~~~~~~~~~~

Editors of newspapers encounter This was quickly done-the name was | many trials and difficulties, and proba-

> ANOTHER MAMMOTH CAVE. The cave recently discovered near Madison, Wis., is supposed to extend under the greater vorable to radical reforms in the constitution of that State. The vote polled, however, seems to be rather slim.

~~~~~~~

WHAT IS A COQUETTE?-A young lady of more beauty, than sense; more accomplishments, than learning; more than wise men for attendants.-Longfe

General Harrison's widow is liv-