To Stop Vote Buying!

THE A B C OF A CORRUPT PRACTICES ACT.

Under such an act candidates must:
Make sworn statement of all election expenses.
Name persons receiving the money and purposes for which it was used.
Keep within a certain limit of expenses.
It would do away with:
Corporate contributions to campaign funds.
Bribery at elections.

Since the agitatation for the passage of a corrupt practices act for Maryland there has been a discussion of the means to be taken to carry out the reforms sought to be accomplished by the enactment of such legislation. The object is to prevent the illegal use of money at elections. In close States the results of contest sometimes depends upon the difference in the amount of cash at the disposal of the respective campaign committees, the one having the best supply generally being the victor. Even with the funds evenly divided, the use of money corrupts the electorate.

In some sections of Maryland, the fund at the disposal of the parties has sometimes been so enormous that $30 for any voter would not, it is said, be considered an exorbitant price. In forming laws to prevent the free use of cash, the main provisions are:

A sworn account to be made by every candidate and kept on file for public inspection, showing how much money he spent at any given election and what he spent it for.

A similar statement giving the names of the persons from whom he received the money.

A similar statement to be made by all persons (other than candidates) who handle money in their interest.

A limitation of the money that may be spent by any candidate.

A prohibition against any contribution from a corporation.

Penalties for the breach of any of these provisions.

Many bills embracing some of these features, others including all of them, have been introduced in the different Legislative branches at Annapolis from time to time, but none of them have ever been passed. Neither of the political parties have heretofore been anxious to have such laws on the statute books, but the alleged ground of objections has been their impracticability.

Publication, under oath, of the items of expenditure made by or in behalf of a candidate and the prevention of corporation contributions for political purposes are generally considered the essential features of a corrupt-practices act. Such statements as the laws against corruption in politics authorize are mandatory on the part of the candidates and their friends, as it is provided that the candidate shall not receive his commission until they are filed with proper authorities. Corporations are considered by those devising these laws as the fountain-heads of corruption in politics, and any law that will curtail contributions from this source would it is believed, raise the political standard, although in Maryland rich individuals are known to be very liberal with cash for campaign purposes when their political futures are involved.

All the indications point strongly to the probability of the passage of a bill by the next Legislature to prevent the indiscriminate use of money at elections.

WEDDING SUPERSTITIONS

There are many superstitions regarding marriage, and among the quaintest are the following:

The bride who dreams of fairies on the night before her wedding will be thrice blessed.

The bridegroom who carries a miniature horseshoe in his pocket will always be lucky.

The finding of a spider on the wedding gown by a bride is considered a sure token of happiness to come.

Never give a telegram to a bride or bridegroom on the way to the church. It is a sure omen of evil.

If a bride should by any chance see a coffin as she starts off on her wedding tour, she would order the driver of the carriage to turn back and start over again. She may miss a train by doing so, but if she neglects the precaution she will rue it, for bad luck is certain to follow her.

If during the marriage ceremony the wedding ring should fall down, the bride's fate will not be an enviable one.

Havre De Grace's New Station — The Pennsylvania Railroad has received bids and will award a contract for a handsome new passenger station at Havre de Grace, involving an expenditure of about $30,000. The station will conform with the elevated tracks through that town, made necessary by the new bridge now in course of construction over the Susquehanna river. It will be a two-story brick structure of the Colonial style of architecture and 70x26 feet in dimensions. The second floor on a level with the tracks will contain the waiting-room and a baggage-room. There will also be an enclosed waiting-room, 23x16 feet, on the opposite side of the tracks, with shelter sheds on both sides of the tracks 140 feet in length.

Pennsylvania Railroad Company Will Issue Clerical Orders for 1906.

Pursuant to its usual custom, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will issue clerical orders for the year 1906 to ordained clergymen having regular charge as settled pastors of churches located on or near its lines. Clergymen desiring such orders should make individual application for same on blanks furnished by the Company and which can now be obtained from the Ticket Agents. Applications should be sent to the General Office of the Company as soon as possible, in no case later than December 15, so that orders may be mailed by December 30, to all clergymen entitled to receive them.
