Tied to the Track—Fiendish Murder.

One of the most atrocious crimes ever committed was perpetrated at a point near Henryville, Indiana, about twenty miles from Jeffersonville, Saturday night. The following details are given by a correspondent of the Louisville Courier Journal: As a freight train coming South on the J. M. and I. railroad, due at ten o'clock Sunday morning, had reached a point about one mile this side of Henryville, the train was hailed and stopped. A number of men, probably a dozen, were gathered around the body of a man, and the conductor was told that a man had been run over by the previous train, and was dying. The injured man was taken on board the train, in company with Dr. Ferguson, of Henryville, who had been called to render medical services. The injured man had his left leg torn off by the train, and was weak from the loss of blood, and for sometime after he was aboard was unable to talk. He, however, revived for a time, and told the following horrible story;

He said his name is Auguste Gardnier, Frenchman, twenty-three years of age, and has been in the United States but a short time. He was going from Louisville, Ky., to Seymour, Ind., in search of employment. He adds: "I had but little money, so I thought I would walk.—It could not have been much past 10 o'clock last night when three men came up to me while I was walking along the track. One of them demanded my money. I told them that I was poor, having only a few dollars. This did not do any good, for they seized me, two holding me and the other one searching my pockets and taking my pocketbook and everything else I had. They then threw me down on the track. I thought they were going to kill me, and I begged them to spare my life. They said nothing, but one of them produced a long piece of rope from his pocket, and they commenced to tie me over the cattle-guard. I was badly frightened, and beg ed them hard not to do that. I told them that I never knew them, and had never done them any harm, and if they would let me go I would say nothing about what has occurred. While I was talking and pleading with them they still kept on tying me to the track over the cattle-guard. They tied me lengthways to the rail. The rope was tightly fastened around my legs, and arms. When they got through I could not move my arms and legs. While I was begging them not to leave me there they went off. I knew that the cars would be along soon, and I tried my utmost to free myself and loosen the ropes that bound me. At first I did not think I would be able to move at all, but after repeated efforts I succeeded in working my arms and body off of the track. In swinging down, I tried to get my left leg off, but I could not. I yelled with all my might, hoping that somebody would come and save me, but no one came. It was raining hard at the time, and very dark. I had been lying there about half an hour, when I heard the cars whistle. I cannot tell you my feelings. A preceptible shudder here passed through the frame of the dying man. In a few seconds the cars were nearly up to where I was lying. I gave a wild shriek and closed my eyes. The cars passed over me, the wheels cutting off my leg, and cutting the ropes that bound me. I suffered intense pain, and crawled and dragged myself a few feet from the track. I fainted away and when I came to was very thirsty. It was still raining, and I dug a hole in the ground by my face with my fingers, so that it would fill with water. By doing this I managed to get a little water. I was so weak that I could not move, and I hallooed frequently during the night for help, but no one came until morning, when I was found. Gardnier died shortly after arriving at Jeffersonville.

MIXED SCHOOLS IN THE SOUTH.—Rev. Dr. Barnas Sears, agent of the Peabody fund, was present at a teachers' meeting in Staunton, Va., last week, and in the course of remarks there made said that he did not believe that mixed schools would ever be enforced. He did not believe it could be done. He denied that Congress had the physical power to enforce mixed schools, laying aside the want of constitutional power. Such a system cannot be imposed on a State. A State has the power to abolish its system of public schools any day. Moreover, the State can refuse to raise the money necessary for the support of the system. Then what becomes of the schools? They disappear at once. Some persons, through false views, may be in favor of seating the two races side by side on the same benches; but can Congress compel both races to attend? No, it cannot. Some philanthropists, in urging the mixed school system, are in earnest in their efforts to benefit a poor, ignorant race; but the question is will it benefit them? Among the representatives of twelve States whom he had met at Washington he only found one who was in favor of mixed schools, and he was from South Carolina. The great majority of those favoring the civil rights bill desire only that the colored race shall have equal educational facilities with the whites. Many of the Senators who voted for it were hoping all time it would be defeated, and they will not vote for it again. Many of those who voted in favor of its passage had told him that if it did not pass last session it was dead, and that there would be no more trouble about it hereafter.

DESOLATION IN NEW JERSEY—The Corn Crop Destroyed.—The Philadelphia Public Record says:

"The dry weather in New Jersey is burning up vegetation, wilting fruit and playing the mischief generally in the interior of the State. It is fearful. The heat at midday is intense. The nights are cool and the air oppresssve. It is noticed that corn in the ear, but not ripe, is dried up with half grown ears. Potatoes have ceased to grow, and the leaves of plants are returning to dust. The pear trees in many places are leafless, and fruit still hanging to the trees. The earth is like ashes. The swamps are waterless."

SNUFFING.—A correspondent of the Wicomico, Md., Bachelor, in a report of an Eastern Shore camp-meeting, says: "I saw a pretty girl be-ruffled, be-puffed and be-overskirted to the waist, with pink pennant floating from the throat, gold bracelets on the white wrists, and a head-gear marvelous to behold, and after all that I saw her using one white forefinger to stow away in her mouth a large 'dab' of snuff, after which she wiped her mouth and fingers on a pretty, striped shawl, and walked up on the camp ground serene as an angel."

GEN. JACKSON'S REMAINS.—It is proposed in Tennessee to remove the remains of Andrew Jackson, together with those of his wife, from their present resting place at the "Hermitage" to the northern terrace of the State capitol at Nashville, where a mausoleum could be erected over them. Legislative sanction and an appropriation will be necessary, and a movement is on foot to request both.

ARE OFFICIAL ACTS OF THE PRESIDENT AT LONG BRANCH LEGAL?—This is a question raised by some of the papers on the strength of the discovery of the following provision of an act passed in 1790:

"All offices attached to the seat of government shall be exercised in the District of Columbia, and not elsewhere, except as otherwise expressly provided by law."

The postal treaty with France, the commission of Postmaster General Jewell, &c., have been signed by the President away from Washington, and a good deal of like routine business has been executed by him at Saratoga, Long Branch, Martha's Vineyard, and "all along the shore," and it is held by some that none of these official acts are legal. "Absenteeism" works as badly for Washington as it does for Ireland, and in the interests of the District we should not be sorry to have this point of objection made good. But we doubt if the presidency is an "office attached to the seat of government" within the meaning of the statute quoted. At the same time there is no doubt that the American people would prefer to see the Chief Magistrate keep his place at the helm of the vessel. It suits their national pride to feel that it is a post of responsibility at the head of a great people, and that its importance and distinction are belittled by leaving it vacant half the year.—Washington Star.

A BALTIMORE produce firm lately received from Ohio a large consignment of eggs, and in one of the barrels, twelve or fourteen inches below the chime, was found a live chicken which had been hatched since the eggs were packed for market. The little fellow chirped loudly for food when released, its appetite having, no doubt, been strengthened by its tedious journey. Several other eggs in the vicinity of the one from which his chickenship emerged showed unmistakable signs of animation, and on being deposited in a basket near a kitchen fire each produced a living chicken—all of which were doing as well as could be expected at last accounts.

THE Democrats seem to have gained a substantial victory in the distant Territory of Wyoming. A despatch from Cheyenne says that Steel has been reelected delegate to Congress by an increased majority, and that the Democratic ticket has been generally successful throughout the Territory.

NO RAIN FOR A YEAR.—The collector of customs at El Paso, Texas, in a letter to the chief of the bureaus of statistics, dated Aug. 17, says: "We have not had a drop of rain in this vicinity for three hundred and sixty-five days. Everything is scorched, hot and burning up. Many cattle have died of starvation."

THE Brooklyn Argus nominates this ticket: For President—Benj. F. Butler, of Massachusetts. For Vice-President—Francis D. Moulton, of Narragansett Pier.

IT is stated that there are more watermelons raised in Anne Arundel county, Md., than any other county in the United States.

The Cant of Imposters.

It is so obvious that physical and constitutional vigor is the best defense against disease, that even the vendors of drastic purgatives advertise them as tonics, stomachists and invigorants, in the hope of enlisting the confidence of the public in the devitalizing and pernicious potions. It is amusing to note how these imposters imitate and copy the language in which the medicinal properties of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are described. Although the effect of their rasping evacuants is to destroy the tone of the digestive organs and the bowels, and to rob the system of its vital strength, they are unscrupulously recommended to the weak and prostrate victims of disease as stimulants! It is time this humbug (not a very successful one it is true, thanks to the mature common sense of the American people) was stigmatized as it deserves. Such mischievous falsehoods should be exposed pro bono publico. Hostetter's Stomache Bitters, be it distinctly understood, is a stimulant. It has a spirituous basis, and that basis is the vehicle which diffuses its wonderful sanitary principles through every part of the system. The tonic, alterative and regulating ingredients of the Bitters would be comparatively inert if they were not, so to speak, carried to the localities where they are required by the stimulating agent. The cant which protests against the use of a pure alcoholic fluid, when employed as a means of giving full effect to medicinal extracts of the highest utility, is the cant of charlatanism. Every intelligent physician so characterizes it, and the sick who are griped, convulsed and debilitated by the nauseous and disgusting nostrums of the parties who put it forth, soon find to their sorrow that it is a delusion and a snare. Hostetter's Bitters, the great sanitary stimulant of the age, i., in the truest sense of the words, a wholesome, vitalizing, renovating preparation.

A Medicine Chest in Miniature.

Mishler's Herb Bitters is not a beverage, but a strictly medicinal preparation, more thoroughly adapted to the wants of the general public than any other in the market. Unlike all other so-called Remedies, it is prepared under the direct personal supervision of an eminent Physician. S. B. Hartman, M. D., the senior proprietor, is a regular graduate of the Jefferson Medical College of Philadelphia, and a practicing physician of large experience and extensive practice. In such hands the public may rest assured that Mishler's Herb Bitters is compounded in strict accordance with correct Pharmaceutical principles, and that none but the choicest ingredients enter into its composition.

Its immense sale alone is conclusive proof that it possesses merit of a high order. Merchants, bankers, clergymen, lawyers, clerks and others engaged in sedentary occupations, experience its wonderful effects in relieving the depression caused by severe mental labor; while the mechanic, farmer and laborer, find their bodily vigor restored like magic by its use.

At this season of the year, when DIARRHŒA, CRAMPS, COLICS and kindred disorders, caused by eating unripe fruits, imprudent indulgence in cold drinks, &c., are prevalent, a certain, speedy and effectual remedy will be found in Mishler's Herb Bitters.

The depressing feeling of Languor or Debility, incident to the "heated term," is at once removed, the energies restored, and new life and vigor imparted to the prostrated system, by its use.

IN DYSPEPSIA, LIVER COMPLAINT AND AFFECTIONS OF THE KIDNEYS, it invariably works like a charm. It is not a drastic purge nor heady stimulant, violent in its operations; but it is simply a natural remedy, thoroughly adapted to assist nature. It supplies tone to the stomach, reinvigorates the digestive organs, stimulates the secretions, and promoting a regular action of the bowels, enables every organ of the body to perform its allotted work regularly and without interruption.

It is the unerring certainty of desired results attendant on its use, coupled with the fact that it is prepared by a physician of eminence in his profession, that has rendered Mishler's Herb Bitters so popular, and as familiar as a household word. THOUSANDS OF MOTHERS all over the land have found it to be the safest and best remedy for use in their families; they not only give it with perfect safety to even the youngest child, but when used with caution find it the safest means of ensuring their own health and freedom from the weary aches and pains incident to their sex. Perfectly harmless, it is just the remedy needed by them to enable Nature to perform her functions naturally regularly and without inconvenience. NO LADY SHOULD BE WITHOUT IT if she would possess the clear, blooming complexion and cheerful spirits inseparable from sound health. It is sold by all Druggists and General Dealers; is neatly put up in square Glass Bottles, enclosed in a yellow wrapper. Is not sold on Draught, being strictly a medicinal preparation, and as such is endorsed by many of the most eminent physicians of the country.

WHANN'S
Raw Bone Super Phosphate

IN the culture of WHEAT, true economy implies the use of such manures as produce the greatest yield, and at the same time leave the land in the best condition for grass.

WHANN'S RAW BONE SUPER PHOSPHATE is extensively used on this important crop, for the reason that it fulfills these conditions—the Grass often paying for the Fertilizers, leaving the increased yield of Wheat clear profit.

No Fertilizer has ever excelled it, combining the active qualities of the best Peruvian Guano with the more lasting properties of dissolved Bone, it is unexcelled as a manure for Wheat. Those Farmers who have used need no reminder as to its worth. Their continued use of it year after year is the strongest argument which can be brought to prove its merits.

The following testimonials from two well known Farmers will be appreciated:

HANESVILLE, KENT CO., MD., July 17th, 1874.

Messrs. Walton, Whann & Co.:

Gentlemen:—I have used Whann's Raw Bone Super Phosphate on my Wheat for the past two years. I am very much pleased with its action both on Wheat and Grass, and regard it as one of the best Fertilizers on the market, and a permanent improver of the land.

Yours, truly, WILLIAM T. ANDERSON.

CHESTERTOWN, MARYLAND, July 16th, 1874.

Messrs. Walton, Whann & Co.:

Gentlemen:—I have been using Whann's Raw Bone Super Phosphate on my farm near Chestertown nine or ten years. It has never failed to give me satisfaction both in its results on Wheat and the Grass following. I regard it as second to none, and expect to continue its use.

Respectfully, yours, S. LECATES.

FARMERS who have not yet used this renowned Fertilizer are earnestly requested to TRY IT.

"EXCELSIOR."

The most concentrated, universal and durable Fertilizer ever offered to the farmer—combining all the stimulating qualities of Peruvian Guano, and the ever durable fertilizing properties of Bones. In fine dry powder, prepared expressly for drilling, and can be applied in any quantity, however small, per acre. It is the opinion of many close calculating Farmers after SIXTEEN YEARS' experience in testing it side by side with other popular fertilizers, that an application of 100 pounds of Excelsior is equal to from 200 to 300 pounds of any other fertilizer or Guano, and therefore fully 100 to 200 per cent. cheaper.

UNIFORMITY OF QUALITY GUARANTEED BY THE MANUFACTURERS.

The celebrated author, in this admirable essay, clearly demonstrates from thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.
