Democratic Campaign Song.

Tune—"Yankee Doodle."

I.

Tilden and Hendricks are the men
To guide the storm that's brewing;
For cleaning out the vilest den,
And stop the lease renewing.
Oh S. J. Tilden is the man
With Hendricks so well mated:
They'll squelch the false republican
Whose deeds are execrated.

II.

Yes they will take upon themselves
The task of rennovating;
And laying by upon the shelves
The party dominating.
Oh S. J. Tilden, etc.

III.

Reform's the watchword these hard times
Give heed, ye peculators,
Or you may find the law confines
Such brazen violaters.
Oh S. J. Tilden, etc.

IV.

There's whisky rings and other things,
That makes the mind grow weary,
A surfeit we have had that brings
Corruption out quite clearly.
Oh S. J. Tilden, etc.

V.

"Let no guilty man escape sir."
Commands Ulysses briefly,
For I am the chief magistrate,
And will release them freely.
Oh S. J. Tilden, etc.

VI.

What use of prisons, courts or laws,
If they are disregarded,
If Felons slip from out their claws,
By President discharged.
Oh S. J. Tilden etc.

VII.

Good people all let's emulate
Our Tilden at reforming,
And then the victory consecrate
By works and deeds performing.
Oh S. J. Tilden, etc.

Keep Your Own Counsel.

It is a most excellent rule in life, for those who would keep out of trouble, and keep themselves too out of the reach of injurious busybodies, to have their eyes and ears wide open, and their mouth shut. They may see all that is to be seen, and hear all that is to be heard, but they need not tell to others all that they may wish to hear. These are scheming times. The people are not what they were two years ago. The struggle for life has become so fierce and [illegible] and wealth has broken down many [illegible] intense, as to have once governed [illegible] of the scruples that fidence, [illegible] it. Matters spoken in confidence, or words dropped incautiously in chance conversation, are not always accorded the privacy they are entitled to. They are too often used without remorse, wherever they can be used to the advantage of one, or to the detriment of another; and in this way a man who has honest schemes of business in hand, or who may have the misfortune to have unhappy secrets in his household, or in his personal circle, frequently finds the world cognizant of them all, without scarcely knowing how it obtained the information. An upright, just and honorable person, who chances to come into the possession of a knowledge of his neighbor's private affairs, will lock his lips upon it, and suffer no one else to obtain it from him. But all men do not possess this high regard for others, and the only safe rule in dealing with such persons, and indeed with all persons, is to keep your own counsel—converse freely and genially on ordinary subjects, but on grave personal matters cultive a careful reticence. If you have important business projects in hand, keep them to yourself, or, at most, limit the knowledge of them to the few trusty friends on whose discretion you can rely, and whose advice and assistance you may need. There are few successful business men who do not make this an inflexible rule in their operations. It saves them infinite trouble, and is one of the secrets of their success.

A Seed that Purifies Water.

In India, where it is often impossible to obtain good water, there is a kind of provision of Providence for the purifying of impure and muddy water, which is worthy of notice. Were it in America, it might be called an "institution," so common is its use. It is a seed, which in being rubbed again and again on the inside of the common earthern water pots of the country, has the power of precipitating the earth and impurities leaving the water tolerably clear, and to a degree suitable for use. During our itinerancy of two weeks we have had occasion almost constantly to use the very repulsive tank water of the country, thus purified. At only one of our encampments have we had well water, and then the natives much preferred common surface or tank water to this. Habit, usage and custom are omnipotent in India, and many years must pass before Hindoos will learn that their purifying seed does not remove the poisonous taint, that produces fever and cholera, and does nothing to destroy animal life that brings the very common and troublesome Guinea worm, so often making life almost or quite a burden. It is a source of satisfaction to us that this purified water is rendered harmless by boiling, and there is of course, as much more urgent reason for the use of "the cup that cheers but does not inebriate," than can be found where one has access to "the old bucket" of former times and happy memory.—Missionary Letter.

Read the following Letter

From a highly respectable gentleman in Limestone, Montour Co., Pa.:

"This is to certify that I was pronounced by several physicians as consumptive, and had all the symptoms of the disease in its worst form—such as coughing, severe pains in the breast, shortness of breath, night sweats, and extreme weakness and lassitude of my whole system. My family nearly all having died of the disease, I had given up all hope of recovery as nothing gave me relief, but through the persuasion of a friend I was induced to try WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY. The first bottle relieved me considerably, and the third bottle cured me entirely. I now feel as well as I ever did in my life, and am able to follow my occupation of farming as fully as any one. I also had a sister in a more advanced state of the disease, having been confined to her bed for over a year, and pronounced beyond hope by our best physicians. She also was entirely cured by the Wild Cherry, but it required six or eight bottles, and she still takes it occasionally as a preventative, being naturally weak-chested. I would sincerely urge all who are similarly affected to try DR. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY, as I am satisfied but for your own valuable remedy my sister and myself would not now be living. I would cheerfully answer any one who may address me on the subject and state our cases more fully."

JACOB MILLER.

None genuine unless signed "I. BUTTS," on the wrapper. 50 cents and $1 a bottle. Prepared by Seth W. Fowle & Sons, 86 Harrison Ave., Boston, and sold by dealers generally.

THOSE who suffer from nervous irritations, itching uneasiness, and the discomfort that follows from an enfeebled and disordered state of the system, should take AYER'S SARSAPARILLA and cleanse the blood. Purge out the lurking distemper that undermines the health, and the constitutional vigor will return.

ENTIRELY CORRECT.

The New York Tribune says: "There are a good many Republican newspaper offices in the country where the following sound sense from the Graphic can be read with great profit: "The fact is that Governor Tilden is the strongest candidate the Democrats could put in the field, and the strongest they have nominated since James Buchanan. He minds his own business, keeps his own council, seldom slops over, makes few mistakes, and has as clear and sharp an eye to see what ought to be done as any man in America, while in executive force he has few equals and no superior. He doubtless knows as well what he is doing and why he is doing it, and what he means to do next as any editorial guessing machine in the country. The Democracy mean success, and are determined to win it, if they possibly can do so; and they are too shrewd to quarrel, and too plucky to turn the white feather, and too hungry to abandon a chance so long as their game is in sight. And the Republicans may as well make up their minds at first as last that they have got to beat by hard work or be beaten, and nothing short of the hardest sort of work and the greatest possible union and harmony will prevent their being very handsomely whipped. And Republican papers that report the weakness of the Democracy, and represent their nominee as a man of straw, that an ordinary whiff of wind may blow over, show that they are asses who don't know what they are braying about."

Ostrich Culture.

The work of raising ostriches for their feathers has been commenced in California. About eight years ago an English settler in Cape Colony, South Africa, commenced experimenting with a few ostrichs, and has now many hundreds. He hatched them by an artificial process. His profits on eighty-five birds sold were $125,000. The enormous profits of the Cape Colony gentleman has induced a California [illegible] to embark in the enterprise. We [illegible] not a Maryland party commence [illegible] the ostrich culture. The only fear of [illegible] success in the undertaking would [illegible] from over production, ost[illegible] feathers would deteriorate in [illegible]. When very plentiful, ostrich feathers may become of as little value as chicken feathers. Fashions are so changeable that plumes made of chicken feathers may become the fashion of the day. When any one who chooses may appear in a plume of chicken feathers, ostrich plumes will go out of fashion, and like Othello, the ostrich cultivator's occupation will be gone. We hope, however, that ostrich feathers will not degenerate into hen feathers in fashionable estimation, and that it will not deter some energetic, enterprising Maryland capitalist from embarking in the present highly profitable business of ostrich culture. Who will start a poultry yard of ostrichs in Maryland?

DRYING SWEET CORN.—Sweet corn may be dried and cooked in the winter and spring, and be almost as good as the corn fresh from the garden. In the first place, pick that which is in good condition for the table, put it in a kettle, and scald it by boiling about five minutes, then as soon as cool cut it from the cobs, put it on plates, and dry it in the oven, then put it in paper bags, and it will keep till wanted to cook. Another way is described by a lady as follows: "The corn is gathered at the most suitable state for boiling, not too old nor too green; a thin slice is taken off all around the outside of the ears with a sharp knife, taking off as little as possible, yet cutting the top off from every kernel. Then with the back of the knife the ears are scraped, taking out all the kernels and leaving the skins and hulls on the cobs. The milky mass is then spread on plates, and dried in a quick oven, but not so hot as to scorch it. After it is nearly dried, it is put into thin muslin bags and hung up around the stove until thoroughly dry."

SEASON TO CUT TIMBER.—Various opinions are expressed on this subject. A recent writer says: "If oak, hickory or chestnut timber be felled in August in the second running of the sap, and barked, quite a large tree will remain sound for years; whereas, that cut in winter and remaining till next (as thick as your wrist) will be completely saprotten, and will be almost unfit for any purpose. The body of the oak split into rails will last not more than ten or twelve years. Chestnut will last longer, but no comparison to that cut in August. Hickory cut in the eighth month is not subject to worm eaten, and last a long time for fencing. When I began farming in 1802, it was the practice to cut timber for post fencing in the winter.—White oak posts and black oak rails, cut at that time, I found did not last more then ten or twelve years. In 1808 I began cutting fence timber in the eighth month. Many of the oak rails cut that year are yet sound, as well as most of those formed of chestnut. If the bark be not taken off this month however, it will peel off the second or third year and leave the sap perfectly sound. The tops of the trees are also more valuable for fuel than when cut in the winter or spring. I advise young farmers to try the experiment for themselves, and if post fences do not last twice as long, I forfeit all my experience as worthless.—Practical Farmer.

A Dissertion on Thrift.

True thrift consists in pursuing exactly the opposite course which our grandmothers pursued a hundred years ago. True thrift teaches you not to buy and make clothes enough to last you a dozen or twenty years, but simply enough for your yearly wearing. It teaches you not to neglect the replenishing of your wardrobe till everything is torn to shreds, but to keeps always a little ahead, and to lay aside a few sheets and napkins and towels and under clothing while they are only soft and thin, but still hold together, against the sad emergency of sickness; and take the money that would otherwise be locked up in yellowing and useless linen and invest it in stocks, or bonds, or books, or drives, or seaside strolls and mountain rambles, and the general strengthening and sweetening of life, which is more than meat, and of the body, which is more than raiment.—Gail Hamilton.

A BOTTLE of Port Wine, from the centennial, sixty years old, which received one of the highest awards, and is said to have been the finest in the large collection of 8,500 samples of wine sent from Portugal has been sent to Commodore Vanderbilt, at New York, by jury group No. 4.

Sensible Advice.

You are asked every day through the columns of newspapers and by your Druggists to use something for Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint that you know nothing about, you get discouraged spending money with but little success. Now to give you satisfactory proof that GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER will cure you of Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint with all its effects, such as Sour Stomach, Sick Headache, Habitual Costiveness, Palpitation of the Heart heart-burn, Water brash, coming up of food after eating, low spirits &c., we ask you to go to your Druggists C. F. Stam & Bro., or E. M. Britton, Millington, and get a sample Bottle of GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER for 10 cents and try it or a Regular Size for 75c. two doses will relieve you.

JUST published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, a new edition of the celebrated medical work entitled the 'SCIENCE OF LIFE; or, SELF-PRESERVATION.' It treats upon MANHOOD, how lost, how regained and how perpetuated; cause and care of Exhausted Vitality, Impotency, Premature Decline in Man, Spermatorrhœa, or Seminal Losses (nocturnal and diurnal,) Nervous and Physical Debility, Hypochondria, Gloomy Forebodings, Mental Depression, Loss of Energy, Haggard Countenance, Confusion of Mind and Loss of Memory, Impure State of the Blood, and all diseases arising from the ERRORS OF YOUTH, or the indiscretions or excesses of mature years.

It tells you all about the Morale of Generative Physiology, the Physiology of Marriage, of Wedlock and Offspring, Physical Contrasts, True Morality, Empiricism, Perversion of Marriage, Conjugal Precept and Friendly Counsel, Physical Infirmity, its Causes and Cure, Relations Between the Sexes, Proofs of the Expansion of Vice, The Miseries of Imprudence, Ancient Ignorance and Errors, MEANS OF CURE, Cure of Body and Mind. TRUE PRINCIPLES OF TREATMENT, Address to Patients and Invalid Readers, The Author's Principles. The price of this book is only $1.00.

This Book also contains MORE Than FIFTY PRESCRIPTIONS for the above named and other diseases, each one worth more than the price of the book.

Also, another valuable medical work treating exclusively on MENTAL AND NERVOUS DISEASES; more than 200 royal octavo pages, twenty elegant engravings, bound in substantial muslin. Price only $2.00. Barely enough to pay for printing.

"The Book for young and middle-aged men to read just now, is the Science of Life, or Self Preservation. The author has returned from Europe in excellent health, and is again the Chief Consulting Physician of the Peabody Medical Institute, No. 4 Bulfinch St., Boston, Mass."—Republican Journal.

"The Science of Life is beyond all comparison the most extraordinary work on Physiology ever published."—Boston Herald.

"Hope nestled in the bottom of Pandora's box, and hope plumes her wings anew, since the issuing of these valuable works, published by the Peabody Medical Institute, which are teaching thousands how to avoid the maladies that sap the citadel of life."—Philadelphia Enquirer.

"It should be read by the young, the middle aged and even the old."—N. Y. Tribune.

The first and only Medal ever conferred upon any Medical Man in this country, as a recognition of skill and professional services, was presented to the author of these works, March 31st, 1876. The presentation was noticed at the time of its occurrence by the Boston Press and the leading journals throughout the country. This magnificent Medal is of solid gold, set with more than one hundred Indian diamonds of rare brilliancy.

"Altogether, in its execution and the richness of its materials, and size, this is decidedly the most noticeable medal ever struck in this country for any purpose whatever. It is well worth the inspection of numismatists. It was fairly won and worthily bestowed."—Massachusetts Ploughman, June 3d, 1876.

Catalogue sent on receipt of 6 cents for postage.

Either of the above works sent by mail on receipt of price. Address PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, (or W. H. PARKER, M. D., Consulting Physician,) No. 4 Bulfinch St., Boston, Mass., opp. Revere House.

Farmers and others are invited to give us a trial, as we are determined to be surpassed by none either in the character of our work or low charges therefor.

DANIEL P. COX,

Near the Foundry, Chestertown.

April 1, 1876—9m.

W. A. HYLAND & CO.,

RESPECTFULLY thank the Public for the liberal patronage heretofore extended, and announce that they are determined, by the use of the very best material and the employment of the best workmen, to offer unprecedented advantages to the Agriculturists of Kent and adjoining counties. Their has been thoroughly tested and found worthy of a first place among the various machines offered. Light draft, durability, general strength and simplicity of all the parts, are advantages that they claim.

In PLOWS

they offer a SPECIALITY. The wants of the Farmer is considered in the general manufacture. The best iron is used, the best wood, and they are neatly put up, painted and varnished, and the castings smooth and neat.

They are the proprietors of a CORN SHELLER with Fan attachment, which with their one and two horse power, will shell and clean seventy-five bushels in one hour, of which fact good reference can be given.

REPAIRING

they do neatly, and all their work they do at reasonable prices, and say to all, encourage home manufacture, or at all events give them a trial.
