SOCRATES.

Socrates was not simply a moral philosopher; he was, in the highest sense of the term, a religious teacher. The English historian (Grote) describes him as a missionary, controlled by his persuasion of a special religious mission. All his opinions, teachings and conduct, assume the eternal supremacy of God, a spiritual being, at once infinite and personal. Here he passed quite beyond all his countrymen and like Abraham of old, announced to a nation of idolaters and pantheists the true nature of the Divine Being. Empedocles gave up the anthropomorphism of the Greeks, but he taught that the Deity was an impassive intelligence, beyond sympathy with man. His system was pantheistic. Socrates avoided both errors, and taught that God was a spiritual being, who communed with man as friend, and was already to become his guide. This conception of Deity led him to the belief of the immortality of the soul; and here it will appear to some that Socrates was in advance of the Hebrews of his age. Immortality, which was very sparingly mentioned (some think not at all) among the Hebrews prior to the return from the captivity, was a large element in the teachings of this prophet of the West. In the "Phædo," after proving that the soul is imperishable, he says. "What manner of persons, therefore, ought we to be? If death had been the end of all things, then the wicked will gain by dying. But now as the soul appears to be immortal, no release or salvation from evil can be found except in the attainment of the highest virtue and wisdom. For the soul in her journey to the world below carries nothing with her but nature and character." "We shall in Hades suffer the punishment of our misdeeds here." When we hear him tell his judges with apostolic boldness that he "must obey God rather than man," we recall Peter's words to the Council in Jerusalem five centuries later.

Socrates taught that immortality and religion are inseperable—a lesson that the heathen nations never learned, and that the Hebrew nation was always forgetting. And in copying their example, Christians have sadly and ruinously put asunder what God has joined together. He admitted no distinction between the idea of good and the idea of divinity.

"Socrates," writes Pressence, "breathed new life into conscience and thought. It was his profound insight into the true and the good that constituted the originality and power of this noble philosopher, who more than any other labored to destroy polytheism.—Nat. Repository.

Early Education Shaping Success in Life.

So much of the success or non-success in life in after years depends upon early education that this subject assumes a degree of importance which no parent teacher, or guardian should be unmindful of. The smallest part of our education is that which we derive from the text book.

Observation in the world's great contact and in the earnest battle of life is both man's and woman's education.

The difference in men's characters is very strongly marked. Some men are weak and timid, really accomplishing nothing worth mentioning in the whole course of their lives. Others yield to no threat or difficulty, and go straight ahead, prostrating whatever opposition lies in their path. A good deal of this is owing to early education. The child brought up in luxury almost always realizes an imbecile manhood. Plant an acorn in a flower-pot, and rear it in a green-house, and though it grow up in the form of an oak, it will be quite unlike that reared amid the snows and the storms of the mountain top.

In nine cases out of ten the education which a man gives himself is, after all, the most important. One of the worst foes to the success of most men is the indulgence of a habit of indecision. Nothing is more enfeebling or destructive of mental force. The man who never commits himself who is always delaying, and who never makes up his mind, gives others the impression that he has little or no mind to make up. The only remedy for this apparent want of capacity is promptness.

Music in the Russian Army.

There is only one band to each division, and it affords music at intervals, but the spirits of the men are cheered on the way by their own songs, in which they give vent to their enthusiasm with a good will and melodious expression which is quite enlivening. At the head of each battalion are three drummers, and in the van is generally a score or more of good singers. First one strikes up a solo, whose not unpleasant air is listened to in silence, and then the company in unison and harmony take up the chorus, the drummers joining in, while the refrain swells along the whole line in a manner which is emphatically war-like and grand. Sometimes when the musical element is strong and solo singers rare, a soldier with a clarionet plays the solo, then all the others, with the drums, take up the chorus. The songs are often very spirit-stirring, and the heartiness with which they are rendered tells how deeply the feelings of the men have been stirred and the spirit in which they are marching to meet the enemy. The singing is continued through the march, and the effect is as pleasing as it is inspiring.

CHICAGO Evening Journal: It is a strange thing to see a city chap at a country party, but he was there, and in conversation with one of the prettiest lasses ventured to inquire:

"Were you ever at a watering place?"

"Oh, yes, replied she. I live right at one."

"Indeed!" exclaimed he, growing interested, "where might it be?"

"Oh, just out here a little way," was the innocent reply, "my father keeps the Railroad tank."

The city chap, wondering wether she was in earnest or making fun at him, then dropped the subject.

WHY do you suffer with that cough or cold when Leary's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry and Tar will cure it? Only 35 cents a bottle.

ASTONISHING SUCCESS!

It is the duty of every person who has used BOSCHEE'S GERMAN SYRUP to let its wonderful qualities be known to friends in curing Consumption, severe Coughs Croup, Asthma, Pneumonia, and in fact all throat and lung diseases. No person can use it without immediate relief.—Three doses will relieve any case, and we consider it the duty of all Druggists to recommend it to the poor dying consumptive, at least to try one bottle, as 40,000 dozen bottles were sold last year, and no one case where it failed was reported.—Such a medicine as the GERMAN SYRUP cannot be too widely known. Ask your Druggist about it. Sample Bottle to try sold at 10 cents. Regular size 75 cents.—Sold by all first-class Druggists.

The Fullfillment of a Dream.

About a week or ten days since a man in this city dreamed that he saw his next door neighbor brought home dead from the mine in which he worked. He told his wife of the dream next morning, and during the day they talked a good deal about it. On the second day, the man who had experienced the dream looked from the window and saw the neighbor on his own doorsteps, about to leave for the mine. He said to his wife: "I have a great mind to go and beg that man not to go to work, my dream haunts me so." The wife answered that it was a foolish thought, which would only annoy the man, and was not worth mentioning, as it was the neighbors last day in the mine. Within two hours of that moment the neighbor's body, crushed out of shape and quite dead, was brought home.—Virginia City (Nev.) Eeterprise.

HOW PEOPLE GET SICK.—Eating too much and too fast; swallowing imperfectly masticated food; by taking too much fluid at meals; drinking poisonous whiskey and other intoxicating drinks; keeping late hours at night and sleeping too late in the morning; clothing too tight, so as to relax the circulation; wearing thin shoes; neglecting to take sufficient exercise to keep the hands and feet warm; neglecting to wash the body sufficiently to keep the pores open; exchanging the warm clothes worn in a warm room during the day for costumes and exposures incident to evening parties; starving the stomach to gratify a vain and foolish passion for dress; keeping up constant excitement; fretting the mind with borrowed troubles; swallowing quack nostrums for every imaginary ill; taking meals at irregular intervals.

A COMPANY OF EMIGRANTS from Pan Yann, New York, last week purchased for $13,500 a farm on Cabin Creek, in Dorchester county, containing 400 acres, with water front, where a town will be laid off. Ground has already been broken for the leveling and grading of the streets, and the work will be pushed as fast as possible. The land purchased will be divided proportionately among the colonists. A hotel and saw mill will be erected at once, and it is contemplated to establish manufactories of various kinds. The colonists are well pleased with the country, full of energy and sanguine of success. The peninsula between the Chesapeake and Delaware bays is destined to become the most attractive part of this country.

SOUTH CAROLINA is steadily pursuing the political thieves who plundered her for so many years with impunity, and the whole country will be glad that they are brought to punishment. An ex-president of her Senate and an ex-clerk of her House of Representatives have been lodged in jail on the charge of having issued fraudulent pay certificates and of having robbed the treasury in various other ways. The Boston Post expresses its delight at the vigor exhibited by the Hampton administration, and declares that it is about time that some exceptions were established to the rule that official knavery involves no risk.

A WOMAN'S OBJECTION.—A Boston letter says: I heard a conversation recently between a young lady in society and the representative of a leading society paper. It was at a charity ball; the girl was pretty and exquisitely dressed. Se went up to the young gentleman and said: "Now Mr. ——, don't you put my name in the paper, nor tell what I had on. I have worn this dress once before, and it's horribly old. I was going to have a French dress from Worth's, but it didn't get here, so I had to wear this; now mind, don't put my name in the paper, but if you do, send me six."

BABY shows are the fashion now, but as long as mothers continue to nurse their little ones with Laudanum or other opiates, they cannot expect their Babies to look bright. If your Baby needs a medicine get a good and harmless one such as Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup. 25 cents a bottle.

THE Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune writes to his paper that "the President is for the moment almost as much out of accord with his party in Congress as Andrew Johnson was in the first year of his separation from the republicans."

WHAT agonies must the poet have endured who, writing of his love, asserted that he "kissed her under the silent stars," and found the compositor had made him declare that he had "kissed her under the cellar stairs."

MISS: A word in your ear. The next fine afternoon that you saunter out, buy a box of Glenn's Sulphur Soap. That admirable purifier will remove every one of those pimples which detract so much from your beauty. Sold by all Druggists. There is Youth in every bottle of Hill's Hair Dye. n19-4t.

A TALL man having rallied a friend on the shortness of his legs, the latter replied: "My legs reach the ground—what more can yours do?"

GALENA MACHINE SHOPS!

Wm. A. Hyland & Co.

WE beg leave to call the attention of the Farmers of Kent and the adjoining counties to our new and the many IMPROVEMENTS we have made this year. Our Self-Oiling PITMAN BOX, which will run two hours without stopping to oil; also, case hardened Journals, which we think is a great advantage, preventing the wearing of the Journals, a trouble that all other machines have to contend with. We are now using a Guard with concaved centre, which will PREVENT CHOKING and always present a Sharp Cutting Edge, a thing that must present itself to the farmer at once. Also, a Knife with Steel Back, thereby adding Strength, Lightness and Elasticity; and our PATENT STEEL WIRE DROP, that overcomes all objections to a Dropper, working as well in light as heavy grain, a thing that has been long needed and found at last by us.

We make the Reapers of two sizes, for two and four horses. The four-horse Reaper cuts a Swath of six feet, and will cut from twenty-five to thirty acres of grain per day, and will not work the horses as hard as ordinary farm work. The five foot machine is intended for two horses, and is handled very easily. Farmers, call and see, or write to us and learn what we have for sale.

They are the proprietors of a Corn Sheller with Fan attachment, which with their one and two horse power, will shell and clean seventy-five bushels in one hour, of which fact good reference can be given.

REPAIRING

they do neatly, and all their work is done at reasonable prices. and say to all, encourage home manufacture, or at all events give them a trial.

THE CRAWFORD MOWER

so justly celebrated for its light draft, and good work done by it, they also keep for sale.

Also, the Celebrated Taylor Rake
