The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, brick-dust or sediment in the urine, head ache, back ache, lame back, dizziness, sleeplessness, nervousness, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and better health in that organ is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. Swamp-Root corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest because of its remarkable health restoring properties. A trial will convince anyone.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, and don't let a dealer sell you something in place of Swamp-Root—if you do you will be disappointed.

Our Cooking Circle

Below are found several of the favorite recipes of good housewives who read the NEWS. Other ladies in town and country are invited to join the circle and send in their "best." Paste these in your cook book

Chicken Salad

Two large chickens boiled, and cut them up; cut an equal quantity of celery and mix with chicken so as to have as much celery as chicken. Dressing: One pint of best olive oil, sixteen eggs; boil one hour or more eight eggs, and drop into cold water to cool; then take out the yolks and mash thoroughly, and soften with a little oil into a smooth paste; add one tablespoonful of vinegar, one teaspoonful of sugar, salt, mustard, red and black pepper to suit the taste. Take the eight raw yolks and beat thoroughly; then add oil by dropping into egg slowly while beating. After dropping one third of the oil (third of a pint) the balance may be added in a small, steady stream, beating all the while into the egg; then mix this thoroughly with the cooked yolks as prepared. Pour over the chicken and celery when ready to serve.—Mrs. C.

Scalloped Oysters

Have a deep fire-proof dish; drain the oysters; butter the bottom and sides of the dish; sprinkle rolled crackers (not cracker dust) on the bottom and sides. Have two or three hard-boiled eggs; cut them fine and mix with the crackers, which must have pepper and salt with it. Put a layer of oysters over the butter, then a layer of crackers and egg, with a piece of butter the size of a hickory nut, then a layer of oysters etc., till the dish is full; then cover it over with crackers and butter. Bake it till brown. For those who like nutmeg, a very little improves the taste. Don't drain the oysters too dry.—Mrs. R.

Panned Oysters.

To one dozen large oysters, put into a dripping pan a piece of butter the size of a large hulled walnut, with pepper and salt; after having dried your oysters between towels put them in the pan; as soon as they become a little brown turn them; in a few minutes they will be done (for oysters require a short time to cook, if kept long on the fire they become hard); take them out and pour the butter over them and send it to the table hot.—Mrs. B.

Fried Oysters

Dry the oysters in a towel, put them in well beaten egg; have bread crumbs or rolled crackers with salt and pepper well mixed in; roll them in this mixture and put them into a deep pan of hot lard; there should be a sufficient quantity of lard to prevent the oysters from resting on the bottom of the pan; in this case they will absorb too much lard; turn them quickly; if the lard is sufficiently hot they will be done in a very few minutes. Serve them hot.—Mrs. R.

Foster Father of Murdered Girl Dead.—Colonel Charles E. Thompson foster father of Mrs. Edith May Woodill, whose murder near St. Michael's, Talbot county, last June, created a country-wide sensation, died suddenly at his home near McDaniel, while seated at a breakfast table Tuesday morning.

HUNTING LICENSES.

A Reasonable, Just and Successful Means of Raising Necessary Funds for the Protection of Game.

The following article was received from the Maryland State Game and Fish Protective Association, with an office at 213 St. Paul St., Baltimore, the middle of the past week:

"The two most important problems of practical game protection are how to enforce the laws, and how to secure the necessary funds for that purpose. Without funds it is manifestly impossible either to provide or maintain the warden system.

"The most successful way of raising funds thus far devised is a system of hunting licenses, in which way the men who reap the benefit are the ones who pay the bill.

"There are now thirty-four States in this country, and most of the provinces of Canada, which have a resident hunting licenses in some form. No State has ever adopted the resident license system has ever removed the law from the statute books, on the contrary the tendency has been to strengthen them, increasing the amount of the fee for said license, making the laws more stringent.

"The law which the Game and Fish Commission has favorably reported to the Governor of Maryland, following the system of other States, requires every resident hunter in Maryland to pay a nominal fee of $1 for the resident hunting license, and $10 for a license for all hunters who are not residents of the State. Land owners or tenants, or children of land owners or tenants, do not require such license while hunting on the premises of said land owners or tenants. All revenues to go to the State Treasurer, to be used by the State Game Warden for the protection and preservation and propagation of game. Proper safeguards for the issuing of same and the handling of the money have been looked after. Licenses are good throughout the State and run for one year. Are not transferable and must be exhibited when demanded. The bill to be introduced follows the Illinois law, which has been one of the most successful.

"There will be an immense revenue derived therefrom from hunters from Baltimore City, which will be distributed pro rata through the counties, according to the number of licenses issued in said counties. At present the thousands of city gunners who hunt throughout the State pay no license, obtaining written permission from someone in the county which practically gives them the privilege of hunting where they chose. Under the proposed system hunters of the city are calculated to add about ten thousand dollars per annum to the betterment of game conditions in the counties.

"The revenue feature of a license system as proposed for Maryland is not the only advantage to be obtained therefrom. It affords a means of identification, and keeps a check on irresponsible parties and preserves the game for the benefit of the citizens of the State."

There has been a demand for a law to protect the game in this State for some years past. Kent and Queen Annes county have suffered greatly from not having a proper law for some time. From what can be learned a majority of the sportsmen of this county are in favor of a new law and are in favor of paying a license, but no one seems to know just what kind of a law should be enacted.

As has already been suggested a meeting should be called and the matter thoroughly discussed so it can be placed in the hands of the representatives so that they may take the matter up in the Legislature, which is just beginning its session.

Do not put the matter off too long or it will be necessary to wait two years hence or until the next session of the Legislature before anything definite can be done. Now is the time to act.

CAT SURVIVES A LONG FAST.

Existed on Snow For About Two Weeks—Accidentally Locked up in a House.

Only the snow that had blown in the crevices under the door, is what a pet cat owned by Mrs. Mary J. Culleney had to exist on for two week. The feline, which before Christmas, was big and fat, weighing fully ten pounds, is now a mere shadow. It happened this way: Mrs. Culleney went on a visit to her daughter, Mrs. Frank Walker, in Wilmington, Del. She thought the cat was outdoors and locked every door and window before her departure. After she had been gone a few days Mrs. Culleney's neighbors heard at intervals peculiar noises inside the house and they finally notified Mrs. Arthur Diebert, another daughter of Mrs. Culleney, who resides on West High street. She made an investigation and found that the cat was inside the house, but she was helpless as she had no key with which to unlock the door. A letter was sent to Wilmington and last evening the key for the house arrived. Upon the door being unlocked the pet cat was found to be in a pitable condition. It was fed and will probably survive its horrible experience. It was found that the cat had lapped up all the snow that had come in under the kitchen door. One of Mrs. Culleney's hats, which had some feathers on it for trimming, had been torn to pieces by the cat. A number of articles had been upset and the feline had scratched several holes in the carpet and matting.
