Poultry Profits

Depend Upon Having Eggs During the Winter When Prices Are Highest

Egg production falls off at this season as the hen is deprived of the egg-making materials contained in her summer diet. She must also utilize the most of her food in keeping her body warm and has very little material to spare for the development of eggs.

SCIENCE MAKES IT POSSIBLE

to overcome these adverse conditions and bring Winter egg production up to the Summer standard. All that is necessary is to add to the hens regular Winter ration the egg-making chemical elements contained in her Summer diet.

FAIRFIELD'S BLOOD TONIC AND EGG PRODUCER

is a Scientific Poultry Powder composed of the elements of which eggs are formed. These are so combined with other elements that tone up the digestive organs and purify the blood that that they are immediately assimilated and carried to the Egg Sac of the hen. The hen's egg sac contains the Embryo of all the eggs she will ever lay, and when these Embryos receive proper nourishment they develop and MUST BE PRODUCED. Make your hens lay their eggs NOW, by feeding Fairfield's Egg Producer regularly. It will increase your profits and keep disease from the poultry yard. The small dose makes it inexpensive and it is sold under a written guarantee by dealers named in small advertisement on page 1 of this paper, who also carry

FLOOD SWEEPS PORT DEPOSIT

Susquehanna Overflows During The Night — Nearly All Buildings Destroyed or Damaged.

HAVOC OF ICE AND WATER

Susquehanna overflowed on Sunday morning and poured into Port Deposit, filling the streets with ice and water to a depth never known before.

The damage is conservatively estimated at $175,000.

No lives were lost but there were many thrilling rescues.

T. C. Bond, bank cashier, was the hero of the night, leading several relief parties.

Practically every building in the town was either destroyed or damaged.

The Pennsylvania Railroad tracks were covered with ice 20 feet deep for a distance of four miles.

The jam in the river is attributed to the temporary piling of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad bridge above Perryville.

Members of the Board of Public Works invited to inspect the destruction of property, as the Baltimore and Ohio put the piles there on a permit from the board.

Port Deposit, Md., Jan. 23.—After a night of constant vigil and anxiety, the residents of this place, when the faint streaks of dawn appeared in the east, about 6 o'clock, found that they were in the midst of the greatest flood in the history of Port Deposit. The ice that had been pouring down the Susquehanna during the dark hours formed a gorge under the Baltimore and Ohio bridge at dawn, and the people quickly knew what was coming. In a few minutes the water began pouring into Port Deposit, wrecking buildings, destroying railroad tracks, telegraph and telephone lines and leaving the streets filled with ice.

No lives were lost, though there were many narrow escapes. The water was four feet higher than ever before in the history of Port Deposit, and the streets were filled with ice to a depth never known before. To attempt to estimate the loss to property would be futile. The most conservative place it at $175,000.

BUILDINGS DESTROYED.

Practically every building in town, except the few that stand on high streets, are either destroyed or greatly damaged. The Pennsylvania Railroad tracks are covered with ice to a depth of 20 feet for four miles. Huge cakes, some three feet thick, are piled one upon another, even hiding in many places the telegraph poles. The lines of the Postal Telegraph, and the Diamond State Telephone and the Western Union Telegraph are completely destroyed for several miles north of the town. The poles are broken off, and the wires snapped and twisted. The streets of the town are piled with huge cakes of ice, which reach to the second floors of the houses.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Station was crushed like an eggshell and now lies upon its side a hundred feet from its foundation. The loss to the McClenahan Granite Company will reach $20,000. The company store at Rock Run was flooded and a vast amount of merchandise ruined; many of their houses were carried from their foundations; their rock elevator is swept away, and a large stone warehouse occupied by them was completely wrecked. The planing mill and lumber yard of the Rowland Manufacturing Company was swept away, and the lumber, amounting to millions of feet, strewn among tons of ice. The loss to this concern will amount to $25,000.

BUILDING PICKED UP.

One of the freaks of the flood was in connection with the one-story brick building of the Tome Institute. This building was picked up bodily, so to speak, by the rushing water and floated 100 feet away, without so much as a single brick being displaced. Those who occupied the building had ample warning and sought places of safety before the water reached the structure.

The flood and ice gorge was the indirect cause of a small-sized strike among about 200 railroad section hands this afternoon. These men were landed about a mile and a half from the town from trains sents out from Baltimore and Wilmington for the purpose of clearing the tracks. The men walked to town alongside the huge ice blockade. When the men realized the dangerous work they were about to tackle they placed their shovels upon their shoulders and marched back to the trains, refusing pointblank to work.

WAREHOUSES CRUSHED.

The warehouses of J. M. Campbell & Company, and the Tolchester Steamboat Company, which stood on the wharf, were swept from their foundations and crushed. From Campbell's warehouse a carload of flour and several hundred bushels of grain were ruined. McGonigle's warehouse, of heavy stone, on the west side of the river, in the town of Lapidum, was destroyed. The loss in this warehouse will amount to several thousand dollars, consisting of grain, coal and country products.

Most of the private residences in Port Deposit were flooded. In some the water reached the second floor, damaging a great deal of furniture. Many of them were undermined and their porches carried away. It was in the upper portions of Port Deposit, known as Middletown and Rock Run, that the damage to residence was the worse. Not a building from the railroad station to the quarries of the McClenahan Granite Company, a distance of more than a mile, remains intact. The front porches of all are carried away, the fronts of many are crushed in and in many cases the ice swept to the rear of the houses and crushed them between the huge floes. This is the lowest part of the town and here the whirling, madly rushing ice floes had the fullest play. Windows were smashed and crushed in and the lower floors filled with ice.

"GOO-GOO EYES" AT ISSUE

Mr. Francis, in His Divorce Suit, Says His Wife Made Them.

The question of what are "goo-goo eyes" was submitted Friday to Judge Dobler, in Circuit Court No. 2, in the trial of the cross-suits for absolute divorce of Mrs. Mary E. Francis and her husband, Luther C. Francis, which began Thursday.

During his testimony in his own behalf Mr. Francis complained of the alleged friendship between his wife and James M. Phipps, Jr., a young man who boarded with them, and he said that on one occasion, while Mrs. Francis was playing the piano, she made "goo-goo eyes" at Mrs. Phipps.

When asked by his counsel to illustrate what he meant, Mr. Francis extended his hands to the railing of the witness stand in front of him as if he were playing a piano, and then he cast languishing glances at the Judge while exclaiming "goo-goo," "goo-goo."

Mrs. Francis was called to the witness stand later and questioned with reference to this testimony of her husband. She said it all depended on what was meant by "goo-goo eyes," and that she would explain what she did on the occasion referred to by her husband and submit the matter to the Judge. Then Mrs. Francis said that she was playing the "Merry Widow Waltz" song and was so struck by its absurdity that she could not help laughing. At the same time she said, she looked toward her husband and Mr. Phipps, who were seated near, but without any intention of making "goo-goo eyes" her husband referred to.

Mrs. Francis said also that she was pining for a long time for her husband's affection, but he was cool and indifferent toward her so that she left him when she could not stand his treatment longer.

Jack N. Francis, a handsome son of the couple, who will be 18 years old next February, testified for his father.

"If I had been the man I am now when Phipps boarded at the house," he said, "he would not be here now."

When asked to explain what he meant young Francis said he would have killed Phipps, because Phipps sought Mrs. Francis all the time.

Both Mr. Francis and his son said that they had never seen any improper conduct between Mrs. Francis and Mr. Phipps, who is now 24 years old.

After argument by attorneys Harry K. Brooks and J. R. Standiford for Mrs. Francis and Attorney James W. Owens, of Annapolis, for Mr. Francis, Judge Dobler said he would grant neither Mrs. nor Mr. Fancis an absolute divorce, but would grant them a limited separation. The decree will be signed after the testimony taken in the case had been written.

WANTS HER LETTER PUBLISHED

For Benefit of Women who Suffer from Female Ills

Minneapolis, Minn.—"I was a great sufferer from female troubles which caused a weakness and broken down condition of the system. I read so much of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for other suffering women I felt sure it would help me, and I must say it did help me wonderfully. My pains all left me, I grew stronger, and within three months I was a perfectly well woman.

"I want this letter made public to show the benefit women may derive from Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. JOHN G. MOLDAN, 2115 Second St., North, Minneapolis, Minn.

Thousands of unsolicited and genuine testimonials like the above prove the efficiency of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made exclusively from roots and herbs.

Women who suffer from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

If you want special advice write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. She will treat your letters as strictly confidential. For 20 years she has been helping sick women in this way, free of charge. Don't hesitate—write at once.

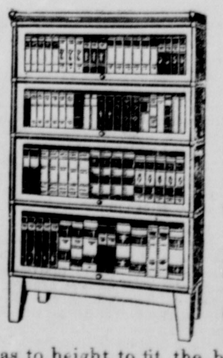
What To Do With the Holiday Books



Just now this is a leading question in many thousand American homes.

How can all the new books, with their attractive bindings, be displayed to the best advantage, arranged and classified so as to always be accessible.

Now is the most propitious moment of the entire year to settle this question for all time to come by procuring GLOBE-WERNICKE "Elastic" Book Cases which are graded as to height to fit the books of any library, and in lengths to fit most any room.

Made in dull and polish finish, quartered oak and mahogany—with plain, leaded and plate glass doors—controlled by the only patent equalizer that absolutely prevents binding.

Three different styles are described in the catalogue—Standard, Mission and Ideal—each one a distinctive type.

We carry the goods in stock and sell at catalogue prices
