ON SHIP WITH ROOSEVELT

Mrs. Wilbur W. Hubbard And Son, of Chestertown, Return From An Extended Trip Abroad—Master Wilbur Called Roosevelt's "Chum."

Mrs. Wilbur W. Hubbard and her son, Master Wilbur, returned to Chestertown Monday evening after a long and extended trip abroad. Mrs. Ross and Miss Ross, mother and sister of Mrs. H. remained in London until next month. Mrs. Hubbard was among the passengers on the Kaiserin Auguste Victoria which brought Colonel Roosevelt back to his native shore.

"I think he is one of the strongest personalities I ever met," Mrs. Hubbard said. "He has the two great qualities which help to make a great man—strong will power and intense feeling. He is as democratic as can be for a man in his position, and is not a bit spoiled by the attention showered upon him while in Europe.

"He did not make a speech coming over and only once did he say anything at all to the people in general, and this was in the form of a question to Homer Davenport, the cartoonist, who had just finished one of his funny speeches. It was in reference to the time when a cartoon drawn by him saved Admiral Dewey much depression of spirits. The Admiral had just turned over the home that had been bought for him by popular subscription to his wife, and in place of the letters of praise which had been pouring in about his sinking of the Spanish fleet, there came letters condemning him for his action with regard to the manner which he treated his gift from the people. Davenport recited this and told how he had been thanked by the Admiral for drawing the cartoon which turned the tide of these condemning letters to those of praise once more. Colonel Roosevelt said he had never heard the story before and asked if it were true or was it a story told to keep the passengers in a good humor. When informed that the incident really did happen, he turned to Davenport and said, "You should feel thankful all the days of your life that you had the opportunity to save from regret one of the greatest men who ever lived by the drawing of one of your cartoons."

The cartoon drawn by Davenport represented Admiral Dewey standing on a raised platform and innumerable persons underneath placing pieces of timber in position so that it would continue raising. Another portion of the same cartoon showed those who had raised the structure pulling it down, throwing Dewey to the bottom, sad and crestfallen. This story was told with the purpose of warning the Colonel that all the honor that he is now receiving could be turned to abuse at the slightest mishap on his part.

Master Wilbur Hubbard also talks interestingly of his trip. Said he, "Mr. Roosevelt was easily approached and called me his "chum." We saw much of him but his wife was too sick to leave her room. Kermit also was sea sick. I did not get sick either going nor coming and enjoyed every moment. Colonel Roosevelt had the knack of being kind to everyone, and his presence added much to the pleasure of the trip. He spoke to the steerage passengers and went down among the stokers. The greeting in New York was a magnificent ovation. Our ship led the naval procession, which was truly an inspiring one. As the ship came up the harbor the whistles of all the vessels around set up a continuous welcome. The noise was so deafening that we could not hear each other speaking. Fifth avenue, New York, was a display of signs of welcome and artistic decorations. It was a wonderful sight and left a deep impression."

As regards his stay of several months in a Paris school he says he learned considerable. "But," says he, "that country can't compare in any way with ours. Their farms comprise from one to five acres on which they grow several crops. Heated houses are unknown in Paris except the hotels and I shivered more than once. We had two snow squalls but not more than an inch of snow fell. The weather was mild and enabled us to enjoy outdoor sports most of the year. It was no unusual sight to see balloons, air-ships, aeroplanes and flying machines nearly every day in the sky and I believe I can make one. I am glad to get home again, sure." Mrs. Hubbard thinks the beautiful Chester compares with the far-famed Rhine.

State Teachers.—The forty-third annual meeting of the Maryland State Teachers' Association will be held June 28 to July 1 at Ocean City. The dates have been so selected that the delegates can attend the meeting of the New England Association in Boston the following week, and the place has been selected because the former gatherings at Ocean City have been so popular.

Among those who will deliver addresses will be: State Superintendent M. Bates Stephens, Assistant State Superintendent B. K. Purdum, Dr. George D. Strayer, of Columbia University; Superintendent of the Baltimore Schools James H. Van Sickle, Dr. H. S. West, supervisor of High Schools, Baltimore; Dr. A. C. Thompson, of Auburn, N. Y.; Miss Lida Lee Tall, Grammar School Supervisor of Baltimore County; Mrs. Ida P. Stabler, Sandy Springs; Dr. Edward F. Buchner, of Johns Hopkins University; Col. George M. Upshur, of Snow Hill; Hugh W. Caldwell, of Chesapeake City; First Vice-President E. A. Browning, of Oakland; E. S. Burroughs, of Clinton; Miss Clara B. Price, of Easton, and others.

FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR Cures Colds! Prevents Pneumonia

The Fountain Head of Life Is The Stomach

A man who has a weak and impaired stomach and who does not properly digest his food will soon find that his blood has become weak and impoverished, and that his whole body is improperly and insufficiently nourished.

Dr. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY makes the stomach strong, promotes the flow of digestive juices, restores the lost appetite, makes assimilation perfect, invigorates the liver and purifies and enriches the blood. It is the great blood-maker, flesh-builder and restorative nerve tonic. It makes men strong in body, active in mind and cool in judgement.

This "Discovery" is a pure, glyceric extract of American medical roots, absolutely free from alcohol and all injurious, habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients are printed on its wrappers. It has no relationship with secret nostrums. Its every ingredient is endorsed by the leaders in all the schools of medicine. Don't accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this time-proven remedy of known composition. Ask your neighbors. They must know of many cures made by it during past 40 years, right in your own neighborhood. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Pres., Buffalo, N. Y.
