The Chestertown hardware stores have sold more stoves this season than for 25 years. Live, active business men are making the firms a success.

The mercury was down below 20° yesterday morning and sleighing in the country was just ideal. The State road for sleighing cannot be equaled.

For a greater town! Let those pull now who never pulled before, and those who always pulled now only pull the more because it's all the town, and really you know, the world ought to know that the town is on the map.

The White Rose Minstrels will show in Stam's Hall next Wednesday evening. This company is composed of all home boys and they give a show superior to many minstrels which have had packed houses here. Then why not give the home boys a packed house.

Direction of sanitary dairies for the purpose of securing pure and undefiled milk is a study. Now a New Jersey man has discovered that, in spite of the most approved home for his cows, there were many particles of dust in the air, the result of dust on the tails of the cows. Before milking now the tails of the cows are sprayed with filtered water. No more dust. These little details help.

Thieves raided the hennery of F. H. Bare at Upton, in Washington county, and carried off a large number of chickens. One of the thieves in his haste dropped in the hennery his pocketbook containing $300. There were also some valuable papers in the wallet. The owner's name was disclosed among the papers. The pocketbook was found near the chicken house.

CHURCH NOTES.

Sunday was an interesting day at Christ M. P. Church. In the morning the monthly communion service was held. In the afternoon "the denial of Peter" was the theme of lesson and a beautiful solo was rendered by Mrs. F. G. Usilton, entitled "Ashamed of Jesus." The little nephew of Mrs. J. L. Smyth was baptized by Dr. Little before the Sunday School and Christened Arthur Appleby Bolton. The rehearsal of Xmas carols has been begun. At night Dr. Little preached one of his characteristic strong sermons on the "Danger of Sitting Still."

Chestertown M. E. Church, Rev. L. E. Barrett, D. D., pastor—Services next Sunday, Dec. 11th, as follows: 10 30 a. m., preaching by the pastor, subject, "Seeing Jesus—Why"; 2.15 p. m. Sabbath School and Pastor's Bible Class; 7 p. m., song service, followed by sermon by the pastor, subject, "The Prodigal's Return," being the fifth in the series on the parable of the Prodigal Son. All are invited to attend.

Rev. E. C. Makosky reports that his meeting continues at West Baltimore with increasing interest. There were 13 conversions in the Sunday School and 2 at the night service of the church last Sunday night week.

Rev. F. H. Mullineaux writes as follows of his work at Kennedyville: "Sunday was a good day with us. Three more came out publicly for Christ. Twelve joined the church. We had parents and teachers to stand with the girls and boys at the church altar to help share the solemn pledges and responsibilities of the reception obligations. Miss Annie Weet, one of the school teachers of our town school, a consecrated Christian young lady, at the request of the pastor, took the names and called them off, standing with us. Altogether it was a very impressive and happy service.

Rev. A. B. Dupuy, pastor of Wesley Chapel, has closed a successful meeting at which eleven souls were saved, four of which are heads of families. Last week a Christian Endeavor Society was organized with 22 members. A revival was started at Kesley Chapel last Sunday.

ROCK HALL NOTES.

Mr. Arthur Legg, of Quaker Neck, was a guest of relatives here on Sunday.

Master Lloyd Scott, who has been yachting with his uncle, Captain Frank Satterfield, is home for the winter.

To-morrow (Sunday) afternoon and evening there will be a union service of the Sunday schools of this section, held in the M. E. Church.

The schooner Thomas Thom, Captain Robinson, was blown ashore off Scoone's Point during the heavy northwest wind of Thursday of last week, and is still hard and fast.

The good old winter time made a savage effort to get a foothold here Monday and Tuesday. Everybody was ill prepared for the "slamdown" of snow. By the afternoon of Tuesday the surprise of many had worn off, and sleighs were out in large numbers. The kiddies, too, were in it with their sleds and enjoyed the sport. The rubber dealers, though well stocked, found difficulty in supplying the demand for rubber footwear in all sizes. Santa Claus took advantage of the snow to send in large invoices of Xmas goods, and the town is putting on a cheery appearance.

Leary & Son's teamster, Jim Thompson, had a very unpleasant experience a few days ago, and that serious damage did not result is due to the superior horsemanship of Thompson. He was enroute with a heavy load of lumber, drawn by four stalwart mules, and meeting an automobile not as carefully driven as might be the mules took fright and ran at full speed, depicting in the mind of the driver the bluest kind of a scene. Jim soon succeeded in getting the team under control without serious mishap. Jim doesn't mind meeting automobiles when properly driven, and a disposition is shown to assist in case of mishap; but when there is carelessness and laughter on the part of the auto man in case of a scare, it makes Jim hot in the collar, and it wouldn't do for the driver of the machine to get within reach of his whip or tongue.

The oystermen of this place were nonplussed by the high northwest winds of last week. As a consequence this community was at least $5,000 less to the good, and this was keenly felt by the mercantile establishments. Business was quite dull on Saturday night. The ex-Sheriff had gloomy forebodings for Christmas. Not so with F. W., however, with 1500 pounds of pork and lots of other stock to dispose of before Christmas, and three other firms in the same line to compete with, he is keeping on the bright side of life, with fond anticipations of better to come. As a rule the watermen are pretty well fixed for the winter, but they are anxious that the next two weeks serves them well so that they may have a "corking" Christmastide. Because of the much blustery weather and the high price of fish, quite a number of the oystermen are getting their fishing outfits in readiness for hunting the finny tribe in the bay waters.

STILL POND ITEMS.

Mrs. Howard Woodall, of Odessa, visited Mr. and Mrs. Edward Schofield the past week.

Miss Josephine Wheatley, of Chestertown, spent Sunday with her friend, Miss Florence Harper.

Dr. Chas. Medders, of Baltimore, visited Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Medders during the week.

Mr. Hanson L. Crew, of Baltimore, is spending the week with relatives in our town.

Mrs. Fred Ford and daughter, Velma, are spending some time in Baltimore.

Mr. Tilden Cooper spent Tuesday at Berlin.

Mr. Nevitt Jones, of Baltimore, has been visiting his brother, Mr. Harry Jones.

Mr. Joseph Clark is spending some time at Salisbury.

The young folks in and around our town certainly enjoyed the first snow of the winter. My! how bells did jingle for a while.

Old Santa is right here "with the goods." You will find him at Schofield's and Medders & Co.'s big stores.

The Epworth League will be led Sunday evening by Mr. W. L. Ford. Subject, "The Messenger and the Saviour." Preaching both morning and night. All welcome to these services.

Mrs. Ava Jones McClure, of Norfolk, Va., has been visiting her brother, Mr. Harry Jones.

Mr. Harry Ricards spent Saturday and Sunday with friends in Queen Anne's.

GALENA NOTES.

Mr. Alday Clements lost a valuable horse on Friday evening last. His colored man brought the horse here to get shod. They hardly got him loose from the buggy when he fell to the ground, seemed to suffer a great deal; during the night, the horse died. Some one said Mr. Clements had the horse sold for $250 to be delivered on Monday 5th inst.

We had a very heavy fall of snow on Monday night last. On Tuesday morning snow was about 6 inches deep on the level.

The stores are beginning to look like Christmas is drawing near. They are making quite a display of holiday goods.

We are to have a new enterprise here next, really two, a new bakery and new butcher, so you see we will have a plenty of bread and meat convenient anyway. The prospect is that it will be cheaper.

There will be a festival and country store held under the auspices of the students of Galena school, in the school house, Saturday evening, Dec. 17, 1910. Proceeds to be used for the improvement of the school. The many amusements will be artistically arranged by the committee—Lorine Woodall, chairman; Marie McCauley, Louise Jervis, Mary Johnston, Vera Whitaker, Emily Hamilton and Blanche Huhns. As the members of the committee wait upon the patrons of the school, it is earnestly hoped that all will show their generosity by contributing freely.

WHAT WE NEED.

The census figures emphasize our great need of industries and manufacturing plants. In order to draw people here and hold those who are already here we must have something which will give them lucrative employment. Let everybody pull together to get industries here before another census taking. "Better late than never."

Husband's Interest in Wife's Estate.—Judge Henry D. Harlan in the Superior Court of Baltimore City, last Thursday, decided that the act of 1898 relating to a husband's interest in his wife's estate applied to marriages contracted before that year as well as all contracted since the act's passage. Under the act the husband is entitled after his wife's death to one third of her real as well as one-third of her personal estate and vice-versa.
