CHESTERTOWN:
SATURDAY MORNING.....Nov. 4, 1882.

Smooth as a Rose Leaf.

A correspondent from Paris says there is a lady, in this city of wonders, an American, who is undoubtedly one of the loviest creatures that ever was. She is called Mme. Gautherot, and her husband, a Frenchman, is a rich importer, who came up to Paris from Nantes to spend his money and show off his wife. Some say she is from San Francisco, or Los Angelos, or Marysville, or from somewhere along the Pacific coast. I have heard, too, that she hails from New York, from Baltimore, from Lima, from Panama—from any number of places, that ought to be, and I dare say would be proud to own her. The preponderance of the evidence is in favor of 'Frisco, and so I am going to write her down as a bright, occidental star which has come to us a perfect specimen of the kind of women that thrive apace in the "glorious climate of California." I have seen her several times, but the best chance I had to admire her was a few weeks back in the magnificent salon of a Mrs. Morton, the wife of the American Minister. A young lady from Chicago was leaning on my arm, and we were slowly traversing the room, when we came upon Mme. Gautherot, who was standing talking with M. Clemenceau, the famous radical Deputy, whose wife is in America. I knew from the way my companion acted that she was deeply moved by the lovely apparition, whom she had now seen for the first time, and she whisperingly asked if I knew who the lady was.

"Oh, yes," I replied, "that is Mme. Gautherot. She is said to be the most beautiful woman in Paris."

"Well they might say in the world. Of all the beauties I have ever seen, she is, in face, form, hair and complexion, the most beautiful."

I should guess Mme. Gautherot to be about twenty-six or twenty seven years of age. Her head is strictly classical, and she wears her fair, wavy tresses in Grecian bandeaux. Her form is faultless. She is the Venus de Medici transmuted into flesh and blood and covered by the best man or woman dressmaker of the capital. We stood and looked at this, the lovliest person that ever came out of the hands of a Paris couturiere, and it seems to me my companion would never be done feasting upon her splendid beauty. She was dressed that night—the details were told me by Miss Chicago, and I wrote them down—in corn-colored silk, part of which was covered with a net-work of yellow beads and small white bugles. She also wore a necklace of diamonds, a brooch and bracelets, with Greek bandelets in her hair, which is of perfect gold color. Her dress fitted her form like gloves should fit one's hands, and her skirts clung about her limbs in the most classical fashion. She wore diamond buckles on her slippers. Her pale blue and yellow silk stockings were just discernible. A murmur of admiration greeted her wherever she went. The crowd opened to let this beauty pass, and she strolled around the most unconcerned person in the room. Her eyes are large and as I looked into them I could not discover the slightest sentiment of coquetry. The texture of her ears, her neck and her shoulders are precisely that kind which the great Lefevre and the equally great Bouguereau paint so magnificently. There is a pink shade which comes through the transparent white skin, and the flesh is as smooth as a rose leaf.

CURIOUS FACTS.

It is a singular fact, remarks the Philadelphia Bulletin, that within a space of nine years, there have been six Presidents of the United States:—Van Buren, March 3, 1841; Harrison from March 4th to April 4th, 1841; Tyler from April 4, 1841, to March 4, 1845; Polk from March 4, 1845, to March 4, 1849; Taylor from March 4, 1849, to July 9th, 1850, and on the 10th of July, 1850, Millard Fillmore succeeded to the office. Previous to that time, there had been but eight occupants of the office during a period of fifty-two years. The periods of service, age, &c., of the various Presidents, from Washington to Taylor inclusive, are here given:

	Service.	at retired.	Died.	Age at retire't.	Age at death
Washington	8 yrs	1797	1799	66	68
John Adams	4 yrs	1801	1826	66	90
Jefferson	8 yrs	1809	1826	66	84
Madison	8 yrs	1817	1836	66	86
Monroe	8 yrs	1825	1831	66	72
J. Q. Adams	4 yrs	1829	1848	62	81
Jackson	8 yrs	1837	1844	70	78
Van Buren	4 yrs	1841		59
Harrison	1 mo		1841		69
Tyler	3 yr 11m	1845		55
Polk	4 yrs	1849	1849	54	54
Taylor	1 yr 4m	1850			66

James K. Polk was the youngest of the Presidents at the time of his inauguration, being but 49 years and 4 months old. Mr. Fillmore was the next youngest, being fifty years old. Jackson was the oldest of the Presidents at the time of his retirement, and John Adams was the oldest at the time of death. The youngest of the Presidents at the time of his retirement and his death was James K. Polk.

A Duel with Horsewhips.

A dispatch from Greensboro', N. C., gives an account of a duel between Edward Johnson and Charles Williams, the weapons used being whips. The fight, which was about a woman, took place near the old battle field of Guilford Court-house, on Sunday afternoon. Each procured a horse-whip, and in the presence of fifty people, the fight began. Both men stripped to the waist, and cut at each other for three hours, quitting only after being utterly exhausted. Johnston was so badly cut that his skin hung from him in shreds. Williams was also terribly punished. Both are in a critical condition.

Did you ever hear two married women take leave of each other at the gate on a mild summer evening? This is how they do it:

"Good-by!"

"Good-by. Come down and see us soon."

"I will. Good-by."

"Good-by. Don't forget to come soon!"

"No, I won't. Don't you forget to come up."

"I wont. Be sure and bring Sarah Jane with you next time."

"I will. I'd have brought her this time, but she wasn't very well. She wanted to come awfully."

"Did she now? That was too bad! Be sure and bring her next time."

"I will; and you be sure and bring baby."

"I will. I forgot to tell you that he's cut another tooth."

"You don't say so! How many has he now?"

"Five. It makes him awfully cross."

"I dare say it does, this hot weather."

"Well, good-by! Don't forget to come down."

"No, I won't. Don't you forget to come up. Good-by!" And they separate.—Exchange.

"Same Old Lie."—The Whitehall Times tells a good story of a straight-laced and modest collegian who had an older sister call at his rooms. An elderly gentleman called who had occupied the same room fifty-three years previously. To avoid any talk among the boys the young man put his sister in a closet to wait till the close of the visit. The old man came in, saying, after the usual greetings—

"The same old view into the master's garden. Yes, the same old view. The same old pictures, too;" and he got up and tapped the frames; "and I declare! the same old sofa. Dear me!"

Next he walked around the room, stopping at the fire-place.

"Same old mantlepiece!"

Then he got to the closet—turned the handle.

"Same old—"

He had just opened the door when he caught the flutter of a petticoat, and suddenly closed it.

"Ah!" says he, shaking his head, "same old games! same old games!"

"Sir!" gasped the young man, "Sir, that's my sister. She—that is—"

"Well, I declare! Same old lie! Same old lie!"

There is but little originality of character in the world. Most men are imitators. They do that they have seen others do, and they say things they have heard said. Few have the genius or courage to strike out a new path in thought or action. The general mode of education tends greatly to this result. Everything is based on books; youth are hardly allowed to think for themselves; they are not taught to look within, and draw upon the resources, which Nature has placed there.

Missouri papers claim that the hogs are so fat in that State that in order to find out where their heads are it is necessary to make them squeal and judge by the sound.

Don't Condemn a Good Thing because you have been deceived by worthless nostrums. Parker's Ginger Tonic has cured many in this section, of kidney and nervous disorders, and we recommend it heartily to such sufferers.—News.

UNDERTAKER
CHESTERTOWN, MD.
CASKETS, Burial Cases, Coffins, Fine Cloth Work, Shrouds, Burial Robes, Merino and Satin Linings, &c., of all descriptions and kinds, and all the requisites of first-class Funeral Furnishings constantly on hand, or furnished at the shortest notice possible and at the very owest prices.
METALLIC COFFINS and CASKETS furnished upon short notice when desired. A full line of SHROUDS and BURIAL ROBES.
Patent Improved
COLD AIR ICE CASKETS for the preservation of the dead; also Embalming Fluids. I have recently introduced a remarkably cheap BLACK CLOTH CASKET, which in appearance is almost equal to the finest. Remember I do not confine myself exclusively to fine and high-priced work, but have an endless variety at medium and low prices.
I have THREE HEARSES, two large ones and one small white one for children and young persons; and with my handsome new Glass Hearse and fine pair of Black Horses, can furnish as fine a Funeral Turnout as can be seen in our large cities. I am constantly adding new features and improvements to my business, in order to keep up with the times; and as there are such changes in style and kind constantly going on, and, as is generally the custom, some friend is called into the embarrassing position of ordering what he supposes may be wanted, it would be much more satisfactory to all concerned to name the price of the article wanted.
ALWAYS REMEMBER that I guarantee to furnish anything in my line, of the same kind and quality, at lower prices than any other establishment of the kind. Ever grateful for the very liberal patronage heretofore extended me, I respectfully beg a continuance of the same. Respectfully, aug5-tf. JOHN N. DODD.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral
For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma & Consumption.

The few compositions which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvelous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the Cherry Pectoral has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors to a great extent, & given a feeling of immunity from their painful effects, that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely defence. The prudent should not neglect it and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its early use in sudden attacks. Prepared by
