CHESTERTOWN, MD.

SATURDAY MORNING.....JAN. 6, 1883.

Miss Mary Ann and her Mother have Consulted a Lawyer.

They were in to see a lawyer yesterday—Mary and her mother. Mary Ann was a little passed, but the old woman was calm, when ke about a breach-of-promise case the iked:

evidence have you got?"

Ann, produce the letters," commanded her, and the girl took the cover off sket and remarked that she thought would do to begin on. The other 651 oduced as soon as the case was fairly ourt."

tside of the letters?" queried the law-

Ann produce your diary," said the "Now turn to the heading of 'promi- tell how many times this marriage bus- as talked over."

he footing is 214 times," answered the girl.

"Now turn to the heading of 'Darling' and give up the number of times he has applied the term to you."

"If I have figured right, the total is 9,254 times."

"I guess you counted pretty straight, for you are pretty good in arithmetic. Now, turn to the heading of 'Woodbine Cottage,' and tell how many times he has talked of such a home for you after marriage."

"The footing is 1,395 times."

"Very well. This lawyer wants to be sure that we've got a case. How many times has Charles Henry said he would die for you?"

"Three hundred and fifty," answered the girl, as she turned over a leaf.

"How many times has he called you an angel?"

"Over 11,000, mamma."

"How about squeezing hands?"

"Over 373,000 squeezes."

"And kisses?"

"Nearly 417,000."

"There's our case," said the mother, as she deposited basket and diary on the lawyer's table. "Look over the documents, and if you want anything further I can bring in a dozen neighbors to swear to facts. We sue for $10,000 damages, and we don't settle for less than an eighty-acre farm, with buildings in good repair. We'll call again next week. Good day, sir!"—Detroit Free Press.

EVIDENCE OF A SOUL.

Perhaps one of the most positive proofs that we have of the soul's independence of the body, is our great need of love and of something to love. Were we mere animals, creatures doomed to perish after a few brief years of life in this world, that which contents the brute would content us. To eat and sleep well, to have an easy time of it, would be enough. As it is, we may have these things, and health to enjoy them and yet be utterly wretched. Neither can mental food satisfy us. "Some one to love" is our heart's cry. When the atmosphere of tenderness is about us, we rejoice; when people are harsh and unkind, we suffer. We begin life, wishing to love all people, and believing that they love us. Experience hardens us. Our dear ones grow fewer; but, as long as reason lasts, we must love some one, we must at least imagine that some one loves us. The parents, sisters and brothers and that dearest friend whom we promised to love and cherish until death, these come into our lives and fill them up. Afterward come the little children, frail, helpless babies, who need our care so much, and friends to whom we are not kin, yet who grew dear to us. Some have many loved ones, and some but one. Heaven help those who have none, though they are generally to blame for their empty heartedness; for kindness will win love. They are always wretched, and they often show their craving for something to love by cherishing some dumb animal, such as a dog, a kitten, a parrot, on which they lavish caresses which, better spent, would have bound some human heart to theirs. Pride or morbid sensitiveness may have been at the bottom of their loneliness, and these pets fill the aching void a little. Some one to love! It is the cry of the human soul, the note to which every heart responds; the bond which will bind us all together in that world where mourners shall be comforted and love shall reign.

"Look here," said the governor to a high State official, "when are you going to pay me that ten dollars I loaned you?"

"Upon my honor, governor, I don't know."

"Why, sir, the other day, when I mentioned fact of your indebtedness, you asked me e I would be Tuesday."

"es, sir."

Well, wasn't that a promise that you would ue Tuesday?"

o, sir."

Why then did you want to know where I ld be Tuesday?"

Because I wanted to know where you'd be so ould make arrangements to be elsewhere."

An aged peasant learns that the village doctor, to whom he had advanced some small sums, has just passed away, leaving nothing but debts. "There," says he to his wife, with a delighted chuckle, "if I hadn't had the good luck to had that fit of rheumatism two months ago, where would my money be?"

At a recent divorce trial the wife was asked a question, to which she made the following reply: "When I was first married I was so jealous of my husband that I thought that every woman I saw wanted him, and now I wonder how I ever could have been such a fool as to have wanted him myself."

A Sure Cure for chapped hands is something greatly to be desired. Try this: Wet your hands in warm water, then rub them all over with Indian meal; do this twice, then in the water used to wash off the meal put a teaspoonful of pure glycerine. If it is not pure it will irritate the skin.

A man has invented a chair that can be adjusted to eight hundred different positions. It is designed for a boy to sit in when he goes to church.

It takes the whole legislature to change a man's name. A woman can change hers by the act of a single man.

To act upon a determination made in anger is like embarking on a vessel during a storm.

Truth is as impossible to be soiled by an outward touch as the sunbeam.—Milton.

Frettion cares create gray hairs.

We usually leave it to doctors to recommend medicine, but Parker's Ginger Tonic has been so useful in our family in relieving sickness and suffering, that we cannot say too much in its praise.—Salem Argus. See adv.

Have Signed or Endorsed the Following Remarkable Document:

Messrs. Seabury & Johnson, Manufacturing Chemists, 21 Platt St., New York:

Gentlemen:—For the past few years we have sold various brands of Porous Plasters, Physicians and the Public prefer Capcine Porous Plaster, to all others. We consider them one of the very few reliable household remedies worthy of confidence. They are superior to all other Porous Plasters or Liniments for external use.

Benson's Capcine Plaster is a genuine Parmaceutical product, of the highest order of merit, and so recognized by physicians and druggists.

When other remedies fail get a Benson's Capcine Plaster.

You will be disappointed if you use cheap Plasters, Liniments, Pads or Electrical Magnetic toys.

A SURE REMEDY AT LAST. Price 50c. A MEDAL'S Medicated CORN and BUNION PLASTER.
