SATURDAY MORNING.....JUNE 9, 1883.

THE NAVY.

In responding to a toast to the navy, at the banquet given in Washington to the Society of the Army of the Potomac, Admiral Rodgers said:

"We have not one large and efficient ship of war, and our few good sloops are not of the best type. So far as I know, we have not one very good gun of even moderate calibre on shore or afloat, and, what is worse, I fear we have not the trained artisans and the forges to make them."

These facts do not reveal the whole truth in regard to the condition of the navy. The Secretary in his last report stated that there were thirty-seven "available cruisag war vessels," namely, one-first rate, fourteen second-rates, and twenty-two third-rates. Thirty-one of these ships were then in commission. Congress voted money enough to support 1,817 officers of different grades. That would be about fifty-nine officers to each ship, and one officer to every five seamen.

Including the retired list of 301, there are 2,118 officers in the navy, 7,074 seamen, and 950 apprentices. In the Marine Corps there are 77 commissioned officers on the active list, 13 on the retired list, 500 non-commissioned officers, and 1,502 privates. The whole naval establishment cost last year $15,032,046.26. The actual running expenses of this sham navy of thirty-one nearly worthless ships, as compared with the cost of the formidable navies of England and France, are astounding when the inefficiency of the one is contrasted with the enormous power of the others.

Our navy has fallen to its present disgraceful condition through corrupt management. Congress has treated the service with great liberality. Beginning with 1867, two years after the close of the civil war, and including 1882, the annual appropriations have aggregated $325,897,185.

During the eight years of Secor Robeson's rule successive Republican Congressess voted him $177,381,605, or more than twenty-two millions a year. Investigations have shown where a great deal of that money went. It was stolen by thieves.

The abuses which have demoralized the navy seem to flourish still in full vigor. Mr. John F. Dezendorf, a Republican member of the last Congress, in an open letter to the President, says:

"The abuses in the navy [at Norfolk] are flagrant and outrageous violations of the laws and regulations governing that department, and account in some measure for the excessive cost of the work done on the Pinta, recently repaired at that yard. I call your special attention to this vessel, a tug of 306 tons. She has had expended on her more than $100,000 for repairs. I am satisfied and can prove that during the Congressional campaign last fall men were borne upon the rolls and paid for work weeks at a time who did not put a foot inside the navy yard or do an hour's work there."

Since Mr. Dezendorf's letter was written the Pinta has been condemned by a Board of Inspection as unfit to make a voyage to the Pacific through the Straits of Magellan.

It will require something more than a plaintive appeal from Admiral Rodgers to get an old-fashioned Robesonian appropriation from the next House of Representatives.—N. Y. Sun.

ANXIOUS old lady to a ragged "shiner" of the present period: "Little boy, have you ever been confirmed?" Boy, with an air of triumph, "No, ma'am, but I've been waxinated!"
