DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, kidney, bladder, uric acid troubles and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work, in private practice, among the helpless too poor to purchase relief and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The regular fifty cent and dollar sizes are sold by all good druggists.

THE TONE REVEALS IT.

"It is not so much what you say.
As the manner in which you say it:
It is not so much the language you use,
As the tones in which you convey it.

"The words may be mild and fair,
And the tones may pierce like a dart;
The words may be soft as a summer air,
And the tones may break the heart.

"For words but come from the mind,
And grow by study and art;
But the tones leap forth from the inner self
And reveal the state of the heart.

"Whether you know it or not,
Whether you mean or care;
Gentleness, kindness, love and hate,
Envy and anger, are there."

AN OYSTER'S SLEEP.

An Investigator Explains Its Fashion of Choosing The Left Side.

"Why does an oyster sleep and live on its left side?" asked a man who is interested in oyster culture. "Well, I suppose you will have to put the question to Nature, and Nature has her own way of answering questions. I have been around in the oyster waters of the Chesapeake bay and Choptank river for many years, and am in a position to say that this is the natural position of the oyster. I may remark, parenthetically, that this is one of the difficulties that we have to contend with, for in rebedding oysters and bunching them an oyster is occasionally thrown upon its right side and weighted so that it can not turn over. It simply dwindles away and dies by degrees. Put upon its right side the oyster cannot live. Of course, there is an explanation of this peculiarity. The right-hand part of the oyster shell is the top and movable part. If the oyster is put in its natural position, that is, on its left side, it requires but a small amount of physical energy to open and raise the right-hand section of the shell when the oyster wants to feed. Reverse the position and put the oyster on the right side, and we find an extremely difficult problem, from the oyster's standpoint. In order to open the shell for feeding purposes, it is necessary for the oyster to raise not only the weight of the left section of the shell, but its own weight as well. If we reserve the natural position of the oyster, put it on its right hand side and wedge it so it can't turn over, we simply smother and starve it to death. Of course, I am just theorizing about this thing. There may be some other explanation of the left-handed life of the oyster, but from my experience I am inclinded to think the explanation given is a reasonable one."

The Manufacture Of Wall Paper.

The interesting industry of wall-paper making begins with the drawing and hand coloring of the multitudinous designs which are to decorate the walls of American homes. This is followed by the transferring of these designs by pattern makers to wooden rollers, then the skillful mixing of the paint, the applying of the background to the rough paper, and subsequently the printing of the colors by machinery. The rough paper from the pulp mills comes in huge rolls not unlike those used in the office of a metropolitan newspaper. Much of the clay used in mixing the paints is brought from Georgia.

The wall paper designers are already at work upon the designs of 1906. The styles in wall paper change every season and the designers work a year and a half and sometimes two years in advance. The designing room is to the majority of visitors to a wall paper factory the most interesting department of all. It is here that the pattern makers are at work, reproducing with brass and felt the designs upon hard maple rollers. When the designs have been sketched and painted by hand, they very closely resemble the finshed wall paper product. Into the wood of the rollers a thin brass tape is driven. This brass tape can, of course, be easily shaped to follow the pattern. The felt is packed within the space which the brass tape encircles. When the patterns have been completed they are all properly numbered and go to a pattern block room. There are three distinct sets of these rollers necessary in the making of a complete pattern for a room—one set for the sidewall, one for the border, and one for the ceiling. The cost of making a new pattern is often more than $500. A large factory usually carries at least one hundred complete room patterns, which with the different combinations of color admits of many hundreds of variations in the finished product. One of the accompanying photographs clearly illustrates a pattern block room.

Death Of Mr. Rasin.—The NEWS last week noted the death of Mr. Richard Rasin at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Thomas Jones, near Kennedyville, aged 79 years. He leaves three sisters, Mrs. Wm. J. Elliott and Mrs. Wilmina Crouch, of Chestertown, and Mrs. Mary Graves, of Wilmington, and the following children: Mrs. Thomas Jones, of near Kennedyville, Mrs. Q. L. Morrow, of Savanah, Georgia, Mrs. Robert Carter, of Wilmington, Mrs. Wm. Carter, of Worton, Mrs. Thomas P. Vandyke, of Locust Grove, and one son, Mr. Richard Rasin. He was also an uncle of County Commissioner Perry B. Rasin, Mr. M. M. Rasin, of Melitota, and Mrs. Frank Rouse, of Worton. Funeral services were held at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Thomas Jones, near Kennedyville, conducted by Rev. R. S. Rowe, pastor of Kennedyville M. P. Church. Interment in Union M. E. cemetery, Worton. Undertaker Wm. H. Krusen had charge of funeral arrangements.

Whiskey Advertising.

Editor Wilson M. Tyler of the Easton (Md.) Gazette is publishing a good clean newspaper and its moral tone may be appreciated when it gives utterance to the following: "For twenty years no whiskey advertisement has appeared in its columns—not that said columns were scared as church pews—but because we did not want to flaunt the ugly cork-screw ads before the public at so much per line. We have returned checks and turned down enough business to pay rent, all of which would have come from the dealers in liquid tombstones, but we refused. No credit to us; we care not for the credit, are not hankering after any more credit accounts, have too many already; but we took a natural dislike to whiskey ads and turned them down. We stood alone in Talbot. The other righteous journals here paid their devils with good money for these ads. Whiskey is one of that sort of critters which will go without being advertised. And the fellows who try to keep up with it are apt to go too. All they need is a little time—and very little, and whiskey will do the rest."

Now the Easton Ledger recently purchased from the Haddaways by Price and Pardee of Centreville has announced its intention of following the same course of the Gazette. The KENT NEWS has been in the class of the Gazette and Ledger for sometime and we look back upon this business record with considerable pride. The papers of the Peninsula could accomplish a great deal of good if they would stick together in matters of this kind.
