A TRAINED NURSE

After Years of Experience, Advises Women in Regard to Their Health.

Mrs. Martha Pohlman of 55 Chester Avenue, Newark, N. J., who is a graduate Nurse from the Blockley Training School, at Philadelphia, and for six years Chief Clinic Nurse at the Philadelphia Hospital, writes the letter printed below. She has the advantage of personal experience, besides her professional education, and what she has to say may be absolutely relied upon.

Many other women are afflicted as she was. They can regain health in the same way. It is prudent to heed such advice from such a source.

Mrs. Pohlman writes:

"I am firmly persuaded, after eight years of experience with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that it is the safest and best medicine for any suffering woman to use.

"Immediately after my marriage I found that my health began to fail me. I became weak and pale, with severe bearing-down pains, fearful backaches and frequent dizzy spells. The doctors prescribed for me, yet I did not improve. I would bloat after eating and frequently become nauseated. I had an acrid discharge and pains down through my limbs so I could hardly walk. It was as bad a case of female trouble as I have ever known. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, however, cured me within four months. Since that time I have had occasion to recommend it to a number of patients suffering from all forms of female difficulties, and I find that while it is considered unprofessional to recommend a patent medicine, I can honestly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, for I have found that it cures female ills, where all other medicine fails. It is a grand medicine for sick women."

Money cannot buy such testimony as this—merit alone can produce such results, and the ablest specialists now agree that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the most universally successful remedy for all female diseases known to medicine.

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhœa, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, bloating (or flatulence), general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all-gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues and hopelessness, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles.

No other female medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles.

The needless suffering of women from diseases peculiar to their sex is terrible to see. The money which they pay to doctors who do not help them is an enormous waste. The pain is cured and the money is saved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Experience has proved this.

It is well for women who are ill to write Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. In her great experience, which covers many years, she has probably had to deal with dozens of cases just like yours. Her advice is free and confidential.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Succeeds Where Others Fail.

HINTS FOR FARMERS

Feeding Hay to Colts.

Colts should be allowed plenty of good, clean hay, but they should never be stuffed. Just as much should be given them as they will eat up clean, and the interval between feeds should be of sufficient length to develop an appetite for the next feed. If hay is within reach at all times the digestive apparatus is most likely to be overtaxed and the seeds for indigestion will be sown, growing and seriously deteriorating the future value of the horse. Many advocate that the hay be fed from the floor, as this is the natural position for the colt to feed in, but there are many inconveniences connected with this method, and for the average farmer the manger is to be preferred. Except the farmer wishes to own blind horses, which few men do, he should never place his colt mangers so that the hay must be fed from above. —Horse Breeder.

Protect Farm Machinery.

It is truly astonishing how few farmers realize the importance of protecting farm machinery from water, says American Agriculturist. Each spring thousands of dollars' worth of machinery is purchased which never after, during its period of usefulness, is protected from rain or snow. This is a source of great loss to the farmer and can only be prevented by providing adequate shelter for all implements. When you buy a tool, build a shed for it and allow nothing to take its place in that shelter. The useful life of the ordinary farm machine, such as a mower or reaper, is increased two-thirds to three-fourths by protecting it from rain and snow. Certainly this is reason enough for the building of adequate tool houses.

Potatoes as Stock Food.

Cooked potatoes to which meal has been added are excellent food for fowls.

Besides their nutritive value, potatoes are helpful in furnishing a variety of food and keeping animals in a healthy condition, a point always considered by the prudent stockman.

Although Girard, the French investigator, favored cooking for steers and sheep, general experience goes to show that they can be most economically used by feeding raw to all farm animals excepting hogs and fowls.

For horses, sheep and dairy cows potatoes should be sliced in a root cutter or chopped in a box with a sharp spade.—Professor W. A. Henry, Wisconsin Experiment Station.

Feeding Young Chicks.

Chicks should be fed three or four times during the day, but care should be taken not to give them more than they will eat up quickly—in fact, food should not be before them more than five minutes at a time, says E. G. Wyckoff in American Agriculturist. Green food should be supplied regularly after they are a week or ten days old, and grit should be constantly before them. Granulated charcoal is a valuable corrective of digestive troubles and should also be kept within easy access of the chicks until they are allowed free range. Brooders should be cleaned daily and a fresh litter or layer of cut clover with grit put on the floor after it is cleaned.

Bee Hints.

As the honey season comes on every available cell will be filled with brood, pollen or honey, and little spurs of white comb will appear here and there along the top bars or in any space into which they can be crowded. The cells along the top bars will be whitened by the plastering on of little bits of new wax. Some of the stronger colonies may begin "hanging out," as nothing will crowd bees out of the hive quicker than a honey flow. All these things show that the time is at hand for putting on the sections.—Cor. American Agriculturist.

Roots For Sheep.

If the best results are to be expected in sheep husbandry, some succulent food must be provided. Mangels and turnips are best and are very cheaply grown. It will pay every sheep feeder to grow roots, so the flock may have a feeding every day during the entire winter. Roots keep the bowels in good condition and aid digestion, and this keeps down any tendency to a feverish condition. Plan for a root crop now.—Farm Journal.

Profit In Small Flocks.

It is nothing unusual to note, says an old poultry raiser, that from twenty-five to thirty fowls in a place can be made profitable when twice that number cannot be. This speaks well for separating flocks and segregating them. It is far better to have two or even three flocks with not to exceed thirty in a flock than all in one. There are many places where this can be done without much expense.

Carbolic Salve.

Every farmer ought to have carbolic salve ready for use in the barn at all times. It's an excellent remedy for bruises, cracks in the udder and abrasions of all kinds. A very excellent substitute is made by putting a few drops of carbolic acid into melted tallow, allowing the mixture to cool and become hard.

The Incubator.

After every hatch thoroughly wash the incubation chamber with hot soapsuds and leave it open until perfectly dry and sweet. No amount of ventilation will counteract the ills of a foul chamber.

Feeding Swine.

It is not a good plan to feed hogs on dusty ground. They are subject to catarrh and other diseases of the air passage.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know it.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble: too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c. and $1. sizes.

You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.
