COUNTRY EDITORS YOUR SENTINEL

It really seems as if the only remaining bulwark of American liberty to protect the people against the continuous onslaughts of the special privilege classes is the country press which stands firm for the presentation of truth and declines to sell its soul for a miserable subsidy. For the most part the great metropolitan journals are prostituted until they disgrace a great profession.

The home town newspaper is essentially a mirror of the life of its community. It tells the truth and as it is trained and is not ashamed to tell the truth about the old home town, so when it deals with the greater business and economic problems it is equally frank and also equally unafraid.

Only in the country press can the reader get a proper perspective of the miserable trickery that is hatched in the great business centres for the undoing and robbery of the nation.

This newspaper, and happily nearly two thousand other country newspapers, are disclosing, every week, facts of vital moment to the people that the city press would not and dare not publish.

What city newspaper even yet has dared to lay bare the systematic propaganda of the railroads?

The railroads sought to lower the wage rate, draw a red herring over the trail of profits of millions, pose as suffering under great financial strain, and at the same time get the people back of a move for higher freight rates while they raked in millions of profits called "income from other sources."

Not a word from any city newspaper.

What city paper blazed the way as country newspapers have, to expose the inner workings of the coal conspiracy that meant higher coal prices, not only in this town but in every town, the most outrageous amalgamated exploitation of the public and the worker attempted in decades?

What have the meat packers had to suffer from your city newspapers? Nothing. They have been used simply to spread misleading extracts from skillfully organized systems of bookkeeping that befuddle the public mind.

For years the bought city press was the sole key to information. By its gigantic wealth it controlled the news supply. Now the times are changed and the country newspaper editor is on the job.

There is nothing sensational in this, except in so far as already the newspaper has shown that truth is indeed stranger than fiction.

ORPHANS COURT

At the regular session of the Orphans Court on Tuesday there were present their honors, Judges West, Harper and Shawn and the following business was transacted.

In the absence of the court, the Register of Wills on application granted letters of administration on the personal estate of William W. Washington, deceased, to Eleanor C. Washington. Bond filed and approved and Harry W. Davis and Wilmer S. Noble were named as appraisers.

Eleanor C. Washington, administratrix of William W. Washington, deceased, filed an inventory and appraisement of the personal property which was approved by the court.

In the matter of the estate of Rex Shepherd, Floyd Briggs, Leon Briggs and Olin Briggs, minors, on petition and order of court, Calvert C. Merriken, guardian, was authorized and empowered to reduce his bond, and on the same day the said Calvert C. Merriken, guardian aforesaid, filed a new bond which was approved by the court.

In the matter of the estate of Andrew F. Breeding, on petition and order of court, Lee Hignutt, trustee for the said minor, was authorized and empowered to withdraw from the Denton National Bank a certain sum of money of the funds of said minor for his maintenance and support.

The last will and testament of Frank P. Covey, deceased, exhibited in this court by J. Owen Knotts, custodian, after having been duly proven was admitted to probate. Sallie L. Covey, Hattie C. Brown and Mary Viola C. Ellwanger, the executrices named in the will, qualified as such by filing an approved bond. Notice to creditors ordered and Thomas F. Johnson and Samuel G. Nuttle were named as appraisers.

Lillian Hood Collins and Wesley E. Thawley, administrators pendente lite of Mary Ann Hood, deceased, filed an inventory and appraisement of the personal property which was approved by the court.

FARMERS MULCTED BY AN UNAUTHORIZED JUDGE

Report show that at least 129 farmers in Maryland were penalized by an unauthorizzed judge during the month of September. The penalties imposed were from ten to several hundred dollars.

It would appear that the lines inflicted were more in the nature of blackmail. This judge, who also acted as jury and executioner, took advantage of unsatisfactory conditions which he knew existed to inflict the penalties. He did not take money, but he mulcted the farmers by destroying their hogs.

Upon investigation this relentless judge was found to be Mr. H. C. Germ, better known as Hog Cholera Germ.

At least 30 of the farmers suffered fines as a result of feeding garbage, table refuse or kitchen swill to their hogs. Warning has been given time after time that hog cholera infection is often in such products, but many failed to heed the warning, and laid themselves open to blackmail.

Five incurred losses because they purchased hogs, and brought them to their premises without using do care.

Forty-four drew heavy fines for the reason that they persistently refused to have their animals immunized after they had been warned that hog cholera existed in their immediate vicinity.

In the remaining 50 cases, it was imposible to get reliable data as to how they laid themselves open to extortion. However, there is no doubt that in every instance it was due to neglect or carelessness, either on the part of their neighbors or themselves, to observe the advice given to prevent this inexorable judge from reaching their premises.

It has been found that where persons refuse to comply with the state laws and regulations of the State Board of Agriculture, that Judge Hog Cholera Germ invariably inflicts penalties far larger than those which any Justice of the Peace would impose. True the innocent sometimes suffer but frequently they plead innocence when they were aware that unsatisfactory conditions existed in the neighborhood, and they failed to report the matter to the authorities that it might have been corrected.

Any person that gives aid, in any manner to the introduction, harboring or spread of hog cholera infection is an accessory to the crime and will almost always suffer accordingly.

SOME BIRDS PROTECTED ALL SEASONS BY FEDERAL LAW

According to a summary of State and other game laws for the season 1922—23, prepared by the Biological Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture, Federal regulations prohibit the shooting from sunset to half an hour before sunrise of migratory game birds on which there is an open season, and prohibit the killing at any time of any of the following birds:

Band-tailed pigeon; little brown, sand-hill, and whooping cranes; wood duck, eider duck, swans; curlews, willet, up-land plover, and all shorebirds (except the black-bellied and golden plovers, Wilson snipe or jacksnipe, woodcock, and the greater and lesser yellowlegs); cuckoos; flickers and other woodpeckers; nighthawks or bull-bats and whippoorwills; swifts; hummingbirds; flycatchers; meadowlarks and orioles; grosbeaks; tanagers martins and other swallows; waxwings shrikes; vireos; warblers; pipits; catbirds and brown thrashers; wrens; brown creepers; nuthatches, chickadees and titmice; kinglets and gnatcatchers; robins and other thrushs; and all other perching birds which feed entirely or chiefly on insects; and also akus, auklets, bitters, fulmars gannets, grebes, guillemots, gulls, herons, jaegers, loons, murres, petrels, puffins, shearwaters, and terns.

Hunting on Sunday is prohibited in states and provinces east of the one hundred and fifth meridian except Illinois, Louisiana, Michigan, Texas, Wisconsin, and Quebec, and in some States certain days of the week constitute close seasons throughout the time in which killing is prohibited when snow is on the ground in New Jersey, Delaware, Virginia, and Maryland.

Father Was Horrified

Susan was having her first beau, a youngster who drove a truck. And often when he came to Susan's home at night, since he lived in the other part of the town, he came in the truck. The family continually twitted her about it saying such things as "I suppose the neighbors will think we're having our coal hauled at night," or "our flour" or some other commodity.

But one evening even father was horrified when one of the ten year old boys in the neighborhood said innocently, "My pa said that your pa would get pinched some night if he didn't quit having so much booze hauled here after dark."

Investigation disclosed the fact that the truck that stood at their door one evening each week was an old brewery truck.—Indianapolis News.
