It Pays to Raise Horses of Good Breeding.

Not in many years have good horses been so scarce as they are today says an exchange. Buyers have been scouring the country for draft horses, and anything that has been at all worthy the name has been bought up and shipped, if it were for sale. Tempted by the high prices, the farmers have been selling their young horses and retaining the old ones for farm work. This process has been going on for several years, and has been the subject of frequent comment. While it will not pay any farmer to devote his attention exclusively to breeding horses, every farmer can increase his profits by intelligently combining his farm work with horse raising. Large brood mares should not be sold, but should be kept for farm work and used in replenishing the depleted supply of horses. During the past year some of the agricultural colleges have been endeavoring to arouse interest in this subject and has discussed it at several of the farmers' institutes. It is a timely subject and should be further pressed upon the attention of farmers, where conditions are favorable to the raising of stock of all kinds. It costs little more to raise a large horse than a small one. It costs no more to raise a horse of good breeding than a scrub. The big horse has always been in demand and will be in the future more than in the past. There is no farm product that has a surer market than the well-bred horse.

Whole Town Swears off.

The entire male population of the village of Port Republic, N. J., has "sworn off" from the use of tobacco in any form as the result of a religious revival which has been in progress there for several weeks.

One of those converted is Miss Amanda Blake, who was proprietor of the only store in the village where tobacco was sold. She made a bonfire of all the smokables she had in stock. One of the first to swear off was John Johnson, who is 70 years old, who has used tobacco from boyhood, and he is sick as a result of the unusual abstinence. Johnson is sexton of the church.

Knotty Problems.—A farmer moving has a fox, a goose and a basket of corn. He comes to a river and the boat will only carry the farmer and one of his charges. Now, if he leaves the fox and the goose alone the fox will eat the goose, and if he leaves the goose and the corn alone the goose will eat the corn. How can he safely take them all across the river? 2. A boy driving home some ducks was asked how many he had. He replied, "When in line there are two ducks ahead of a duck, two ducks behind a duck and one duck in the middle." How many ducks had he? ANSWERS—1. Take the goose over, come back and take the fox over. Bring the goose back, take the corn over and come back for the goose. 2. Five ducks.

A CHICAGO woman says that it is "inhuman cruelty" to tax bachelors, because bachelors cannot help being bachelors. She holds that many men try in vain to win a wife and give up in despair. The Chicago women have almost as peculiar views, it seems, as the Chicago men.

Heartburn

What is commonly called heartburn is nothing more or less than sour stomach or accidity of the stomach It is usually a concomitant with dyspepsia or indigestion, frequently caused by the use of tobacco or spiritus liquors and want of proper exercise. Sugar, sweets and saccharine vegetables, such as are easily turned sour in the stomach, should be avoided, and plenty of exercise taken. The following formula will remove these conditions promptly and can be obtained at a small cost from any good prescription druggist: Kastor Compound, 1 oz.; Fluid Extract Cascar Aromatic, 1 oz.; Tr. Cinchona Compound, 2½ oz.

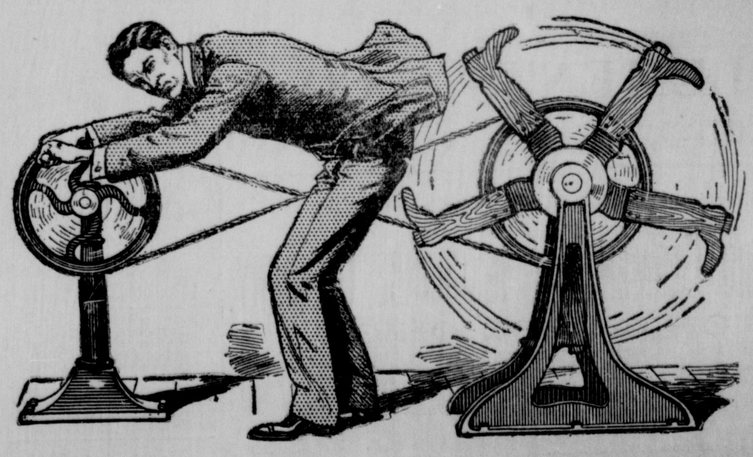
THE STAM DRUG CO.



This man bought a supply of tobacco without acquainting himself with the distinctive taste of SCHNAPPS Tobacco, which has the cheering qualities that gratify his desire to chew, and at less expense than cheap tobacco.

SCHNAPPS has been advertised in this paper so that every chewer has had an opportunity to get acquainted with the facts and know that drugs are not used to produce the cheering quality found in the famous Piedmont country flue-cured tobaccos, and that SCHNAPPS is what he ought to chew. Still there are chewers who accept other and cheaper tobaccos that do not give the same pleasure.

Some day they'll get a taste of the real Schnapps—they'll realize what enjoyment they've missed by not getting SCHNAPPS long ago—then they'll feel like kicking themselves.

SCHNAPPS is sold everywhere in 5 cent cuts, and 10 and 15 cent plugs. Be sure you get the genuine.
