POTASH

in the soil puts corn on the stalk and money in the bank

The natural process of plant growth is simply one of chemical conversion. Potash, the raw material, is cheap; but when converted by nature into corn, it is valuable. The use of Potash is not an expense, but an investment.

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.

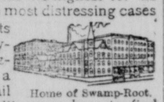
The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood. If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work.

Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries.

It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.



Home of Swamp-Root.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Sawmp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root, and the address, Binghampton, N. Y. on every bottle.

SANITARY PLUMBING

HUBBARD BUILDING,

"THE GOOD OLD TIMES"

Had you lived in the fourteenth century you could have bought draught horses at 72 cents each and oxen at $1.25. In the days of Henry II $50 would have equipped a farm with three draught horses, half a dozen oxen, twenty cows and two hundred sheep, leaving a balance of $2 toward the payment of rent, which was about $5 a year. In England pasture and arable lands were ridiculously cheap, 2 cents an acre for the former and 12 cents an acre for the latter being considered a fair annual rental. Two cents or its equivalent would buy a pair of chickens in those blessed days of old. For the value of a nickel one could acquire a goose fit for a Christmas dinner or two ducks that would make a fine roast. A penny would purchase a dozen strictly fresh eggs, and wheat sometimes fell as low as 40 cents a quarter, or eight bushels. This period seems to have been the paradise of topers, as the brewer was compelled by law to sell for 2 cents three gallons of beer, the equivalent of forty-eight glasses. It will give our modern labor unions the cold shivers to read that 3 cents a day was considered good wages for an ordinary laborer. Our farmers will probably heave a sigh of sympathy when they learn that even at harvest times 4 cents was the highest amount expected. Young couples about to marry had no such terrors before their eyes as confront them in this era of prosperity. Housekeeping might safely be entered upon by the most timorous in those "good old days." House rent was so low that the Lord Mayor of London paid only $4.80 a year to his landlord.

The Chancellor of the British exchequer, the man who does the work of our Secretary of the Treasury, had an annual salary of $192. When a father sent his son to a university 4 cents a day was looked upon as a comfortable allowance, with a margin for such luxeries as wine at 8 and 12 cents a gallon. A salary of $24 a year was considered munificient. King Edward VI gave his daughter an allowance of $4.80 a week, with an additional $247.60 a year for the maintenance of her eight servants. The bed that a king then slept on would now be shunned by the humblest farmer in the land. There is not a renter in the West that would not be considered rich by comparison. Remember, too, that they had no railroads in those days, or decent roads of any kind. A trip of a few hundred miles was a momentous undertaking for any man, and a man setting out from London to Edinburg made his will with little hope of getting back. Of course, there were no interurbans, or street cars, or even canals, and wheeled vehicles were entirely out of the reach of any but the aristocracy.

But it is not necessary to go back to the fourteenth century or to England to find out what was meant by "the good old times." Come along down to the nineteenth century and to our own ecuntry and see how people lived much less than a hundred years ago. Many men now living remember when one had to work all day at the hardest kind of work for one bushel of wheat. Fifty cents in trade was what one got for beginning at daylight and grubbing or splitting rails until the sinking sun reminded him to quit his arduous task. Farm produce, when salable at all, was absurbly low. There were no markets, only the neighborhood consumption, and, there being little or no money, everything was barter. Eggs went a-begging at a cent or two a dozen, poultry was but little better, stock of all kinds at the very lowest ebb, and no farmer could hope to make profit off any of his produce. Merely a living, as the result of days devoted to toil and nights devoid of ease, was the best that could be anticipated by millions of pioneer farmers in "the good old times." Some sentiment still lingers about those times, we recall with interest many of the romantic and tragic incidents, but we hardly think any of our farmer readers would care to be transported back, except in fancy, to the period which did not fully end until the last century was more than half over. "The good old times" are well enough for the poets, the writers of historical novels and the ancient dames who croon in the corners of the blessed days of linsy-woolsey dresses, jeans suits, corduroy roads and open cabin doors. As for ourselves we prefer the present, despite its graft and green, its selfishness and its sordidness, for at least it has replaced penury with plenty, deprivations of all kinds with inumerable comforts, and has changed agriculture from a groveling calling to the noblest and most prosperous of the professions.

Adversity 32998

RECORD 2.27½.

Brother in blood to Marveline 2.18¾, Sire Marvelous 2.23; dam by Myrtleton 9677; grandam by Thorndale Idol 1898. Breed for size, with style, action and speed.

In him are united the two great strains of Nutwood and Red Wilkes, his sire Marvelous 2.23 being a grandson of Nutwood 2.18¾, while his dam, Kitty Constable, is a grand-daughter of Red Wilkes.

His colts in Kent and Queen Anne's counties coming 3 and 4 years old are showing speed and beauty that is bringing to their owners fancy prices. Adversity was foaled May 6th, 1896. He is a solid bay about 16.1 hands high with pure trotting gait and lofty carriage. He took his slow record of 2.27½ at Gentleman's Driving Park July 4th, 1904.

TERMS OF BREEDING.—Adversity will make the stud season from March 20th to June 20th, 1907, at $20 to insure a mare with foal, payable when the mare is ascertained to be with foal, or is disposed of. By the season $10, payable at the end of the season. Single service, $5, payable on demand. When two or more mares, bred to insure, prove with foal, the charge will be $17.50 instead of $20. All who wish it can have the horse sent to their farms by notifying the undersigned

ADBERT, 35508.

RECORD 2.26¼.

This stallion will make the season in Kent and Queen Anne's counties this Spring, 1907. His pedigree shows him to be one of the finest bred horses in the East. Last year he worked a mile in 2.22, last half 1.19, last quarter in 32. He shows plenty of speed and good finishing qualities.

Any one wishing to breed for speed, high-class roadsters or general purpose horses will find it to their best interests to use this stallion. He is a beautiful seal brown, 15½ hands high, weighs about 1000 lbs., well built, sound limbs. His colts are always of fine size, well colored and fine limbed. Many of these which have been handled for speed have showed plenty of it. All are good gaited trotters, none of them have ever paced.

TERMS—$15.00 single mare; $25.00 for two with privilege of returning until a living foal as long as Adbert is owned by me.

Anyone wishing services of this horse can obtain same by writing me.
