Election—Tuesday, November 5, 1907.

A lawyer in a New York police court testified that he had never done anything wrong in his life. And yet, up to date, he has not received an offer to go into vaudeville or had a bid for the National Museum or Smithsonian Institution as one of the greatest of all living curiosities.

Arrangements have been perfected for the meeting at which the candidates on the Democratic state ticket will be formally notified of their nomination. The meeting will be held at the Lyric, Baltimore, on Thursday next the 19, at 8 P.M. Ex-Governor John Lee Carroll will preside. Senator Isidor Rayner will make the notification speech and addresses will be delivered by Judge Crothers, Dr. Hering, Mr. Straus, Mr. Magruder and Mayor Mahool.

Who has not seen that self-consecrated individual who eats a thing merely to save it asks an exchange? He, very often she, is so economical that he will threaten the integrity of the whole digestive system rather than a fragment should be thrown out. He may have eaten two pieces of pie or two dishes of tapioca pudding, but if there is a piece left or a spoonful over, he eats what is left to save it. The habit has come to be a sort of religious custom. All the hygienic injunctions in the world are overcome by considerations of an economic character. If he had been present at the parable of the loaves and fishes there would not have been a basketful gathered up. He would have considered it his sacred duty to save those 12 basketfuls by eating them all.

At the base of this habit there is a serious philosophy. The person who eats a thing to save it thinks he is doing so. He thinks he is an agent of thrift sent into the world to see that nothing goes to waste. His stomach may be actually bursting with joy and plenty, but if there is a sausage or a section of plum pudding not eaten, he will risk dyspepsia, stomach pain, headache, nightmare, any woe that may follow, in order that he fulfils the duty he feels incumbent upon him, to see that nothing is lost. And when he has done so he feels the burden of duty lying upon his stomach like a great consolation. For has he not utilized the bounty of heaven even to his own undoing? Has he not sacrificed himself that no scrap be lost? Oh, noble, self-denying creature, to save that piece of pie, he loses his own soul! He has built down in the velleys of his heart a new altar to the Beautiful Necessity.

Among the news of the day are accounts of a couple tortured by robbers with fire, a sleeper aroused by a fire built under his chair, a workman hazed by being slung, tied to a crane, over a roaring furnace, and a boy with red pepper put into his eyes by his companions. Something seems to be wrong with our refined civilization.

A professor of Missouri State University says: "One of our students formerly worked for a dairy in Kansas City. He tells us that one of his regular duties every morning was to make eighty gallons out of fifty gallons of milk." It is to be hoped that he has not started to school for the purpose of learning how to increase the percentage.

It is no secret that the results of the denatured alcohol law have thus far been disappointing to the government. It was expected that farm refuse of all kinds would be utilized in making the denatured product. But the Bureau of Internal Revenue assumed that if the farmers weren't closely watched they would all go into the business of using their stills to make moonshine whisky. An elaborate system of rules and inspection was devised to prevent the farmer from cheating the government. The result, as might have been foreseen, was that the red tape effectually prevented the farmers from profiting by the new law.

The government has now decided to try the experiment of assuming that the farmers are honest until they are proved otherwise. Already applications for permits to erect farm stills have increased greatly in number. It is now practicable for a farmer or a number of neighboring farmers to set up a still wherein all sorts of farm refuse may be turned into alcohol that will yield heat, light and power at small expense. And it isn't necessary to have a revenue officer on the job all the time, either.

This could have been done in the first place if Commissioner Yerkes and his advisers had been willing to accept the results of Germany's experience with farm distillers. But the bureau had to learn by its own experience. Meanwhile, the small army of clerks provided to take care of the denatured alcohol accounts have sat around resplendent in red tape and quite idle.

There's a reason for that ache in your bach—right where it "stitches" every time you bend over, turn around or walk any distance. It's your kidneys. Take DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills. They are unequaled for backache, weak kidneys and inflammation of the bladder. A week's treatment 25c. J. S. Denny and Wye Mills drug store.

...ect It

...a serious mistake ...lect a weak heart. It ...ch a short step to chronic heart disease. When you notice irregularity of action, occasioning short breath, palpitation, fluttering, pain in chest or difficulty in lying on left side, your heart needs help—a strengthening tonic. There is no better remedy than Dr. Miles' Heart Cure. Its strengthening influence is felt almost at once.

"I have used 10 bottles of Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and can truthfully say it has done me more good than anything I have ever used, and I have tried nearly everything that I know of. The doctor who attended me asked me what I was taking and I told him Dr. Miles Heart Cure, he said it was not going to do me any good, but it did. I have not taken any for a year now, and while there is occasionally a slight symptom of the old trouble, it is not enough for me to continue the use of the medicine. If I should get worse I would know what to do. Take Dr. Miles' Heart Cure as I did before. I consider myself practically cured of my heart trouble."
S. H. DUNNAM, Livingston, Texas.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails he will refund your money.
