2 Snowstorms Bury Queen Anne's Under Heavy Drifts, Many Stuck

State Roads Commission, Caught Flat-Footed, Moves In Day Late With Plows. Highways Now Open. Schools Defy Storm, To Open contused ankle.

The fourth car joining the snarl was beds from Wye Mills residents. avoiding the others. Besides the injury to Price, Mrs. night.

passengers stuck in the snow at Wil-at Queenstown and swung down the ways and traveled on to New York.

being able to reach Wilmington.

Travelers from Matapeake and the County for future emergencies. Princess Anne to Price's Station. Most another section.

that of Reynolds Friel of Queenstown Many south-bound voyagers were which could not be stopped in time to stopped at M. M. Price's gate and unprevent collision. A fifth car driven by expected guests kept Mr. Price's home Bobby Hitch went into a ditch in full for three nights. Some accepted sleeping quarters and others sat up all

Clyde Embert and Billy Cross bogged most frozen and it was several hours into every home, large or small, in win-colors. down at Green Spring turn. They before she was thawed out. The ter as well as summer. were obliged to leave their car and muscles in her arms and legs were Not by plants alone are these gar- tation can achieve was seen recently by the Alumni affair were turned back the guards with unexpected guests, snow clearance. Very little extra labor landings.

short periods when road crews opened assured that snow plows would be immediately assigned to Queen Anne's direction of Easton were stranded at It was learned also that a new plow J. B. T. Roe's garage at Wye Mills asigned to this county was sent to where forty or fifty collected on Thurs- Kennett Square, Pa., for assembly day night for a 36-hour wait. Among shortly before the storm broke and was them was an entire family including enroute to Centreville when diverted an 8-month old baby moving from by State Roads for snow removal in

GEORGE E. COLE

George Elvin Cole, a well-known resident of Starkey's Corner for the forty years, died of heart trouble at his home at 1 o'clock New Year's morning at the age of 65.

Mr. Cole was a native of Pennsylvani parents were Mrs. Mary Amanda and the late William H. Cole He married Mary C. Starkey, whose father Starkey's Corner was died on April 19, 1927. Their daughter, Miss Mary Cole, is a teacher in the Church Hill Elementary School.

blacksmith at Starkeys Corner and also kept a store there. He was a mem-box of the Reformed Church of Ridge- John R. Smith.

Mr. Cole is survived by his mother, Christen Infant Daughter two sons, Milton, of Woodlyn, Pa., and LeRoy of Starkey's Corner, his daughter, Mary, and four brothers, William, Frank, and Harry Cole of Starkey's Mr. and Mrs. J. Ralph Graham, of Sud-

Roy T. Thawley, pastor of Centreville | garet Rucher, of Harrisonburg, Va., Miss | Louise Mattingly, of Remington, Va., Methodist Episcopal Church.

cemetery.

MISS AUGUSTINE LEJEUNE

Dec. 16 at Bel Air. Lejeune, now head of Virginia Military Rucher, of Delaplane, Va., Miss Mar-Institute, Lexington, Va., who at the garet Rucher, Miss Louise Mattingly time of his retirement was Comman- and Miss Helen Graham, of Atlantic dant of Marines and in the World War City, N. J. commanded the Second Division.

A native of Louisiana, Miss Lejeune went to Bel Air about thirty years ago. Miss Anne McKenney, daughter of From that time until the death of Mrs. Mr. and Mrs. John W. McKenney, of Brown in 1933, Miss Lejeune came to Price, and Mr. William Ellis Preston, Centreville often to pass varying per- son of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis P. Preston, of iods with Mrs. Brown and made many Wilmington, were married at the home friends here who will be saddened by of the bride's parents, on Thursday, her death.

THE REV. W. C. SMITH The Rev. W. C. Smith, former pastor odist Protestant Church, Centreville.

Florida. He was 67 years old. of the Methodist Episcopal Church, fon velvet and carried a bouquet of South. He filled many important pas- Talisman roses. torates, among them Frederick, Cum- The maid of honor wore midnight burg, W. Va. He was assigned to the Church-Hill charge in 1911-12-13. His service at and Mrs. Preston left on a trip to Wash-Queen Anne was in 1931-32 from which ington and Virginia. he retired in the fall of 1933.

for some time but his confinement was course at Goldey's Business College in of only one week's duration. His wife, the former Miss Carrie The couple will reside at 1311 Market Smith, of Church Hill survives him. Street in Wilmington. Funeral services conducted by Dr. William H. Best, Presiding Elder of the Conference, assisted by the Rev. Lester Good Will Firemen Smallwood, were held from the Church Hill church on Dec. 26 at 1:30 p. m. The bearers included the Messrs. The Good Will Fire Company got a James H. Smith, William C. Smith, fair break during the week of snow Earle Smith, J. B. T. Merrick, Harry bound roads when only three calls of E. Walls and E. Clyde Walls.

CHARLES L. TATMAN Charles L. Tatman, retired garage grease on the floor of Charles M. West's years. He was 67 years old. Mr. Tatman was widely known in home at the wharf. Upper Queen Anne's county where he Little damage was caused by the fires. spent his entire life. He was born at Ingleside, the son of the late Louis and Taxes in some form or other now

(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) | of those marooned stayed up around bumpers and left him with a badly the garage stove Thursday night but on the next night accepted shelter and

The dance orchestra which played for remained until Saturday.

The drifts on the Centreville-Wye George in a telephone conversation with Mills road tied up that road from Dr. H. E. Tabler, State Roads Chair-Thursday until Monday except for man, at Hancock Tuesday night was Roberts. Later he operated a garage at Ingleside and after selling this business removed to Church Hill.

He is survived by his widow, the former Fannie L. Kimball, a daughter, Miss Helen Tatman, who is a teacher in the Sudlersville Elementary School, and a son, Bowen Tatman, employed at Funeral services were held from his late home Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 and was born in Allen township in Northampton county April 22, 1870. His Church Hill M. E. South, Church, ofwhich Mr. Tatman was a member, at > filliam Cole, Louis Atkinson, Joseph Holden, Oden L. Coppage, and Walter

Interment was in Church Hill cemetery where services at the grave were

Of Mr. and Mrs. Graham

Corner and Reuben Cole of Smyrna, lersville, was christened on Sunday with and Mr. Paul W. Phillips, of Sudlers-Interment will be in Chesterfield ville. The christening robe was first worn by Margaret Ann's great-grandfather, Samuel Broadway Cooper, of Willow Grove, Del. Tea at the Graham home followed Funeral services for Miss Augustine the christening and was well attended Lejeune, who was well known in Centreville as a frequent visitor of the late Mrs. Edwin H. Brown, Sr., were held H. Jolls, of Arlington, Pa.; Captain and Mrs. F. W. Deck and three children, of Miss Lejeune was a sister of Gen. A. Lansdowne, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. B. A.

PRESTON-McKENNEY

December 26, at 11 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. L. Colvin Randall, pastor of Grace Methof M. E. South churches at Queen Miss Kathryn McKenney, of Roches-Anne and Church Hill and who retired ter, N. Y., was the bride's only atin 1933, died Dec. 23 of a heart attack tendant. Mr. Howard Lattomus, of at the J. C. Penney Home for retired Winterthur, was Mr. Preston's best man. Ministers near Green Cove Springs, Mrs. W.Ernest McKenney, of Richmond Hill, L. I., a sister-in-law of the A native of Louisa, Va., he was a bride, played the wedding marches. member of the Baltimore Conference The bride was attired in peach chifberland and Jarrettsville and Clarks- blue crystelle velvet. Her flowers were A reception followed, after which Mr.

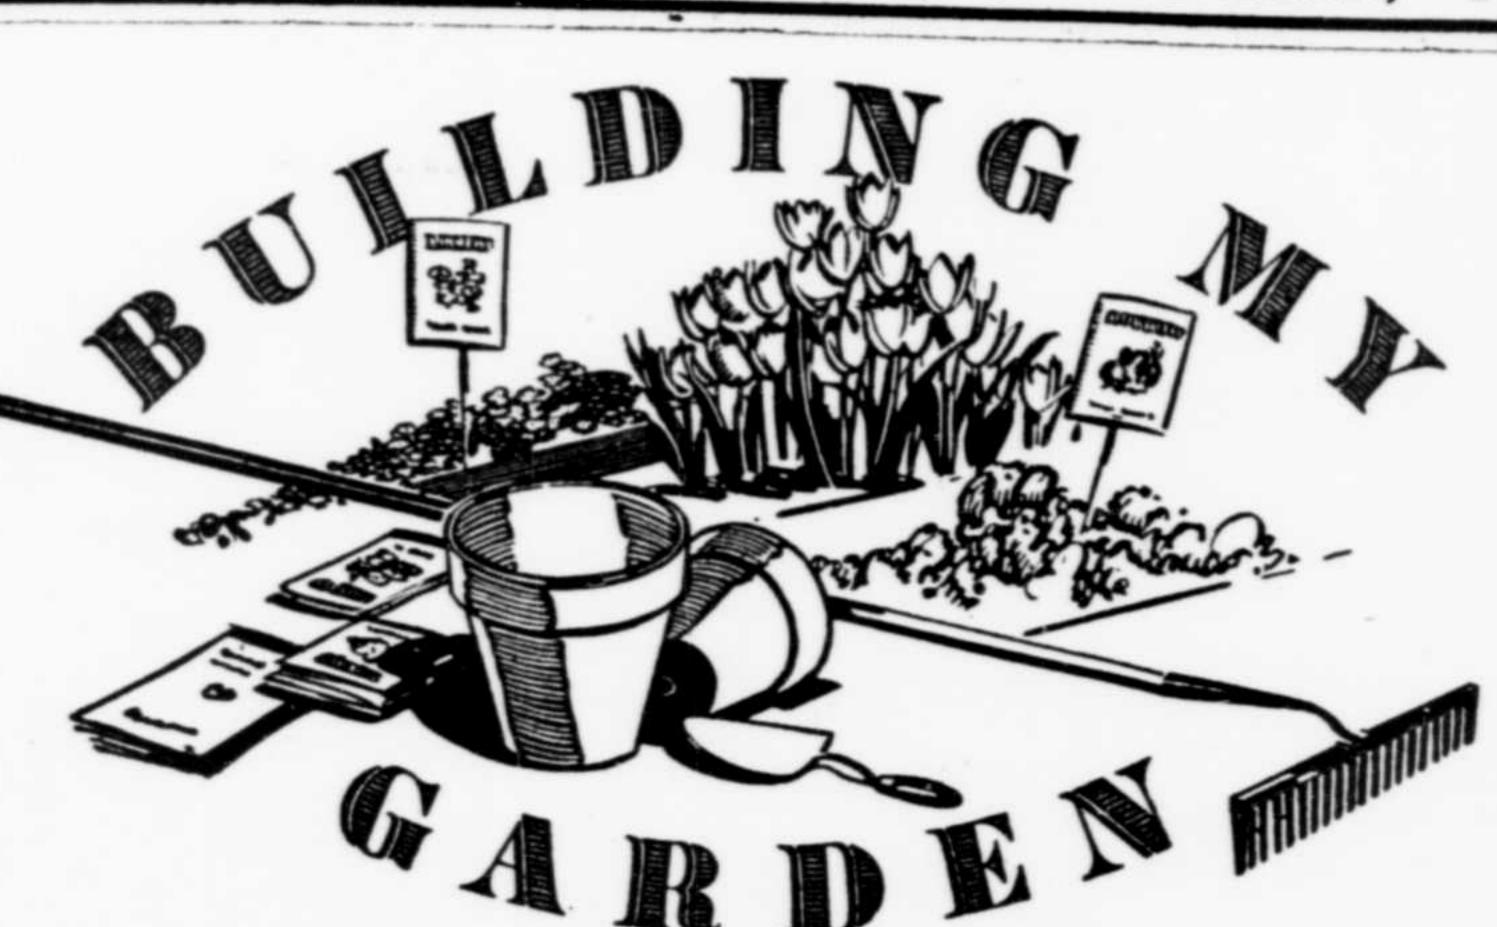

Mrs. Preston is a former student at He had been subject to heart attacks Washington College and later took a minor nature were put in. One alarm was sent in when a skillet bubbled over and dropped flaming operator, died at his home in Church kitchen, a second was turned in by a Hill Saturday afternoon at 2:30 after Christmas dance guest who saw sparks an illness lasting for the past six coming from a chimney and the third was for a chimney fire at Jim Clough's

Squelch Minor Blazes

Elizabeth Tatman. For many years he take approximately 30 cents of every was a blacksmith and wheelwright at dollar Americans earn.

INDOOR GARDENS

Today, just as we in Queen Anne's here is garden witchery even though or tray to hold potted plants. The turn our summer gardens to outdoor sleet and storm be raging without. second is this same type of box filled Carter suffered lacerations of the head and scalp.

Charles Bishop driving a car contain—

Of Centreville and Miss Agnes Tubman of Preston were caught by the storm of Preston were caught by the storm of Preston were caught by the storm of Shout A colock Thursday morning as For the spirit of the garden is dominant.

Joseph Connolly and Howard Tinley living rooms, so in winter, sunny living rooms, or enclosed porches and terraces are transformed into indoor gardens. Or she pleases. It is not necessary to lined receptacle, three-quarters filled as they were returning to Centreville after taking a second girl to her home. For the spirit of the garden is dominant take such gardening over-seriously, and take such gardening over-seriously, and therein lies much of the resultant haping itself manifest in the landscaping piness. One need not be afraid to intaking a second girl to her home. ing itself manifest in the landscaping piness. One need not be afraid to inliam Bishop's gate and the entire party When their car was stalled in the road of the diminutive bungalow plot, creat- dividualize his or her winter garden, the trio battled their way up the lane ing beauty along streets and highways, to Price's home. Miss Tubman was alarousing our civic pride and creeping combinations of plants and flowers and lowers and well in water and pebbles—such as the to Price's home. Miss Tubman was all arousing our civic pride and creeping combinations of plants and flowers and paper-white narcissus—may be planted through the storm to their swollen the next day and she found dens—which bring cheer when blizthe writer. A small "down-two-steps" the writer. A small "down-two-steps" the root, will grow wel lhere, the carhomes in Queenstown, getting badly talking difficult. She later reached the zards rage without — created. Wall- sun room at a nearby bungalow home, Blue Lantern at Centreville where she papers, floors and rugs, flower stands with a random stone (linoleum) floor, beets vivid reds and green. These lit. and pots and brackets, iron gates and had at the centre of the room a wide, the fellows from the kitchen garden will About 30 cars and trucks were stall- trellises, all aid in creating the feeling low table, painted green. On this was left them caused inconvenience to road their southward journey by means of But this sink had become a basin for a crews who lifted cars off the road but bow windows, separated from solarium fountain that shot up through the old The moisture from such a box, with occupants were still up when the traf- At various times three rotary plows and screens, so that there is ample carried off the surplus water.

wedding on Saturday, were unable to somewhat during the blockade but no ing down into a basin. The use of vines which hung to the floor.

the floor about the pool, and behold! the simple galvanized iron lined box reported that every bed was filled with in guiding plows worked 15 or 16 and den), whether large or small, is, of in bloom, gay little pots of ivy, both the Generally speaking, the plants that merly of Centreville, have announced of the stringent regulations only 38 as high as 21 hours a day. Two of the course, a fountain, and these may be familiar glossy green-leaved variety best survive indoor conditions and the the engagement of their daughter, Miss ducking stamps were sold at the Cenrotary plows developed broken axles. had in every shape and style, simple or and the white edged variegated English care that the amateur gives them are Margaret R. Stevens, to Lucius O. Cartreville postoffice in 1935 as compared field Hildebrand, guests at the Friel Food supplies in Centreville lessened costly, each to send water softly splash- ivy that is so beautiful, as well as other the varieties that have thick, leathery pentier, son of Mrs. Stella Carpentier, with 98 last year.

county Commissioner Joseph M. eight-inch-high rim, a miniature foun-painted a gay color and a few small the numerous sedums and the semper-the little kalanchoe, which, in bloom, stant, of Baltimore, were married on constraint the little kalanchoe, which is the looks like clusters of pink coral.

ium in bloom can take the blues out of any room. Hanging baskets and wallpockets for plants, the gleam and glint of a copper pot in a small holder, can bring garden cheer and charm, and where there is neither width nor space for a box or a pan windows draped with ivy in lieu of curtains can bring a garden-like feeling to a room, besides making the windows unusually attractive. Even the narrowest window sill can hold a flat-shaped pot or jar or bottle for the ivy that will grow equally well in either water or earth. The iron brackets, such as once held kerosene wall lamps, make excellent holders for pots of ivy, and here again, if both the plain and variegated ivy be used, there will be curtains of trailing beauty.

Indoor window boxes, already mentioned, are of three types. The first is directly in them.

fic blockade occurred were jammed to and eight of the pusher type worked at space for joyous flights and happy In this "pool" grew several kinds of growth. The soil used for such plants the plants require, will insure a lavish phrase 'OUR talking' to fit the facts.—G. Burns.") water plants, and goldfish swam about, and boxes is a compost made up of Three or four carloads were taken in was used. A few men who were fam- The crowning touch of a winter while on the surrounding ledge were sand, humus and garden soil, with Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Stevens of 25 at Charles Bishop's home where it was liliar with the roads and were needed garden (or any other kind of garden small potted palms and ferns, begonias charcoal added to prevent souring.

Chestnut Street, Marcus Hook, Pa., for-willdown shooting this season because return to their homes at Hagerstown The Centreville bakery met the rush There is nothing more restful than for plants, why not an indoor window- same as the cacti. There are the eche-Alfred Friel, employed by the Du- although the cold made dough slow the Pont Company in Wilmington lost a in rising But no stale bread for stuf- for one of them. The stale bread for stuf- for one of them. Font Company in Wilmington lost a few days when he was unable to get back to the city. Mrs. Mary Roberts for one of these, or the entrance hall long as possible pan? The pan may be long as possibl

NEW YEAR'S PROMISE

Matapeake highway to Wye Mills, thence down the Shore until they made the Shore until they made the state of and thought about New Year's resolutions," confessed Gracie, "and just to give Several Queenstown homes in which Severa

Court with the

DUCK STAMP DECLINED

CONSTANT—SHRIVER

Memory rleeting

"I will bear your concern in mind" said the prospect for your merchandise or service, "when I am next in the market." And this statement was made in all sincerity.

Can you rely on that promise? Or is human memory so short that when the time comes to buy, the chances are he or she will have forgotten all about you and your organizaton and the promise that was so lightly and yet sincerely made.

Many successful business men have reached the conclusion that the average memory is fleeting indeed. .. So they depend on no promises that they will be "borne in mind" but assume themselves responsibility for seeing that customers and prospects do not forget them.

You can "tickle" the fleeting memory and bring your goods or your service frequently to the attention of customers, present or prospective, by advertising consistently in the newspaper they read (and Queen Anne's Record has the largest paid circulation of any newspaper in Queen Anne's County). You'll find the cost moderate and the insurance against lapse of memory by customers well worth it.

Our illustrated mat service is at your disposal at all times without any extra charge. We will gladly assist you in preparing your advertising copy.

Queen annes Record

Queeen Anne's Most Interesting Newspaper

CENTREVILLE

PHONE 2